ſonne of Elah king of Iſrael) Shalmaneſer king of Asſhur came vp againſt Samaria, and beſieged it.
10 And after three yeeres they tooke it, euen

yeere of Hoſhea king of Iſrael was Samaria ta-

11 Then the king of Asſhur did carie away Iſ-

Habor, by the riuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes, 12 Becauſe they would not obey the voyce of the Lord their God, but tranſgreſſed his coue-

Lord had commanded, and would neither obey nor doe them.
13 ¶ * Moreouer, in the foureteenth yeere of king Hezekiah, Saneherib king of Asſhur came vp againſt all the ſtrong cities of Iudah, and tooke
them.
14 Then Hezekiah king of Iudah ſent vnto
the king of Asſhur to Lachiſh, ſaying, [d] I haue offended: depart from me, and what thou layeſt vpon me, I will beare it. And the king of Asſhur appoynted vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah three hundreth talents of ſiluer, and thirtie talents of golde.

was found in the houſe of the Lord, and in the

the plates of the doores of the Temple of the Lord, and the pillars (which the ſayd Hezekiah king of Iudah had couered ouer) and gaue them to the king of Asſhur.
17 ¶ And the king of Asſhur ſent [e] Tartan, and Rab-ſaris, and Rabſhakeh from Lachiſh to king Hezekiah with a great hoaſte againſt Ieruſalem. And they went vp, and came to Ieruſalem, and when they were come vp, they ſtood by the conduit of the vpper poole, which is by the path of the fullers field,

and Ioah the ſonne of Aſaph the ‖ recorder.

37 Then Eliakim the ſonne of Hilkiah which

Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing
God, and to reproach him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy

5 ¶ So the seruants of king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.
6 And Isaiah said vnto them, So shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou hast heard, wherewith
the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphe-med me.
7 Behold, I will send a blast d vpon him, and hee shall heare a noyse, and returne to his owne land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.
8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for hee had heard that he was departed from Lachish.
9 e He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of * Ethiopia, f Behold, hee is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed and sent other messengers vnto Hezekiah, saying, 10 Thus shall yee speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, and say, Let not thy g God deceiue thee in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be deliuered into the hand of the king of Asshur.
11 Beholde, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands, how they haue destroyed them: and shalt thou be deliuered?
12 Haue the gods of the heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were in Thelasar?
13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?
14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the h Lord.
15 And Hezekiah i prayed before the Lord, and said, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.
16 Lord, k bow downe thine eare, and heare:
Lord open thine eyes and behold, and heare the words of Sancherib, who hath sent to blaspheme
the l liuing God.
17 Trueth it is, Lord, that the kings of Asshur haue destroyed the nations and their lands, 18 And haue set fire on their gods: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans handes, euen wood and stone: therefore they destroyed
them.
19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beseech thee, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the m kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou O Lord, art onely God.
20 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I haue heard that which thou hast prayed me, concerning Sancherib king of Asshur.
21 This is the word that the Lord hath spoexalted thy voice, & lifted vp thine eyes on hie?

euen o against the holy One of Israel.

grasse of the field, and greene herbe, or grasse on 27 I know thy dwelling, yea, thy going out and thy comming in, and thy fury against me.

28 And because thou ragest against mee, and thy tumult is come vp to mine eares, I will put mine s hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.
29 And his shall be a t signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such things as grow of themselues, and the next yeere such as grow without sowing, and the third yeere sow ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruits thereof.
30 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take u roote downeward, and beare fruit vpward.
31 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant,
and some that shall escape out of mount Zion:
the x zeale of the Lord of hoasts shall doe this.
32 Wherefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the king of Asshur, Hee shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it:
33 But hee shall returne the way he came, and shall not come into this citie, saith the Lord.
34 For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.
35 ¶ * And the same night the Angel of the Lord went out and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth fourescore and fiue thousand: so when they rose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.
36 So Sancherib king of Asshur departed, and went his way, and returned and dwelt in Nineueh.

Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes y slew him with the sword: and they escaprayed to the Lord, ſaying,

4 ¶ And afore Iſaiah was gone out into the

CHAP. XXII.

4 Iosiah repaireth the Temple. 8 Hilkiah findeth the booke of the Law, and causeth it to be presented to Iosiah. 12 Who sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse to enquire the Lords will.

* 2.Chron 34.1.

a His zeale was prophecied of, and his name mentioned by Iaddo the Prophet, more then three hundreth yeeres before, 1.king.13.2. and beeing but eight yeere old, he sought the God of his father Dauid, 2.Chron.34.3.

IOsiah was * eight yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned one and thirtie yeere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Iedidah the daughter of Adaiah of Bozcath.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and a walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah, the king sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Meshullam the chauncellor, to the house of the Lord, saying,

* Or, coine, as vers. 9.

* Or, vessell.

b Certaine of the Priests were appointed to this office, as chap. 12. 9.

4 Goe vp to Hilkiah the hie Priest, that hee may * summe the siluer which is brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the * b doore haue gathered of the people.

c From the time of Ioash, for the space of 244 yeeres, the Temple remained without reparation through the negligence of the priests, this declareth, that they that haue a charge, and execute it not, ought to haue it taken from them.

5 And let c them deliuer it into the hand of them that doe the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord, let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decayed places of the house:

6 To wit, vnto the artificers and carpenters, and masons, and to buy timber, and hewed stone to repaire the house,

7 Howbeit, let no reckoning be made with them of the money, that is deliuered into their hand: for they deale d faithfully.

d So God prouided him of faithfull seruants, seeing he went about so zealously to set forth the worke of God.

8 And Hilkiah the high Priest said vnto Shaphan the chauncellor, I haue found the e booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and hee read it.

e This was the copy that Moses left them, as appeareth, 2 Chron. 34.14 which either by the negligence of the Priests had beene lost, or els by the wickednesse of idolatrous kings had beene abolished.

9 So Shaphan the chanceller came to the king, and brought him word againe, and sayd, Thy seruants haue † gathered the money, that was found in the house, and haue deliuered it vnto the hands of them that doe the worke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord.

10 Also Shaphan the chanceller shewed the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath deliuered me a booke. And Shaphan read it before the King.

11 And when the king had heard the wordes of the booke of the Law, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the king commanded Hilkiah the Priest, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Achbor the sonne of Michaiah, and Shaphan the chanceller, and Asahiah the kings seruant, saying,

f Meaning, to some Prophet whom God reuealeth the knowledge of things vnto, as Iere.21.1. though at other times they inquired the Lord by Vrim and Thummim.

13 Goe ye and f inquire of the Lord for me and for the people, and for all Iudah concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled against vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the wordes of this booke, to doe according vnto all that which is written therein for vs.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah went vnto Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shullam, the sonne of Tikuah, the sonne of Harhas keeper of the wardrobe: (and shee dwelt in Ierusalem in the g colledge) and they communed with her.

g Or, the house of doctrine, which was neere to the Temple, and where the learned assembled to intreate the Scriptures, and the doctrine of the Prophets.

15 And shee answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the wordes of the booke which the king of Iudah hath read,

17 Because they haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the h workes of their handes: my wrath also shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

h The works of mans hand here signifie all that man inuenteth beside the word of God, which are abominable in Gods seruice.

18 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, The words that thou hast heard shall come to passe.

i Meaning, that he did repent, as they that doe not repent are sayd to harden their heart, Psal 95.8.

19 But because thine heart did i melt; and thou hast humbled thy selfe before ẏ Lord when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants of the same, to wit, that it should be destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

k Whereupon we may gather that the anger of God is ready against the wicked, when God taketh his saints out of this world.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in k peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the king word againe.

l The idolatrous kings had dedicate horses and charets to the sunne, either to carie the image thereof about as the heathen did, or else to sacrifice them as a sacrifice most agreeable.

* Or, valley.

THen * the King a sent, and there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudah and of Ierusalem.

2 And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with him, and the Priests and Prophets, and all the people both small and great: and he read in their eares all the words of the booke of the couenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.

3 And the king stood by b the pillar, and made a c couenant before the Lord, that they should walke after the Lord, and keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statures, with all their heart, and with all their soule, that they might accomplish the wordes of this couenant written in this booke. And all the people stood to the couenant.

4 Then the king commanded Hilkiah the hie Priest, and the d Priests of the second order, and the keepers of the doore, to bring out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the groue, and for all the hoaste of heauen, and hee burnt them without Ierusalem in the fields of Kedron, and caried e the powder of them into Beth-el.

5 And he put downe the f Chemarims, whom the kings of Iudah had founded to burne incense in the hie places, and in the cities of Iudah and about Ierusalem, and also them that burnt incense vnto Baal, to the sunne and to the moone, and to the planets, and to all the hoaste of heauen.

6 And he brought out the g groue from the Temple of the Lord, without Ierusalem vnto the valley Kedron, and burnt it in the valley Kedron, and stampt it to powder, and cast the dust thereof vpon the h graues of the children of the people.

7 And hee brake downe the houses of the Sodomites, that were in the house of the Lord, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

8 Also hee brought all the priests out of the cities of Iudah, and defiled the hie places where the Priests had burnt incense, euen from Geba to Beer-sheba, and destroyed the hie places of the gates, that were in the entring in of the gate of Iosiua the gouernour of the citie, which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuertheless the Priestes of the hie places i came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalem, saue onely they did eate of the vnleautened bread among their brethren.

10 Hee defiled also k Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sonne or his daughter to passe thorow the fire to Molech.

11 Hee put downe also the l horses that the Kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nethan-melech the eunuch, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Iudah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the Lord did the King breake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the * brooke Kedron.

13 Moreouer the King defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalem and on the right hand of the m mount of corruption (which * Salomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon.)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the groues, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore n the altar that was at Bethel, and the hie place made by Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar, and also the hie place, brake he downe, and burnt the hie place, and stampt it to powder, and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned himselfe, hee spied the graues that were in the mount, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord, that the o man of God proclaimed, which cried the same words.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the city sayd vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, and told these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then said he, Let him alone: let none remone his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the p Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, and did to them according to all the facts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And hee sacrificed all the Priests of the hie places that were there, vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ierusalem.

21 ¶ Then the king commanded all the people, saying, * Keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord your God, * as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

22 And there was no Passeouer holden q like that from the dayes of the Iudges that iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of the kings of Israel, and of the kings of Iudah.

23 And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated vnto the Lord in Ierusalem.

24 Iosiah also tooke away them that had familiar spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominations that were espied in the land of Iudah and in Ierusalem, to performe the words of the * Law, which were written in the booke that Hilkiah the Priest found in the house of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soule, and with all his might according to all the Law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the r fiercenesse of his great wrath wherewith he was angry against Iudah, because of all the prouocations wherewith Manasseh had prouoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord saith, I will put Iudah also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israel, and will cast off this city Ierusalem, which I haue chosen, and the house whereof I sayd, * My Name shall be there.

21 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

22 * Howbeit, there remained people in the land of Iudah, whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel left, and made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan ruler ouer them.

23 Then when all the captaines of the hoaste and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah gouernour, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpih, to wit, Ishmael & sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Iaazaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and ye shall be well.

25 * But in the seuenth moneth Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah the sonne of Elishama, of the kings seede, came, & ten men with him, & smote Gedaliah, and hee died, and so did hee the Iewes, and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 Then all the people both small and great, and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to m Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

THE FIRST BOOKE OF

the * Chronicles, or ‖ Paralipomenon.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians because of the length, diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the bookes of the kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Iewes write after their returne from Babylon. This first booke conteineth a briefe rehearsall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Ishak, Iaakob, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah, and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his actes both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the administration and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth and giueth thankes to the Lord.

3 And the battell was sore against Saul, and the archers † hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.
4 Then said Saul to his armour-bearer, Draw least these vncircumcised come and mocke at me:

but his armour-bearer would not, for he was sore afraid: therefore Saul tooke the sword, and fell

3 After the death of Saul Dauid is anoynted in Hebron. 5 The Iebusites rebell against Dauid, from whom he taketh the towver of Zion. 6 Ioab is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

THen * all Israel a gathered themselues to Da-uid vnto Hebron, saying, Behold, we are thy bones and thy flesh.
2 And in time past, euen when Saul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt feed my people
Israel, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israel.
3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the King to Hebron, and Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron before the Lord. And they an-oynted Dauid king ouer Israel, * according to the word of the Lord, by the hand of Samuel.
4 ¶ And Dauid and all Israel went to Ierusa-

6 And Dauid sayd, * Whosoeuer smiteth the Iebusites first, shalbe the chiefe and captaine. So Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah went first vp, and was captaine.
7 And Dauid dwelt in the tower: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.
8 * And he built the citie on euery side, from listims garison vvas at Beth-lehem.

17 And Dauid longed, and said, * Oh, that one would giue me to drinke of the water of the well
of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.
18 Then these three brake thorow the hoaste
of the Philistims, and drew water out of the well
of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke it, and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblation to the Lord.
19 And said, Let not my God suffer me to doe
this: should I drinke the e blood of these mens liues? for they haue brought it with the ieopar-die of their liues: therefore he would not drinke
it: these things did these three mightie men.
20 ¶ And Abishai the brother of Ioab, he was chiefe of the three, & hee lift vp his speare against three hundreth, and slew them, and had the name among the three.
21 Among the three he was more honourable then the two, and he was their captaine: * but he attained not vnto the first three.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasseh, Adnah, and Iozabad, and Iediael, and Michael, and Iozabad, and Elihu, and Ziltai, heads of the thousands that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped Dauid against g that band: for they were all valiant men, and were captaines in the hoaste.

g To wit, of the Amalekites, which had burned the city Ziklag. 1. Sam. 30, 1, 9.

22 For at that time day by day, there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntill it was a great host, like the hoast of h God.

h Meaning, mightie or strong: for the Ebrewes say a thing is of God, when it is excellent.

23 And these are the numbers of the captains that were armed to battell, and came to Dauid to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.

24 The children of Iudah that bare shield and * speare, were sixe thousand and eight hundreth armed to the warre.

* Or, buckler.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant men of warre, seuen thousand and an hundreth.

26 Of the children of Leui foure thousand and sixe hundreth.

27 And Iehoiada vvas the chiefe of them of [i] Aaron: and with him three thousand and seuen hundreth.

28 And Zadok a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers houshold came two and twenty captaines.

29 And of the children of Beniamin the brethren of Saul three thousand: for a great part of them vnto that time [k] kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousand, and eight hundreth valiant men and famous men in the houshold of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh eighteene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.

32 And of the children of Issachar which were men that had vnderstanding of the [l] times, to know what Israel ought to doe: the heads of them vvere two hundreth, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zebulun that went out to battell, expert in warre, and in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand * which could set the battell in aray: they were not of a † double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shield and speare seuen and thirty thousand.

35 And of Dan expert in battell, eight and twenty thousand and sixe hundreth.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell and were trained in the warres, forty thousand.

37 And of the other side of Iorden of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasseh with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundreth and twenty thousand.

38 [m] All these men of warre * that could lead an armie, came with * vpright heart to Hebron to make Dauid king ouer all Israel: and all the rest of Israel vvas of one accord to make Dauid King:

39 And there they were with Dauid three dayes, eating and drinking: for their [n] brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreouer, they that were neere them vntill Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, euen meat, floure, figges, and raisins, and wine and oyle, and beeues and sheepe abundantly: for there was ioy in Israel.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ierusalem. 6 Vzza dieth because he toucheth it.

AND Dauid counselled with the captaines of thousands and of hundreths, and with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid said to all the Congregation of Israel, If it seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, we will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in the cities and their suburbes) that they may assemble themselues vnto vs,

3 And we will bring againe the [a] Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people,

5 ¶ * So Dauid gathered all Israel together from * Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entring of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from [b] Kiriath-iearim.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Israel to * Baalath in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Iudah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betweene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Vzza and Ahio [c] guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel played before [d] God with all their might, both with songs and with harps, and with viols, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threshing floore of [e] Chidon, Vzza put foorth his hand to hold the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzza, and he smote him, because he layed his hand vpon the Arke: so he died there [f] before God.

11 And Dauid was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Vzza, and he called the name of that place, Perez-Vzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to me the Arke of God?

13 Therefore Dauid brought not the Arke to him into the citie of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of [g] Obed Edom the Gittite.

14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obed Edom, euen in his house three moneths: and the Lord blessed the house of Obed Edom, and all that he had.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Hiram sendeth vvood and vvorkemen to Dauid. 4 The names of his children. 8, 14 By the counsell of God he goeth against the Philistims, and ouercommeth them. 15 God fighteth for him.

THen * sent Hiram the king of † Tyrus messengers to Dauid, and Cedar trees, with masons and carpenters to build him an house.

2 Therefore Dauid knew that the Lord had confirmed him King ouer Israel, and that his kingdome was lift vp on hie, because of his [a] people Israel.

3 ¶ Also Dauid tooke moe wiues at Ierusalem, and Dauid begate moe sonnes and daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Ierusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan and Salomon,

5 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and [b] Elpalet,

6 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Iaphia,

7 And Elishama, and * Beeliada, and Eliphalet.

8 But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was anoynted King ouer Israel, all the Philistims came vp to seeke Dauid. And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.

9 And the Philistims came, and spread themselues in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsel at God, saying, Shall I go vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Goe vp: for I will deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim, and Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hath diuided

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsell at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not goe vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulbery trees, then goe out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoaste of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoaste of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands: and the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

1 Dauid prepareth an house for the Arke. 4 The number and order of the Leuites. 16 The singers are chosen out among them. 25 They bring againe the Arke with ioy. 29 Dauid dancing before it, is despised of his wife Michal.

AND Dauid made him houses in the [a] citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then Dauid said, * None ought to cary the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister vnto him for euer.

3 ¶ And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Ierusalem to bring vp the [b] Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordained for it.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Vriel the chiefe, and his * brethren sixescore.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundreth and twentie.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershon, Ioel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and thirtie.

8 Of the sonnes of [c] Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundreth.

9 Of the sonnes of [d] Hebron, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourescore.

10 Of the sonnes of Vzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and twelue.

11 ¶ And Dauid called Zadok and Abiathar the Priest, and of the Leuites, Vriel, Asaiah and Ioel, Shemaiah and Eliel, and Amminadab.

12 And he said vnto them, Yee are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: [e] sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

13 For * because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after due [f] order.

14 So the Priest and the Leuites sanctified themselues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres as Moses had commanded, * according to the word of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with [g] Instruments of musicke, with violes and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift vp their voyce with ioy.

17 So the Leuites appointed Heman the sonne of Ioel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kushaiah,

18 And with them their brethren in the [h] second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Iaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Ieiel the porters.

19 So Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were singers to make a sound with cymbals of brasse,

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with viols on [i] Alamoth, 21 And Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Ieiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon [k] Sheminith Ienazzeah.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Leuites had the [l] charge, bearing ẏ burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah, and Iehoshaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priests did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom, and Ieiah were porters [m] for the Arke.

25 * So Dauid and the Elders of Israel and the captains of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord from the house of Obed Edom with ioy.

26 And because that God [n] helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord, they offered * seuen bullockes and seuen rammes.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid was a linnen [p] Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting, and sound of cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a sound with violes and with harps.

29 And when the Arke of the [q] couenant of the Lord came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out a window, and saw king Dauid dancing and playing, and * shee despised him in her heart.

2 Then Nathan said to Dauid, Doe [c] all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.
3 And the same [d] night euen the word of God
came to Nathan, saying,
4 Goe, and tell Dauid my seruant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:
5 For I haue dwelt in no house since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue beene from [e] tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.
6 Wheresoeuer I haue [f] walked with all Israel, spake I one word to any of the Iudges of Israel (whom I commanded to feede my people) saying, Why haue ye not built me an house of cedar trees?
7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes
I tooke thee from the sheepecoat, [g] and from following the sheepe, that thou shouldest be a prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And

8 And I haue beene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and * haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will h plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and mooue no more: neither shall the † wicked people * vexe them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commaunded Iudges ouer my people Israel) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will i build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shalbe fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seede after thee, which shalbe of thy sonnes, and will establish his kingdome.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will establish his throne for k euer.

13 I will be his father, and hee shall by my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before l thee.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in mine kingdome for euer, and his throne shall be stablished for euer, 15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 ¶ And Dauid the king m went in and * sate before the Lord, and said, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me n hitherto?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of o hie degree, O Lord God.

18 What can Dauid desire moore of thee for the honour of thy seruant? for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine p heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that wee haue heard with our eares.

21 Moreouer what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whose God went to redeeme them to be his people, and to make thy selfe a Name, and to doe great and terible things by casting out Nations from before thy people, whom thou hast deliuered out of Egypt?

22 For thou hast ordeined thy people Israel to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

23 Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant, and concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast said,

24 And let thy Name be stable and magnified for euer, that it may be said, The Lord of hoastes, God of Israel, is the God of q Israel, and let the house of Dauid thy seruant be established before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast r reuealed vnto the eare of thy seruant, that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy seruant hath † beene bold to pray before thee.

26 Therefore now Lord (for thou art s God, and hast spoken this goodnesse vnto thy seruant,)

27 Now therefore, it hath pleased thee to blesse the house of thy seruant, that it may be before thee for euer: for thou, O Lord, hast blessed it, and it shalbe blessed for euer.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistims, 2 And against Moab. 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12 And Edom.

A Nd after this, Dauid smote the Philistims, and subdued them, and tooke a Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims,

2 And he smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, and * brought gifts.

3 ¶ And Dauid smote * Hadarezer King of Zobah vnto Hamath, as hee went to stablish his border by the riuer * Perath.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand charets, and seuen thousand horsemen, and twentie thousand footemen, and * destroyed all the charets, but he reserued of them an hundreth charets.

5 ¶ Then came the Aramires of Damascus to succour Hadarezer king of Zobah, but Dauid slew of the Aramites two and twentie thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of * Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord b preserued Dauid whersoeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from c Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brasen * Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse.

9 ¶ Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoast of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore he sent d Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid, to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of golde and siluer and brasse.

11 And king Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the siluer and gold that he brought from all the nations, from e Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 ¶ And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salt valley f eighteene thousand.

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preserued Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoaste, and Iehoshaphat the sonnne of Ahilud Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priestes, and * Shausha the Scribe, 17 * And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the g Cherethites and the Pelethites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the King.

sengers to comfort him for his father. So the ser-uants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun, to comfort him.
3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father, that hee hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to [b] search, to seeke and to spie out the land?
4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and [c] shaued them, and cut off their [d] garments by the halfe vnto the buttockes, and sent them away.
5 And there went certaine and tolde Dauid concerning the men: and hee sent to meet them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King said, Tarie at Iericho, vntill your beards be growen: then returne.
6 ¶ When the children of Ammon sawe that they * stanke in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousand talents of siluer, to hire them charets and horsemen out * of Aram Naharaim, and out of Aram Maachah, and out of [e] Zobah.
7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charets, and the king of Maachah and his people, which came and pitched before [f] Mede-ba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselues together from their cities, and came to the battell.
8 ¶ And when Dauid heard it, hee sent Ioab
and all the hoaste of the valiant men.
9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the citie.
And the kings that were come, were by themselues in the field.
10 When Ioab sawe that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then hee chose out of all the choise of Israel, and set him-
selfe in aray to meete the Aramites.
11 And the rest of the people hee deliuered vnto the hand of Abishai his brother, and they put themselues in aray against the children of Ammon.
12 And he said, If Aram be too strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: and if the children of Ammon preuaile against thee, then I will succour
thee.
13 Be strong, and let vs shew our selues valiant for our [g] people, and for the cities of our God, and let the Lord doe that which is good in his owne sight.
14 So Ioab and the people that was with him,
came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell,
and they fled before him.
15 And when the children of Ammon sawe that the Aramites fled, they fled also before A-bishai his brother, and entred into the citie: so Ioab came to Ierusalem.
16 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers, and caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the [h] riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer vvent before them.
17 And when it was shewed Dauid, he gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iorden, and came vnto them, and put himselfe in aray against them:
And when Dauid had put himselfe in battell aray
to meete the Aramites, they fought with him.
18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Da-uid destroyed of the Aramites [i] seuen thousand charets, and fourtie thousand footmen, and killed
Shophach the captaine of the hoaste.
19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

CHAP. XX.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistims are thrise ouercome vvith their giants.

AND * when the yeere was expired, in the time that kings go out a vvarfare, Ioab caried out the strength of the army, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged [a] Rabbah (but Dauid taried at Ierusalem) and Ioab smote Rabbah, and destroyed it.
2 * Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their king from off his head, and found it the weight of a [b] talent of golde, with precious stones in it:
and it was set on Dauids head, and hee brought away the spoyle of the citie exceeding much.
3 And he caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harrowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid & al the people came againe to Ierusalem.
4 ¶ * And after this also there arose warre at
* Gezer with the Philistims: then Sibbechai the Hushathite slew * Sippai of the children of * Ha-raphah, and they were subdued.
5 And there was yet another battell with the Philistims: and Elhanan the sonne of Iair slewe [c] Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speare staffe vvas like a weauers beame.
6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a great stature, and his fingers vvere by [d] sixes, euen foure and twenty, and was also the sonne of Haraphah.
7 And when hee reuiled Israel, Iehonathan
the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.
8 These were borne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fell by the hand of Dauid, and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be numbred, 14 and there dieth seuentie thousand men of the Pestilence.

AND [a] Satan stood vp against Israel, and prouoked Dauid to number Israel.
2 Therefore Dauid said to Ioab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe, and number Israel from [b] Beersheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.
3 And Ioab answered, The Lord increase his people an hundreth times so many as they be, O my lord the king: are they not all my lords ser-uants? wherefore doth my lord require this thing?
why should he be a cause of [c] trespasse to Israel?
4 Neuerthelesse, the kings word preuailed against Ioab. And Ioab departed and went tho-row all Israel, and returned to Ierusalem.
5 And Ioab gaue the number and summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were [d] eleuen hundreth thousand men that drewe sword:
and Iudah was [e] foure hundreth and seuentie

thousand men that drew sword.
6 But the Leuites and Beniamin counted hee not among them: for the Kings word was abominable to Ioab.
7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing:
therefore he smote Israel.
8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now,
I beseech thee, remooue the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.
9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids * Seer, saying,

* Or, Prophet.

10 Goe and tell Dauid, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them, that I may doe it vnto thee.
11 So Gad came to Dauid and said vnto him,
Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee
12 Either three yeeres famine, or three mo-neths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sword of thine enemies * to take thee, or else the sword of the Lord and pestilence in the land three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coasts of Israel: now therefore aduise thee, what word I shall bring againe to him that sent me.

* Or, smite thee.

13 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a won-derfull strait, let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.
14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.
15 ¶ And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroy it. And [f] as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and [g] repented of the euill, and sayd to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of * Ornan the Ie-busite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angel of the Lord stand betweene the earth and the heauen, with his sword drawen in his hande and stretched out toward Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were cloathed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.
17 And Dauid said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe, what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers house, and not on [h] thy people for their destruction.

h Thus he both sheweth a true repentance and a fatherly care toward his people, which desireth God to spare them, and to punish him and his.

18 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should goe vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing flore of Ornan the Iebusite.
19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which hee had spoken in the name of the Lord.
20 And Ornan turned about and saw the Angel, and his foure sonnes that vvere with him, [i] hid themselues, and Ornan threshed wheat.
21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed himselfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.
22 And Dauid said to Ornan, Giue mee the place of thy threshing floore, that I may builde an [k] altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it mee for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.
23 Then Ornan said vnto Dauid, Take it to 24 And King Dauid sayd to Ornan, Not so:

but I will buy it for sufficient [l] money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.
25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place [m] six hundreth shekels of gold by weight.
26 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord, and hee [n] answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

l That is, as much as it is worth: for hauing enough of his owne, and yet to haue taken of another mans goods to offer vnto the Lord, it had bene theft and not acceptable to God.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, hee put vp his sworde againe into his sheath.

had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan
the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

Moses had made in the wildernesse, and the altar of burnt offering vvere at that season in the high

counsell at God: for hee was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

2 Dauid prepareth things necessary for the building of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lord, vvhich thing hee himselfe vvas forbidden to doe. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

AND Dauid sayd, This is the [a] house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

a That is, the place wherein he will be worshipped.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the [b] strangers that were in the land of Israel, and hee set masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.
3 Dauid also prepared [c] much yron for the nailes of the doores and of the gates, and for the ioynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight,

b Meaning, comming men of other nations which dwelt among the Iewes.
c To wit, which weighed fiftie shekels of gold, 2. Chron. 3. 9.

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Zidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to Dauid.
5 And Dauid said, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and we must build an house for the Lord, magnificall, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreys: I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.
6 Then hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.
7 And Dauid said to Salomon, * My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

8 But the word of the Lord came to mee, saying, * [d] Thou hast shed much blood, & hast made my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon

the earth in my sight.
9 Behold, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest, for I will giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse vpon Israel in his dayes.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being olde, ordeineth Salomon King. 3 Hee causeth the Leuites to be numbred. 4 and assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the high Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

SO when Dauid was old and full of dayes, * he made Salomon his sonne King ouer Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priests and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were numbred from the age of thirtie yeere and aboue, and their number according to their summe was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these foure and twentie thousand were set to * aduance the worke of the house of the Lord, and sixe thousand were ouer-seers and iudges.

5 And foure thousand were porters, and foure thousand praysed the Lord with instruments which l he made to praise the Lord.

6 * So Dauid diuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leui, to * Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the Gershonites were * Laadan & Shimei.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Iehiel, and Ietham and Ioel, three.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haram, three; these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes Shimei were Iahath, Zina, Ieush, and Beriah: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

11 And Iahath was the chiefe, and * Zizah the second, but Ieush and Beriah had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

12 ¶ The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Vzziel, foure.

13 * The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moses: and Aaron was separated to a sanctifie the most holy place, he and his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for euer.

14 ¶ Moses also the man of God and his children were named with the b tribe of Leui.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the c chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Ieriah the first, Amariah the second, Iahaziel the third, and Iekamiam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Vzziel were Michah the first, and Isshiah the second.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and their d brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

23 The sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Ierimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, euen the chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to the number of names, and their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of e twentie yeeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid said, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Ierusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, the Leuites were numbred from twentie yeere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courts, and chambers, and in the f purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God,

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flowre, for the meate offering, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fried things, and for that which was rosted, and for all measures and cise,

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offering of Dauid and of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thankes to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to doe the same. 22 Salomon is created king. 28 Dauid dieth, and Salomon his sonne is greate in his stead.

MOreouer, Dauid the King sayd vnto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine onely sonne, yong and tender, and the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the a Lord God.
2 Now I haue prepared with all my power for the house of my God, gold for vessels of gold, and siluer for them of siluer, and brasse for things
of brasse, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, and onyx stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones, and of diuers coleurs, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.
3 Moreouer, because I haue b delight in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne gold and siluer, which I haue giuen to ℌ house of my God beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie, 4 Euen c three thousand talents of gold of the gold of Ophir, and seuen thousand talents of fined siluer to ouerley the walles of the houses, 5 The golde for the things of golde, and the siluer for things of siluer, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is d willing ‖ to fill his hand today vnto the Lord?
6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captaines of thousands and of hundreds, with the rulers of the kings worke, offered willingly, 7 And they gaue for the seruice of the house of God, fiue thousand talents of gold, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of siluer, and eight-teen thousand talents of brasse, and one hundred thousand talents of yron.
8 And they with whom precious stones were e found, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lord by the hand of Iehiel the Geershunnite.
9 And the people reioyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly vnto the Lord, with a †perfit heart. And Dauid the king also * reioyced with great ioy.
10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and Dauid said, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of ℌ Israel our father, for euer and euer.
11 Thine, O Lord, is greatnesse and power, and glory and victorie, and prayse: for all that is in heauen & in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome,
O Lord, and thou excellest as head ouer all.
12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue strength vnto all.
13 Now therefore, our God, we thanke thee,
and prayse thy glorious name.
14 But who am I, and what is my people, that wee should be able to offer willingly after this sort? for all things h come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.
15 For wee are i strangers before thee, and sojourners like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadowe vpon the earth, and there is none † abiding.

† Ebr. at all thy wordes.
a And therefore is ought to be excellent in all points.
b His great zeale toward the furniture of the Temple made him to spare no expenses, but to bestowe his owne peculiar treasure.
c He sheweth what he had of his owne store for the Lords house.
d He was not onely liberall himselfe, but prouoked others to set foorth the worke of God.

e Meaning, them that had any.
f That is, with a good courage and without hypocrisie.

h We gaue thee nothing of our owne, but that which we haue receiued of thee: for whether the gifts be corporall or spirituall, we receiue them all of God, and therefore must giue him the glory.
i And therefore haue this land bene ent to vs for a time.
† Ebr. waiting for them to passe.

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that wee haue prepared to builde thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17 I know also my God, that thou * triest the heart, and hast pleasure in righteousnesse: I haue offered willingly in the vprightnes of mine heart all these things: now also haue I seene thy people which are found here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioy.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel our fathers, keepe this for euer in the [k] purpose, and the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfect heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all things, and to build the house which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid said to all the congregation, Now blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord and the [l] king.

21 And they offered sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morrow after that day, they offered burnt offerings vnto the Lord, euen a thousand yong bullocks, a thousand rams, and a thousand sheepe, with their [m] drinke offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid king the second time, and anoynted him prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high Priest.

23 So Salomon sate on the [n] throne of the Lord, as king in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of king Dauid † submitted themselues vnder king Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

26 ¶ * Thus Dauid the sonne of Ishai reigned ouer all Israel.

27 And the space that hee reigned ouer Israel was fortie yeere: seuen yeere reigned hee in Hebron, and three and thirtie yeere reigned he in Ierusalem:

28 And hee died in a good age, full of dayes, riches and honour, and Salomon his sonne reigned in his stead.

29 Concerning the actes of Dauid the king, first & last, behold, they are written in the booke of Samuel the Seer, and in the booke of [o] Nathan the Prophet, and in the booke of Gad the Seer,

THE SECOND BOOKE
OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis second booke containeth briefly in effect that, which is conaprehended in the two bookes of the Kings that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared and set foorth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore seeue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First, that the godly kings, when they saw the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remooued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set foorth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise, the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and word of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe acts from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yeere of Darius, and containe in the whole, three thousand, fiue hundred, threescore and eighteene yeeres, and sixe monethes.

CHAP. I.

a The offring of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 Hee prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdome. 11 Which he giueth him, and more. 14 The number of his chariots and horsemen. 15 and of his wealth.

1 THen Salomon the sonne of Dauid was ‖ confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him highly.

2 And Salomon [a] spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreds, and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the high place that was at [b] Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle [c] of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wildernesse.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-iearim, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Moreouer, the [d] brasen altar * that Bezaleel the sonne of Vri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brasen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: * euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shall shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father, and hast made me to reigne in his stead.
9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father be [e] true: for thou hast made mee King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.
10 Giue me now wisedome and knowledge, that I may [f] go out and goe in before this people:
for who can iudge this thy great people?
11 And God saide to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the [g] liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisedome and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King, 12 Wisedome and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not beene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there be the like.
13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.
14 * And Salomon gathered the charets and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hun-dreth charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the [h] charet cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.
15 And the king gaue gold and siluer at Ieru-salem as [i] stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wild figtrees, that are abundantly in the plaine.
16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and * fine linnen: [k] the Kings marchants receiued the fine linnen for a price.
17 They came vp also and brought out of Egypt some charet, worth sixe hundreth shekels of siluer, that is an horse for an hundreth and fiftie:
and thus they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their † meanes.

CHAP. II.

2 The number of Salomons workemen to builde the Temple. 3 Salomon sendeth to Huram the King of Tyrus for wood and workmen.

THen Salomon determined to build an house for the Name of the Lord, and an ‖ house for his kingdome.
2 And Salomon tolde out seuenty thousand that bare burdens, and fourescore thousand men to hewe stones in the mountaine, and three thousand, and [a] sixe hundreth to ouersee them.
3 And Salomon sent to ‖ Huram the king of Tyrus, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, and didst * send him cedar trees to build him
an house to dwell in so doe to me, 4 Beholde, I build an house vnto the Name of the Lord my God, to sanctifie it vnto him, and to burne sweete incense before him, and for the continuall shewbread, and for the burnt offrings of the morning and euening, on the Sabbath
dayes, and in the new moneths, and in the solemne feasts of the Lord our God: this is a perpetuall thing for Israel.
5 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.
6 Who is hee then that can be able to build him an house, when the heauen and the heauen of heauens cannot containe him? who am I then that I should build him an house? but I doe it to burne [b] incense before him.
7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in gold, in siluer, and in brasse, and in yron, and in purple, and in ‖ crimosin and blue silke, and that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Iudah and in Ieru-salem, whom Dauid my father hath prepared.
8 Send mee also cedar trees, firre trees and [c] ‖ Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I know that thy seruants can skill to hew timber in Lebanon: and beholde, my seruants shall be with thine,
9 That they may prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I doe build, is great and wonderfull.
10 And behold, I will giuen to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber twentie thousand † measures of beaten wheate, and twentie thousand measures of barley, and twentie thousand baths of wine, and twentie [d] thousand baths of oyle.
11 Then Huram king of Tirus answered in writting which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord had loued his people, he hath made thee
King ouer them.
12 Huram said moreouer, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the King a [e] wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.
13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and
of vnderstanding of my father Hurams, 14 The sonne of a woman, of the [f] daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, and he can skill to worke in gold, in siluer in brasse, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue silke, and in fine linnen, and in crimosin, and can graue in all grauen workes, and broyder in all broydered worke that shalbe giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.
15 Now therefore the wheate and the barley,
the oyle and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.
16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in ‖ rafts by the sea to ‖ Iapho, so thou mayest cary them to Ierusalem.
17 ¶ And Salomon numbred all the strangers
that we[illegible] land of Israel, after the numbring that his fa[illegible]r Dauid had numbred them: and they were found an hundreth and three and fiftie thousand, and sixe hundreth.

dreth ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

and he ouerlaid it within with pure gold.
5 And the greater house he sieled with firre

the other wing fiue cubites, ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.
13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twenty cubites, they stood on their feete,
and their faces vvere toward the house.
14 ¶ He made also the f vaile of blue silke and purple, and crimosin, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.
15 ¶ And he made before the house two pillars g of fiue and thirty cubits high: and the cha-piter that was vpon the top each of them vvas
fiue cubites.
16 Hee made also chaines for the Oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an brought in the things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer and the gold, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalem, to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the [a] citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the king at the [b] feast: it was in the seuenth [c] moneth.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vp the Arke.

5 And they caried vp the Arke, and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

6 And king Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering sheepe and bullockes, which could not be told nor numbred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most Holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might be seene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not seene ‖ without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, [d] saue the two Tables, which Moses gaue at Horeb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Israel when they came out of Egypt.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuarie (for all the Priests that were present, were [e] sanctified and did not wait by course.

12 And the Leuites the singers of all sorts, as of Asaph, of Heman, of Ieduthun, and of their sonnes and of their brethren, being clad in fine linnen, stood with cymbals, and with violes, and harps at the East end of the Altar, and with them an hundreth and twentie Priestes blowing with trumpets.

13 And they were [f] as one, blowing trumpets, and singing, and made one sound to be heard in praysing and thanking the Lord, and when they lift vp their voyce with trumpets, and with cymbals, and with instruments of musicke, and when they praysed the Lord, singing, [g] For he is good, because his mercy lasteth for euer) then the house, euen the house of the Lord was filled with a cloud,

14 So that the Priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the House of God.

CHAP. VI.

3 Salomon blesseth the people. 4 He praiseth the Lord. 14 And prayeth vnto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

THen * Salomon [a] said, The Lord hath said that he would dwell in the darke cloud:

2 And I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for euer.

3 And the King turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there.)

4 And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, and hath with his [‖] hand fulfilled it, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that thy Name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel:

6 But I haue chosen Ierusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 * And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to build an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

8 But the Lord sayd to Dauid my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well, that † thou wast so-minded.

9 Notwithstanding, thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne, which shall come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that hee spake: and I am risen vp in the roume of Dauid my father, and am set on the throne of Israel as the Lord promised, and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue set the Arke there, wherein is the [b] couenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israel.

12 And the [c] king stood before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen scaffold, and set it in the middes of the court, of fiue cubits long, and fiue cubites broad, and three cubiges of height, and vpon it he stood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, and [d] stretched out his handes toward heauen.)

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, * there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepest couenant and mercie vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine ‖ hand, as appeareth this day.

16 Therefore now, Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou † shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel, so that thy sonnes take heed to their wayes to walke in my Law, as thou hast walked before mee.

17 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.

18 (Is it true in deed, that God will dwell with man on earth? behold, the * heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: how much more vnable is this house which I haue built?)

19 But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to heare the cry and prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine [e] eyes may be open toward this house day and night, euen toward the place, where of thou hast said, ‖ thou wouldest put thy Name there, that thou mayest hearken vnto the prayer, which thy seruant prayeth in this place.

AND * when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, she came to [a] prooue Salomon with hard questions at Ierusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweete odours and much gold, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was [b] nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not vnto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba saw the wisedome of Salomon, and the house that hee had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the order of his waiters, & their apparell, and his butlers, and their apparell, and his ‖ burnt offerings which he offered in the house of the Lord, and she was greatly † astonied.

5 And she sayd to the King, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy ‖ sayings, and of thy wisedome:

6 Howbeit, I beleeued not their report, vntill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisedome was not told me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his [c] throne as king, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath hee made thee king ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

9 Then she gaue the King sixescore talents of gold, and of sweete odours exceeding much, and precious stones: neither was there such sweete odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto King Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought golde from Ophir, brought [d] Algummim wood and precious stones.

11 And the King made of the Algummim wood [e] staires in the house of the Lord, and in the kings house, and harpes and violes for singers: and there was no such seene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba euery pleasant thing that shee asked, [f] besides for that which shee had brought vnto the king: so shee returned and went to her owne countrey, both she, and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundreth threescore and sixe talents of gold,

14 Besides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the Kings of Arabia, and the princes of the countrey brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And King Salomon made two hundreth targets of beaten gold, and [g] sixe hundreth shekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundreth shields of beaten gold: three hundreth [h] shekels of gold went to one shield, and the king put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuorie, and ouerlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steps, with a footstoole of gold [i] fastened to the throne, and stayes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the [k] stayes.

19 And twelue lions stood there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure golde: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of [l] Tarshish, and brought golde, and siluer, yuorie, and apes, and peacocks.

22 So king Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisedome.

23 And all the Kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisedome that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of golde, and raiment, armour, and sweet odours, horses, and mules, from yeere to yeere.

25 And Salomon had [m] foure thousand stalles of horses, and charets, and twelue thousand horsmen, whom he bestowed in the charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

giue ye that I may answere this people?
7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them, and speake

for euer.
8 But hee left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the young men that were brought vp with him,
and [c] waited on him.
9 And he said vnto them, What counsell giue ye, that we may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?
10 And the young men that were brought vp

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with rods,
but I will correct you with ‖ scourges.
12 ¶ Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come againe to me ye third day.
13 And the king answered them sharply: and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient
men,
14 And spake to them after the counsell of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with 15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people:

for it was the [e] ordinance of God, that the Lord
might performe his saying, which he had spoken † by Ahiiah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne saying, * What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Ishai. O Israel, euery man to your tents: now see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Rehoboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Iudah.
18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was ‖ ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that hee died: then King Rehoboam † made speed to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.
19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

CHAP. XI.

4 Rehoboam is forbidden to fight against Ieroboam. 5 Cities which he built. 21 Hee hath eighteene wiues, and threescore concubines, and by them eight and twentie sonnes, and threescore daughters.

AND * when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, hee gathered of the house of Iudah and [a] Beniamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against [b] Israel, and to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam.
2 But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,
3 Speake vnto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon King of Iudah, and to all Israel that are in Iudah and Beniamin, saying,
4 Thus saith the Lord, Yee shall not goe vp,
nor fight against your brethren: returne euerie
man to his house: for this thing is done of me.
They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboam.
5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Ierusalem, and [c] built strong cities in Iudah.
6 Hee built also Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,
7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,
8 And Gath, and Mareshah, and Ziph,
9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah, 10 And Zorah, and Aialon, and Hebron, which were in Iudah and Beniamin, strong cities.
11 And he ‖ repaired the strong holds and put captaines in them, and store of vittaile, and oyle and wine.
12 And in all cities he put shields and speares, and made them exceeding strong: so Iudah and Beniamin were his.
13 ¶ And the Priestes and the Leuites that were in all Israel, † resorted vnto him out of all their coasts.
14 For the Leuites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Iudah and to Ierusalem:
* for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priestes office vnto the Lord.
15 * And hee ordeined him Priests for the hie places, and for the [d] deuils and for the calues which he had made.
16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their [e] hearts to seeke the Lord God of Israel, to offer
vnto the Lord God of their fathers.
17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudah, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mighty, three yeere long: for three yeere they [f] walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.
18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ishai,
19 Which bare him sonnes, Ieush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.
20 And after her hee tooke Maakah the daughter of Absolon which bare him Abiiah, and Atthai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.
21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absolon aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eighteene wiues and threescore concubines, and begate eight and twentie sonnes, and threescore daughters.
22 And Rehoboam made [g] Abiiah the sonne of Maakah the chiefe ruler among his brethren:
for he thought to make him King.
23 And he taught him: and dispersed all his sonnes throughout all the countreis of Iudah and Beniamin vnto euery strong citie: and hee gaue them abundance of vittaile, and [h] desired many wiues.

4 And he tooke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.

6 Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled themselues, and said, The Lord is [d] iust.

12 And because hee [f] humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Abiiah maketh warre against Ieroboam. 4 Hee sheweth the occasion. 12 Hee trusteth in the Lord and ouercommeth Ieroboam. 21 Of his wiues and children.

IN the eighteenth yeere of King Ieroboam, began Abiiah to reigne ouer Iudah.

2 Hee reigned three yeere in Ierusalem: (his mothers name also was [b] Michaiah the daughter of Vriel of Gibea) and there was warre betweene Abiiah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abiiah set the battell in aray with the armie of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundreth thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundreth thousand chosen men which were strong and valiant.

4 And Abiiah stood vp vpon mount [a] Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me.

5 Ought you not to know that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen the kingdome ouer Israel to [c] Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant [f] of salt?

6 And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath * rebelled against his lord:

7 And there are gathered to him [g] vaine men and† wicked, and made themselues strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was [h] but a childe and ‖ * tender hearted, and could not resist them.

8 Now therefore ye thinke that yee be able to resist against the kingdome of the Lord, which is in the hands of the sonnes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 * Haue yee not driuen away the Priestes of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you Priests like the people of other countreyes? whosoeuer commeth to † consecrate with a [i] yong bullocke and seuen rams, the same may be a Priest of them that are no gods.

10 But wee belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the Priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lord euery [k] morning and euery euening burnt offrings and sweete incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlestick of gold with the lamps thereof, to burne euery euening: for wee keepe the watch of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God is [l] with vs a captaine, and his Priests with the sounding trumpets to cry an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam caused an ambushment [m] to compasse, and come behind them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behinde them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battell was before and behinde them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the Priestes blew with the trumpets,

15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shoute: and euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God ‖ smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abiiah and Iudah.

16 And the children of Israel fled before Iudah, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah and his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel fiue hundreth thousand chosen men.

18 So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, [n] because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

3 Asa destroyeth idolatry, and commandeth his people to serue the true God. 11 Hee prayed vnto God when he should goe to fight. 12 Hee obteineth the victorie.

* 1. King. 15. 8.

SO * Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in ‖ the citie of Dauid, and Asa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yeere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he tooke away the altars of the strange gods, and the hie places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the [a] groues,

4 And commanded Iudah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the Commandement.

5 And hee tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the high places, and the images: therefore the Kingdome was [b] quiet before him.

6 Hee built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and hee had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore hee sayd to Iudah, Let vs build these cities, and make walles about, and towers, gates, and barres, while the land is [c] before vs: because wee haue sought the Lord our God, wee haue sought him, and hee hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Asa had an armie of Iudah, that bare shields and speares, three hundreth thousand, and of Beniamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundreth and fourescore thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against him Zerah [d] of Ethiopia, with an hoast of ten hundreth thousand, and three hundreth charets, and came vnto [e] Mareshah.

10 Then Asa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephahath, beside Mareshah.

11 And Asa cried vnto the Lord his God, and sayd, Lord, * it is nothing with thee to helpe ‖ with many, or with no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for wee rest on thee, and in thy Name are wee come against this multitude: O Lord, thou art our God: † let not man preuaile against thee.

12 ¶ So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Iudah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians hoast was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his host: and they caried away a mightie great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the ‖ feare of the Lord came vpon them, & they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoile in them.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattell, and caried away plenty of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

2 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his country of idolatry. 11 Hee sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 Hee deposeth his mother for her idolatry.

THen the Spirit of God came vpon [a] Azariah the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meete Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Iudah and Beniamin, heare ye me, The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, he will be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the [b] true God, and without Priest to teach, and without law.

4 But whosoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he [c] was found of him.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be yee strong therefore, and let not your hands bee weake: for your [d] worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these words, and the prophecie of Obed ‖ the Prophet, he was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the land of Iudah and Beniamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and hee renewed the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And hee gathered all Iudah and Beniamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the [e] third moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of the ‖ spoile which they had brought euen seuen hundreth bullockes, and seuen thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

13 And [g] whosoeuer will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shall be slaine, whether hee were small or great, man or women.

14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a loud voyce, and with shouting, and with trumpets, & with correts.

15 And all Iudah reioyced at the oathe: for they had sworne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and he was [h] found of them. And the Lord gaue them rest round about.

2 Asa for feare of Baasha king of Israel, maketh a couenant with Ben-hadad king of Aram. 7 Hee is reprooued by the Prophet. 10 Whom hee putteth in prison. 12 He putteth his trust in the Physicians. 13 His death.

IN the sixe and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Asa, came a * Baasha king of Israel vp against Iudah, and built b Ramah, to let none passe out or goe in to Asa king of Iudah.
2 Then Asa brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at || Damascus, saying,
3 There is a couenant betweene me and thee,
and betweene my father and thy father: behold,
I haue sent thee siluer and golde: come, c breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that hee may depart from me.
4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto king Asa,
and sent the captaines of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.
5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.
6 Then Asa the king tooke all Iudah, and caried away the stones of Ramah and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha did build, and he build therewith Geba and Mizpah.
7 ¶ And at that same time Hanani the || Seer came to Asa king af Iudah, and said vnto him, Because thou hast rested vpon the king of Aram, and not rested in the Lord thy God, therefore is the host of the king of Aram escaped out of thine

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 Hee abolisheth idolatrie, 7 and causeth the people to be taught. 11 Hee receiueth tribute of strangers. 12 His munition, and men of warre.

AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israel.
2 And he put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.
3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because hee walked in the a first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not b Baalim, 4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the king-

6 And he c lift vp his heart vnto the wayes of the Lord, and he tooke away moreouer the high

Elishamah and Iehoram Priests.
9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the Law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.
10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the

1 Iehoshaphat maketh affinitie with Ahab. 10 Foure hundreth Prophets counsell Ahab to goe to warre. 16 Michaiah is against them. 23 Zidkiah smiteth him. 25 The king putteth him in prison. 29 The effect of his prophecie.

AND * Iehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, but he was ioyned in [a] affinitie with Ahab.
2 And after certaine [b] yeeres hee went downe to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab slewe sheepe and oxen for him in great number, and for the people that he had with him, and entised him to goe vp vnto [c] Ramoth Gilead.
3 And Ahab king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, and we will ioyne with thee in warre.
4 And Iehoshaphat said vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the [d] word of the Lord this day.
5 Therefore the King of Israel gathered of [e] Prophets foure hundreth men, and said vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.
6 But Iehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord, that we might enquire of him?
7 And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord: but I [f] hate him: for hee doeth not prophecie good vnto mee, but alway euill: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. Then Iehoshaphat said, Let not the king say [g] so.
8 And the king of Israel called an eunuch, and said, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imla.
9 ¶ And the king of Israel and Iehoshaphat King of Iudah sate either of them on his throne cloathed in their [h] apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the Prophets prophecied before
them.
10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him [i] hornes of yron, and sayd, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites vntill thou hast consumed them.
11 And all the Prophets prophecied so, saying, Goe vp in Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it vnto the hand of the king.
12 ¶ And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Behold, the words of the Prophets declare good to the king with one [k] accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speake thou good.
13 And Michaiah said, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.
14 ¶ So hee came to the king, and the King said vnto him, Michaiah, shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And he said,

16 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered in the

the Lord said, [m] These haue no master: let them
returne euery man to his house in peace.
17 And the King of Israel said to Iehoshaphat,
Did I not tell thee, that hee would not prophecie

19 And the Lord said, Who shall ‖ perswade Ahab King of Israel, that he may goe vp, and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and said thus, and another said that.
20 Then there came foorth a spirit and stood before the Lord, and said, I will perswade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?
21 And he said, I will goe out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his Prophets. And [o] hee said, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt also preuaile:
goe forth and doe so.
22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a [p] false spirit in the mouth of these thy Prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against
thee.
23 Then Zedkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere & smote Michaiah vpon the [q] cheeke, and sayd, By what way went the Spirit of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?
24 And Michaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.
25 And the King of Israel said, Take yee Michaiah, and cary him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Ioash the Kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of turne in peace.

27 And Michaiah sayd, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And ‖ he said, Heare all ye people.
28 So the King of Israel and Iehoshaphat the King of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.
29 And the King of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, I will [s] change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.
30 And the king of Aram had commanded the captaines of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.
31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they said, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphat [t] cried, and the Lord helped him and moo-ued them to depart from him.
32 For when the captaines of the charets saw that hee was not the King of Israel, they turned backe from him.
33 Then a certaine man drew a bow † mightily, and smote the King of Israel betweene the

CHAP. XIX.

4 After Iehoshaphat was rebuked by the Prophet, he called againe the people to the honouring of the Lord. 5 He appointeth Iudges and ministers, 9 and exhorteth them to feare God.

AND Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah returned † safe to his house in Ierusalem.

2 And Iehu the sonne of Hanani the Seer went out to meete them, and said to king Iehoshaphat, [a] Wouldest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them that hate the Lord? therefore for this thing the wrath † of the Lord is vpon thee.

3 Neuerthelesse good things are found in thee, because thou hast takē away the groues out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seeke God.

4 ¶ So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalem, and returned and went [b] through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them againe vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And hee set iudges in the land throughout all the strong cities of Iudah, citie by citie.

AFter this also came the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them of the [a] Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battell.

2 Then there came that tolde Iehoshaphat, saying, There commeth a great multitude against thee from beyond the [b] Sea, out of Aram: and beholde, they be in Hazzon Tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and set himselfe [c] to seeke the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Iudah.

4 And Iudah gathered themselues together to aske counsell of the Lord: they came euen out of all the cities of Iudah to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the Congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court,

6 And sayd, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? and reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathen, and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstand thee.

7 Diddest not thou our God cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and [d] gauest it to the seed of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a Sanctuary therein for thy Name, saying,

9 * If euill come vpon vs, as the [e] sword of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this house & in thy presence (for thy name [f] is in this house) and will cry vnto thee in our tribulation, and thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now, behold, the children of * Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whom thou wouldest not let Israel goe, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not:

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in comming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherite:

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that commeth against vs, neither doe we know what to doe: but our eyes [g] are toward thee.

15 And he sayd, Hearken yee all Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, King Iehoshaphat: thus saith the Lord vnto you, Feare you not, neither be afraid for this great multitude: for the [k] battell is not yours, but Gods.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat [l] bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell dowue before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 ¶ And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Corhites stood vp to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loude voyce on high.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wildernes of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stood and said, Heare

Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and yo shalbe assured: beleeue his [m] Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the Lord, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuary, in going foorth before the men of armes, and saying, [n] Praise ye the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for euer.

22 And when they began to shoute, and to praise, the Lord laide ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and [o] mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped to [p] destroy one another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wildernesse, they looked vnto the multitude: and behold, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for themselues, till they could carry no more: they were three dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they [q] assembled themselues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then euery man of Iudah and Ierusalem returned with Iehoshaphat their head to goe againe to Ierusalem with ioy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with violes, and with harps, and with trumpets, euen vnto the house of the Lord.

29 And the [r] feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 ¶ And * Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fiue & thirty yeere old, when he began to reigne: and reigned fiue and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of [s] Asa his father, & departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the hie places were [t] not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoshaphat first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani, which * is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne himselfe with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was giuen to doe euill.

36 And hee ioyned with him, to * make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the sonne of Dodauah of Maresh prophecied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast [u] ioyned thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broken thy workes: and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

IEhoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of Dauid: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Iehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat king of [a] Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great giftes of siluer and of golde, and of precious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdome gaue he to Iehoram: for he was the eldest.

4 * And Iehoram rose vp vpon the kingdome of his father, and made himselfe strong, and [b] slew all his brethren with the sword, and also of the princes of [c] Israel.

5 Iehoram was two and thirty yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned eight yeeres in Ierusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done: for he had the daughter of Ahab to [d] wife, and he wrought euill in the eyes of the Lord.

7 Howbeit the Lord would not destroy the house of Dauid, because of the * couenant that he had made with Dauid, and because he had promised to giue a light to him, and to his sonnes for euer.

8 ¶ In his dayes Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah, and made aking ouer them.

9 And Iehoram went forth with his princes, and all his charets with him: and hee rose vp by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaines of the charets.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. Then did [e] Libnah rebell at the same time from vnder his hand, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 ¶ Moreouer he made high places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit [f] fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from [g] Eliiah the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa king of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou.

14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wiues, and all thy substance.

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, vntill [h] thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram. 9 Iehu king of Israell killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the Kings linage. 11 Ioash escaped.

AND *the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his youngest sonne King in his stead: for the armie that came with a the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and b fourtie yeere old was Ahaziah when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned c one yeere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter d of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Wherefore hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his e counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And hee walked after their counsell, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Joram.

6 ¶ And hee returned to be healed in Izreel, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when hee fought with Hazael king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izreel, because hee was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah f came of God, in that he went to Joram: for when he was come, hee went foorth with Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi,* whom the Lord had anoynted to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu ‖ executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, hee slew them also.

9 And hee sought Ahaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slewe him and buried him, because saide they, Hee is the sonne of g Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdome.

10 ¶ *Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her sonne was dead, shee arose and h destroyed all the kings seede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the king tooke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stale him from among the kings sonnes, that should be slaine, and put him and his nourse in the bedde chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of king Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for shee was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so the slew him not.

12 And hee was with them hid in the i house of God sixe yeeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the k land.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah is made king. 15 Athaliah is put to death. 17 The temple of Baal is destroyed. 18 Iehoiada appointeth ministers in the Temple.

AND * in the seuenth yeere Iehoiada waxed bold, and tooke the captaines of hundreths, to wit, Azariah the sonne of Iehoram, and Ishmael the sonne of Iehohanan, and Azariah the sonne of Obed, and Maasiah the sonne of Adajah, and Elishaphat the sonne of Zichri in couenant with him.

2 And they went about in Iudah, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudah, and the chiefe fathers of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

3 And all the congregation made a couenant with the King in the house of God: and he said vnto them, Behold, the Kings sonne must reigne, as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

4 This is it that ye shall do, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, and the Leuites, shalbe porters of the doores.

5 And another third part toward the Kings house, and another third part at the * gate of the foundation, and all the people shalbe in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister, they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the King round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, and he that entreth into the house, shall be slaine, and be you with the King, when hee commeth in, and when he goeth out.

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commanded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that e went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreths speares, and shields, and bucklers which had beene king Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And he caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the house round about the king.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne, and gaue him the f testimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiada and his sonnes anoynted him, and said, God saue the king.

4 Ioash repaireth the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatrie. 21 He stoneth to death Zachariah the Prophet. 25 Ioash is killed of his owne seruants. 27 After him reigneth Amaziah.

IOash * was seuen yeere olde when hee beganne to reigne, and hee reigned fortie yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Ioash did vprightly in the sight of the Lord all the dayes of [a] Iehoiada the Priest.

3 And Iehoiada ‖ tooke him two wiues, and he begate sonnes and daughters.

4 ¶ And afterward it came into Ioash minde to renew the house of the Lord.

5 And hee assembled the Priests and the Leuites, and said to them, Goe out vnto the cities of Iudah, and gather of all [b] Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing, but the Leuites hasted not.

6 Therefore the king called Iehoiada the [c] chiefe, and said vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalem * the taxe of Moses the seruant of the Lord, and of the Congregation of Israel, for the Tabernacle of the testimonie?

7 For [d] wicked Athaliah, and her children brake vp the house of God: and all the things that were dedicated for the house of the Lord, did they bestow vpon Baalim.

9 And they made proclamation thorow Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord * the taxe of Moses the seruant of God, layd vpon Israel in the wildernesse.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

11 And when it was time, [e] they brought the chest vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they saw that there was much siluer, then the Kings Scribe, (and one appointed by the high Priest) came and emptied the chest, and tooke it, and caried it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

12 And the King and [f] Iehoiada gaue it to such as did the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repaire the house of the Lord: they gaue it also to workers of yron and brasse, to repaire the house of the Lord.

13 So the workemen wrought, and the worke † amended through their hands: and they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the siluer before the king and Iehoiada, and hee made thereof [g] vessels for the house of the Lord, euen vessels to minister, both morters and incense cups, and vessels of gold, and of siluer: and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Iehoiada.

15 ¶ But Iehoiada waxed old and was full of daies, and died. An hundreth and thirtie yeere old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the citie of Dauid with the [h] kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 ¶ And after the death of Iehoiada, came the [i] princes of Iudah, and did reuerence to the king, and the king hearkened vnto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Iudah and Ierusalem, because of this their trespasse.

19 And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and they [k] made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Iehoiada the Priest, which stood [l] aboue the people, and said vnto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse yee the commandements of the Lord? surely yee shall not prosper: because yee haue forsaken the Lord, hee also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him, & stoned him with stones at the [m] commandement of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Ioash the king remembred not the kindnesse which Iehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonne. And when hee died, hee said, The Lord [n] looke vpon it and require it.

23 ¶ And when the yeere was out, the host of Aram came vp against him, & they came against Iuda and Ierusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoyle of them vnto the king of Damascus.

house of God, behold, they are written in the sto-

CHAP. XXV.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. 10 Hee sendeth backe them of Israel 12 Hee ouercommeth the Edomites. 14 Hee falleth to idolatry. 17 And Ioash king of Israel ouercommeth Amaziah. 27 Hee is slaine by a conspiracie.

Amaziah was fiue and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twentie yeere in * Ierusalem & his mothers name was Iehoaddan of Ierusalem.
2 And hee did [a] vprightly in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfit heart.
3 And when the kingdome was established vnto him, he slew his seruants, that had slaine the king his father.
4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, *The fathers shall not die for the [b] children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.
5 ¶ And Amaziah assembled Iudah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, thorowout all Iudah and Beniamin: and hee numbred them from [c] twentie yeere olde and aboue, and found among them three hundred thousand chosen men, to goe forth to the warre,
and to handle speare and shield.
6 Hee hired also an hundreth thousand valiant men [d] out of Israel for an hundred talents of siluer.
7 But a man of God came vnto him, saying, O king, let not the armie of Israel go with thee: for the Lord is not [e] with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim:
8 If [f] not, goe thou on, doe it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shall make thee fall
before the enemie: for God hath power to helpe,
and to cast downe.
9 And Amaziah said to the man of GOD,
What shal wee doe then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to [g] giue thee more then this.
10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caried them to the top of a rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the [k] armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoyle.
14 Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and [l] worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.
15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to [m] deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?
16 And as he talked with him, [n] he saide vnto
him, Haue they made thee the Kings counseller?
cease thou: why should they [o] smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but sayd, I knowe that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.
17 ¶ Then Amaziah King of Iudah tooke counsell, and sent to Ioash the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come,
[p] let vs see one another in the face.
18 But Ioash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Leba-

* Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went and trode downe the thistle.
19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge:
abide now at home: why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah
with thee?
20 But Amaziah would not heare: for [q] it was
of God, ꝧ he might deliuered them into his hand,
because they had sought the gods of Edom.
21 So Ioash the king of Israel went vp: and he and Amaziah king of Iudah sawe one another in the face at Beth-shemesh, which is in Iudah.
22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.
23 But Ioash the king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Ioash, the sonne of Iehoahaz, in Bethshemesh, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.
24 And he tooke all the gold and the siluer, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with [r] Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.
25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel, fifteene yeere.
26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of ſlew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horſes, and buried him with his fathers in the city of Iudah.

CHAP. XXVI.

1, 5 Vzziah obeying the Lord, proſpereth in his enterpriſes. 16 Hee waxeth proud and vſurpeth the Prieſtes office. 19 The Lord plagueth him. 20 The Prieſts driue him out of the Temple, and exclude him out of the Lords houſe. 23 His buriall, and his ſucceſſour.

THen all * the people of Iudah tooke a Vzziah, which was ſixteene yeere old, and made him king in the ſtead of his father Amaziah.

2 Hee built b Eloth, and reſtored it to Iudah, after that the king ſlept with his fathers.

3 * Sixteene yeere olde vvas Vzziah, when hee began to reigne, and he reigned two & fiftie yeere in Ieruſalem, and his mothers name vvas Iecoliah of Ieruſalem.

4 And he did vprightly in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And hee ſought God in the dayes of c Zechariah (which vnderſtood the viſions of God) and when as d he ſought the Lord, God made him to proſper.

6 For he went foorth and fought againſt the Philiſtims, and brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Iabneh, and the wall of Aſhdod, and built cities in Aſhdod, and among the Philiſtims.

7 And God helped him againſt the Philiſtims, and againſt the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and Hammeunim.

8 And the Ammonites gaue e giftes to Vzziah, and his name ſpred to the entring in of Egypt: for he did moſt valiantly.

9 Moreouer Vzziah built towers in Ieruſalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the * f turning, and made them ſtrong.

10 And he built towers in the wilderneſſe, and digged many ‖ ciſternes: for he had much cattell both in the valleys and plaines, plowmen, and dreſſers of vines in the mountaines, and in g Carmel: for he loued husbandry.

11 Vzziah alſo had an hoſte of fighting men that went out to warre by bands, according to the count of their number vnder the hand of Ieiel the Scribe, and Maaſeiah the ruler, and vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the Kings captaines.

12 The whole h number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men vvere two thouſand and ſixe hundreth.

13 And vnder their hand vvas the armie for warre, three hundreth and ſeuen thouſand, and fiue hundreth that fought valiantly to helpe the King againſt the enemie.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoſte, ſhields, and ſpeares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and ſtones to fling.

15 He made alſo very † artificiall engins in Ieruſalem, to be vpon the towers and vpon the corners, to ſhoote arrowes and great ſtones: and his name ſpread farre abroad, becauſe God did helpe him marueilouſly till he was mighty.

16 ¶ But when he was ſtrong, his heart i was lift vp to his deſtruction: for hee tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burnt incenſe vpon the altar of incenſe.

17 And Azariah the Prieſt went in after him: and with him fourescore Prieſts of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withſtood Vzziah the King, and 19 Then Vzziah was wroth, and had incenſe in his hand to burne it: and while he was wroth with the Prieſts, the leproſie roſe vp in his forehead before the Prieſtes in the houſe of the Lord beſide the incenſe altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Prieſts with all the Prieſts looked vpon him, behold, hee was leprous in his forehead, & they cauſed him haſtily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, becauſe the Lord had ſmitten him.

21 * And Vzziah the King was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an l houſe apart, becauſe he was cut off from the houſe of the Lord: and Iotham his ſonne ruled ouer the Kings houſe, and iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the reſt of the acts of Vzziah, firſt and laſt, did Iſaiah the Prophet the ſonne of Amoz write.

23 So Vzziah ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which perteined to the Kings; for they ſaid, He m is a leper. And Iotham his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

1 Iotham reigned, and ouercommeth the Ammonites. 8 His reigne and death. 9 Ahaz his ſonne reigneth in his ſtead.

IOtham * vvas fiue and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned ſixteene yeere in Ieruſalem, and his mothers name vvas Ieruſhah the daughter of Zadok.

2 And hee did vprightly in the ſight of the Lord, according to all that his father Vzziah did, ſaue that he entred not into the a Temple of the Lord, and the people did yet b corrupt their vvayes.

3 Hee built the hie c gate of the houſe of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wall of the caſtle.

4 Moreouer he built cities in the mountaines of Iudah, and in the forreſts he built palaces and towers.

5 And he fought with the kings of the children of Ammon, and preuailed againſt them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the ſame yeere an hundreth talents of ſiluer, and ten thouſand † meaſures of wheate, and ten thouſand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him ‖ both in the ſecond yeere and the third.

6 So Iotham became mightie, d becauſe hee directed his way before the Lord his God.

7 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Iotham and all his warres and his wayes, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iſrael, and Iudah.

8 He was fiue and twentie yeere old, when hee began to reigne, and reigned ſixteene yeere in Ieruſalem.

m To Tilgath Pilneeser and those kings that were vnder his dominion, 2.King.16,7.

AHaz * vvas twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem, and did not vprightly in the sight of the Lord, like Dauid his || father.
2 But a he walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel, and made euen molten images for b Baalim.
3 Moreouer hee burnt incense in the valley of Ben-hinnom, and || burnt his sonnes with fire, after the abominations of the heathen whom the Lord hast cast out before the children of Israel.
4 Hee sacrificed also and burnt incense in the high places, and on hils, and vnder euery greene tree.
5 Wherefore the Lord his God deliuered him into the hand of the king of the Aramites, and they smote him, and tooke of his † many prisoners, and brought them to Damascus: and he was also deliuered into the hand of the king of Israel, which smote him with a great slaughter.
6 For c Pekah the sonne of Remaliah slew in Iudah sixescore thousand in one day, all † valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.
7 And Zichri a || mighty man of Ephraim slew
Maaseiah the kings sonne, and Azrikam the gouernour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the King.
8 And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren,d two hundreth thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, and caried away much spoile of them, and brought the spoile to Samaria.
9 ¶ But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name vvas Oded) and he went out before the host that came to Samaria, and said vnto them, Behold, e because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, hee hath deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.
10 And now yee purpose to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaides vnto you, but are not you such, that
f sinnes are with you before the Lord your God?
11 Now therefore heare mee, and deliuer the captiues againe, which yee haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.
12 Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of g Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth,
and Iehizkiah the sonne of Shallum, and Amasa
the sonne of Hadlai, stood vp against them that came from the warre, 13 And said vnto them, Bring not in the captiues
hither; for this shalbe h a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: yee intend to adde more to our sinnes and to our trespasse, though our trespasse be great, and the fierce wrath of God is against Israel.
14 So the army left the captiues and the spoile
before the princes and all the Congregation.
15 And the men that were i named by name, rose vp and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoile cloathed all that were naked among them,
and arayed them, and shod them, and gaue them
meate, and gaue them drinke, and k anoynted
them, and caried all that were feeble of them vpon asses, and brought them to Iericho the city of Palme trees to their l brethren: so they returned to Samaria.
16 ¶ At that time did king Ahaz send vnto
the m kings of Asshur, to helpe him.
17 (For the Edomites came moreouer, and slew of Iudah, and caried away captiues.
18 The Philistims also inuaded the cities in the low countrey, and toward the South of Iudah, and tooke Bethshemesh, and Aialon, and Gederoth,
and Shocho, with the villages thereof,
and Timnah, with her villages, and Gimzo, with her villages, and they dwelt there.
19 For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz king of n Israel, for he had brought vengeance vpon Iudah, & had grieuously transgressed against the Lord.)
20 And Tilgath Pilneeser king of Asshur came vnto him, who troubled him and did not strengthen
him.
21 For Ahaz † tooke a portion * out of the house of the Lord and out of the kings house and of the princes, and gaue vnto the king of Asshur:
yet it helped him not.
22 And in the time of his tribulation did hee
yet trespasse more against the Lord, (this is king Ahaz.)
23 For hee sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which o plagued him, and he said, Because the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice
vnto them, and they will p helpe mee: yet
they were his ruine, and of all || Israel.
24 And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in euery corner of Ierusalem.
25 And in euery citie of Iudah he made high places to burne incense vnto other gods, and prouoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.
26 Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah, and Israel.
27 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city || of Ierusalem, but brought him not vnto the q sepulchres of the Kings of Israel:
and Hezekiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

4 And hee brought in the Priests and the Leuites,

5 And said vnto them, Heare me, ye Leuites:

sonnes of the Kohathites: and of the sonnes of Me-of Iehaleel: and of the Gershonites, Ioah the

and Vzziel.
15 And they gathered their brethren, and san-ctified themselues, & came according to the commandement of the king, and ‖ by the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.
16 And the Priests went into the inner partes of the house of the Lord, to [f] cleanse it, & brought out all the vncleannesse that they found in the Temple of the Lord, into the court of the house of the Lord: and the Leuites tooke it, to carie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.
17 They began the first day of the [g] first mo-neth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the mo-neth came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight dayes, and in the sixteenth day of the first moneth, they made an end.
18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the king and said, Wee haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the ‖ shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof:
19 And all the vessels which King Ahaz had cast aside when he reigned, and transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.
20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king [h] rose early, and gathered the princes of the citie, and went vp to the house of the Lord.
21 And they brought seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and seuen lambs, and seuen hee goats for a * sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the sanctuary, and for Iudah. And he commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them
on the altar of the Lord.
22 So they slew the bullocks, and the Priestes receiued the blood, and [i] sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slew also the rammes, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slewe the lambes,
and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.
23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offering before the king and the Congregation, [k] and they layd their hands vpon them.
24 And the Priestes slewe them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering, and the sinne offering.

25 He appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbals, with viols, and with harpes, * according to the commaundement of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the [l] commaundement was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Pro-

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the priests with the trumpets.
27 And Hezekiah commaunded to offer the burnt offring vpon the altar: and when the burnt offring began, the song of the [m] Lord began with the trumpets, and the instruments [n] of Dauid

28 And all the congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued vntill the burnt offering was finished.
29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselues, and worshipped.
30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king and the princes commaunded the Leuites to prayse the Lord with the [o] words of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer. So they praised with ioy, and they bowed themselues,

CHAP. XXX.

1, 13 The keping of the Passeouer by the kings commaundement. 6 He exhorteth Israel to turne to the Lord. 18 He prayeth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Leuites blesse the people.

AND Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Iudah, and also wrote letters to [a] Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord
at Ierusalem, to keep the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.
2 And the king and his princes and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Ierusalem to keepe the Passeouer in the [b] second moneth 3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priests enough sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Ierusalem

a Meaning, all Israel, whom Tilgath Pilneesar had not taken away into the captiuitie, 2. King. 5. 20.

b Though they ought to haue done it in the first moneth, as Exod. 12. 18. Numb. 9. 3 yet if any were not cleane, or els had a long iourney, they might defe[r]e it vnto the second moneth, as Numb. 9. 10. 11.

4 And the thing pleased the king, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation throwout all Israel from c Beersheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, d as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, throwout all Israel and Iudah, and with the commandement of the King, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel, and e hee will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the kings of Asshur.

7 And be not yee like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as yee see.

8 Be not yee now stiffnecked like your fathers, but f giue the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuarie, which he hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if yee returne vnto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shall g returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if yee conuert vnto him.

10 ¶ So the posts went from citie to citie throw the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they h laughed them to scorne and mocked them.

11 Neuertheleſſe, diuers of Asher, and Manasseh, and of Zebulun, submitted themselues, and came to Ierusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudah, so that he gaue them one i heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleauened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the k altars that were in Ierusalem, and all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slewe the Passeouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were l ashamed, and sanctified themselues, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the m blood receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Liuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselues, yet did eate the Passeouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull toward him,

19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though hee be not cleansed, according to the purification of the Sanctuarie.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and o healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Ierusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes with great ioy, and the Leuites, and the Priests prayed the Lord day by day, singing with loud instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah † spake comfortably vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eate in that feast seuen dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsell to keepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Iudah had giuen to the Congregation a p thousand bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand sheepe: and many priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudah rejoyced with the Priests and the Leuites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Iudah.

26 So there was great ioy in Ierusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and q blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroy idolatrie. 2 Hezekiah appointeth Priests and Leuites, 4 and prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordaineth ouerseers to distribute to euery one his portion.

NOw when all these things were finished, all Israel, that were found in the cities of Iudah, went out and a broke the images, and cut downe the groues, and brake downe the high places, and the altars throwout all Iudah and Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntill they had made an end: afterward all the b children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Leuites by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priests and Leuites for the burnt offering and peace offrings, to minister and to giue thankes, and to prayse in the gates of the c tents of the Lord.

4 Hee commanded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalem, to giue d part to the Priests and Leuites, that they might be e encouraged in the law of the Lord.

6 And the children of Israel and Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes f which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and layd them on g many heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah and the princes came, and saw the heapes, they h blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offrings into the house of the Lord, wee haue i eaten, and haue beene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them,

12 And caried in the first fruits, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully: and ouer them vvas Conaniah the Leuite the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite, porter toward the East, vvas ouer the things that were willingly offred vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand vvere Eden, and Miniamin, and Iesh ua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidilitie to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small,

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wines, and their sonnes, and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their l fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priestes, vvhich vvere in the fields and suburbes of their cities, in euery citie the men that were appointed by names, should giue portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Iudah, and did well, and vprightly, and truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the works that he began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the Law and in the commandements, to seeke his God, hee did it with all his heart, and prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Saneherib inuadeth Iudah. 3 Hezekiah prepareth for the warre. 7 He exhorteth the people to put their trust in the Lord. 9 Saneherib blasphemeth God. 20 Hezekiah prayeth. 21 The Angel destroyeth the Assyrians and the king is saued. 25 Hezekiah is not thankefull toward the Lord. 33 His death.

AFter these things faithfully described, * Saneherib king of Assiur came and entred into Iudah, and besieged the strong cities, and thought to † winne them for himselfe.

2 When Hezekiah saw that Saneherib was come, and that his † purpose vvas to fight against Ierusalem,

3 Then hee tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie, and they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people assembled themselues, and stopt all the fountaines, and the riuer that ranne through the mids of the countrey, saying, Why should the kings of Assiur come, and finde much water?

5 And † he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made vp the towers, and another wall without, and repaired a Millo in the b city of Dauid, and made many c darts & shields.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and † spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and couragious: feare not, neither be afraid for the king of Assiur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: * for there be more with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an d arme of flesh, but with vs is the e Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the words of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 * After this did Saneherib king of Assiur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was f against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah, that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Saneherib the king of Assiur, Wherein doe yee trust, that ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entise you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine & by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Assiur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his hie places, and his g altars, and commanded Iudah, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know yee not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreys? were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is hee of all the h gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of i mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

f While he besieged Lachish.
g This the wicked put no difference betweene true religion and false God and idoles: for Hezekiah onely destroyed idolatry, & had placed true religion. Thus the Papists diuider the seruants of God: for when they destroy idolatry, they say that they abolish religion.
h This is his blasphemie, that hee will compare the Liuing God to vile idoles.
i When man hath prosperity, hee liueth in pride, and thinketh himselfe able to resist and ouercome euen God himselfe.

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his [k] seruant Hezekiah.
17 Hee wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countries could not deliuer their people out of mine hand; so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer
his people out of mine hand.
18 Then they [l] cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes speach vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.
19 Thus they spake against the God of Ieru-salem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the [m] works of mans hands.
20 But Hezekiah the King, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz [n] prayed against this and cryed to heauen.
21 And the Lord sent an Angel, which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and [o] captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur: so he returned † with shame to his owne land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his [p] owne bowels, slew him there with the sword.
22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Saneherib king of Asshur, and from the hand of all other,
and ‖ maintained them on euery side.
23 And many brought offrings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that hee was [q] magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.
24 * In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto
the death, and prayed vnto the Lord; who spake
vnto him, and gaue him [r] a signe.
25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him: for his heart [s] was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.
26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.
27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and he gate him treasures of siluer and of golde, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:
28 And of store houses for the increase of wheate and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beasts,
and ‖ rowes for the ‖ stables.
29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.
30 The same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of [t] Gihon, and led them streight vnderneath toward the city of Dauid Westward:
so Hezekiah prospered in all his works.
31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to [u] trie him, and to know all that was in his heart.
32 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnesse, behold, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz, in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.
33 So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ie-rusalem did him honour at his death, and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

[k] Herein we see that when the wicked speake euill of the seruants of God, they care not to blaspheme God himselfe: for if they feared God, they would loue his seruants.

began to reigne, and he reigned fiue and fiftie yeere in Ierusalem:

rael.

4 Also hee built altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had sayd, * In Ierusalem shall my Name be for euer.
5 And hee built altars for all the hoste of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.
6 [a] And he caused his sonnes to passe through the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom: hee gaue himselfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to sorcerie, and hee vsed them that had familiar spirits, and soothsayers: he did very much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.
7 He put also the carued image, which he had made, in the house of God: whereof God had said to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, * In this house and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name

8 Neither will I * make the foote of Israel to remooue any more out of the land which I haue appoynted for your fathers, so that they take heede, and doe all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and statutes and iudgements
by the [b] hand of Moses.
9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.
10 ¶ And the Lord spake [c] to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.
11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them
the captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur, which tooke Manasseh and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel.
12 And when he was in tribulation, he prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was [d] entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God.
14 Now after this hee built a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the West side of [e] Gihon in the valley, euen at the entry of the fish gate, and compassed about [f] Ophel, and raised it very high,
and put captaines of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah.

i For the king was commanded to haue continually a copie of this booke, and to reade therein day and night, Deut. 17, 18, 19.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the houſe of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerſeers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Alſo Shaphan the chancellor declared to the King, ſaying, Hilkiah the prieſt had giuen me a booke, and Shaphan read it before the King.

21 Goe and enquire of the Lord for mee, and for the reſt in Israel and Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, becauſe our l fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

23 And she answered them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Tell ye [o] the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before the King of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsake mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the works of their [p] hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of ẏ Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did [q] melt, and thou diddest humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before mee, and tarest thy cloathes, and weptest before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this [r] place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King word againe.

29 ¶ Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the [s] smallest, and he read in their eares all the words of the booke of the Couenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

31 And the King stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, and to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes with all his heart, and with all his soule, and that he would accomplish the words of the Couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were found in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stand to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the Couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that perteined to the children of Israel, and compelled all [t] that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

r It may appeare that very fewe were touched with true repentance, seeing that God separed them for a time onely for the kings sake.
s Forasmuch as neither yong nor old could be exempted from the curses conteined therein, if they did transgresse, he knew it perteined to all, and was his duetie to see it read to all sorts, that euery one might learne to auoyd those punishments by seruing God aright.

CHAP. XXXV.

2. Iosiah keepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth foorth Gods seruice. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, and dieth. 24 The people bewaile him.

MOreouer, * Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, and they slew the [a] Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord,

3 And he sayd vnto the Leuites that [b] taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did build: it shalbe no more a [c] burden vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God, and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as * Dauid the king of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Solomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren ‖ the children of the people, and after the deuision of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and [d] prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses,

7 Iosiah also gaue to the † people sheepe, lambs and kiddes, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousand, and three thousand bullockes: these were of the Kings substance.

8 And his princes offred willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousand and sixe hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth bullocks.

9 [e] Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nethaneel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fiue thousand sheepe, and fiue hundreth bullockes.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stood in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the kings commaundement:

11 And they slewe the Passeouer, and the Priests [f] sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Liuites flayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the [g] burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullocks.

13 And * they rosted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome; but ẏ sanctified things they sod in pots, pannes, and cauldrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for themselues and for the Priests: for the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offring of burnt offerings, and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing * according to the commandement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Ieduthun the kings [h] Seer: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day to keepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

chad-nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and hee hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate, that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.
14 All the chiefe of the Priests also and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which hee had sanctified in Ierusalem.

The prayer of Manasseh King of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Ebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

O Lord almightie, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the word of thy commaundement, which hast shut vp the depth, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whom all doe feare, and tremble before thy power: for the Maiestie of thy glory cannot be borne, and thine angry threatning toward sinners is importable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised [a] repentance and forgiuenesse to them that sinne against thee, and so thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac and Iacob, which haue not [b] sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the number of the sand of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to behold and see the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yron bands, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath, and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements. I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgiue me: O Lord, forgiue me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue mee that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercy: therefore I will prayse thee for euer all the dayes of my life: for all the power of the heauens prayse thee, and thine is the glory for euer and euer. Amen.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.

b Hee speaketh this in comparison of himselfe, and those holy fathers which haue their commendation in the Scriptures, so that in respect of himselfe he calleth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteousnesse.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lord is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their ovvne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the vvorld, and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that hee had visited the Ievves, and kept them novv in bondage seuentie yeeres in a strange countrey among infidels and idolaters, hee remembred his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his ovvne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and mooued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, vvhich had kept them in seruitude. Notvvithstanding, least they should grovve into a contempt of Gods great benefites, hee keepeth them still in exercise, and rayseth domesticall enemies vvhich endeuour as much as they can to hinder their most vvorthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophet they vvent forvvard by little and little, till their vvorke vvas finished. 2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and said vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God as yee doe, & we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esar Haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Iesh'ua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build the house vnto our God: b for wee our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as king Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded vs.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the commandement of the King, Ezra and his companions come to Ierusalem. 27 Hee giueth thankes to God.

NOw after these things, in the reigne of [a] Ar-tahshashte king of Persia, vvas Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hilkiah,
2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok,
the sonne of Ahitub,
3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Aza-riah, the sonne of Meraioth, 4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Vzzi,
the sonne of Bukki,
5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phine-has, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of [b] Aaron,
the chiefe Priest.
6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a [c] Scribe, prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the king gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God, vvhich vvas vpon him.
7 And there went vp certaine of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Ierusalem, in the seuenth yeere of king Ar-tahshashte.
8 And hee came to Ierusalem in the [d] fifth moneth, which was in the seuenth yeere [e] of the king.
9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the first moneth came he to Ierusalem according to the good hand of his God that vvas
vpon him.
10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke
the Law of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.
11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that king Artahshashte gaue vnto Ezra the Priest and Scribe, euen a writer of the words of the commandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.
12 ARTAHSHASHTE king of kings, to Ezra the Priest and perfite Scribe of the Law of the God of heauen, and to [f] Cheeneth.
13 I haue giuen commandement, that euery
one that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, [g] to goe to Ierusalem with thee, shall goe.
14 Therefore art thou sent of the king and his seuen counsellers, to [h] inquire in Iudah and Ieru-salem, according to the Law of thy God, which is in [i] thine hand, 15 And to carie the siluer and the gold, which the king and his counsellers willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Ie-rusalem)
16 And all the siluer and gold that thou canst find in all the prouinces of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Ierusalem,
17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this siluer, bullocks, rammes, lambes, with their meat offerings, and their drinke offerings: and thou shalt offer them vpon the Altar of the house of your God, which is in Ierusalem.
18 And whatsoeuer it pleaseth thee & thy brethren to doe with the rest of the siluer and golde, doe ye it according to the will of your [k] God.
19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Ierusalem.
20 And the residue that shall be needfull for the house of thy God, which shall be meete for thee to bestow, thou shalt bestow it out of the Kings treasure house.
21 And I king Artahshashte haue giuen commandement to all ẏ treasurers which are beyond [l] the Riuer, that whatsoeuer Ezra the Priest and Scribe of the Law of the God of heauen shall require of you, that it be done incontinently, 22 Vnto an hundreth talents of siluer, vnto an hundreth † measures of wheate, and vnto an hun-dreth bathes of wine, and vnto an hundreth
[m] bathes of oyle, and salt without writing.
23 Whatsoeuer is by the commandement of the God of heauen, let it be done speedily for the house of the God of heauen: for why should hee be wroth [n] against the realme of the King and his children?
24 And wee certify you, that vpon any of the Priests, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or Ministers in this house of God, there shall no go-uernour lay vpon them tolle, tribute, nor custome.
25 And thou Ezra (after the wisedome of thy God, that is in thine hand) [o] set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the Riuer, euen all that know the law of thy God, and teach ye them that know it not.
26 And whosoeuer will not doe the Law of thy God, and the kings law, let him haue iudge ment without delay, whether it be vnto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.
27 [p] Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers which so hath put in the kings heart, to beautifie
the house of the Lord that is in Ierusalem, 28 And hath enclined mercy toward mee, before the king and his counsellers, and before all the kings mightie Princes: and I was comforted by the hand of the Lord my God which vvas vp-on mee, and I gathered the chiefe of Israel to goe vp with me.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commodity and profit of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preseruation of his people after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Vvhereof the first vvas their captaine to bring them home, and prouided that the Temple vvas builded: the second reformed their maners and planted religion: and the third builded vp the vvalles, deliuered the people from oppression, and prouided that the Lavv of God vvas put in execution among them. Hee vvas a godly man, and in great authoritie vvith the King, so that the king fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things vvhich he could desire. This Booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he vvas the vvriter thereof.

CHAP. I.

1 Nehemiah bevvaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 Hee confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

THe vvords of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachaliah. In the moneth [a] Chisleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan.

2 Came Hanani, one of my [b] brethren, hee and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, are in great affliction and in reproach, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these vvords, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen.

5 And said, * O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercie for them that loue him, and obserue his commandements.

6 I pray thee let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee daily, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which wee haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 Wee haue † grieuously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee, remember the worde that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Yee will transgresse, and * I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if yee returne vnto mee, and keepe my commandements, and doe them, * though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my Name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to [d] feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of [e] this man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 hee came to Ierusalem, 17 and builded the vvalles.

NOw in the moneth [a] Nisan in the twentieth yeere of king [b] Artahshashte, the wine stoode before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the king. Now I was not before time sadde in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto mee, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sicke? this is nothing, but sorow of heart. Then was I sore afraid.

3 And I said to the King, God saue the king for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the king said vnto me, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed [c] to the God of heauen;

[c] I desired God in mine heart to prosper mine enterprise.

5 And said vnto the king, If it please the king,
and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight,
I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may built it.
6 And the King said vnto mee,) the Queene also sitting by him:) How long shall thy iour-ney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and he sent me, and I set him a time.
7 After, I said vnto the King, If it pleased the king, let him giue me letters to the captaines beyond the ‖ Riuer, that they may conuey me ouer, till I come into Iudah.
8 And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the kings ‖ parke, that hee may giue mee timber to build the gates of the palace (which appertained to the house) and for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king gaue mee according to [d] the good hand of my God vpon me.
9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyond the Riuer, and gaue them the kings letters. And the king had sent captaines of the armie and horsemen with me.
10 But [e] Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah
a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieued them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.
11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three
dayes.
12 And I rose in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I told no man, what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, saue the beast whereon I rode.
13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fire.
14 Then I went foorth vnto the gate of the ‖ fountaine, and to the kings fishpoole, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me to passe.
15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and com-ming back, I entred by the gate of the valley, and returned.
16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.
17 Afterward I said vnto them, Ye see the miserie that wee are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come,
and let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more [f] a reproach.
18 Then I told them of the hand of my God,
(which was good ouer me) and also of the kings wordes that he had spoken vnto mee. And they said, Let vs rise, and build. So they [g] strengthened their hand to good.
19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and [h] Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and despised vs, and sayd, What a thing is this that yee doe?
Will ye [i] rebell against the king?
20 Then answered I them, and sayd to them,
The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and we his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, yee haue no portion, nor right, nor [k] memoriall in Ierusalem.

CHAP. III.

The number of them that builded the walles.

THen arose Eliashib the hie Priest with his brethren the Priests, and they build the sheep-gate: they [a] repaired it, and set vp the doores thereof: euen vnto the tower of Meah repaired
they it, and vnto the tower of Hananeel.
2 And next vnto him builded the men of Iericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.
3 But the fishport did the sonnes of Senaah build, which also layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.
4 And next vnto them fortified Merimoth,

next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne

next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

6 And the gate of the * old fishpoole fortified Iehoiada the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sonne of Besodaiah: they layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Iadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Mispah, vnto the [c] throne of the sonne of Halloesh, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanum, and the inhabitants of Zanuah: they built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubits on the wall
vnto the dungport.
14 But the dungport fortified Malchaiah the sonne of Rechab the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: hee built it, and set on the doores thereof, the locks thereof, and the barres
thereof.
15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallum the sonne of Col-hozeh, the ruler of the fourth part of Mizpah: hee builded it, and co-uered it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall

CHAP. IV.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hindred, 15 but God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, and holde their weapons in the other.

BVt when Sanballat heard that wee builded the wall, then was he wroth and sore grieued, and mocked the Iewes,

2 And said before his brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus hee said, What doe these [b] weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselues? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

b Thus the wicked that see not that Gods power is euer in a readinesse for the defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake and feeble.

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a foxe goe vp, hee shall euen breake downe their stonie wall.

c This is the remedie that the children of God haue against the deuision and threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.

4 [c] Heare, O our God (for wee are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray [d] in the land of their captiuitie,

d Let them be spoyled and led away captive.

5 And couer not their [e] iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue prouoked vs before the builders.

e Let the plagues declare to the world that they see themselues against thee, and against thy Church: thus he prayeth onely hauing respect to Gods glory, and not for any priuate affection, or grudge.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the || halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

|| Or, halfe hight.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to be stopped) then they were very wroth, † Hebr. make to stay, meaning the people.

8 And conspired altogether to come and to fight against Ierusalem, and to † hinder them.

9 Then wee prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them, day and night, because of them.

10 And Iudah said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that we are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we came into the mids of them, & slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they told vs [f] ten times, 8 From all places, whence yee shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

f That is, often times.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families, with their swordes, their speares, and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, and rose vp, and said vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: [h] remember the great Lord, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

g When you leaue your worke, and goe either to ease or to rest, your enemies will assaile you.

h Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger: and therefore seeing they should fight for the maintenance of Gods glory, and for the preseruation of their owne liues and of theirs, hee encourageth them to play the valiant men.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and wee turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergions: and the Rulers stood [i] behinde all the house of Iudah.

i To ouersee them, and to encourage them to their worke.

17 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare the burdens, and they that laded, did the works with one hand, and with the other helde the sword,

18 For euery one of the builders had his sword girded on his loynes, and so builded: and he that blew the trumpet, was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and wee are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another,

a Of his companions that dwelt in Samaria.

20 In

20 In what place therefore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, [k] resort yee thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.
21 So wee laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came foorth.
22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.
23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the ward (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, saue euery one put them off [l] for washing.

k Meaning, to resist their enemies, if need required.
l That is, when they purified them selues, or els when they washed their clothes.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessity. 6 Nehemiah remedieth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, least he should grieue the people.

NOw there was a great crie of the people, and of their wiues [a] against their brethren the Iewes.
2 For there were that said, We, our sonnes and our daughters are many, therefore wee take vp [b] corne, that we may eate and liue.
3 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp corne for the famine.
4 There were also that said, We haue borrowed money for the kings [c] tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.
5 And nowe our flesh is as [d] the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes. and loe, wee bring into subiection our sonnes and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power [e] in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.
6 Then was I very angry when I heard their crie and these words.
7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, You lay [f] burthens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great [g] assembly against them.
8 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were sold vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they bee [h] sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answere.
9 [i] I said also, That which ye do, is not good. Ought yee not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k] reproach of the heathen our enemies?
10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants do lend them money and corne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this ‖ burden.
11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyards, their oliues, and their houses, and remit the hundreth part of the siluer and of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle [l] that ye exact of them.
12 Then said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: we will doe as thou hast said. Then I called the Priest, and caused them to sweare, that they should doe according to this promise.
13 So I shooke my lappe, and sayd, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise, from his house, and from his labor: euen thus let him be shaken out and emptied. And all the Congregation said, Amen, & praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

a Against the rich which oppressed them.
b This is the complaint of the people, shewing to what extremity they were brought vnto.
c To pay our tribute to the king of the Persians, which was exacted yeerely of vs.
d By nature the rich is no better then the poore.
e We are not able to redeeme them, but for pouerty are constrained to hire them to others.
f You presse them with vsury, and seeke how to bring all things into your hands.
g Both because they should be mooued with pitie, seeing how many were by them opprest, and also heare the iudgement of others, which should be as it were witnesses of their dealing toward their brethren.
h Seeing God hath once deliuered them from the bondage of the heathen, shall we make them our slaues?
i Meaning, Nehemiah.
k Who by this occasion will blaspheme the Name of God, seeing that our acts are no better then theirs.
‖ Or, vsury.
l Which ye take of them for the loane.

14 And from the time that the King gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah, from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of King Artahshashte, that is, twelue yeere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the [m] bread of the gouernour.
15 For the former gouernours that were before mee, had beene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.
16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.
17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and fifty of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.
18 And there was prepared dayly an oxe, and sixe chosen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and ‖ within ten dayes wine for all [n] in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the boundage was grieuous vnto this people.
19 Remember me, O my God, in goodnes, according to all that I haue done for this people.

m I receiued not that portion and diet, which the gouernours that were before mee exacted, wherein he declareth that he rather sought the wealth of the people then his owne commodity.
‖ Or, once in ten dayes.
n Whereas at other times they had by measure, at this time they had most liberally.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nehemiah answereth with great wisedome and zeale to his aduersarie. 11 He is not discouraged by the false Prophets.

ANd when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had build the wall, and that there were no moe [a] breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates)
2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come thou that we may meet together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: & they thought to doe me euill.
3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to do, & I cannot come downe: [b] why should the worke cease, whiles I leaue it and come downe to you?
4 Yet they sent vnto mee foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.
5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,
6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and ‖ Gashmu hath said it, that thou and ÿ Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these [c] words.
7 Thou hast also ordained [d] the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.
8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these wordes that thou sayest: for thou fainest them of thine owne heart.
9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their hands shalbe weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore † encourage thou me.
10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and hee was [e] shut vp, and hee sayd, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple:

a That is, that they were ioyned together, as Chap. 4. 6.
b Meaning, that if he should obey their request, the worke which God had appointed, should cease: shewing hereby that we should not commit our selues to the hands of the wicked.
‖ Or, Geshem.
c As the fame goeth.
d Thou hast bribed and set vp false prophets, to make thy selfe king, and so to defraud the king of Persia of that subiection which you owe vnto him.
† Ebr. strengthen thou mine hand.
e As though hee would be secret, to the intent that hee might pray vnto God with greater liberty and receiue some reuelation, which in him was but hypocrisie.

for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, f Should such a man as I, flee? Who is he, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to liue? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceiued that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this prophecie against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report, that they might reproach me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Noadiah the g Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fiue and twentieth day of h Elul, in two and i fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these dayes vvere there many of the princes of Iudah, whose k letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there vvere many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah,

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me and tolde him my words, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

f He doubted not but God was able to preserue him, and knew that if he had obeyed this counsell, he should haue discouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his to resist false prophecies, though they seeme to haue neuer so great probabilitY.

g Very griefe caused him to pray against such, which vnder the pretence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrow his Church, declaring also hereby that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirelings.

h Which was the sixt moneth and contained part of August, and part of September.

i After that I had sent Sanballat his answere.

k Thus the Church of God hath euermore enemies within it selfe, which are more dangerous then the outward and professed enemie.

CHAP. VII.

1 After the wall once builded, is the watch appointed. 6 They that returned from the captiuity are numbred.

NOw * when the wall was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters, and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah, the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for hee was doubtlesse a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntill the heate of the sunne: and while a they stand by, let them shut the doores, and † make them fast: and I appointed wards of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer against his house.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law.
12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God.
15 They keepe the feast of Tabernacles or boothes.

A Nd all the people assembled themselues † together, in the street that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the a Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

a Reade Ezra 7, 6.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all b that could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seuenth moneth.

b which had age and discretion to vnderstand.

3 And hee read therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning vntill c the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

c This declareth the great zeale, that the people had to heare the word of God.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Vriiah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for hee was d aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood vp.

d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their handes: and they bowed themselues, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Ieshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Iamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Iozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gaue § sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, sayd vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God mourne not, neither weepe: for all the people e wept, when they heard the words of the Law.

e In considering their offences 'gainst the Law. Therefore the Leuites doe not reproue them for mourning, but assure them of Gods mercies toward such as they be repentant.

10 He said also vnto them, Goe, and eate of the fat, and drinke § sweete, and send part vnto them, for whom none f prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be yee not sory therefore: for

f That is, remember the poore.

tho

g Reioyce in the Lord, and he will giue you ſtrength.

the ioy of the Lord is your ſtrength.

11 And the Leuites made ſilence throughout all the people, ſaying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not ſad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eate and to drinke, and to ſend away part, and to make great ioy, becauſe they had vnderſtood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the ſecond day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Prieſts and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that he alſo might inſtruct them in the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded Moſes) that the children of Iſrael ſhould dwell in *boothes in the feaſt of the ſeuenth moneth.

* Leuit. 23 34.

15 And that they ſhould cauſe it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ieruſalem, ſaying, Goe foorth vnto the mount, and bring oliue branches, and pine branches, and branches of ‖ Myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

‖ Or, goodly branches, or Leuit. 23 40.

16 So the people went foorth and brought them, and made them boothes, euery one vpon the h roofe of his houſe, and in their courts, and in the courts of the houſe of God, and in the ſtreete by the watergate, and in the ſtreete of the gate of Ephraim.

h For their houſes were made flat aboue, vnde Deut. 22, 8.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie, made boothes, and ſate vnder the boothes: for ſince the i time of Ieſhua the ſonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Ifrael done ſo, and there was very great ioy.

i Which was almoſt a thouſand yeeres.

18 And hee read in the booke of the Law of God euery day, from the firſt day vnto the laſt day. And they kept the feaſt ſeuen dayes, and on the eight day a ſolemne aſſembly, according vnto the maner.

12 And * leddeſt them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire to giue them light in the way that they went.

* Exod. 13. 21.

13 * Thou cameſt downe alſo vpon mount Sinai, and ſpakeſt vnto them from heauen, and gaueſt them right iudgements, and true lawes, ordinances and good Commandements.

* Exod. 19. 18. 20 and 20. 1.

14 And declareſt vnto them thine holy Sabbath, and commandeſt them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moſes thy ſeruant:

15 * And gaueſt them bread from heauen for their hunger, * and brought eſt foorth water for them out of the rocke for their thirſt: and * promiſeſt them that they ſhould goe in, and take poſſeſſion of the land, for the which thou haddeſt lift vp thine hand for to giue them.

* Exod. 16. 15. * Exod. 17. 6. * Deut. 1. 8.

16 But they and our fathers behaued themſelues proudly and hardened their necke, ſo that they hearkened not vnto thy Commandements.

17 But refuſed to obey, and would not remember thy marueilous works that thou haddeſt done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gracious and full of compaſſion, of long ſuffering, and of great mercie, yet forſookeſt them not.

18 Moreouer, when they made them a molten calfe (and ſaid, This is thy God that brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blaſphemies.

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forſookeſt them not in the wildernеſſe: * the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to ſhew them light, and the way whereby they ſhould goe.

* Exod. 13. 22. Num. 14. 14. 1. 10. 11. 12.

20 Thou gaueſt alſo thy good Spirit to inſtruct them, and withheldeſt not thy MAN from their mouth, and gaueſt them water for their thirſt.

21 Thou diddeſt alſo feed them fortie yeeres in the wildernеſſe: they lacked nothing: * their clothes waxed not old, and their feet c ſwelled not.

* Deut 3. 4. c Through the way was tedious and long.

22 And thou gaueſt them kindgoms and people, and d ſcatteredſt them into corners: ſo they poſſeſſed* the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heſhbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.

d Meaning, the heathen whom he droue out. * Numb. 21. 26.

23 And

23 And thou diddest multiply their children like the starres of the heauen, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers, that they should goe, and pos-sesse it.
24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might do with them
what they would.
25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, ci-sternes digged out, vineyards and oliues, & trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.
26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behind their backs, and slew thy Prophets (which [e] protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.
27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauiours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.
28 But when they had [f] rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore leftest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times.
29 And protestedst among them, that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued themselues proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy judgements (* which a man should doe and liue in them) and [g] pulled away the shoulder, and were stifnecked, and would not [h] heare.
30 Yet thou † diddest forbeare them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, euen by the hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.
31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.
32 Now therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepest couenant and * mercy, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a little before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the [i] kings of Asshur vnto this day.
33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vp-on vs: for thou hast [k] dealt truely, but we haue done wickedly.
34 And our kings and our princes, our priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandements, nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast [l] protested among
them.
35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat land

36 Behold, wee are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eat the [m] fruite thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.
37 And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and wee
are in great affliction.
38 Now because of all this wee make [n] a sure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Le-uites, and Priests seale vnto it.

* Deut. 23, 3.

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, * but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

* Numb. 22, 5, 6

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel ª all those that were mixed.

ª That is, all such which had ioyned in vnlawfull mariage, and also those with whom God had forbidden them to haue societie.

4 ¶ And before ᵇ this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being ᶜ kinsman to Tobiah:

ᵇ That the separation was made.

ᶜ He was ioyned in affinitie with Tobiah the Ammonite and enemie of the Iewes.

5 And he had made him a great chamber, and there had they aforetime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

d Called also Darius, Ezra. 7, 1.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of ᵈ Artahshashte King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and ‖ after certaine dayes I obtained of the King.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstood ᵉ the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, e Thus we see to what inconueniences the people fall into, when they are destitute of one that hath the feare of God, seeing that their chiefe gouernore was but a while absent, and yet they fell into such great absurdities, as appeareth also, Exod. 32, 1.

8 And it grieued mee sore: therefore I cast foorth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offering and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not beene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, euen the Leuites and singers that executed the worke, 11 Then reproued I the rulers and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the tithes of corne and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was ᶠ to distribute vnto their brethren.

ᶠ He protesteth that he did his duetie with a good conscience, yet he doeth not iustifie himselfe therein, but desireth God to fauour him and to be mercifull vnto him for his owne goodnesse sake, as verse 22 and 31.

14 Remember mee, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my ᵍ kindnesse that I haue shewed on the house of my God, & on the offices thereof.

ᵍ I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his Law to be vnpunished.

15 In those dayes saw I in Iudah them, that trode winepresses on ℣ Sabbath, and that brought in sheaues, and with laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and ª I protested to them in the day that they solde vitailes.

ª It was not this a great cause, why God plagued vs in times past: meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Iudah, and sayd vnto them, What euill thing is this that yee doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers ʰ thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this city? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

ʰ About the time that the Sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the Sunne going downe of the one day, to the Sunne setting of the other.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be ⁱ darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

ⁱ Meaning, of the Temple, that none that was vncleane, should enter.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I sayd vnto the Leuites, that they should cleanse themselues, and that they should come and ᵏ keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember mee, O my God, concerning this, and pardon mee according to thy great mercy.

ᵏ Meaning, of the Temple, that none that was vncleane, should enter.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that maried wiues of ˡ Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

ˡ Which was a city of the Philistims, and they had maried wiues thereof, and so had corrupted their speach and Religion.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speach of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the langnage of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and ᵐ cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an oathe of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall yee take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

ᵐ In that is, I did excommunicate them, and drive them out of the Congregation.

26 * Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no King like him: for he was * beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel: * yet strange women caused him to sinne.

* 1. King. 3, 7. 12.

* 2. Sam. 12, 24, 25

* 1. King. 11, 1. 4. Nehem. 4, 7, 19, 20.

27 Shall wee then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marry strange wiues?

28 And

28 And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest was the sonne in law of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him frō me.

29 Remember them, O my God, that [n] defile the Priesthood, and the couenant of the Priesthood, and of the Leuites.

30 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wards of the Priestes and of the Leuites, euery one in his office,

31 And for the offering of the wood at times appoynted, and for the first fruits. Remember me, O my God, [o] in goodnesse.

n Punish them according to their fault and euill example, which they hane giuen to the rest of thy people, contrary to their vocation.

o That is, to shew mercy vnto me.

THE ARGVMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, vvhereby they vsed to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeares vvherein the Ebreuves and the Grecians doe varie, diuers authours vvrite diuerslie as touching this Ahasuerosh, but it seemeth, Daniel 6.1. and 9.1. that hee vvas Darius king of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahasuerosh, vvhich vvas a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God tovvard his Church: vvho neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but vvhen all hope of vvorldly helpe faileth, hee euer stirreth vp some, by vvhom he sendeth comfort and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride and cruelty of the vvicked, vvhen they come to honour and their sudden fall vvhen they are at highest. And hovv God preserueth and preferreth them vvhich are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue tovvard their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahasuerosh maketh a royall feast. 12 Wherevnto the Queene Vashti will not come. 19 For which cause she is diuorced. 20 The Kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

a Called also Darius, who was now the fourtine Monarch, and had the gouernment of the Medes, Persians, and Chaldeans, some thinke hee was Darius Hystaspis sonne, called also Artaxerxes.

b Daniel chap. 6, 2. maketh mention but of sixe score, leauing out the number that is vnperfect, as the Scripture in diuerse places vseth.

c That is, had rest and quietnesse.

* Nehem. 2. 1.

IN the dayes of [a] Ahasuerosh (this is Ahasuerosh that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an [b] hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces.)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerosh [c] sate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shushan,

3 In the third yeere of his reigne, hee made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces vvhich vvere before him,

4 That hee might shew the riches and glory of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundreth and foure-score dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blue cloathes, fastened with cords of finne linnen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: and the [d] beds vvere of golde and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blue colour.

d Which they vsed in those countreyes in stead of tables.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessel after vessell, and royall wine in abundance, according to the [e] power of the King.

e As was beseeming for so magnificall a King.

8 And the drinking vvas by an order, none might [f] compell: for so the King had appoynted vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

f None might be compelled to drinke more then it pleased him.

9 ¶ The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of King Ahasuerosh.

10 Vpon the [g] seuenth day when the King was merry with wine, hee commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas the seuen eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Ahasuerosh.)

g Which was the last day of the feast that the king made for the people, as vers. 5.

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the King with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the Kings word, [†] which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

† Els with the hand of the eunuches.

13 Then the King said to the wise men, [h] that knew the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement:

h That had experience of things as they had learned by diligent marking in continuance of time.

14 And the next vnto him vvas Carshena, Shetar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia, and Media, which saw the [i] Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome.)

i Which were his chiefe counsellers, that might haue alwayes accesse to him.

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the King Ahasuerosh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done [k] euill against the King, but against all the Princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerosh.

k By her disobedience she hath giuen an example to all women to doe the like to their husbands.

17 For the [l] acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The King Ahasuerosh commanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but shee came not.

l That is, her disobedience.

18 So shall the [m] princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefullnesse and wrath.

m Meaning, that they would take first occasion hereof to doe the like, and that the rest of women would by continuance doe the same.

19 If it please the King, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia & Media, (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come [n] no more before king Ahasuerosh: and let the king giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

n Let her be diuorced, and another made Queene.

20 And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (though it be [o] great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour, both great and small.

o For he had vnder him an hundreth twenty and seuen countreys.

21 And this saying pleased the King and the Princes, and the King did according to the word of Memucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language,that euery man should p beare rule in his owne house, and that hee should publish it in the language of that same people.

p That is, that the wife should be subiect to the husband, and at his commandement.

CHAP. II.

2 After the Queene is put away, certaine young maides are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleaseth the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai disclosethe vnto the King those that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerosh was appeased, he a remembred Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed b against her.

2 And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the King beautifull yong virgins,

3 And let the King appoint officers through all the prouinces of his Kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull young virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women vnder the hand of Hege the Kings eunuch c keeper of the women, to giue them their things d for purification.

4 And the maid that shall please the King, let her reigne in the stead of Vashti. And this pleased the King, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan there was a certaine Iew, whose name was Mordecai, the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Iemini,

6 Which had beene caried away from Ierusalem * with the captiuitie that was caried away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away.)

7 And he nourished Hadassah, that is, Ester, his vncles daughter: for shee had neither father nor mother, and the maid was faire and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his own daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maides were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, and she found fauour in his sight, therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her † state, and seuen comely maides to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and hee gaue change to her and to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her that shee should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked e euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maid came, to goe in to King Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweet odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maides vnto the King) whatsoeuer she required, was f giuen her to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the kings house.

14 In the euening she went, and on the morow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shaashgaz the Kings eunuch which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except shee pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should go in to the king, she desired nothing, but what ‖ Hege the kings eunuch the keeper of the women g said: and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto king Ahashuerosh into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the h moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and shee found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was the feast i of Ester; and gaue rest k vnto the prouinces, and gifts, according to the l power of a king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the m second time, then Mordecai sate in the kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kinred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when shee was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of the kings eunuches, Bigthan & Teresh which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay n hand on the king Ahashuerosh.

22 And the thing was knowen to Mordecai, and hee told it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the o Chronicles before the king.

a That is, he called the matter againe into communication.
b By the seuen wise men of his counsell.
c The abuse of these countreys was so great, that they inuented many meanes to serue the lusts of princes, and therefore as they ordeined wicked lawes, that the king might haue whose daughters he would, so they had diuers houses appoynted as one for them whiles they were virgins, another when they were concubines, and for the Queenes another.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obteined of the King, that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did king Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai a bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the kings seruants which were at the kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they b tolde Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them, that he was a Iew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now he † thought it too little to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai.

a The Persians manner was to kneele downe and reuerence their kings, and such as he appoynted in their authority, which Mordecai would not doe to this ambitious and proud man.
b Thus we see that there is none so wicked, but they haue their flatterers to accuse the godly.
† Ebr. despised in his eyes.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth
c Nisan) in the twelft yeere of king Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) d before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth e Adar.
8 Then Haman said vnto king Ahashuerosh,
There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the f Kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.
9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will † pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the kings treasurie.
10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha
the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie.
11 And the king said vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.
12 Then were the kings ‖ Scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.
13 And the letters were sent † by postes into all the kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.
14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.
15 And the postes compelled by the Kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the g citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the king against the Iewes. 16 Shee willeth that they pray for her.

NOw when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his cloathes, and put on sackcloath, and ashes, and went out into the mids
of the citie, and cryed with a great crie, and a bitter.
2 And he came euen before the Kings a gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being cloathed with sackcloath.
3 And in euery prouince and place, whither
the kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorow among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and † many lay in sackcloath and in ashes.
4 ¶ Then Esters maids and her Eunuches came and told it her: therefore the queene was very heauie, and shee sent raiment to cloathe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloath from him, but he receiued it not.
5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the Kings ennuches, whom he † had appointed to serue her,
and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.
6 So Hatach went foorth to Mordecai vnto
the street of the citie, which was before the kings gate.
7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the † summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy
them.
8 Also he gaue him the ‖ copie of the writing and commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester and declare it vnto her, and to charge her that shee should goe in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.
9 ¶ So when Hatach came, he told Ester the words of Mordecai.
10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do know, That whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not beene called to come vnto
the king these thirtie dayes.
12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes.
13 And Mordecai said, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Iewes.
14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, † comfort and deliuerance b shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for c such a
time?
15 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai, 16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my mayds will fast likewise, and so will I goe
in to the King, which is not according to the law:
and if I perish, d I perish.
17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

a Because hee would aduertise Ester of this cruell proclamation.

b Thus Mordecai spake in the confidence of that faith which all Gods children ought to haue: Which is, that God will deliuer them, though all worldly meanes faile.

d I will put my life in danger and refer the successe to God, seeing it is for his glory and the deliuerance of his Church.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entreateth the King, and biddeth him & Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallowes for Mordecai.

ANd on the third a day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King sate vpon his royall throne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.
2 And when the King sawe Ester the Queene standing in the court, shee found fauour in his sight: and the King b held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drewe neere, and touched the top of the scepter.
3 Then said the King vnto her, What wilt thou, Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen c giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.
4 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banket, that I haue prepared for him.

a To wit, after that the Iewes had begon to fast.
b Which was a signe that her comming was agreeable vnto him, as Chap. 4. 11.
c Meaning hereby, that whatsoeuer shee asked should be granted, as Mark. 6. 23.

9 And the king said, Cause Haman to make haste, that he may doe as Ester hath sayd. So the king and Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester at the banket of [d] wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? it ſhall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and said, My petition, and my requeſt is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the ſight of the king, and if it pleaſe the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my requeſt, let the king and Haman come to the banket that I ſhall prepare for them, and I will do to morrow according to the kings [e] saying.

9 Then went Haman foorth the ſame day ioyfull, and with a glad heart. But when Haman ſaw Mordecai in the kings gate, that he ſtood not vp, nor mooued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheleſſe, Haman refrained himſelfe: and when he came home, hee ſent, and called for his friends, and Zereſh his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had [f] promoted him, and how that hee had ſet him aboue the princes and ſeruants of the king.

12 Haman ſaid moreouer, Yea, Eſter the queene did let no man come in with the king to the banket that ſhee had prepared, ſaue me: and to morrow am I bidden vnto her alſo with the king.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaile mee, as long as I ſee Mordecai the Iewe ſitting at the kings gate.

14 Then ſaid Zereſh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie [g] cubites hie, and to morrowe ſpeake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then ſhalt thou goe ioyfully with the king vnto the banket. And the thing pleaſed Haman, and he cauſed to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

a The king turneth ouer the Chronikle, and findeth the ſeruice of Mordecai, 10 and commandeth Haman to cauſe Mordecai to be had in honour.

THe ſame night † the king ſlept not, and hee commanded to bring the booke of the Records, and the Chronicles: and they were read before the king.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai *had told of Bigtana, and Tereſh, two of the kings eunuches keepers of the doore, who ſought to lay hands on the king Ahaſhueroſh.

3 Then the king ſaid, What honour and dignitie hath beene giuen to Mordecai [a] for this? And the kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſaid, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king ſaid, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the kings houſe, that hee might ſpeake vnto the king to [b] hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Behold, Haman ſtandeth in the court. And the king ſaid, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king ſaid vnto him, What ſhall be done vnto the man whome the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king doe honour more then to me?

7 And Haman anſwered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king vſeth to weare, and the [c] horſe that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be ſet vpon his head.

9 And let the raiment and the horſe be deliuered by the hand of one of the kings moſt noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) and cauſe him to ride vpon the horſe through ſ̄ ſtreet of the citie, and proclaime before him, Thus ſhall it be done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king ſaid to Haman, Make haſte, take the raiment and the horſe, as thou haſt ſaid, and doe ſo vnto Mordecai the Iew, that ſitteth at the kings gate: let nothing fayle of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horſe, and araied Mordecai, and brought him on horſebacke thorow the ſtreet of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus ſhall it be done to the man whom the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the kings gate, but Haman haſted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zereſh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then ſaid his wiſe men, and Zereſh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the ſeede of the Iewes, before whom thou haſt begun to fall, thou ſhalt not preuaile againſt him, [d] but ſhalt ſurely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches and haſted to bring Haman vnto the banket that Eſter had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The queene bidden the king and Haman againe, and prayeth for her ſelfe and her people. 6 She accuſeth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallowes which he had prepared for Mordecai.

SO the king and Haman came to banket with the queene Ester.

2 And the king ſaid againe vnto Eſter on the ſecond day at the banket of [a] wine, What is thy petition, Queene Eſter, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? It ſhall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Eſter the queene anſwered, and ſaid, If I haue found fauour in thy ſight, O king, and if it pleaſe the king, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my requeſt.

4 For we are ſold, I, and my people, to be deſtroyed, to be ſlaine, and to periſh: but if we were ſold for ſeruants, and for handmaids, I would haue held my tongue, although the aduerſarie could not [b] recompence the kings loſſe.

5 Then king Ahaſhueroſh anſwered, and ſaid vnto the queene Eſter, Who is hee? and where is he that † preſumeth to doe thus?

6 And Eſter ſaid, The aduerſarie and enemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the queene.

7 And the king aroſe from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman ſtood vp, to make requeſt for his life to the queene Eſter: for hee ſaw that there was a [c] miſchiefe prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the king came againe out of the palace garden, into the houſe where they dranke wine, Haman was [d] fallen vpon the bed wherewhereon Ester sate: therefore the King said, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the Kings mouth, they e couered Hamans face.

e This was the maner of the Persians, when one was out of the Kings fauour.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the King, Behold, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubites high, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake f good for the king. Then the King said, Hang him thereon.

f Which discouered the conspiracy against the King, Chap. 2. 21, 22.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. The Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

THe same day did King Ahashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes, vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai a came before the King: for Ester told what he was b vnto her.

a That is, was receiued into the kings fauour and presence.
b That he was her vncle, and had brought her vp.

2 And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feet weeping, and besought him that he would put away the c wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that hee had imagined against the Iewes.

c Meaning, that he should abolish the wicked decrees, which hee had made for the destruction of the Iewes.

4 And the King held out the golden d scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King,

d Reade Chap. 5. 2.

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the king Ahashuerosh said vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iew, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he ‖ layd hand vpon the Iewes.

‖ Or, went about to slay the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the kings ring, may e no man reuoke.)

e This was the law of the Medes and Persians, as Dan. 6. 15. notwithstanding the king reuoked the former decree graunted to Haman, for Esters sake.

9 Then were the Kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth f Siuan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Iewes and to the princes, and captains and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince according to the g writing thereof, and to euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

f Which conteineth part of May and part of Iune.
g That is, in such letters and language, as was vsuall in euery prouince.

10 And hee wrote in the King Ahashuerosh name, and sealed it with the Kings ring, and hee sent letters by posts on horsebacke and that rode on beasts of price, as dromedaries, and ‖ colts of mares,

‖ Or, mules.

11 Wherein the King graunted the Iewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselues together, and to stand for h their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoile their goods:

h That is, to defend themselues against all that would inuade them.

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, which is the moneth i Adar.

i Which hath part of February and part of March.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day, to k auenge themselues on their enemies.

k The king gaue them liberty to kill all that did oppresse them.

14 So the posts rode vpon beastes of price, and dromedaries, & went foorth with speed, to execute the Kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blue, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and l ioy and gladnesse, and honour.

l He diuerseth by these words that follow, what this light was.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery citie and place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land m became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

m Conformed themselues to the Iewes religion.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King, the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

SO in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Ader, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it a turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them.)

a This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth the ioy of the wicked into sorow, and the teares of the godly into gladnesse.

2 The Iewes gathered themselues together into their cities thorowout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King b exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

b Did them honour, and shewed them friendship.

4 For Mordecai was great in the Kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their c enemies with strokes of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

c Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Haman.

6 And at Shushan the palace ſew the Iewes, and destroyed d fiue hundreth men, d Besides those three hundreth, that they slew the second day, as verse 15.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slew they: but they laid not their hands e on the spoyle.

e Whereby they declared that this was God iust iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, forasmuch as they sought not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace, and destroyed fiue hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy requeſt moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it pleaſe the King, let it be granted also to morow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the King charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & slew three hundreth men in Shushan, but on the spoile they laid not their hand.

16 And the reſt of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces, assembled themselues, and stood for g their liues, and had reſt from their enemies, and slew of them that h hated them, seuentie and fiue thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoile.

17 This they did on the i thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and reſted the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, & they reſted on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, k kept the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a joyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote l these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerosh, both neere and farre,

21 Inioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes reſted from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioy, and from mourning into a joyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and to m send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promiſed to do as they had begun, and as Mordecay had written vnto them,

24 Becauſe Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduerſary had imagined against the Iewes to destroy them, and had a cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

25 And when o she came before the king, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked p deuice (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and becauſe of all the words of this letter, & of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordeined, and promiſed for them and for their ſeede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not ‖ faile to obſerue those two q dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according vnto their ſeason.

28 And that these dayes should be remembred, and kept throughout euery generation and euery family, and euery prouince, and euery citie: euen these dayes of Purim ſhould not faile among the Iewes, and the memorial of them ſhould not periſh from their seed.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iew wrote with all ‖ authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time.)

30 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahasuerosh, with r words of peace and trueth,

31 To confirme these dayes of Purim according to their ſeaſons, as Mordecai the Iew and Ester the Queene had appoynted them, and as they had promiſed for them ſelues and for their ſeede with ſ faſting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

1 The eſtimation and authority of Mordecai.

AND the King Ahasuerosh laid a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, & the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith ſ King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Perſia?

3 For Mordecai the Iew was the ſecond vnto king Ahasuerosh, & great among the Iewes, and a accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the wealth of his people, and ſpake peaceably to all his ſeed.

l The Iewes gather hereof that Mordecai wrote this ſtory: but it ſeemeth that hee wrote but onely theſe letters and decrees that follow.

m Hee ſetteth before our eyes the vſe of this feaſt, which was for the remembrance of Gods deliuerance, the maintenance of mutuall friendſhip and reliefe of the poore.

IOB.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this hiſtorie is ſet before our eyes the example of a ſingular patience. For this holy man Iob vvas not onely extremely afflicted in outvvard things and in his body, but alſo in his mind and conſcience, by the ſharpe tentations of his vvife, and chiefeſt friends: vvhich by their vehement vvords, and ſubtill diſputations brought him almoſt to deſpaire: for they ſet forth God as a ſeuere Iudge, and mortall enemie vnto him, vvhich had caſt him off, therefore in vaine he ſhould ſeeke vnto him for ſaccour. Theſe friends came vnto him vnder pretence of conſolation, & yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Not vvithſtanding he did conſtantly reſiſt them, and at length had good ſucceſſe. In this ſtory vve haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cauſe, but handleth it euill: againe his aduerſaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alvvay puniſh men according to their ſinnes, but that he had ſecret iudgments, vvherof man knevv not the cauſe, & therefore man could not reaſon againſt God therein, but he ſhould be conſulted. Moreouer, he vvas aſſured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments and affliction hee brasteth foorth into many inconueniences both of vvordes and sentences, and shevveth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that vvould resist God: and this is his good cause vvhich hee doth not handle vvell. Againe the aduersaries maintaine vvith many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasse, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example. Iam. 5.11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holinesse, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

THere was a man in the lande of [a] Vz called Iob, and this man [b] was an vp-right and iust man, [c] one that feared
God, and eschewed euill.
2 And he had seuen sonnes, and three daughters.
3 His [d] substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, and fiue hun-dreth yoke of oxen, and fiue hundreth shee asses,
and his familie was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the † men of [e] the East.
4 And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate and drinke with them.
5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and [f] sanctified them,
and rose vp early in the morning, and [g] offered burnt offrings according to the number of them
all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and [h] blasphemed God in their hearts,
thus did Iob [i] euery day.
6 ¶ Now on a day when the [k] children of God came and stoode [l] before the Lord, Satan
[m] came also among them.
7 Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence [n] commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, [o] From compassing the earth to and fro,
and from walking in it.
8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like
him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one
that feareth God, and escheweth euill?
9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, Doeth Iob feare God for [p] nought?
10 Hast thou not made [q] an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.
11 But stretch out now thine hand and [r] touch
all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to [s] thy face 12 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Loe, all that he hath is in [t] thine hand, onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the [u] presence of the Lord.
13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,
14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said,
The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,
15 And the [x] Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.
16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The [y] fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.
17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another
came, and sayd, The Caldeans set out three bands,
and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them,
and haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tell
thee.
18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, and sayd, Thy [z] sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,
19 And behold, there came a great wind from beyond the wildernesse, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children,
and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone,
to tell thee.
20 Then Iob arose, and [a] rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped.
21 And said, * Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne [b] thither:
the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it:
[c] blessed be the Name of the Lord.
22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge
God [d] foolishly.

a That is, of the countrey of Idumea, as Lament. 4. 21. or bordering thereupon: for the land was called by the name of Vz the sonne of Dishan the sonne of Seir, Gen. 36. 28.
b Forasmuch as he was a Gentile, and not a Iewe, and yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.
c Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright and iust man.
d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his prosperitie and his patience, and constancie, when God had taken them from him.

f That is, commanded them to be sanctified: meaning, that they should consider the faults that they had committed, and reconcile themselues for the same.
g That is, hee offered for euery one of his children an offering of reconciliation, which declared his religion toward God, and the care that he had toward his children. h In Ebrew it is, and blessed God, which is sometime taken for blaspheming and cursing, as heere, and 1. Kings 21. 10. and 13. &c. i While the feast lasted. k Meaning, the Angels, which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willinge to execute his will. l Because our infirmitie cannot comprehend God in his maiestie, hee is set foorth vnto vs as a King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him. m This declareth, that although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet hee is compelled to obey him, and doe him all homage, without whose permission and appoyntment he can doe nothing. n This question is asked for our infirmitie: for God knew whence he came. o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8. p Hee feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie that hee receiued by thee. q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob as a rampart against all tentations. r This signifieth, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it. s Satan noteth the vice whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie.

t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him.
u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe. for else hee can neuer goe out of Gods presence.
x That is, the Arabians.
y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grieuously, for asmuch as he might see, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.
z This last plague declareth, that when one plague is past which seemeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to trie his, and teach them obedience.
a Which came not of impatiencie, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blocks, but that in their patience they feele affliction and griefe of minde: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked doe. * Eccles. 5. 14. 1. tim. 6. 7. b That is, into the bellie of the earth, which is the mother of all. c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust, and good, although his hande be sore vpon him. d But declared that God did all things according to iustice and equitie.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visit him.

ANd on a day the [a] children of God came and stood before the Lord, and [b] Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.
2 Then the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Whence commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, From compassing the earth to and fro,
and from walking in it.
3 And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou
not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like
him in the earth; * an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet he continueth in his vprightnesse, [c] although thou mouedst me against him, to destroy [d] him without cause.

a That is, the Angels, as Chap. 1. 6.
b Reade Chap 1. 6.
* Ezek. 14. 14. Chap. 1. 1.
c He prooueth Iobs integritie by this that he ceased not to serue God when his plagues were grieuously vpon him.
d That is, when thou hadst nought against him, or when thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, e Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will
he giue for his life.
5 But stretch now out thine hand, and touch his f bones and his flesh, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.
6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe he is in thine hand, but saue g his life.
7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore h boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne.
8 And hee tooke a i potshard to scrape him,
and he sate downe among the ashes.
9 Then said his k wife vnto him, Doest thou
l continue yet in thine vprightnesse? m Blaspheme
God, and die.
10 But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not n receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his o lips.
11 Now when Iobs three p friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz
the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zo-phar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort
him.
12 So when they lift vp their eyes afarre off, they knew him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment and sprinkled q dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.
13 So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a word vnto him: for they saw that the griefe was very r great.

e Hereby hee meant, that a mans owne skin is dearer vnto him then another mans.
f Meaning, his owne person.
g Thus Satan can goe no further in punishing, then God hath limited him.
h This sore was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9.9. and threatneth to punish the rebellious people. Deut. 28.27. so that this tentation was most grieuous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought that God had cast him off.
i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorow of his disease.
k Satan vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam.
l Meaning, what gainest thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee, as though he were thine enemie? This is the most grieuous tentation of the faithfull, when their faith is assailed, & when Satan goeth about to perswade them that they trust in God in vaine. m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so shee meant that he should soone be rid out of his paine. n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioyce when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull and iust. o He so bridled his affections, that his tongue through impatiencie did not murmure against God. p Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had beene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreys, as the renting of their cloathes in signe of sorow, &c. r And therefore thought that he would not haue heakened vnto their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth, and curseth the day of his birth. 11 Hee desireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans miserie.

AFterward a Iob opened his mouth, and b cursed his day.
2 And Iob cryed out, and said,
3 Let the day c perish wherein I was borne, and the night when it was sayd, There is a man
child conceiued.
4 Let that day be darkenesse, let not God
d regard it from aboue, neither let the light shine
vpon it.
5 But let darkenesse and the e shadow of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.
6 Let darkenesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.
7 Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy
be in it.
8 Let them that curse the day, (being f ready to renew their mourning) curse it.
9 Let the starres of that twilight be dimme through darkenesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it g see † the dawning of the day.
10 Because it shut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe, nor hid sorow from mine eyes.
11 h Why died I not in the birth? or why died
I not, when I came out of the wombe?
12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breasts?
13 For so should I now haue i lien and beene
quiet, I should haue slept then, and beene at rest.
14 With the kings and counsellers of the earth, which haue builded themselues k desolate places:
15 Or with the princes that had golde, and
haue filled their houses with siluer.
16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not seene the light?
17 The wicked l haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.
18 The m prisoners rest together, and heare
not the voyce of the oppressour.
19 There are small and great, and the seruant
is free from his master.
20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and n life vnto them that haue heauy hearts?
21 Which long for death, and if it come not,
they would euen search it more then treasures:
22 Which ioy for gladnesse, and reioyce, when they can finde the graue.
23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is o hid, and whom God hath hedged in?
24 For my sighing commeth before I eat, and my roarings are powred out like the water.
25 For the thing I p feared, is come vpon me,
& the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.
26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, q yet trouble is come.

a The seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2.13.
b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great imperfection in this battell betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7.18. & after a maner yeeldeth, yet in the end he getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded.
c Men ought not to be wearie of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God. d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the Sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it.
f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night.
g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day.
† Ebr. The eye lids of the morning.
h This, and that which followeth, declareth, that when man giueth place to his passions, he is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euill, except God call him back.
i The vehemencie of his afflictions made him to vtter these words, as though death were the end of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the infirmities of his flesh caused him to brast out into this errour of the wicked.
k He noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure, as it were, change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they would hereby make their names immortall.
l That is, by death the crueltie of the tyrans hath ceased.
m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamitie and miserie in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh. n Hee sheweth that the benefits of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted. o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods prouidence. p In my prosperitie I looked euer for a fall, as is come now to passe. q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to mee as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatience, 7 and iniustice, 17 and of the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite, answered and
sayd,
2 If wee assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued; but a who can withhold himselfe from speaking?
3 Behold, thou hast taught many, and b hast strengthened the weary hands.
4 Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees.
5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.
6 Is not this thy c feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and vprightnesse of thy wayes?
7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished, being

a Seeing this thine impatiency.
b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, and canst not now comfort thy selfe.
c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had no true feare nor trust in God.

being an [d] innocent; or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they that [e] plow iniquity: and sowe wickednesse, reape the same.

9 With the [f] blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostrels are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the [g] Lion, and the voyce of the Lionesse, and the teeth of the Lions whelps are broken.

11 The Lion perisheth for lacke of praye, and the Lions whelps are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to me [h] secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men,

14 Feare came vpon me, and dread which made all my bones [i] to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before me, and made the haires of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stood one, and I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in [k] silence heard I a voyce, saying,

17 Shall man be more [l] iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his Maker?

18 Beholde, hee found no stedfastnesse in his seruants, and laid follie vpon his [m] Angels.

19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of [n] clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moth?

20 They be destroyed from the [o] morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, [p] without regard.

21 Doth not their dignity go away with them? doe they not die, and that without [q] wisedome?

d He concludeth that Iob was reprooued, seeing that God handled him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnall men make against the children of God.
e They that doe euill, cannot but receiue euill.
f He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can doe it with the blast of his mouth.
g Though men according to their office doe not punish tyrants (whom for their cruelty hee compareth to lions, and their children to their whelps) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them.
h A thing that I knew not before, was declared vnto me by vision, that is, that whosoeuer thinketh himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when he commeth before God.
i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certain feare ioyned, that the authority thereof might be had in greater reuerence.
k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeared to Eliiah, 1.King. 19.12.
l He prooueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie.
m If God find imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, how much more shall he lay folly to mans charge, when hee would iustifie himselfe against God?
n That is, in this mortall body, subiect to corruption, as 2.Cor. 5.1.
o They see death continually before their eyes, and dayly approaching toward them.
p No man for all this doeth consider it.
q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

CHAP. V.

2.2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his.

CAll now, if any will [a] answere thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse [b] anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiot.

3 I haue seene the [c] foolish well rooted, and suddenly I [d] cursed his habitation, saying,

4 His [e] children shalbe farre from saluation, and they shalbe destroyed in the [f] gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his haruest: yea, they shall take it from among the [g] thornes, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance.

6 For miserie commeth not foorth of the dust, [h] neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto [i] trauell, as the sparks flie vpward.

8 But I would enquire at [k] God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which [l] doeth great things, and vnsearchable, and marueilous things without number.

10 He [m] giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes.

11 And setteth vp on hie them that be lowe, that the sorowfull may be exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth the deuises of the craftie: so that their hands cannot accomplish that which they doe enterprise.

13 *He taketh the wise in their craftinesse, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with [n] darkenesse in the day time, and [o] grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But he saueth the [p] poore from the sword, from their [q] mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquity shall [r] stop her mouth.

17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his hands make whole.

19 He shall deliuer thee in [s] sixe troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touch thee.

20 In famine he shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth.

22 But thou shalt [t] laugh at destruction and dearth, and shalt not be afraid of the beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field [u] shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know, that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visit thine habitation, and shalt not [x] sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also that thy seede shalbe great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy graue in [y] a full age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne.

27 Loe, [z] thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this and know it for thy selfe.

a He willeth Iob to consider the exemple of all them that haue liued or doe liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as he doeth.
b Murmuring against God in afflictions increaseth the paine, and vttereth mans folly.
c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.
d I was not mooued with his prosperitie, but knew that God had cursed him and his.
e Though God sometime suffer the fathers to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.
f By publike iudgement they shalbe condemned, and none shall pity them.
g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet these shall be taken from him.
h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and mans misery, but his owne sinne.
i Which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction.
k If I suffered as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God.
l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe vnto God to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose works declare that man is inexcusable, except he glorifie God in all his workes.
m He sheweth by particular examples, what the workes of God are.
* 1.Cor.3.19.
n In things plaine and euident they shew themselues fooles in stead of wise men.
o This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise, as he threatned, Deut. 28.29.
p That is, he that humbleth himselfe before God.
q He compareth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swords.
r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to stoppe their mouthes, much more they that professe God.
s He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuenth.
t Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.
u When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs.
x God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.
y Though the children of God haue not alwayes this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it otherwise to their aduantage.
z Wee haue learned these points by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man susteineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob answereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his fault. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

BVt Iob answered and said,

2 Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were layed together in the [a] ballance!

3 For it would be now heauier then the sand of the sea: therefore my wordes are [b] swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, and the venim whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrours of God [c] fight against me.

5 Doeth

a To know whether I complaine without iust cause.
b My griefe is so great, that I lacke wordes to expresse it.
c Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the faithfull can haue.

a Thinke you that I cry without cause, seeing the brute beasts doe not complaine when they haue what they would?

b Can a mans taste delight in that, that hath no sauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are vnsauory to the mouth.

c Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impatiency to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreable to his will.

d That is, let me die at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promise through my impatiencie.

e He feareth least he should be brought to intolerable sorrowes, if his sorowes should continue.

f Haue I not sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible? ‖ Or, wisedome, or law.

g He compareth those friendes which comfort vs not in misery, to a brooke, which in Summer, when we neede waters, is drie: in winter is hard frozen, and in the time of raine, when we haue no need, ouerfloweth with water.

h They that passe thereby to go into the hot countreys of Arabia, thinke to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

i That is, like to this brooke, which deceiueth them that thinke to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.

k He concludeth the worldling, which for no necessitie will giue part of their goods, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfortable words. l Shew me wherein I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault. m He that hath a good conscience doeth not disdaine at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason. n Doe you cauill at my words because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie? o Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatiencie through very sorow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

5 Doeth the a wilde asse bray when hee hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder?

6 That which is b vnsauory, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch as were sorowes, are my meate.

8 Oh that I might haue my c desire, and that God would graunt me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would destroy mee: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorow, let him not spare) d because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine e ende, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, that there is in me no f helpe? and that ‖ strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a g brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yce, and wherein the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hot they faile out of their places,

18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, h considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither, and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like i vnto it: yee haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

22 Was it because I sayd, Bring vnto me? or giue a reward to me of your k substance?

23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, and I will l hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.

25 How ‖ stedfast are the words of righteousnesse? and what can any of you iustly reproue?

26 Doe ye imagine to reproue ‖ words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?

27 Yee make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and digge a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content to l looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousnesse in that behalfe. Is there iniquity in my tongue? doeth not my mouth feele sorowes?

CHAP. VII.

a Iob sheweth the shortnesse and miserie of mans life.

IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an a hireling?

a Hath not an hired seruant some rest and ease? then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hireling.

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh to the end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the b monethes of vanity, and painefull nights haue beene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layed me downe, I sayd, When shall I arise? and measuring the euening, I am euery full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is c cloathed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my skin is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then d a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a winde, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 e As the cloude vanisheth and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shall f come vp no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not g spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and muse in the bitternesse of my minde.

12 Am I a sea? or a whalefish, that thou keepest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall relieue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation.

14 Then feareest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule h chuseth rather to be strangled and to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it: I shall not liue alway: i spare me then, for my dayes are but vanity.

17 What is man, that thou k doest magnifie him, and that thou setteste thine heart vpon him?

18 And doest visit him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?

19 How long will it be yer thou depart from mee? thou wilt not let mee alone whiles I may swallow my spettle.

20 I haue l sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespasse? and take away mine iniquity? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seeke mee in the morning, I shall m not be found.

b My sorow hath continued from moneth to moneth and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

c This signifieth that his disease was sore and most horrible.

d Thus he speaketh in respect of the brittle estate of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

e If thou behold mee in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.

f Shall no more enioy this mortall life.

g Seeing I can by none other meanes comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words, and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what needeth thou then to lay so much paine on me?

i So that I can haue no rest, night nor day.

k He speaketh as one ouercome with sorow, and not of iudgement, as of the examination of his faith.

l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease.

m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honour to contend against him? Iob vseth all kinds of perswasion with God, that he might stay his hand.

n After all temptations faith brasteth forth and beseecheth Iob to repentance: yet perfection that he could bridle himselfe from reasoning with God, because that he still tried his faith.

o That is, I shall be dead.

CHAP. VIII.

a Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner, because that God punisheth the wicked, and preserueth the good.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 How long wilt thou talke of these things? and how long shall the wordes of thy mouth be as a mighty winde?

3 Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth the Almighty subuert iustice?

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and hee hath sent them into the place of their b iniquitie, a He declareth that their words which would diminish any thing from the iustice of God, is but as a puffe of wind that vanisheth away.

b That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquitie: meaning, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.

5 Yet if thou c wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty,

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely he will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousnes prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning d be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 e Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but f of yesterday, and are ignorant; for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow.)

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and vtter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush g grow without myre? or can the grasse grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a h spider.

15 Hee shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The i tree is greene before the Sunne, and the branches i spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The roots thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it k deny, saying, I haue not seene thee,

19 Behold, it will reioyce l by this meanes, that it may grow in another mould.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand,

21 Till he haue filled thy mouth with m laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee, shall be cloathed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

c That is, if thou wilt betime whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant as thou wouldest desire, yet in the ende thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe.

e Hee willeth Iob to examine all antiquity, and he shall find it true which he here saith.

f Meaning, that it is not enough to haue the experience of our selues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs.

g As a rush cannot grow without moisture, so can not the hypocrite, become hee hath not faith, which is moistened with Gods Spirit.

h Which is to day, and to morrow is cast away.

i He compareth the iust to a tree, which although it be remooued out of one place vnto another, yet flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profit.

k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had growen there or no.

l To be pluted in another place, where it may grow at pleasure.

m If then be godly, he will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and shall increase.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob doth set th the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousnesse is nothing.

THen Iob answered, and said,

2 I knowe verily that it is so: for how should man compared to God be a iustified?

3 If he would dispute with him, he could not answere him one thing of a b thousand.

4 He is wise in heart, & mighty in strength, who hath bene fierce against him, and hath prospered?

5 He remooueth the mountaines, and they feele not when hee ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He c remooueth the earth out of her place, that the pillers thereof doe shake.

7 He commandeth the Sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres as vnder a signet.

8 Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the Sea.

9 He maketh the starres d Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.

10 Hee doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, marueilous things without number.

11 Loe, when he goeth e by me, I see him not:

a Iob here answereth to the first point of Elphaz and Bildads oration, touching the iustice of God, and his innocencie, confessing God to be iustice, and man to be nothing in respect, but he will not be able to answere him one.

b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.

c He declareth what is the infirmitie of man, by the mighty and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could doe if he would set to his power.

d These are the names of certaine starres, whereby he meaneth that all starres both knowen & vnknowen are at his appointment.

e I am not able to comprehend his workes, which are common and daily before mine eyes, much lesse in those things, which are hid and secret.

and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not:

12 Behold, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God g will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helpes h doe stoupe vnder him.

14 How much lesse shall I answere him? or how should I find out i my words with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet could I k not answere, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I l cry, and he answere mee, yet would I not beleeue, that he heard my voyce.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me m without cause.

18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.

19 If we speake of strength, beholde, hee is n strong: If we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?

20 If I should iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me; o if I would be perfit, he shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were perfit, yet I know not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I said, He destroyeth the p perfect and the wicked.

33 Neither is there any vmpire a that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare affonish me:

in the bitternesse of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, [c] Condemne mee not: shew me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it [d] good to oppresse me, and to cast off the [e] labour of thine hands, and to fauour the [f] counsell of the wicked?

4 Hast thou [g] carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans [h] dayes? or thy yeeres as the time of man,

6 That thou enquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchst out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot doe [i] wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine [k] hands haue made me, and fashioned mee wholly round about, and wilt thou destroy mee?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast mad me as [l] the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as milke? and turned me to cruds like cheese?

11 Thou hast cloathed me with skin and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes, 12 Thou hast giuen me life, and [m] grace: and the [n] visitation hath preserued my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I know [o] that it is so with thee.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly looke vnto me, and wilt not hold me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: If I haue done righteously, I will not [p] lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe [q] marueilous vpon mee.

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: [r] changes and armies of sorowes are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not beene, but brought from the wombe to the graue!

20 Are not my dayes few? let him cease, & leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort.

21 Before I goe and shall not [t] returne, euen to the land of darkenesse and shadow of death:

c He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinary meanes that hee punisheth others.
d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to doe me wrong?

f Wilt thou gratifie the wicked and condemne me?
g Doest thou this of ignorance?
h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morow an enemy?
i By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euill, neither can any set me at libertie.

CHAP. XI.

2 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 Hee is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.

THen answered Zophar ẏ Naamathite, & said,

2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? or should a great [a] talker be iustified?

3 Should men hold their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But, oh that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That hee might shew thee the [c] secrets of wisedome how thou hast deserued double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almightie to his perfection?

8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou do? [d] it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the Sea.

10 If he cut off and [e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wilde [f] asse colt.

13 If thou [g] prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine [h] hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle.

15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy [i] face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pittes, and shalt lye downe safely.

19 * For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make sure vnto thee.

20 But the eyes [k] of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shalbe sorow of minde.

a Should he perswade by his great talke, that he is iust?
b He chargeth Iob with this, that he should say, that the thing which he spake was true, and that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
c Which is not to stand in iustifying of thy selfe, he signifieth that man will neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake off the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.
d That is, this perfection of God, and if man be not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, the depth of hell, the length of the earth, the breadth of the Sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?
e If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controlle him?
f That is, without vnderstanding: so that whatsoeuer gifts he hath afterward, come of God, and not of nature.
g If thou repent, pray vnto him.

is deceiued, and that [h] deceiueth, are his.
17 Hee cauſeth the counſelers to goe as ſpoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.
18 [i] He looſeth [k] the collar of kings, and gir-
deth their loynes with a girdle.
19 Hee leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mighty.
20 He taketh away the ſpeach from the [l] faith-full counſellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.
21 Hee powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the ſtrength of the mighty weake.
22 He diſcouereth the deepe places from their darkeneſſe, and bringeth foorth the ſhadow of death to light.
23 He [m] increaſeth the people, and deſtroyeth them: hee enlargeth the nations, and bringeth
them in againe.
24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wilderneſſe out of the way.
25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to ſtagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends.
16 The penitent ſhalbe ſaued, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God, that he would not handle him rigorouſly.

LOe, mine eye hath ſeene all this: mine eare
hath heard, and vnderſtood it.
2 I know alſo as much as you know: I am not inferiour vnto you.
3 But I will ſpeake to the Almighty, and I deſire [a] to diſpute with God.
4 For in deede yee forge lies, and all you are [b] phyſicians of no value.
5 Oh, that you would hold your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wiſedome!
6 Now heare my diſputation, and giue eare
to the arguments of my lips.
7 Will ye ſpeake [c] wickedly for Gods defence,
and talke deceitfully for his cauſe?
8 Will ye accept his perſon? or will ye contend for God?

‖ Or, fleſh.
f He exhorteth them to be wiſe in iudging, and aſwell to know the right vſe why God hath giuen them eares, as he hath done a mouth.
g Though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wiſedome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wiſedome, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he anſwereth to that which was alleaged, Chap. 8. 8.
h He ſheweth that there is nothing done in this world without Gods will and ordinance, for elſe he ſhould not be Almighty.
i He taketh wiſedome from them.
k He abateth the honour of princes, and bringeth them into the ſubiection of others.
l He cauſeth that their words haue no credite, which is when he will puniſh ſinne.
m In this diſcourſe of Gods wonderfull workes, Iob ſheweth that whatſoeuer is done in this world both in the order and change of things is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he declareth that hee thinketh well of God, and is as able to ſet foorth his power in wordes as they that reaſoned againſt, were.

a For although he knew that God had iuſtice, which was manifeſt in his ordinary working and another in his ſecret counſell, yet he would vtter his affection to God, becauſe he was not able to vnderſtand the cauſe why he did thus puniſh him.
b You doe not well apply your medicine to the diſeaſe.
c He condemneth their zeale, which had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alwayes gazed on Gods iuſtice as though it was not euidently ſeene in Iob, except they had vndertaken the probation thereof,

9 Is it well that hee ſhould ſeeke of you?
will you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man?
10 He will ſurely reprooue you, if ye doe ſecretly accept any perſon.
11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid?
and his feare fall vpon you?
12 Your [d] memories may be compared vnto
aſhes, and your bodies vnto bodies of clay.
13 Hold your tongues in my preſence, that I may ſpeake, and let come vpon me what will.
14 Wherefore doe I [e] take my fleſh in my teeth,
and put my ſoule in my hand?
15 Loe, though hee ſlay me, yet will I truſt in him, and I will reprooue my wayes in his ſight.
16 Hee ſhall be my ſaluation alſo: for the hypocrite ſhall not come before him.
17 Heare diligently my words, and marke my talke.
18 Behold now: if I prepare me to iudgement,
I know that I ſhalbe [g] iuſtified.
19 Who is he that will pleade [h] with me? for if I now hold my tongue, I [i] die.
20 But do not theſe two things vnto me: then will I not hide my ſelfe from thee.
21 [k] Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.
22 Then call thou, and I will anſwere: or let me ſpeake, and anſwere thou me.
23 How many are [l] mine iniquities and ſinnes:
ſhew me my rebellion and my ſinne.
24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face, and takeſt
me for thine enemie?
25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou purſue the drie ſtubble?
26 For thou writeſt bitter things againſt me,
and makeſt me to poſſeſſe [m] the iniquities of my youth.
27 Thou putteſt my feete alſo in the [n] ſtocks,
and lookeſt narrowly vnto all my paths, and ma-
keſt the print thereof in the † heeles of my feete.
28 Such a one conſumeth like a rotten thing,
and as a garment that is motheaten.

youth. n Thou makeſt me thy priſoner, and doeſt ſo preuent me that I cannot ſtirre hand nor foote. † Ebr. rootes.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Iob deſcribeth the ſhortneſſe and miſerie of the life of man. 14 He ſtedfaſtly comforteth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAn [a] that is borne of woman, is of ſhort continuance and full of trouble.
2 Hee ſhooteth foorth as a floure, and is cut downe: he vaniſheth alſo as a * ſhadow, and con-tinueth not.
3 And yet thou openeſt thine eyes vpon ſuch
[b] one, and cauſeſt me to enter into iudgement
with thee.
4 * Who can bring a cleane thing out of fil-thineſſe? there is not one.
5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou haſt appointed his bounds which he cannot paſſe.
6 Turne from him that hee may ceaſe vntill
his deſired day, [c] as an hireling.
7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet ſprout, and the branches thereof will not ceaſe.
8 Though the roote of it waxe olde in the earth, & the ſtocke thereof be dead in the ground, 9 Yet by the ſent of water it will budde, and

d Your fame ſhall come to nothing.
e Is not this a manifeſt ſigne of mine affliction, and that I do not complaine without cauſe, ſeeing that I am thus tormented as though I ſhould teare mine owne fleſh, and put my life in danger?
f Whereby hee declareth that he is not an hypocrite as they charged him.
g That is, cleered and not caſt off for my ſinnes, as you reaſon.
h To prooue that God doeth thus puniſh me for my ſinnes.
i If I defend not my cauſe, euery man will condemne me.
k He ſheweth what theſe two things are.
l His pangs thus mooue him to reaſon with God, not denying but that he had ſinned: but he deſired to vnderſtand what were his great ſinnes that had deſerued ſuch rigour, wherein he offended that he would know a cauſe of God why he did puniſh him.
m Thou puniſheſt me now for the faultes that I committed in my

a Taking occaſion of his aduerſaries wordes, he deſcribeth the ſtate of mans life from his birth to his death.
* Chap. 8. 9. Pſal. 144. 4.
b His meaning is, that ſeeing that man is ſo fraile a creature, God ſhould not handle him ſo extremely: wherein Iob ſheweth the wickedneſſe of the fleſh, when it is not ſubiect to the Spirit.
* Pſal. 51. 5. 7.
c Vntill the time that thou haſt appointed for him to die, which he deſireth as the hireling wayteth for the ende of his labour to receiue his wages.

bring forth boughes like a plant.
10 d But man is sicke,and dieth,and man perisheth, and where is he?
11 As the waters passe from the sea,and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp, 12 So man sleepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.
13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe me secret,vntil thy e wrath were past, and wouldest giue mee terme, and f remember me!
14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I wait, till g my changing shall come.
15 Thou shalt call mee, and I will h answere
thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.
16 But now thou * numbrest my steppes, and
doest not delay my sinnes.
17 Mine iniquity is sealed vp, as in a i bagge,
and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.
18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the k rocke that is re-
mooued from his place:
19 As the water breaketh the stones,when thou ouerflowest the things which grow in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.
20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away,
21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall be of low degree.
22 But while his l flesh is vpon him, hee shall be sorowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

d Hee speaketh not here as though he had not hope ot the immortalitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reason is ouercome by affections and torments.
e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to die.
f That is, release my paines and take me to mercy.
g Meaning, vnto the day of the resurrection when he should be changed, and renewed.
h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shall feele thy mercies and answere when thou callest me.
* Prou.5.21.
i Thou layest them altogether, and sufferest none of my sinnes vnpunished.
k He murmureth through the impatiencie of the flesh against God, as though he vsed as great seueritie against him as against the hard rocks, or waters that ouerflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.
l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in paine, and miserie.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because hee ascribeth wisdome and pureness to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and
sayd,
2 Shall a wise man speake words of the a wind?
and fill his bellie b with the East winde?
3 Shall hee dispute with words not comely?
or with talke that is not profitable?
4 Surely thou hast cast off c feare, and restrainest prayer before God:
5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquity,seeing thou hast chosen the d tongue of the craftie.
6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.
7 Art thou the e first man that was borne?
and wast thou made before the hils?
8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God,
and doest thou restraine wisedome f to thee?
9 What knowest thou that we know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?
10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.
11 Seeme the consolations of God g small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?
12 Why doeth thine heart h take thee away,
and what doe thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God † at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?

a That is, vaine words,and without consolation?
b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotten assoone as they are vttered,as the East winde drieth vp the moisture assoone as it falleth.
c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused men to cast off the feare of God,and prayer.
d Thou speakest as doe the mockers and contemners of God.
e That is,the most ancient, and so by reason the most wise?
f Art thou onely wise?
g He accuseth Iobs pride & ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell.
h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceit?
† Ebr. in thy spirit.

14 What is man, that hee should be cleane?
and hee that is borne of woman, that hee should i be iust?
15 Behold, hee found no stedfastnesse in his Saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.
16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which k drinketh iniquity like water?
17 I will tell thee, heare mee, and I will declare that which I haue seene:
18 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret: 19 To whom alone the land was l giuen, and no stranger passed through them.
20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauaileth of child, and the number m of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.
21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperity the destroyer shall come vpon him.
22 He beleeueth not to returne out of n dark-nesse: for he seeth the sword before him.
23 Hee wandreth o to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkenesse is prepared at hand.
24 Affliction and p anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.
25 For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.
26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen
vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.
27 Because he hath couered his face with q his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flancke.
28 Though he dwell r in desolate cities,and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes.
29 Hee shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall hee prolong the s perfection thereof in the earth.
30 He shall neuer depart out of darkenesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.
31 He t beleeueth not that he erreth in vanity:
therefore vanity shall be his change.
32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.
33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sowre
u grape, and shall cast him off, as the oliue doeth
her flowre.
34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of x bribes.
35 For they y conceiue mischiefe and bring foorth vanity, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

i His purpose is to prooue that Iob as an vniust man, and an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, Chap. 4.18.
k Which hath a desire to sinne, as he that is thirstie to drinke.
l Who by their wisedome so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, and so the land seemed to be giuen to them alone.
m The cruell man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience.
n Out of that miserie whereinto he once falleth.
o God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oft-times, but euen in their prosperity he punisheth them with a greedinesse euermore to gather: which is as a beggery.
p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against the wicked, which lift vp themselues against him, to wit, terrour of conscience, and outward afflictions.
q That is, he was so puft vp with great prosperity and abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting, that Iob in his felicity had not the true feare of God.
r Though hee build and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring all to nought, and turne his great prosperity into extreme misery.
s Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection.
t He standeth so in his owne conceit, that hee will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction.
u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.
x Which were built or maintained by powling and briberie.
y And therefore all their vaine deuises shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob mooued by the importunatie of his friends. 7 Counteth in what extremitie he is. 19 And taketh God to witnesse of his innocencie.

But Iob answered and sayd,
2 I haue oftentimes heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.
3 Shall there be none ende of the wordes of a winde?

[a] winde? or what maketh thee bold so to [b] an-swere?
4 I could also speake as ye doe: (but would God your [c] soule were in my soules stead) I could keep you company in speaking, and could [d] shake mine head at you.
5 But I would strengthen you [e] with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should aswage your sorow.
6 Though I speake, my sorow [f] cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?
7 But now [g] he maketh mee wearie: O God,
thou hast made all my [h] congregation desolate.
8 And hast made me full of [i] wrinckels which is a witnesse thereof, and my leannesse riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.
9 [k] His wrath hath torne mee, and he hateth me, and gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine
enemie hath sharpened his eyes against me.
10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten mee on the [l] cheeke in reproch: they gathered themselues together against me.
11 God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the [m] hands of the wicked.
12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.
13 His [n] archers compasse me round about:
he cutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall [o] vpon the ground.
14 He hath broken me with one breaking vp-on another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.
15 I haue sowed a sacke cloath vpon my skinne,
and haue abased mine [p] horne vnto the dust.
16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.
17 Though there be no wickednesse in [q] mine hands, and my prayer [r] be pure.
18 O earth, couer not thou my [s] blood, and let my crying find no place.
19 For loe, now my [t] witnesse is in the heauen,
and my record is on high.
20 My friends [u] speake eloquently against me:
but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.
21 Oh that a man might [x] pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!
22 For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall goe the way, whence I shall not returne.

a Which serue for vaine ostentation and for no true comfort.
b For Eliphaz did replie against Iobs answere.
c I would you felt that which I doe.
d That is, mocke at your misery, as you do at mine.
e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as ye doe to me.
f If they would say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauy then he is able to asswage either by words or silence.
g Meaning, God.
h That is, destroyed most of my familie.
i In tooken of sorow and griefe.
k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of words and high stile, he expresseth how grieuous the hand of God was vpon him.
l That is, hath handled me most contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheeke signified, 2 king. 22, 24. mar. 14, 65.
m They haue led me whither they would.
n His manifold afflictions.
o I am wounded to the heart.
p Meaning, his glory was brought lowe.
q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment.
r That is, vnfained, and without hypocrisie. s Let my sinne be knowen if I be such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me finde no fauour. t Though man condemne me, yet God is witnesse of my cause. u Vse painted wordes in steed of true consolation. x Thus by his great torments he is caried away, and brasteth out into passions, and speaketh vnaduisedly, as though God should intreat man more gently, seeing hee hath but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doeth patiently abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 shewing that he looketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off,
and the graue is ready for me.
2 There are none but [a] mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in [b] their bitternesse.
3 [c] Lay downe now, and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that [d] will touch mine hand?
4 For thou hast hid their heart from [e] vnder-standing? therefore shalt thou not set them vpon
high.

a In stead of comfort, beeing now at deaths doore, he had but them that mocked at him, and discouraged him.
b I see still that they seeke but to vexe me.
c He reasoneth with God as a man beside himselfe, to the intent that his cause might be brought to light. d And answere for thee? e That these mine afflictions are thy iust iudgements, though man know not the cause.

5 [f] For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speaketh flatterie to his friends.
6 Hee hath also made mee, a [g] byword of the people, and I am as a tabret [h] before them.
7 Mine eye therefore is dim for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.
8 The righteous shalbe astonied at [i] this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.
9 But the righteous will hold his [k] way, and he whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.
10 All you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.
11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart 12 Haue changed the [m] night for the day, and the light that approached, for darkenesse.
13 Though I hope, [n] yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.
14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my [o] father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.
15 Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?
16 [p] They shall goe downe into the bottome
of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

f Hee that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happy in his prosperitie, shall not himselfe onely but in his posteritie be punished.
g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.
h That is, as a continuall sound in their eares.
i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shall be the reward of the hypocrite.
k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked.
l Iob speaketh to them three that came to comfort him. m That is, haue brought me sorow in stead of comfort. n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperity as your discourse pretendeth. o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shall be to me in stead of them. p All worldly hope & prosperity faile, which you say, are only signes of Gods fauour: but seeing that these things perish, I set mine hope in God and in the life euerlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 Bildad rehearseth the paines of the vnfaithfull and wicked.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,
2 When will [a] yee make an ende of your words? [b] cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.
3 Wherefore are wee counted as beastes, and
are vile in your sight?
4 Thou art [c] as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the [d] earth be forsaken for thy sake?
or the rocke remooued out of his place?
5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be [e] quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.
6 The light shall be darke in his dwelling,
and his candle shall be put out with him.
7 The steps of his strength shalbe restrained,
and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.
8 For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he [f] walketh vpon the snares.
9 The grenne shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.
10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.
11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall driue him to his feete.
12 His strength shalbe [g] famine: and destruction shalbe ready at his side.
13 It shall deuoure the inner partes of his skinne, and the [h] first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.
14 His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling,
and shall cause him to goe to the [i] king of feare.
15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not [k] his) [l] and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.
16 His rootes shall be dryed vp beneath, and
aboue shall his branch be cut downe.
17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

a Which count your selues iust, as Chap. 11, 4.
b Whom you take to be but beasts, as Chap. 12, 7.
c That is, like a mad man.
d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake, by dealing with thee otherwise then he doeth with al men?
e When the wicked is in his prosperity, then God changeth his state: and this is his ordinary working for their sinnes.
f Meaning, that the wicked are in continuall danger.
g That which should nourish him, shalbe consumed by famine.
h That is, some strong and violent death shall consume his strength: or as the Ebrew word signifieth, his members or parts.
i That is, with most great feare.
k Meaning, not iustly come by.
l Though all the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.

18 They ſhall driue him out of the [m] light vnto darkeneſſe, and chaſe him out of the world.

19 Hee ſhall neither haue ſonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any poſterity in his dwellings.

20 The poſteritie ſhalbe aſtonied at his [n] day, and feare ſhall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely ſuch are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

m He ſhall fall from proſperity to aduerſity.

n When they ſhall ſee what came vnto him.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reprooueth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miſeries and grieuous paines. 25 He aſſureth himſelfe of the generall reſurrection.

BVt Iob anſwered, and ſaid,

2 How long will yee vexe my ſoule, and torment me with words?

3 Ye haue now [a] ten times reproached me, and are not aſhamed: ye are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had indeed erred, mine error [b] remaineth with me.

5 But indeed if ye will aduance your ſelues againſt me, and rebuke me for my reproach,

6 Know now, that God hath [c] ouerthrowen me, and hath compaſſed me with his net.

7 Behold, I crie out of violence, but I haue none anſwere: I crie, but there is no iudgement.

8 Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot [d] paſſe, and he hath ſet darkeneſſe in my paths.

9 Hee hath ſpoiled mee of mine honour, and taken the [e] crowne away from mine head.

10 He hath deſtroyed mee on euery ſide, and I am gone: and he hath remooued mine hope like [f] a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath againſt me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His [g] armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 He hath remooued my brethren farre from mee, and alſo mine acquaintance were ſtrangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forſaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 [h] They that dwell in mine houſe, and my mayds tooke me for a ſtranger: for I was a ſtranger in their ſight.

16 I called my ſeruant, but he would not anſwere, though I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was ſtrange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens ſake of mine [i] owne body.

18 The wicked alſo deſpiſed mee, and when I roſe, they ſpake againſt me.

19 All my ſecret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned againſt me.

20 My bone [k] cleaueth to my ſkinne and to my fleſh, and I haue eſcaped with the [l] skinne of my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue [m] pitie vpon me, (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe ye perſecute mee, as [n] God? and are not ſatisfied with my [o] fleſh?

23 Oh that my wordes were now written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 And grauen with [p] an yron pen in lead, or in ſtone for euer!

25 For I am ſure that my [q] Redeemer liueth, and hee ſhall ſtand the laſt on the earth

26 And though after my ſkin wormes deſtroy this body, yet ſhall I ſee God [r] in my fleſh.

27 Whom I my ſelfe ſhall ſee, and mine eyes ſhall behold, and none other for me, though my reynes are conſumed within me.

28 But ye ſayd, Why is he perſecuted? And there was a [f] deepe matter in me

29 Be yee afraid of the ſword: for the ſword will be [t] auenged of wickedneſſe, that yee may know that there is a iudgement.

a That is, many times, as Neh. 4, 12.
b That is, I my ſelfe ſhalbe puniſhed for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.
c He braſteth out againe into his paſſions, and declareth ſtill that his affliction commeth of God, though he be not able to feele the cauſe in himſelfe.
d Meaning, out of his afflictions.
e Meaning, his children, and whatſoeuer was deare vnto him in this world.
f Which is pluckt vp, and hath no more hope to grow.
g His manifold afflictions.
h Mine houſhold ſeruants: by all theſe loſſes Iob ſheweth that touching the fleſh he had great occaſion to be mooued.
i Which were hers and mine.
k Beſides theſe great loſſes and moſt cruell vnkindneſſe, he was touched in his owne perſon, as followeth.
l All my fleſh was conſumed.
m Seeing I haue theſe iuſt cauſes to complaine, condemne [me] not as an hypocrite, ſpecially ye which ſhould comfort me.
n Is it not enough that God doth puniſh me, except you by reproaches increaſe my ſorow?
o To ſee my body puniſhed, except yee trouble my minde?
p He proteſteth that notwithſtanding his ſore paſſions his religion is perfit, and that he is not a blaſphemer as they iudged him.
q I doe not ſo iuſtifie my ſelfe before the world, but I know that I ſhall come before the great Iudge, who ſhall be my deliuerer and Sauiour.
r Herein Iob declareth plainely that he had a full hope, that both the ſoule and body ſhould enioy the preſence of God in the laſt reſurrection.
f Though his friends thought that he was but perſecuted of God for his ſinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper conſideration, to wit, the trial of his faith & patience, and ſo to be an example for others.
t God will be reuenged of this haſtie iudgement, whereby you condemned me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar ſheweth, that the wicked and the couetous ſhall haue a ſhort end, 22 though for a time they flouriſh.

THen anſwered Zophar the Naamathite, and ſaid,

2 Doubtleſſe my thoughts cauſe mee to anſwere, and therefore I make haſte.

3 I haue heard [a] the correction of my reproach: therefore the ſpirit of mine vnderſtanding cauſeth me to anſwere.

4 Knoweſt thou not this of old? and ſince God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is ſhort, and that the ioy of the hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though [b] his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes,

7 Yet ſhal he periſh for euer like his dung, & they which haue ſeene him, ſhall ſay, Where is hee?

8 He ſhall flee away as a dreame, and they ſhall not finde him, and ſhall paſſe away as a viſion of the night.

9 So that the eye which had ſeene him, ſhall do ſo no more, and his place ſhall ſee him no more.

10 His children ſhall [c] flatter the poore, and his hands ſhall [d] reſtore his ſubſtance.

11 His bones are full of the ſinne of his youth, and [e] it ſhall lie downe with him in the duſt.

12 When wickednes was [f] ſweet in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forſake it, but kept it cloſe in his mouth,

14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aſpes was in the middes of him.

15 He hath deuoured ſubſtance, and hee ſhall vomit it: for God ſhall draw it out of his belly.

16 Hee ſhall ſucke the [g] gall of Aſpes, and the vipers tongue ſhall ſlay him.

17 Hee ſhall not ſee the [h] riuers, nor the floods and ſtreames of hony and butter.

18 Hee ſhall reſtore the labour, and ſhall deuoure no more: euen according to the ſubſtance ſhall be his exchange, [i] and hee ſhall enioy it no more.

19 For hee hath vndone many: he hath forſaken the poore, and hath ſpoyled houſes which he builded not

20 Surely he ſhal feele no quietnes in his body, neither ſhall he reſerue of that which he deſired.

21 There ſhall none of his [k] meate be left: therefore none ſhall hope for his goods.

22 When he ſhalbe filled with his abundance, he ſhall be in paine, and the hand [l] of all the wicked ſhall aſſaile him.

a He declareth that two things mooued him to ſpeake: to wit, becauſe Iob ſeemed to touch him, and becauſe he thought he had knowledge ſufficient to confute him.
b His purpoſe is to prooue Iob to be a wicked man, and an hypocrite, becauſe God puniſhed him, and changed his proſperity into aduerſitie.
c Whereas the father through ambition and tyranny oppreſſed the poore, the children through pouertie and miſerie, ſhall ſeeke fauour at the poore.
d So that the thing which he hath taken away by violence, ſhall be reſtored againe by force.
e Meaning, that he ſhall cary nothing away with him but his ſinne.
f As poyſon that is ſweete in the mouth, bringeth deſtruction when it commeth into the body: ſo all vice at the firſt is pleaſant, but afterward God turneth it to deſtruction.
g He compareth euill gotten goods to the venim of Aſpes, which ſerpent is moſt dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, and therefore God did plague him iuſtly for the ſame.
h Though God giue to all other abundance of his bleſſings, yet he ſhall haue no part thereof.
i That is, theſe rauenors and ſpoylers of the poore ſhall enioy their theft but for a time: for after, God will take it from them, and cauſe them to make reſtitution, ſo that it is but an exchange.
k Hee ſhall leaue nothing to his poſterity.
l The wicked ſhall neuer be in reſt: for one wicked man ſhall ſeeke to deſtroy another.

23 He shallbe about to fill his bellie, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, [m] and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meat.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of steele shall strike him through.

25 The arrow is drawen out, and commeth foorth of the [o] bodie, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.

26 [o] All darknesse shall be hid in the secret places: the fire that is not [p] blowen shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shallbe destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednesse, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The [q] in crease of his house shall goe away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from [r] God, and the heritage that he shall haue of God, for his [s] words.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud. 15 In so much that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperity.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this [a] shallbe in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer mee that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it [b] were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke mee, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your [c] mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraide, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked [d] liue, and waxe old, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendreth, and faileth not: their kow calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children [e] like sheep, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly [f] they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the [g] knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Loe, their wealth is not in their [h] hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked [i] be farre from mee,

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out, and their destruction come vpon them? he will diuide their liues in his wrath,

18 They shall be as stubble before the wind, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when hee rewardeth him, hee shall know it.

20 [k] His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almightie.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, When the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach [l] God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One [m] dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones run full of marow.

25 And another [n] dieth in the bitternesse of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in [o] the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises wherewith ye doe mee wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the princes [p] house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?

29 May yee [q] not aske them that goe by the way? and ye cannot denie their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of [r] destruction, and they shall be brought foorth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way [s] to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33. The [t] slimie valley shallbe sweet vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort [u] ye me in vaine, seeing in your answere there remaine but lies?

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnesse. 23 And that hee denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth to repentance.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be [a] profitable vnto God, as he that is wise may be profitable to himselfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright?

4 Is it for feare [b] of thee that hee will accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the [c] pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoiled the cloathes of the naked.

7 To such as were weary thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man [d] had the earth, and hee that was in authoritie, dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of the [e] fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee.

11 Or darknesse that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on [g] hie in the heauen? and behold the height of the [h] starres how hie they are.

13 But thou sayest, How should God [i] know? can he iudge through the darke cloud?

m Some reade, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten which a feabn Some reade, of the quiuer.

o All feare and sorow shall light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.

p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath.

q Meaning, the children of the wicked shall flow away like riuers, and be disperssed in diuers places.

r Thus God will plague the wicked.

s Against God, thinking to excuse himselfe, and to escape Gods hand.

a Your diligent marking of my words shallbe to me a great consolation.

b As though he would say, I doe not talk with man but with God, who will not answere me, and therefore my minde must needes be troubled.

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence, d Iob prooueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straightwayes the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

e They haue store of children, lustie and healthfull, & in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alleaged before.

f Not being tormented with long sickenesse.

g They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: that Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason onely by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him. h It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them. i God keepe me from their prosperity. k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall know that his prosperity was but vanitie.

l Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the godly. m Meaning, the wicked.

n To wit, the godly.

o As concerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to the common iudgement.

p That they called Iobs house in derision, concluding that it was destroyed, because he was wicked.

q Which through long trauailing haue experience and tokens thereof, to wit, that the wicked doe prosper, and the godly liue in affliction.

r Though the wicked flourish here, yet God will punish him in the last day.

s Though men doe flatter him, and none dare reproue him in this world, yet death is a token that he will bring him to an account. t Hee shall be glad to lie in a slimie pit, which before could not be content with a royall palace u Saying, that she iult in this world haue prosperity, and the wicked aduersitie.

a Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profit of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hath no regard to his iustice, but his sinne. * Chap. 35. 7.

b Least thou shouldest reproue or hurt him?

c Thou hast bene cruell and without charitie, and wouldest doe nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

d When thou wast in power & authority, thou didst not iustice but wrong.

e Thou hast not onely not shewed pity, but oppressed them.

f That is, manifold afflictions.

g He accuseth Iob of impiety and contempt of God, as though he would say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him. i He reproueth Iob, as though he denied Gods prouidence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world.

14 The cloudes hide him that he cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, k wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were l cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed.

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet hee m filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, n and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely, o our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of p them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, q with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperity.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt r be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for s dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the stones of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, & thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the t light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 u When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the x yland, & it shallbe preserued by the pureneſſe of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that he hath knowneth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that hee is not punished onely for his sinnes.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 Though my talke be this day in a bitternesse, and my plague greater then my groning.

3 Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the words, t*hat* hee would answere me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would he b plead against me with his great power? No, but he would c put strength in me.

7 d There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

8 e Behold, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South and I cannot behold him.

10 But he knoweth my f way, and tryeth mee, and I shall come forth like gold.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined:

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, and I haue g esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed food.

13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can h turne him? yea, he doeth what his mind desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and i many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

16 For k God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in l darkeneſſe, but he hath hid the darkeneſſe from my face.

a He sheweth the cause of his complaining, and astouching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, Cap. 22. 21. he declareth that he desireth nothing more then to be reconciled that God would not be found of him. b Vsing his absolute power, and sayings, because I am God, I may do what I will. c Of his mercie he would giue me power to answere him. d When hee of his mere y hatred giueth sentence. e Meaning, that if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgements on what side or what part soeuer he turneth himselfe.

f God hath this preeminence aboue me, that he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocent, & am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidence that God doeth vse him for his profit. g His word is more precious vnto me, then the meate wherewith the body is sustained. h Iob protesteth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured that he had appointed him to a good end. i In many points man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgements. k That I should not be without feare. l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble seeth none end, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIV.

2 Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked. 22 How all things are governed of Gods prouidence. 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

HOw should not the times a be hid from the Almightie, seeing that they which knowe him, see not his b dayes?

2 Some remoone the land markes, that rob the flocks and feed thereof.

3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take away the widowes oxe to pledge.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselues c together.

5 Behold, others as wilde asses in the wildernesse, goe forth to their businesse, and d rise early for a pray: the wildernesse giueth him and his children food.

6 They reape his prouision in the field, but they gather the late gvintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the cold.

8 They are wet with the showres of the mountaines, h and they embrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherles i from the breast, and take the pledge of k the poore.

10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungry.

11 They that make oyle l betweene their walles, and tread their winepresses, suffer thirst.

12 Men m crie out of the city, and the soules of the slaine n crie out: yet God o doeth not charge them with folly.

13 These are they that abhorre the p light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof

14 The murtherer riseth early, and killeth the poore and the needy: and in the night he is as a thiefe.

15 The eye also of the q adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face.

16 They digge through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselues in the day: r strength to maintaine their cause. e Meaning, that if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgements on what side or what part soeuer he turneth himselfe.

a Thus Iob speaketh of his passions, and after the iudgement of the flesh, that is, that hee seeth not the things that are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care ouer all, because he punisheth not the wicked, nor reuenge the godly. b When he punisheth the wicked, and rewardeth the good. c And for crueltie and oppression dare not shew their faces. d That is, watcheth diligence. e He and his liue by robbing and murthering. f Meaning, the poore mans. g Signifying, that one wicked man will not spoile an other, but for necessitie. h The poore are driuen by the wicked into the rocks and holes where they cannot lie dry for the raine. i That is, they spoyle and pill the poore widow, that she cannot haue to sustaine her selfe that she may be able to giue her child sucke. k That is, his garment which he should be couered of. l In such places which are appointed for that purpose: meaning, that those that labour for the wicked, are pined for hunger. m For the great oppression and extortion. n Cry out and call for vengeance. o God doeth not condemne the wicked but forbeareth to punish them it by a long silence. p That is, Gods word, because they are reproued thereby. q By the sepatitions vices and the like. r Wherefore, he would proue that God punisheth not the wicked, and rewardeth the iust, they

they know not the light.
17 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death : if one know them, they are in the terrours of the shadow of death.
18 He is swift vpon the r waters : their s portion shallbe cursed in the earth: he will not behold
the way of the vineyards.
19 As the drie ground and heate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue t the sinners.
20 u The pitifull man shall forget him : the worme shall feele his sweetnesse : hee shallbe no more remembred, and the wicked shallbe broken like a tree.
21 He x doth euill intreat the barren that doth not beare, neither doth he good to the widow.
22 He draweth also the y mighty by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life.
23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safety, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.
24 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought low as all others : they are destroyed, and cut off as the toppe of an eare of corne.
25 But if it be not z so, where is he? or who will proue me a liar, and make my words of no value?

r Hee fleeth to the waters for his succour.
s They thinke that all the world is bent against them, and dare not goe by the high way.
t As the dry ground is neuer full with waters, so will they neuer cease sinning till they come to the graue.
u Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their end shallbe most vile destruction, and in this point Iob commeth to himselfe, and sheweth his confidence.
x He sheweth why the wicked shall not be lamented, because he did not pitie others.
y Hee declareth that after that the wicked haue destroyed the weakest, they will doe like to the stronger, and therefore are iustly punished by Gods iudgements.
z That is, that contrarie to your reasoning no man can giue perfit reason of Gods iudgements, let me be reprooued.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad prooueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 a Power and feare is with him, that ma-
keth peace in his high places.
3 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall not his light arise?
4 And how may a man c be iustified with God?
or how can he be cleane that is borne of woman?
5 Behold, he will giue no light to the Moone,
d and the Starres are vncleane in his sight.
6 How much more man, a worme, euen the
sonne of man, which is but a worme?

a His purpose is to prooue that albeit God trie and afflict the iust, yet soone after he sendeth prosperitie, and because he did not so to Iob, he concludeth that he is wicked.
b Who can hide him from his presence?
c That is, be iust in respect of God?
d If God shew his power, the Moone and Starres cannot haue that light which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellencie but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and prooueth it by his miracles.

BVt Iob answered, and said,
2 a Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou ẏ arme that hath no strength?
3 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisedome? thou shewest right well as the thing is.
4 To whom doest thou declare these words?
or whose spirit c commeth out of thee?
5 The d dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them.
6 The graue is e naked before him, and there is no couering for f destruction.
7 He stretcheth out the g North ouer the emp-tie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.
8 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, & the cloud is not broken vnder them.
9 Hee holdeth backe the face of his throne,
and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.
10 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill
the i day and night come to an end.
11 The k pillars of heauen tremble and quake
at his reproofe.
12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride thereof.
13 His Spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked l serpent.
14 Lo, these are part of his wayes: But m how little a portion heare wee of him? and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

a Thou concludest nothing: for neither thou helpest me, which am destitute of all helpe, neither yet speakest sufficiently on Gods behalfe, who hath no neede of thy defence.
b But thou doest not applie it to the purpose.
c That is, mooueth thee to speake this?
d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power and prouidence in the mines and mettals in the deepe places of the earth.
e There is nothing hid in the bottome of the earth but he seeth it.
f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.
g He causeth the whole heauen to turne about the North pole.
h That is, he hideth the heauens which are called his throne.
i So long as this world endureth.
k Not that heauen hath pillars to vphold it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he would say, The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproach.
l Which is a figure of stars fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednesse.
m If these few things, which we see dayly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how much more would they appeare, if we were to comprehend all his works?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfitnesse of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,
2 The liuing God hath taken away my a iudge-ment: for the Almightie hath put my soule in bitternesse.
3 Yet so long as my breath is in mee, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shall speake no wickednesse,
and my tongue shall vtter no deceit.
5 God forbid, that I should c iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine d innocencie from my selfe.
6 I will keepe my righteousnesse, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprooue mee of my e dayes.
7 Mine enemie shallbe as the wicked, and he
that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.
8 For what f hope hath the hypocrite when hee hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?
9 Will God heare his crie, when trouble commeth vpon him?
10 Will hee set his delight on the Almightie?
will he call vpon God at all times?
11 I will teach you what is in the hand of g God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almightie.
12 Behold, all yee your selues h haue seene it:
why then doe you thus vanish in vanitie?
13 This is the k portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almightie.
14 If his children be in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.
15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes l shall not weepe.
16 Though hee should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay.
17 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.
18 Hee buildeth his house as the m moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.
19 When the rich man sleepeth, n he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes,
and he was gone.
20 Terrors shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall carie him away by night.
21 The East wind shall take him away, and he shall depart: & it shall hurle him out of his place.
22 And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightnesse for they iudge onely by outward signes.
b Howsoeuer men iudge of mee, yet will I not speake contrary to that which I haue said, and so do wickedly in betraying the trueth.
c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.
d I will not confesse that God doth thus punish me for my sinnes.
e Of my life past.
f What aduantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing hee shall lose his owne soule?
g That is what God reserueth to himself and whereof he giueth not the knowledge to all.
h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet doe not vnderstand them.
i Why maintaine you then this errour?
k Thus will God order the wicked, and punish him euen vnto his posteritie.
l None shall lament him.
m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out.
n Hee meaneth, that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

23 Euery man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisedome of God is vnsearchable.

The siluer surely hath his veine, [a] and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an ende to darkenesse, [b] and hee trieth the perfection of all things: hee setteth a bond of darkenesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the [c] inhabitant, and the waters [d] forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth commeth [e] bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place [f] of Saphirs, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no fowle hath knowen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The Lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the Lion passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the [g] rockes, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 Hee bindeth the floods, that they doe not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth hee to light.

12 But where is wisedome found? [h] and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not [i] the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in mee: the Sea also saith, It is not with mee.

15 [k] Gold shall not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the crystall shalbe equall vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine golde.

18 No mention shallbe made of corall, nor of the [l] gablish: for wisedome is more precious then pearles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then commeth wisedome, and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the [m] fowles of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the [n] way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For hee beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen.

25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders,

27 Then did hee see it, and counted it: he prepared it, and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he said, Behold * the [o] feare of the Lord is wisedome, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisedome of God.
b There is nothing but it is compassed within certaine limits, and hath an end, but Gods wisedome.
c Meaning him that dwelleth thereby.
d Which a man cannot wade thorow.
e That is, corne, and vnderneath is brimstone or coale, which easily conceiueth fire.
f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, wherein to neither foules nor beasts can enter.
g After that he hath declared the wisedome of God in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power.
h Though Gods power and wisedome may be vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heauenly wisdome cannot be attained vnto.
i It is too high a thing for man to attaine vnto in this world.
k It can neither be bought for gold nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.
l Which is thought to be a kind of precious stone.
m Meaning, that there is no naturall meanes whereby man might attaine to the heauenly wisdome: which he meaneth by the foules that fly hie.
n He maketh God onely the author of this wisedome, and the giuer thereof.
* Prou. 1.7.
o He declareth that man hath so much of this heauenly wisedome, as he sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euill.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7, at His authoritie: as Iustice and equitie.

So Iob proceeded, and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as † in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his [a] light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorowe the darkenesse.

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when [c] Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almightie was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my pathes [d] with butter, and when the rocke powred mee out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seate, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the streete.

8 The yong men saue mee, and * hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and layd their hand on their [f] mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hidde, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 And when the [g] eare heard mee, it blessed mee, † and when the eye saw me, it gaue witnesse to [h] mee.

12 For I deliuered the [i] poore that cried, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 [k] The blessing of him that was readie to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put [l] on iustice, and it couered mee: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne,

15 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the feete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the iawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I sayd, I shall die in my [m] nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is [n] spred out by the water, an the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renew toward me, and my bowe shallbe restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my wordes they replied not, and my talke [o] dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth [p] as for the latter raine.

24 If I [q] laughed on them, they beleeued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance [r] to fall.

25 I appointed out [s] their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

† Ebr. moneth before.
a When I felt his fauour.
b I was free from affliction.
c That is, seemed by euident tokens to be more present with me.
d By these similitudes he declareth the great prosperity that hee was in, so that he had none occasion to be such a sinner as they accused him.
e Being ashamed of their lightnesse and affraid of my grauitie.
f Acknowledging my wisedome.
g All that heard me, praised me.
h Testifying that I did good iustice.
i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him with wickednes, he is compelled to render account of his life.
k That is, I did succour him that was in distresse, & so he had cause to praise me.
l I delighted to doe iustice, as others did to weare costly apparell.
m That is, at home in my bed without all trouble and vnquietnesse.
n My felicity doth encrease.
o That is, was pleasant vnto them.
p As the drie ground thirsteth for the raine.
q That is, they thought it not to be a iest, or they thought not that I would condescend vnto them.
r They were afraid to offend me and cause me to be angry.
s I had them at commandement.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11, 12 because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

But now they that are yonger then I, [a] mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the [b] dogges of my flockes.

a That is, mine estate is changed, and whereas before the ancient men were glad to doe me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me. b Meaning to be my shepherds, or to keepe my dogs.

2. For

2 For whereto should the strength of their hande haue serued mee, seeing age c perisheth in
them?
3 For pouerty and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate
and waste.
4 They cut vp ‖ nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper roots was their meat.
5 They were d chased forth from among men:
they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.
6 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers,
in the holes of the earth and rocks.
7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder
the thistles they gathered themselues.
8 They were the children of fooles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then
the earth.
9 And now am I their e song, and I am their talke.
10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from mee,
and spare not to spit in my face.
11 Because that God hath loosed my f coard and humbled mee, g they haue loosed the bridle
before me.
12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my feete, and haue troode on mee as on the h paths of their destruction.
13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamity, they had no i helpe.
14 They came as a great breach of waters, and
k vnder this calamity they come on heaps.
15 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the wind, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.
16 Therefore my soule is now l powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.
17 m It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.
18 For the great vehemencie is my garments changed, which compasseth me about, as the collar of my coat.
19 n Hee hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.
20 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp.
21 Thou turnest thy selfe o cruelly against me,
and art enemy vnto me with the strength of thine hand.
22 Thou takest me vp and causest mee to ride vpon the p winde, and makest my ‖ strength to faile.
23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.
24 Doubtles none can stretch his hand q vnto
the graue, though they crie in his destruction.
25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?
26 Yet when I looked for good, r euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenesse.
27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.
28 I went mourning s without sunne; I stood vp in the Congregation t and cried.
29 I am a brother to the u Dragons, and a companion to the Ostriches.
30 My skin is blacke vpon me, and my bones
are burnt with x heat.
31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocency of his liuing and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

I Made a couenant with mine a eyes: why then should I thinke on b a maid?
2 For what portion should I haue of God
from aboue? and what inheritance of the almighty from on high?
3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to c the workers of iniquitie?
4 Doeth not he behold my wayes, and tell all my steps?
5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit?
6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know my d vprightnesse.
7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath e walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands, 8 Let me sow, and let another f eate: yea, let my plants be rooted out.
9 If mine heart hath beene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laide wayte at the doore of my neighbour,
10 Let my wife g grind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her.
11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquity to be condemned.
12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure h to destruction, & which shall root out all my increase.
13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my maide, when they i did contend with me,
14 What then shall I do when k God standeth
vp? and when he shall visit me, what shall I answer?
15 He that hath made me in the wombe, hath he not made l him? hath not he alone fashioned vs in the wombe?
16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow m to faile, 17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, & the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof.
18 (For from my youth hath hee growen vp with me n as with a father, and from my mothers wombe haue I beene a guide vnto her.) 19 If I haue seene any perish for want of cloathing, or any poore without couering.
20 If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe, 21 If I haue lift o vp my hand against the fa-therles, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate,
22 Let mine p arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods punishment was q fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his High-
nesse.
24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue said to the wedge of gold, Thou art my confidence, 25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much, 26 If I did behold the r sunne, when it shined,
or the moone walking in her brightnes, 27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine s hand.
28 (This also had beene an iniquity to be condemned: for I had denied the God t aboue.)
29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me.

c That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.
‖ Or, mallowes.
d Iob sheweth that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewd fellows, such as he here describeth.
e They make songs of me, and mocke at my misery.
f God hath taken from me the force, credit, and authority wherewith I kept them in subiection.
g He said that the yong men when they saw him, hid themselues, as chap. 29. 8. and now in his misery they were impudent and licencious.
h That is, they sought by all meanes how they might destroy me.
i They need none to helpe them.
k By my calamity they tooke an occasion against me.
l My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.
m Meaning sorrow.
n That is, God hath brought me into contempt.
o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caried beside himselfe.
p He compareth his afflictions to a tempest or whirlewind.
‖ Or, wisedome, or law.
q None can deliuer me thence, though they lament at my death.
r In stead of comforting they mocked at me.
s Not delighting in any worldly thing, no not so much as in the vse of the Sunne.
t Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mouing others to pity them.
u I am like the wild beasts that desire most solitary places.
x With the heat of affliction.

a I kept mine eyes from all wanton looks.
b Would not God then haue punished me?
c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridle to stay him from all wickednes.
d He sheweth whereto his vprightnes standeth, that is, in as much as he was blameles before men, and sinned not against the second Table.
e That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye.
f According to the curse of the law, Deut. 28. 33.
g Let her be made a slaue.
h Hee sheweth that albeit man neglect the punishment of adultery, yet the wrath of God will neuer cease till such be destroyed.
i When they thought themselues euill intreated by me.
k If I had oppressed others, how should I haue escaped Gods iudgement?
l Hee was mooued to shew pity vnto seruants, because they were Gods creatures as hee was.
m By long waiting for her request.
n Hee nourished the fatherles, and maintained the widowes cause.
o To oppresse him and to doe him iniury.
p Let me rot in pieces.
q I refrained not from sinning for feare of men, but because I feared God.
r If I was proud of my worldly prosperity and felicitie, which is meant by the shining of the sunne, and brightnes of the moone.
s If mine owne doings delighted me.
t By putting confidence in any thing but in him alone.

me, or was mooued to ioy when euill came vpon him.

30 Neither haue I ſuffered my mouth to ſinne, by wiſhing a curſe vnto his ſoule.

31 Did not the men of my [u] Tabernacle ſay, Who ſhall giue vs of his fleſh? wee cannot be ſatisfied.

32 The ſtranger did not lodge in the ſtreete, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid [x] my ſinnes, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my boſome,

34 Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the moſt contemptible of the families did [y] feare me: ſo I kept [z] ſilence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Oh that I had ſome to heare me! beholde my [a] ſigne that the Almightie will witneſſe for me: though mine aduerſarie ſhould write a booke againſt me,

36 Would not I take it vpon my ſhoulder, and binde it as a [b] crowne vnto me?

37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a [c] prince.

38 If my land [d] cry againſt mee, or the furrowes thereof complaine together.

39 If I haue eaten the fruits thereof without ſiluer: or if I haue grieued [e] the ſoules of the maſters thereof,

40 Let thiſtles grow in ſtead of wheate, and cockle in the ſtead of barley.

THE [f] WORDS OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 Elihu reprooueth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wiſe, but the ſpirit of God.

SO theſe three men ceaſed to anſwere Iob, becauſe he † eſteemed himſelfe iuſt.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the ſonne of Barachel the [a] Buzite, of the family of [b] Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I ſay, was kindled againſt Iob, becauſe he iuſtified himſelfe [c] more then God.

3 Alſo his anger was kindled againſt his three friends, becauſe they could not finde an anſwere, and yet condemned Iob.

4 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had ſpoken: for [d] they were more ancient in yeeres then hee.)

5 So when Elihu ſaw, that there was none anſwere in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the ſonne of Barachel, the Buzite anſwered and ſaide, I am yong in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to ſhew you mine opinion.

7 For I ſaid, The dayes [e] ſhall ſpeake, and the multitude of yeeres ſhall teach wiſedome.

8 Surely there is a ſpirit in man, [f] but the inſpiration of the Almightie giueth vnderſtanding.

9 Great men are not alway wiſe, neither doe the aged alway vnderſtand iudgement.

10 Therefore I ſay, Heare me and I will ſhewe alſo mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did waite vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you ſought out [g] reaſons.

12 Yea, when I had conſidered you, loe, there was none of you that reprooued Iob, nor anſwered his words:

13 Leaſt ye ſhould ſay, We haue [h] found wiſedome: for God hath caſt him downe, and no man.

14 Yet hath [i] he not directed his words to me, neither will I anſwere [k] him by your words.

15 Then they fearing, anſwered no more, but left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they ſpake not, but ſtood ſtill and anſwered no more.)

17 Then anſwered I in my turne, and I ſhewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of [l] matter, and the ſpirit within me compelleth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottels that braſt.

20 Therefore will I ſpeake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will anſwere.

21 I will not now accept the perſon of man, [m] neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue [n] titles, leaſt my Maker ſhould take me away ſuddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuſeth Iob of ignorance. 14 He ſheweth that God hath diuers meanes to inſtruct man and to draw him from ſinne. 19, 20 Hee afflicteth man and ſuddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered giueth thanks to God.

WHerefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my words.

2 Behold now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath ſpoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the vprightneſſe of mine heart, and my lips ſhall ſpeake pure knowledge.

4 The [a] Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almightie hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canſt giue me anſwere, prepare thy ſelfe and ſtand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wiſh, in [b] Gods ſtead: I am alſo formed of the clay.

7 Beholde, my terrour ſhall not feare thee, neither ſhall mine hand [c] be heauy vpon thee.

8 Doubtleſſe thou haſt ſpoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy words.

9 I am [d] cleane, without ſinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Loe, he hath found occaſions againſt mee, and counted me for his enemie.

11 Hee hath put my feete in the ſtockes, and looketh narrowly vnto all my paths.

12 Behold, in this haſt thou not done right: I will anſwere thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why doeſt thou ſtriue againſt him? for he doeth not [e] giue account of all his matters.

14 For God ſpeaketh [f] once or twiſe, and one ſeeth it not.

15 In dreames and [g] viſions of the night, when ſleepe falleth vpon men, and they ſleepe vpon their beds,

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he [h] had ſealed,

17 That he might cauſe man to turne away from his enterpriſe, and that hee might hide the [i] pride of man,

18 And keepe back his ſoule from the pit, and that his life ſhould not paſſe by the ſword.

19 He is alſo ſtricken with ſorow vpon his bed,

[u] My ſeruants mooued me to be reuenged of mine enemie, yet did I neuer wiſh him hurt.
[x] And not confeſſed it freely: whereby it is euident that he iuſtified himſelfe before men, and not before God.
[y] That is, I reuerenced the moſt weake and contemned, and was afraid to offend them.
[z] I ſuffered them to ſpeake euill of me, and went not out of my houſe to reuenge it.
[a] This is a ſufficient token of my righteouſneſſe, that God is my witneſſe and will iuſtifie my cauſe.
[b] Should not this booke of his accuſations be a praiſe and commendation to me?
[c] I will make him account of all my life, without feare.
[d] As though I had withholden their wages that laboured in it.
[e] Meaning, that he was no briber nor extortioner.
[f] That is, the talke which he had with his three friends.
† Ebr. was iuſt in his owne eyes.
[a] Which came of Buz the ſonne of Nahor, Abrahams brother.
[b] Or, as the Chalde paraphraſt readeth, Abram.
[c] By making himſelfe innocent, and by charging God of rigour.
[d] That is, the three mentioned before.
[e] Meaning, the ancient, which haue experience.
[f] It is a ſpeciall gift of God that man hath vnderſtanding, and commeth neither of nature nor by age.
[g] To prooue that Iobs affliction came for his ſinnes.

[h] And flatter your ſelues, as though you had ouercome him.
[i] To wit, Iob.
[k] He vſeth almoſt the like arguments, but without taunting and reproaches.
[l] I haue conceiued in my minde great ſtore of reaſons.
[m] I will neither haue regard to riches, credit, nor authoritie, but will ſpeake the very trueth.
[n] The Ebrew word ſignifieth, to change the name, as to call a foole a wiſe man: meaning, that he would not cloake the trueth to flatter men.
[a] I confeſſe the power of God, and am one of his, therefore thou oughteſt to heare mee.
[b] Becauſe Iob had wiſhed to diſpute his cauſe with God, Chap. 16, 21. ſo that he might doe it without feare, Elihu ſaith, he will reaſon in Gods ſtead, whom he needeth not to feare, becauſe he is a man made of the ſame matter that he is.
[c] I will not handle thee ſo roughly as theſe others haue done.
[d] He repeateth Iobs words, whereby he proteſted his innocencie in diuers places, but ſpecially in the 13, 16. and 30. Chapters.
[e] The cauſe of his iudgements is not alwayes declared to man.
[f] Though God by ſundry examples of his iudgements ſpeake vnto man, yet the reaſon thereof is not knowen: yea and though God ſhould ſpeake, yet is hee not vnderſtood.
[g] God, ſaith hee, ſpeaketh commonly, either by afflictions, or by his viſions to teach vs the cauſe of his iudgements, or els by his meſſenger. [h] That is, determined to ſend vpon them. [i] Hee ſheweth for what end God ſendeth afflictions: to beate downe mans pride, and to turne from euill.

and the griefe of his bones is sore.
20 So that his [k] life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meat.
21 His flesh faileth that it cannot be seene,
and his bones which were not seene, clatter.
22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life [l] to the buriers.
23 If there be a [m] messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand [n] to declare vnto man his righteousnesse.
24 Then will he haue [o] mercy vpon him, and will say, [p] Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.
25 Then shall his flesh be [q] as fresh as a childs,
and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.
26 Hee shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and hee shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his [r] righteousnesse.
27 Hee looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and [s] peruerted righteousnes, and it did not profit [t] me.
28 [u] He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.
29 Lo, all these things will God worke [x] twise
or thrise with a man, 30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.
31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare mee: keepe silence and I will speake.
32 If there be [y] matter, answere me, and speake:
for I desire to [z] iustifie thee.
33 If thou hast not, heare mee: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisedome.

k That is, his painefull and miserable life.
l To them that shall burie him.
m A man sent of God to declare his will.
n A singular man, and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: and wherein mans righteousnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein.
o Hee sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercy toward sinners, when hee causeth his word to be preached vnto them.
p That is, the minister shall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiuenesse of his sinnes.
q He shall feele Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby wherein standeth the true ioy of the faithfull, and that God will restore him to health of body, Which is a token of his blessing. r God will forgiue his sinnes, and accept him as iust. s That is, done wickedly. t But my sinnes hath beene the cause of Gods wrath toward me. u God will forgiue the penitent sinner. x Meaning, oftentimes, euen as oft as a sinner doeth repent. y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it. z That is, to shew thee, wherein mans iustification consisteth.

CHAP, XXXIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that hee called himselfe righteous. 11 Hee sheweth that God is iust in his iugements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

MOreouer Elihu answered and said,
2 Heare my words, yee [a] wisemen, and hearken vnto me ye that haue knowledge, 3 For the eare trieth the words, as the mouth
tasteth meate.
4 Let vs seeke [b] iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues what is good.
5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken [c] away my iudgement.
6 Should I lie in my [d] right? my wound of
the arrow is [e] grieuous without my sinne.
7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh [f] scorn-fulnesse like water?
8 Which goeth in the [g] company of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?
9 For hee hath sayd, [h] It profiteth a man nothing that he should [i] walke with God.
10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, yee men of wisedome, God forbid that wickednes should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.
11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way
12 And certainely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almightie peruert iudgement.
13 Whom * hath he appointed ouer the earth
beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole world?

a Which are esteemed wise of the world.
b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.
c That is, hath afflicted me without measure.
d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?
e I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.
f Which is compelled to receiue the reproach and scornes of many for his foolish words.
g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God and submit himselfe to his iudgements.
h He wresteth Iobs words who said that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked go free.
i That is, liue godly, as Gen. 5, 22.
* Chap. 36, 23.

14 If [k] he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit [l] and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.
16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this,
and hearken to the voyce of my words,
17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, [m] gouerne?
and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?
18 Wilt thou say vnto a king, Thou art [n] wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?
19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke
of his hands,
20 They shall die suddenly, [o] and the people
shalbe troubled at midnight, [p] and they shall passe forth and take away the mightie without hand.
21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man,
and hee seeth all his goings.
22 There is no darkenesse nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.
23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that he should [q] enter into iudgement with God.
24 Hee shall breake the mightie without [r] seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead.
25 Therefore shall he declare their [s] works: he shall turne the [t] night, and they shalbe destroyd.
26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the [u] seers, 27 Because they haue turned backe from him,
and would not consider all his wayes:
28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to [x] come vnto him, and he hath heard the cry of the afflicted.
29 And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?
30 Because the [y] hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared.
31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God [z] to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.
32 [a] But if I see not, teach thou mee: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.
33 Will he performe the thing through [b] thee?
for thou hast reprooued [c] it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I: now speake what thou knowest.
34 Let men of vnderstanding tell mee, and let
a wise man hearken vnto me.
35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his words according to wisedome.
36 I desire that Iob may be [d] tried, vnto the end, touching the answeres for wicked men.
37 For hee [e] addeth rebellion vnto his sinne,
he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth
his words against God.

k To destroy him.
l The breath of life which he gaue man.
m If God were not iust, how could he gouerne the world.
n If man of nature feare to speake euill of such as haue power, then much more ought they to be afrayd to speake euill of God.
o When they looke not for it.
p The messengers of visitation that God shall send.
q God doeth not afflict man aboue measure, so that he should haue occasion to contend with him.
r For all his creatures are at hand to serue him, so that hee needeth not to seeke for any other army.
s Make them manifest that they are wicked.
t Declare the things that were hid.
u Meaning, openly in the light of all men.
x By their cruelty and extortion.
y When tyrants sit in the throne of iustice which vnder pretence of executing iustice are but hypocrites and oppresse the people, it is a signe that God hath drawen backe his countenance and fauour from that place.
z Onely it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, and not vnto man.
a Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as it were mocking Iob, because hee would be wiser then God.
b Will God vse thy counsell in doing his workes?
c Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and refuse affliction at his pleasure. d That he may speake as much as he can, that we may answere him and all the wicked that shall vse such arguments. e Hee standeth stubbornly in the maintenance of his cause.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlinesse profit, or vngodlinesse hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God and are not heard.

ELihu spake moreouer, and sayd,
2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast
sayd, I am [a] more righteous then God?
3 For thou hast sayd, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth it mee, to purge mee from my sinne?

a Iob neuer spake these words: but because he maintained his innocencie, it seemed as though hee would say, that God tormented him without iust cause.

4 Therefore will I answere thee, and thy [b] companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and see and behold, the [c] clouds which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou [d] against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousnes may profit the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed, [e] to cry, which cry out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none sayeth, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wisedome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crie because of the violence of the wicked, [f] but he answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, & yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not visited, nor called to coun: the euill with great extremity.

16 Therefore Iob [h] openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God. 6 And his iustice. 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 23 The propertie of the wicked.

ELihu also proceeded and sayd,

2 Suffer me a little and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3 I will fetch [a] my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousnes vnto my maker.

4 For truely my words shall not be false, and he that is [b] perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is [c] mighty, and valiant of courage.

6 He [d] maintaineth not the wicked, but hee giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with [e] kings in § throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters and tyed with the cords of affliction,

9 Then will he shew them their [f] worke and their sinnes, because they haue beene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and cõmandeth them that they returne from iniquity.

11 * If they obey and serue him, they shall end their daies in prosperity, & their yeres in pleasures:

12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword and perish [g] without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites [h] of heart increase the wrath: for they [i] call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dieth in [k] youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his afflictions, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the straite place into a broad place, and not shut vp beneath: and that which resteth vpon thy table had beene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the [m] iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.

18 [n] For Gods wrath is, least hee should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? he regardeth not gold, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 [o] Be not carefull in the night, now hee destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to [p] iniquitie, for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

25 All men see it, and men behold it [q] afarre off.

26 Behold, God is excellent, [r] and wee know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.

27 When he [s] draweth the drops of water, the raine [t] powreth downe by the vapour thereof

28 Which raine the clouds doe drop and let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can know the diuisions of the clouds, and the thunders of his [u] Tabernacle?

30 Behold, hee spreadeth his light vpon [v] it, and coūereth the [x] bottome of the sea.

31 For thereby he iudgeth [y] the people, and giueth meat abundantly.

32 He coūereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to goe [z] against it.

33 [a] His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Elihu proceedeth that the vnsearchable wisdome of God is manifest by his workes. 4 As by the thunders. 6 The snow. 9 The whirlewinde. 11 And the raine.

AT this also mine heart is [a] astonied, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the [b] sound of his voyce, and the noise that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it a noyse soundeth: hee thundereth with the voyce of his maiestie, and he will not stay [c] them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth marueilously with his voyce: he worketh great things which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth: d likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he [e] shutteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.

8 Then the beastes goe into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewind commeth out of the South, and the cold from the [f] Northwind.

a He sheweth that when we speake of God, we must lift vp our spirits more hie, then our naturall sense is able to reach.
b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithfull instructor, and that I speake to thee in the name of God.
c Strong and constant, and of vnderstanding: for these are the gifts of God, and he loueth them in man: but forasmuch as God punished now Iob, it is a signe that those are not in him.
d Therefore he will not preserue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted heart hee will shew grace.
e He preferreth the godly to honour.
f He will moue their hearts to seeke their sins that they may come to him by repentance as he did Manasseh.
* Isa. 1. 19
g That is, in their folly or obstination, and so shalbe cause of their owne destruction. h Which are maliciously bent against God, and flatter themselues in their vices. i When they are in affliction, they seeke not to God for succour, as Asa 2. Chro. 16. 12. verse 16. 11. k They die of some vile death, and that before they come to age. l If

m Thou art altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou dost murmure against the iustice of God.
n God doeth punish thee, least thou shouldest forget God in thy wealth and so perish.
o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.
p And so murmure against God through impatiencie.
q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see them afarre off, and know God by the same.
r Our infinitnesse bindereth vs so, that wee can not attaine to the perfect knowledge of God.
s That is, the raine commeth of those drops of water, which he keepeth in the clouds.
t Meaning, of the clouds, which he calleth the Tabernacle of God.
u Vpon the cloud,
x That men can not come to the knowledge of the springs thereof.
y He sheweth that the raine hath double vse: the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ourflow any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitfull. z That is, one cloud to dash against another. a The cold vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloud of the hot exhalation, which being taken in the cold cloude mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and so anger is ingendred: that is, noyse, and thunderclaps.

a At the marueiling of the thunder and lightnings: whereby he declareth that the faithfull are liuely touched with the maiestie of God, when they behold his works.
b That is, the thunder, whereby he speaketh to men to waken their dulnesse, and to bring them to the consideration of his workes.
c Meaning, the raines and thunders.
d So that neither small raine nor great, know nor any things els commeth without Gods appointment.
e By raine and thunders God causeth men to keepe themselues within their houses. f In Ebrew it is called the scattering winde, because it driueth away the cloudes and purgeth the ayre.

10 At the breath of God the froſt is giuen, and the breadth of the waters g is made narrow.

11 He maketh alſo the cloudes to h labour, to water the earth, and ſcattereth the cloude of i his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatſoeuer he commaundeth them vpon the whole world:

13 Whether it be for k puniſhment, or for his land, or of mercy, he cauſeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob; ſtand and conſider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Diddeſt thou know when God diſpoſed them? and cauſed the l light of his cloud to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the m varietie of the cloud, and the wonderous workes of him that is perfit in knowledge?

17 Or how thy cloathes are n warme, when hee maketh the earth quiet through the South-winde?

18 Haſt thou ſtretched out the heauens, which are ſtrong, and as a molten o glaſſe?

19 Tell vs what we ſhall ſay vnto him: for we cannot diſpoſe our matter becauſe of darkeneſſe.

20 Shall it be q told he him when I ſpeake? or ſhall man ſpeake when he ſhall be r deſtroyed?

21 And now men ſee not the light, ſ which ſhineth in the cloudes, but the winde paſſeth and cleanſeth them.

22 The t brightnes commeth out of the North: the praiſe thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almighty: we cannot finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iuſtice: he u afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wiſe in their owne conceit.

g That is, froſen vp and dried. h Gather the vapours and mooue to and fro to water the earth. i That is, the cloud that hath lightning in it. k Raine, colde, heate, tempeſts and ſuch like are ſent of God, either to puniſh man, or to profit the earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 37. 31. l That is, the lightning to breake forth in the cloudes? m Which is ſometime changed into raine, or ſnowe, haile, or ſuch like. n Why thy cloathes ſhould keepe thee warme when the South wind bloweth, rather then when any other winde bloweth? o For their clearneſſe. p That is, our ignorance: ſignifying that Iob was ſo preſumptuous, that he would controll the works of God. q Hath God need that any ſhould tell him when man murmureth againſt him? r If God would deſtroy a man, ſhould hee repine? ſ The cloude ſtoppeth the ſhining of the ſunne, that man cannot ſee it till the winde haue chaſed away the cloud: and if man be not able to attaine to the knowledge of theſe things, how much leſſe of God? t In Ebrew, golde, meaning, faire weather and cleare as golde. u Meaning, without cauſe.

9 When I made the cloudes as a couering thereof, and darkeneſſe as the ſ waſdling bandes thereof:

10 When I ſtabliſhed my commandement vpon it, and ſet barres and doores,

11 And ſayd, Hitherto ſhalt thou come, but no further, and heere ſhalt it h ſtay thy proude waues.

12 Haſt thou commanded the i morning ſince thy dayes? haſt thou cauſed the morning to know his place?

13 That it might take holde of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be k ſhaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to faſhion, l and all ſtand vp as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light ſhalbe taken away, and the high arme ſhalbe broken.

16 Haſt thou entred into the bottomes of the ſea? or haſt thou walked to ſeeke out the m depth?

17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or haſt thou ſeene the gates of the ſhadow of death?

18 Haſt thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knoweſt all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkeneſſe,

20 That thou n ſhouldeſt receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou ſhouldeſt know the paths to the houſe thereof?

21 Knoweſt thou it, becauſe thou waſt then borne? and becauſe the number of thy dayes is great?

22 Haſt thou entred into the treaſures of the ſnowe? or haſt thou ſeene the treaſures of the haile,

23 Which I haue hid o againſt the time of trouble, againſt the day of warre and battell?

24 By what way is the light parted, which ſcattereth the Eaſt winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath diuided the ſpouts for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders,

26 To cauſe it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wilderneſſe where there is no man?

27 To fulfill the wilde and waſte place, and to cauſe the bud of the herbe to ſpring forth?

28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotten the drops of the dew?

29 Out of whoſe wombe came the yce? who hath ingendred the froſt of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid p as with a ſtone: and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canſt thou reſtraine the ſweete influences of q the Pleiades, or looſe the bands of r Orion?

32 Canſt thou bring forth ſ Mazzaroth in their time? canſt thou alſo guide t Arcturus with his ſonnes?

33 Knoweſt thou the courſe of heauen, or canſt thou ſet the u rule thereof in the earth?

34 Canſt thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes, that the abundance of water may couer thee?

35 Canſt thou ſend the lightnings that they may walke, and ſay vnto thee, Loe, heere wee are?

36 Who hath put wiſedome in the x reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderſtanding?

37 Who can number cloudes by wiſdome? or who can cauſe to ceaſe the y bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardneſſe, z and the clots are faſt together?

g As though the great ſea were but as a little babe in the hands of God to turne to and fro.

h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as verſe 10.

i To wit, to riſe, ſince thou waſt borne.

k Who hauing in the night bene giuen to wickedneſſe, cannot abide the light, but hide themſelues.

l The earth which ſeemed in the night to haue no forme, by the ſtriking of the ſunne, is as it were created anew, and all things therein clad with new beauty.

m If thou are not able to ſeeke out the depth of the ſea, how much leſſe art thou able to comprehend the counſell of God?

n That thou might eſt appoint it his way and limits.

z For when God doeth not open theſe bottels, the earth commeth to this inconuenience.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakeneſſe of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellencie the power, iuſtice, and prouidence of the Creator is knowen.

THen anſwered the Lord vnto Iob out of the a whirlewinde, and ſayd,

2 Who is this that b darkeneth the counſell by words without knowledge?

3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I c will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where waſt thou when I d layed the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt vnderſtanding.

5 Who hath layed the meaſures thereof, if thou knoweſt, or who hath ſtretched the line ouer it:

6 Wherevpon are the foundations thereof ſet: or who layd the corner ſtone thereof:

7 When the ſtarres of the morning e prayſed me together: and all the ſ children of God reioyced:

8 Or who hath ſhut vp the Sea with doores, when it iſſued and came foorth as out of the wombe:

a That his words might haue greater maieſty, and that Iob might know with whom he had to doe.

b Which by ſeeking out the ſecret counſell of God by mans reaſon, maketh it more obſcure, and ſhaweth his owne follie.

c Becauſe he had wiſhed to diſpute with God. Chap. 12. 3. God reaſoneth with him, to declare his raſhneſſe, and ſeeing he could not iudge of thoſe things which were done ſo long before he was borne, hee was not able to comprehend all Gods workes: much leſſe the ſecret cauſes of his iudgements.

d The ſtarres and dumbe creatures are ſayde to prayſe God, becauſe his power, wiſedome and goodneſſe is manifeſt and knowen therein, f Meaning, the Angels.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bountie & prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the young rauens, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and humbleth himselfe.

WIlt [a] thou hunt the pray for the lion ? or fill the appetite of the lions whelpes, 2 When they couch in their places, and re-
maine in the couert to lie in waite ?
3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meate, when his birds [b] crie vnto God , wandering for lacke of meate ?
4 Knowest thou the time when the wild goats bring foorth young ? or doest thou marke when the [c] hindes doe calue ?
5 Canst thou number the moneths that they [d] fulfill ? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth ?
6 They bow themselues : they [e] bruise their young and cast out their sorowes.
7 Let their young waxe fatte , and grow vp with corne : they goe forth and returne not vnto
them.
8 Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie ? or who hath loosed the bonds of the wilde asse ?
9 It is I which haue made the wildernesse his house, and the [f] salt places his dwellings.
10 He derideth the multitude of the citie : he heareth not the crie of the driuer.
11 Hee seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.
12 Will the vnicorne [g] serue thee ? or will he
tary by thy crib ?
13 Canst thou binde the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrow ? or will he plow the valleys after thee ?
14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him ?
15 Wilt thou beleeue him , that he will bring home thy seede, and gather it vnto thy barne ?
16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto
the peacockes ? or wings and feathers vnto the ostrich ?
17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them [h] hot in the dust, 18 And forgetteth that the foot might scatter
them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.
19 He sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones , as they were not his , and is without feare
as if he trauelled [i] in vaine.
20 For God hath depriued him of [k] wisdome,
and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.
21 When [l] time is, hee mounteth on high: hee
mocketh the horse and his rider.
22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength, or co-uered his necke with [m] neying ?
23 Hast thou made him afraid as the grashopper ? his strong neying is fearefull.
24 He [n] diggeth in the valley , and reioyceth
in his strength : he goeth foorth to meete the harnessed man.
25 He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sword.
26 Though the quiuer rattle against him , the glittering speare and the shield.
27 He [o] swalloweth the ground for fiercenesse and rage , and he beleeueth not that it is the noise of the trumpet.
28 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha : he smelleth the battell afarre off, and the noise of the captaines, and the shouting.

a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauens, he sheweth his maruellous prouidence in earth, euen toward the bruit beasts.
b Reade Psal. 147,9.
c He chiefly maketh mention of wilde goats and hindes, because they bring forth their yong with most difficultie.
d That is, how long they goe with young ?
e They bring forth with great difficultie.
f That is, the barren ground where no good fruits grow.
g Is it possible to make the vnicorne tame ? signifying that if man cannot rule a creature, that it is much more impossible that he should appoint the wisedome of God, whereby he gouerneth all the world.
h They write that the ostrich couereth her egges in the sand, and because the countrey is hot and the sunne still keepeth them warme, they are hatched.
i If he should take care for them.
k That is, to haue a care and naturall affection toward his yong.
l When the yong ostrich is growen vp, he ouerrunneth the horse.
m That is, giuen him courage, which is meant by neying and shaking his mane : for with his breath he couereth his necke.
n He beateth with his hoofe.
o He so riddeth the ground that it seemeth nothing vnder him.

29 Shall the hauke flie by thy wisedome, stretching out his wings euen toward the [p] South?
30 Doth the eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on high ?
31 Shee abideth and remained in the rocke,
euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.
32 From thence she spieth for meate, and her eyes behold afarre off.
33 His young ones also sucke vp blood : and where the slaine are, there is she.
34 Moreouer the Lord spake vnto Iob, and sayd, 35 Is this [q] to learne, to striue with the Almighty? he that reprooueth God, let him answere
to it.
36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,
37 Behold, I am [r] vile : what shall I answere thee ? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth.
38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea twise, but I will proceede no further.

p That is, when colde commeth, to flie into the warme countreys.
q Is this the way for a man that will learne, to striue with God? which thing he reprooueth in Iob.
r Whereby hee sheweth that he repented, and desired pardon for his faults.

CHAP. XL.

a How weake mans power is, being compared to the worke of God. 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beasts.

AGaine the Lord answered Iob out of * the whirlewinde, and sayd,
2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man : I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.
3 Wilt thou disanull [a] my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou maiest be iustified ?
4 Or hast thou an arme like God ? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him ?
5 Decke thy selfe now with [b] maiestie and excellencie , and aray thy selfe with beautie and glory.
6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath,
and behold euery one that is proud, & abase him.
7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant , and bring him low : and destroy the wicked in their place.
8 Hide them in the dust together , and binde
[c] their faces in a secret place.
9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can [d] saue thee.
10 ¶ Behold now [e] Behemoth (whom I made [f] with thee) which eateth [g] grasse as an oxe.
11 Behold now, his strength is in his loynes,
and his force is in the nauell of his belly.
12 When hee taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapt together.
13 His bones are like staues of brasse, and his small bones like staues of yron.
14 [h] He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: [i] he that made him , will make his sword to approach
vnto him.
15 Surely the mountaines bring him foorth
grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.
16 Lieth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes ?
17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow ? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about ?
18 Behold, he spoileth the riuer, [k] and hasteth not : he trusteth that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth.
19 Hee taketh it with his eyes , and thrusteth
his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.
20 ¶ Canst thou draw out [l] Liuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue ?
21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose ?

a Signifying that they that iustifie themselues, condemne God as iniust.
b Meaning, that these were proper vnto God, and belonged to no man.
c Cause them to die if thou canst.
d Prouing hereby that whosoeuer attributeth to himselfe power and abilitie to saue himselfe, maketh himselfe God.
e This beast is thought to be the elephant, or some other, which is vnknowen.
f Whom I made aswell as thee.
g This commendeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giuen to deuoure as a lion, nothing were able to resist him, or content him.
h He is one of the chiefest works of God among the beasts.
i Though man dare not come neere him, yet God can kill him.
k He drinketh at leisure, and feareth no body.
l Meaning, the whale.

m Because he feareth least thou shouldest take him.

n To do thy businesse, and be at thy commandement?

o If thou once consider the danger, thou wilt not meddle with him.
p To wit, that trusteth to take him.

a If none dare stand against a whale, which is but a creature, who is able to compare with God the Creator?
b Who hath taught me to accomplish my worke?
c The parts and members of the whale?
d That is, who dare pull off his skin?
e Who dare put a bridle in his mouth?
f Who dare looke in his mouth?
g That is, casteth out flames of fire.

h Nothing is painfull or hard vnto him.

i His skinne is so hard that he lyeth with a great ease on the stones as in the myre.
k Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boyled by his wallowing, or els he spouteth water in such abundance as it would seeme that the sea boiled.
l That is, a white froth and shining streame before him.

canst thou pierce his iawes with an angle?
22 Will he make many prayers vnto thee? and speake thee faire?
23 Will he make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take [n] him as a seruant for euer?
24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maides?
25 Shall the compainions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the merchants?
26 Canst thou fill the basketh with his skinne? or the fish panyer with his head?
27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember [o] the battell, and doe no more so.
28 Behold, [p] his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnesse of this monster Liuiathan, God sheweth his greatnesse and his power, which nothing can resist.

NOne is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can [a] stand before me?
2 Who hath preuented mee that I should [b] make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.
3 I will not keepe silence concerning [c] his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.
4 Who can discouer the face [d] of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double [e] bridle?
5 Who shall [f] open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.
6 The maiesty of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.
7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them.
8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundred.
9 His neisings [g] make the light to shinne, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.
10 Out of his mouth goe lamps, and sparkes of fire leape out.
11 Out of his nostrels commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.
12 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.
13 In his necke remaineth strength, and [h] labour is reiected before his face.
14 The members of his body are ioyned: they are strong in themselues, and cannot be mooued.
15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether milstone.
16 The mightie are afraid of his maiestie, and for feare they faint in themselues.
17 When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergion.
18 Hee esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.
19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.
20 The dartes are counted as strawe: and hee laugheth at the shaking of the speare.
21 Sharpe stones [i] are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.
22 He maketh the depth to [k] boile like a pot, and maketh the Sea like a pot of oyntment.
23 He maketh a path to [l] shine after him, one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.
24 In the earth there is none like him: hee is made without feare.
25 He beholdeth [m] all hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 Hee prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

THen Iob answered the Lord, and sayd,
2 I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no [a] thought hid from thee.
3 Who is hee that hideth counsell without [b] knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things to wonderfull for me, [c] and which I knew not.
4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demand of thee, [d] and declare thou vnto me.
5 I haue [e] heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.
6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.
7 Now after that the Lord had spoken these words vnto Iob, the Lord also sayd vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of me the thing that is [f] right, like my seruant [g] Iob.
8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall [h] pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because yee haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.
9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite, went, and did according as the Lord had sayd vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.
10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the [i] captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before.
11 Then came vnto him all his [k] Brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had beene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion on him, and comforted him for all the euill that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a ‖ piece of money, & euery one an earering of gold.
12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob, more then the first: for hee had [l] foureteene thousand sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.
13 He had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.
14 And he called the name of one [m] Iemimah, and the name of the second [n] Keziah, & the name of the third [o] Keren-happuch.
15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.
16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.
17 So Iob died, being olde, and full of

THE * PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGVMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost, to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are conteined that appertaine to true felicity, aswell in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge and heauenly wisdome, are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great & high maiesty of God, here we may see the brightnes thereof shine most clearely. If wee would seeke his incomprehensible wisedome, heere is the schoole of the same profession. If wee would comprehend his inestimable bounty, & approach neere thereunto, and fill our handes with that treasure, heere we may haue a most liuely and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, and how to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely redeemer, and mediatour most euidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may find full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecutors of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they cannot touch an haire of ones head except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we may haue most present remedies against all tentations & troubles of mind & conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laid vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did this Psalme first in maner of a preface, to exhort all godly men to study and meditate the heauenly wisdome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed which giue themselues wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures; 4 and that the wicked contemners of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

BLessed is the man that doeth not welke in the [a] counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seate of the scornefull.
2 But his delight is in the *law of the Lord, and in his [b] law doth he meditate day and night.
3 For he shallbe like a * tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruits in due season; whose leafe shall not fade: so [c] whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.
4 [d] The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe,
which the wind driueth away.
5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the [e] iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.
6 For the Lord [f] knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

a When a man hath giuen once place to euill counsell, or to his owne concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the seat of the scorners.
* Deut. 6, 6 iosh. 1. 8. prou. 6. 20.
b In the holy Scriptures.
* Iere. 17. 8.
c Gods children are so moystened euer with his grace, that whatsoeuer commeth vnto them, tendeth vnto their saluation.
d Though the wicked seeme to beare the swinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous.
e But tremble when they feele Gods wrath.
f Doth approoue and prosper, like as not to know, is to reprooue and reiect.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth, that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdome for euer, and aduance it euen to the end of the world. 10 and therefore exhorteth kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselues vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdome.

WHy doe the [a] heathen * rage, and the people murmure in vaine.
2 The kings of the earth band themselues, and the Princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his ‖ Christ.

cords from vs.

laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.
5 [c] Then shall hee speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his sore displeasure,
saying,

7 I will declare the [d] decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto mee, * Thou art my sonne; this

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driuen foorth of his kingdome, was greatly tormented in mind for his sinnes against God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bold through his promises, against the great railings and terrors of his enemies, yea against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good successe that God gaue him and all the Church.

¶ A Psalme

Lord, how are mine aduersaries [a] increased? how many rise against me?
2 Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God.[b] Selah.
3 But thou Lord art a buckler for me, my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.
4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.
5 I laid mee downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.
6 I will not be afraid for [c] ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.
7 O Lord, arise helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon ÿ cheek bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.
8 [d] Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

a This was a token of his stable faith, that for all his troubles hee had his recourse to God.
b Selah here signifieth a lifting vp of the voyce, to cause vs to consider the sentence, as a thing of great importance.
c When he considered the truth of Gods promise, and tried the same, his faith increased marueilously.
d Be the dangers neuer so great or many, yet God hath euer meanes to deliuer his.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reproueth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion. 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

¶ [a] To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Heare me when I call, [b] O God of my righteousnes: thou hast set me at liberty, when I was in [c] distresse: haue mercy vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.
2 O ye [d] sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, [e] louing vanity, and seeking lyes? Selah.
3 For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe [f] a godly man, the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.
4 [g] Tremble and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be [h] still. Selah.
5 [i] Offer the sacrifices of righteousnesse, and trust in the Lord.
6 Many say, Who will shew vs any [k] good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.
7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine did abound.
8 I will lay me downe, and also sleep in peace: for thou, Lord, [l] onely makest me dwell in safety.

a Among them that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to play on the instruments, one was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin: who because he was most excellent, and began this Psalme on the instrument called Neginoth, or a tune so called.
b Thou that art the defender of my iust cause.
c Both of minde and body.
d Ye that thinke your selues noble in this world.
e Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.
f A king that walketh in his vocation.
g For feare of Gods iudgement. h Cease your rage. i Serue God purely, and not with outward ceremonies. k The multitude seeke worldly wealth, but Dauid setteth his felicitie in Gods fauour. l This word in Ebrew may be referred to God, as it is here translated, or to Dauid, signifying that he should dwell as ioyfully alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

PSAL. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisit it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After, being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiueth comfort, 12 concluding, that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon ‖ Nehiloth.

Heare my words, O Lord: vnderstand my [a] meditation.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct mee vnto thee, and I will [b] wait.
4 For thou art not a God that loueth [c] wickednes, neither shall euill dwell with thee.
5 [d] The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquity.
6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.
7 But I [e] will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine Holy Temple.
8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousnes, [f] because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.
9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their [*] throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.
10 Destroy them, O God, ‖ let them [g] fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.
11 And [h] let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.
12 For thou Lord, wilt ‖ blesse the righteous, and with fauour [i] wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

PSAL. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceiued the horrors of death euerlasting, he desireth forgiuenesse. 6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lack occasion to prayse him as he was wont to doe whiles he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercies, hee sharply rebuketh his enemies which reioyced in his affliction.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth, vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, [*] [a] rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.
2 Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for my [b] bones are vexed.
3 [c] My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord, how long wilt thou delay?
4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.
5 For in [d] death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?
6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.
7 ‖ Mine eye is dimmed for despight, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.
8 [e] Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.
9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer.
10 All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame [f] suddenly.

* Iere. 10. 24.
a Though I deserue destruction, yet let thy mercie pitie my frailtie.
b For my whole strength is abated.
c His conscience is also touched with the feare of Gods iudgement.
d He lamenteth that occasion should be taken from him to praise God in the congregation.
‖ Or, mine eye is eaten as it were with wormes.
e God sendeth comfort and boldnesse in affliction, that we may triumph ouer our enemies.
f When the wicked thinke that the godly shall perish, God deliuereth them suddenly, and destroyeth their enemies.

PSAL. VII.

1 Being falsly accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, hee calleth God to be his defender, 3 to whom he commendeth his innocencie, 9 first shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill toward Saul, 10 Next that it touched Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies and promise, he waxeth bold, and derideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 15 threatning that that shall fall on their owne necke which they haue purposed for others.

an end: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous vpright in heart.

contemneth God, [i] euery day.

cute me.

for hee hath conceiued mischiefe, but hee shall bring forth a lie.

fallen into the pit that he made.
16 His mischiefe shall returne vpon his owne
head,and his cruelty shall fall vpon his owne pate.

teousnesse, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

1 This Pſalme conteineth two parts. PSAL. XIV.

1 He deſcribeth the peruerſe nature of men, which were ſo growen to licentiouſneſſe, that God was brought to vtter contempt. 7 For the which thing, although he was greatly grieued, yet being perſwaded that God would ſend ſome preſent remedy, he comforteth himſelfe and others.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

THe * foole hath ſaid in his heart, [a] There is no God: they haue [b] corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

* Pſal. 53.
a He ſheweth that the cauſe of all wickedneſſe is to forget God. b There is nothing, but diſorder and wickedneſſe among them.

2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God.

3 c All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

4 Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord.

5 d There they shall be taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust.

6 You haue made e a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust.

7 Oh giue saluation vnto f Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

¶ Note that of this 14 Psalme, the 5, 6 and 7 verses which are put into the common translation, & may seeme vnto some to be left out in this, are not in the same Psalme in the Hebrew text, but rather are put in more fully to expresse the manners of the wicked, and are gathered out of the 5, 140. and 10. Psalmes, the 59. of the Prophet Isaiah, and the 36. Psalme, and are alleadged by S. Paul, and placed together in the 3. to the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people; and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightly and godly, might witnesse that they were his speciall and holy people.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

Lord, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy Mountaine?

2 He that a walketh vprightly and worketh righteousnesse, and speaketh the trueth in his heart.

3 He that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiueth a false report against his neighbour.

4 b In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lord: hee that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.

5 He that c giueth not his money vnto vsury, nor taketh reward against the innocent: he that doeth these things, d shall neuer be mooued.

PSAL. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for succour not for his workes, but for his faiths sake, 4 Protesting that he hateth all idolatry, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie, 8 Who suffereth his to lacke nothing.

¶ ‖ Michtam of Dauid.

Preserue mee, O GOD: for in thee doe I a trust.

2 O my soule, thou hast saide vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my b well doing extendeth not to thee,

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.

4 The c sorowes of them, that offer to an other god, shalbe multiplied: d their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make * mention of their names with my lips.

5 The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt maintaine my lot.

6 The e lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

7 I will praise the Lord, who hath giuen me counsell: my f reines also teach me in the nights.

f God teacheth me continually by secret inspiration.

d Where they thinke themselues most sure.
e You mocke them that put their trust in God.
f He prayeth for the whole Church whom he is assured God will deliuer: for none but he onely can doe it.

a First God requireth vprightnesse of life, next doing well to others, and thirdly, trueth and simplicitie in our words.
b He that flattereth not the vngodly in their wickednesse.
c To the hinderance of his neighbour.
d That is, shall not be cast forth of the Church as hypocrites.

8 I haue set the Lord alwayes before mee: for he is at my right hand: therefore I g shall not slide.

9 Wherefore h mine heart is glad, and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope.

10 For thou i wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy One to see corruption.

11 Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy k presence is the fulnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruell pride and arrogancie of Saul, and the rest of his enemies, who thus raged without any cause giuen on his part. 6 Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocencie and deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

Heare a the right, O Lord, consider my crie; hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

2 Let my b sentence come foorth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold equitie.

3 Thou hast c prooued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tried me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my d mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the workes of men, by the e words of thy lips I kept me from the paths of the cruell man.

5 Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feet do not slide.

6 I haue called vpon thee: f surely thou wilt heare me, O God: encline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my words.

7 Shew thy marueilous mercies: thou that art the Sauiour of them that trust in thee, from such as g resist thy right hand.

8 Keepe mee as the apple of the eye; hide mee vnder the shadow of thy wings.

9 From the wicked that oppresse mee, from mine enemies, which compasse mee round about for h my soule.

10 They are inclosed in their owne i fat, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth.

11 They haue compassed vs now in our steps; they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground;

12 Like as a lion that is greedy of pray, and as it were a Lions whelpe lurking in secret places.

13 Vp Lord, k disappoint him: cast him downe; deliuer my soule from the wicked ‖ with thy sword.

14 From men by thine l hand, O Lord, from men ‖ of the world, who haue their m portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure; their children haue enough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children.

15 But I will behold thy face n in righteousnesse, and when I o wake, I shalbe satisfied with thine image.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation, and thankesgiuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein hee extolleth and prayseth most highly the marueilous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserued and defended him. 32 Also hee setteth forth the image of Christes kingdome, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquere and ouercome by the vnspeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole world should striue there against.

g The faithfull are sure to perseuere to the end.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid the ſeruant of the Lord, which ſpake vnto the Lord the words of this ſong(in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and ſaid,

I Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my ſtrength.
2 * a The Lord is my rocke, and my for-treſſe, and he that deliuereth me, my God and my

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be b praiſed: ſo ſhall I be ſafe from mine ene-

4 c The ſorowes of death compaſſed me, and the floods of wickedneſſe made me afraid, 5 The ‖ ſorowes of the graue haue compaſſed me about: the ſnares of death ouertooke me.
6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry did come before him,
euen into his eares.
7 d Then the earth trembled and quaked:
the foundations alſo of the mountaines mooued
and ſhooke, becauſe he was angry.
8 Smoke went out at his noſtrils, and a e conſuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.
9 Hee bowed the heauens alſo and came
downe, and f darkenes was vnder his feete.
10 And hee rode vpon g Cherub, and did flie, and hee came flying vpon the wings of the winde.
11 He made darkeneſſe his h ſecret place, and his pauilion round about him, euen darkeneſſe of 12 At the brightnes of his preſence his clouds

paſſed, haileſtones and coales of fire.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my q righteouſneſſe: according to the pureneſſe of mine hande he recompenſed me.

ding to my righteouſneſſe, and according to the 28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord

my God will lighten my darkeneſſe.
29 For by thee I haue x broken through an

of the Lord is tried in the fire, he is a ſhield to

who is mighty ſaue our God?
32 God girdeth me with ſtrength, and ma-keth my z way vpright.

ſetteth me vpon mine a high places.
34 He teacheth mine hands to fight; ſo that a bowe of ‖ braſſe is broken with mine armes.
35 Thou haſt alſo giuen mee the b ſhield of thy ſaluation, and thy right hand hath ſtayed me, and thy c louing kindneſſe hath cauſed mee
to increaſe.
36 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps vnder me, and my heeles haue not ſlid.
37 d I haue purſued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had conſumed them.
38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to riſe, they are fallen vnder my feet.
39 For thou haſt girded mee with ſtrength to battel; them that roſe againſt me, thou haſt ſub-dued vnder me.
40 And thou haſt e giuen mee the neckes of mine enemies, that I might deſtroy them that hate me.
41 They f cried, but there was none to ſaue them, euen vnto the Lord, but hee anſwered them
not.
42 Then I did beate them ſmall as the duſt before the wind: I did tread them flat as the clay in the ſtreetes.
43 Thou haſt deliuered mee from the contentions of the people: thou haſt made me the head of the g heathen, a people, whom I haue not
h knowen, ſhall ſerue me.
44 Aſſoone as they heare, they ſhall obey me:
the ſtrangers ſhallbe in ſubiection to me.
45 Strangers ſhall k ſhrinke away, and feare
in their priuie chambers.
46 Let the Lord liue, and bleſſed be my ſtrength, and the God of my ſaluation be ex alted.

me, and ſubdueth the people vnder me.
48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen
thou haſt ſet me vp from thoſe that roſe againſt mee; thou haſt deliuered mee from the l cruell
man.

i hast brought me into the dust of death.
16 For dogges haue compassed me, and the assembly of the wicked haue inclosed mee: they k pierced mine hands and my feete.
17 I may tell all my bones, yet they beholde,
and looke vpon me.
18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots vpon my vesture.
19 But be not thou farre off, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me.
20 Deliuer my soule from the sword: my l desolate soule from the power of the dogge.
21 m Saue me from the lions mouth, and an-swere me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes.
22 * I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Congregation will I prayse thee, saying,
23 n Prayse the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iaakob, and feare yee him all the seede of Israel.
24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred ẏ affliction of the o poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.
25 My prayse shalbe of thee in the great Congregation: my p vowes will I performe before them that feare him.
26 q The poore shall eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall prayse him: your heart shall liue for euer.
27 All the endes of the world shall remember themselues and turne to the Lord, and all the kin-reds of the nations shall worship before thee.
28 For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.
29 All they that be fat r in the earth shall eate and worship: all they that goe downe into the dust, shall bow before him, s euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule.
30 * t Their seede shall serue him: it shalbe coun-

Lord, and compasse thine altar.
7 That I may declare with the voyce of 8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 f Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor deeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 David maketh this Psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayses and thankesgiuing annexed: 6 Wherein wee may see the constant faith of David against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And also the ende wherefore hee desireth to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalme of David.

THe Lord is my a light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life of whom shall I be afraid?
2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.
3 Though an hoaste pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraid; though warre be raised against me, I will trust in b this.
4 c One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to be-holde the beauty of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.
5 For in the time of trouble hee shall hide mee in his Tabernacle; in the secret place of his pauilion shall he hide me, and set mee vp vpon a rocke.
6 d And now shall he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about mee; therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy; I will sing and prayse the Lord.
7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I cry; haue mercie also vpon mee and heare
mee.
8 When thou saydest, e Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.
9 Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure; thou hast beene my succour, leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.
10 f Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me vp.
11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me
in a right path, because of mine enemies.
12 Giue me not vnto the g lust of mine aduer-saries; for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.
13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleeued to see the goodnesse of the Lord h in the land of the liuing.
14 i Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his danger, and that his saluation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyrannie of his enemies.
b That God will deliuer me and giue my faith the victory.
c The losse of country, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not prayse thy Name in the midst of the congregation.
d David assured himselfe by the Spirit of prophecie that he should ouercome his enemies, & serue God in his Tabernacle.
e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that hee is most willing to obey his commandement.
f He magnifieth Gods loue toward his, which same passeth the most tender loue of parents towards their children.
g But either pacifie their wrath, or bridle their rage.
h In this present life before I die, as Isa. 38. 11.
i Hee exhorteth himself to depend on the Lord, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heauinesse of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them. 4 And crieth for vengeance against them: and at length assureth himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose tuition he commendeth all the faithfull.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp my hands toward thine b holy Oracle.

3 c Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their haarts.

4 d Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednesse of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the works of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore e breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 f Praysed be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I prayse him.

8 The Lord is g their strength, and he is the strength of the deliverances of his anoynted.

9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feed them also, and exalt them for euer.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threateneth sinners, yet he is alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to prayse his Name.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

GIue vnto the Lord, ye a sonnes of the mighty, giue vnto the Lord glory and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The b voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mighty: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The c voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and d Shirion like a young vnicorne.

7 The voyce of the Lord diuideth the e flames of fire,

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wildernesse to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of f Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the hindes to g calue, and b discouereth the forests: therefore in his i Temple doeth euery man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the k floods, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people; the Lord shall b lesse his people with peace.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered, from great danger, he rendred thankes to God, exhorting other to doe the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then seuere and rigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fact from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 The deuise, he vseth vnto to prayer, promising to prayse God for euer.

3 O Lord, thou haſt brought vp my d ſoule out of the graue: thou haſt reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing prayſes vnto the Lord, yee e his Saints, and giue thankes f before the remembrance of his Holineſſe.

5 For hee endureth but a while in his anger, but in his fauour is life; weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning.

6 And in my g proſperity I ſayd, I ſhall neuer be mooued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodneſſe haddeſt made my b mountaine to ſtand ſtrong; but thou didſt hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? ſhall the k duſt giue thanks vnto thee? or ſhall it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon mee, Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou haſt turned my mourning into ioy: thou haſt looſed my ſacke, and girded mee with gladneſſe.

12 Therefore ſhall my l tongue prayſe thee and not ceaſe; O Lord my God, I will giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemie being ready to take him. 15 Then hee affirmeth that the fauour of Gods alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally hee exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God and to loue him, because hee preserueth and strengthneth them, as they may see by his example.

m Thus hee speaketh in the name of the whole Church, which onely depend on Gods prouidence, 11 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.

12 Blessed is that nation, whose [h] God is the Lord: euen the people that he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord [i] looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling, hee beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth.

15 He [k] fashioneth their hearts euery one, and vnderstandeth all their workes.

16 The [l] King is not saued by the multitude of an hoaste, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength,

17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.

18 Behold, [m] the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them that trust in his mercie,

19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.

20 [n] Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name.

22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be vpon vs, as wee trusted in thee.

PSAL. XXXIIII.

1 After Dauid had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 21. whome in this title hee calleth Abimelech (which was a generall name to all the Kings of the Philistims) hee prayseth God for his deliuerance, 3 prouoking all others by his example to trust in God, to feare and serue him, 7 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 16 and vtterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, when he changeth his behauiour before Abimelech, who draue him away, and he departed.

I Will [a] alway giue thankes vnto the Lord: his prayse shalbe in my mouth continually.

2 My soule shall glory in the Lord: the [b] humble shall heare it and be glad.

3 Prayse ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

4 I sought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my [c] feare.

5 They [d] shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying,

6 This poore man cryed, and the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

7 The [e] Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Taste ye and see how gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

9 Feare, the Lord yee his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

10 The [f] lyons do lacke and suffer hunger, but they which seeke the Lord, shall [g] want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto mee: I will teach you the [h] feare of the Lord.

12 * What man is he that desireth life, and loueth long dayes for to [i] see good?

13 Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips, that they speake no guile.

14 Eschew euill and doe good: seeke peace and follow after it.

15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crie.

16 But the [k] face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a [l] contrite heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 [m] He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 [n] But malice shall slay the [n] wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

22 The Lord [o] redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none that trust in him, shall perish.

PSAL. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemie to Dauid, al that had any authoritie vnder him, to flatter their king (as it is the course of y worle) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid against whom hee prayeth God to plead and to auenge his cause, 8 that they may be taken in the nets and snares, which they layd for him, that his innocencie may be declared, 27 and that the innocent, which take part with him, may reioyce and prayse the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruant. 28 And so he promiseth to prayse foorth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

P Lead thou my [a] cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 [b] Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for my helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare, and stop the way against them that persecute mee, say vnto my [c] soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the wind, and let the Angel of the Lord [d] scatter them.

6 Let their way be darke and slippertie: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For [e] without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause, haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon [f] him at vnwares, and let his net, that hee hath layd priuily, take him: let him fall into [g] the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall be ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my [h] bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is too strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him!

11 [i] Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded me euill for good, to [k] haue spoyled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting:

and

a Hee promised neuer to become vnmindfull of Gods great benefite for his deliuerance.

b They that are beaten downe with the experience of their owne euils.

c Which I conceiued for the danger wherein I was.

d They shall be bold to flee to thee for succour, when they shall see the mercies toward me.

e Though Gods power be sufficient to gouerne vs, yet for mans infirmitie he appointeth his Angels to watch ouer vs.

f The godly by their patient obedience profite more then they which raune and spoyle.

g If they abide the fait triall.

h That is, the true religion & worship of God.

* 1. Pet. 3. 10.

i Seeing all men naturally desire felicitie, he wondereth why they cast themselues willingly into misery.

k The anger of God doeth not onely destroy the wicked, but also abolisheth their name for euer.

l When they seeme to be fwallowed vp with affliction, then God is at hand to deliuer them

m And as Christ saith of all the bones of his head.

n Their wicked enterprises shall turne to their owne destruction.

o For when they seeme to be ouercome with great dangers and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redeemer.

a He desireth God to vouchsafe his cause against them that did persecute him and slaunder him

b Albeit God can with his breath destroy all his enemies: yet the holy Ghost attributeth vnto him these outward weapons to assure vs of his present power.

c Assure mee against these tentations, that thou art the author of my saluation.

d Smite them with the spirit of giddinesse that their enterprises may be foolish, and they receiued iust reward.

f When he promiseth to himselfe peace.

g Which he prepared against the children of God.

i That would not suffer me to purge my selfe.

k To haue taken from me all comfort, and brought me into despaire.

and

ar d I my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.
14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother : I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.
15 But in mine m aduersity they reioyced, and bled themselues against me, and I knew not : they tare n me, and ceased not,

ing their teeth against me.
17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this? de-liuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions.
18 So will I giue thee thanks in a great Congregation : I will prayse thee among much people.
19 Let not them that are mine enemies vniustly reioyce ouer me, neither let them p winke with the eye, that hate me without a cause.
20 For they speake not as friendes : but they imagine deceitfull wordes against the ‖ quiet of the land.
21 And they gaped on me with their mouthes,
saying, Aha, aha, q our eye hath seene.
22 Thou hast seene it, O Lord, keepe not silence : be not farre from me, O Lord.
23 Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.
24 Iudge mee, O Lord my God, according to thy r righteousnesse, and let them not reioyce ouer me.
25 Let them not say in their hearts, f O our soule reioyce : neither let them say, We haue de-uoured him.
26 Let them be confounded, and put to shame
t together, that reioyce at mine hurt : let them be cloathed u with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselues against me.
27 But let them be ioyfull and glad, x that loue my righteousnesse : yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the y
prosperitie of his seruant.
28 And my tongue shall vtter thy righteous-nesse, and thy praise euery day.

l I prayed for them with inward affection as I would haue done for my selfe : or, I declared mine affection with bowing downe mine head.
m When they saw me ready to slip, and as one that halted for infirmitie.
n With their railing words.
o The word signifie h cakes : meaning that the proud courtiers at their daintie feasts scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.
p In token of contempt and mocking.
‖ Or, clefts of the earth : meaning, himselfe and others in their miserie.
q They reioyced as though they had now seene David ouerthrowen.
r It is the iustice of God to giue to the oppressours affliction & torment, and to the oppressed aide and reliefe, 2 Thess 1 6.
f Because we haue that which we sought for, seeing he is destroyed.
t That is, at once, were they neuer so many or mightie.
u This prayer shall alwayes be verified against them that persecute the faithfull.
x That at least fauour my right, though they be not able to helpe me
y He exhorteth the Church to prayse God for the deliuerance of his seruants, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grieuously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaine of their malicious wickednesse. 6 Then he turneth to consider the vnspeakeable goodnesse of God toward all creatures. 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof he may be comforted and assured of his deliuerance by this ordinarie course of Gods worke 13 Who in the end destroyeth the wicked, and saueth the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David, the seruant of the Lord.

WIckednes saith to the wicked man, a euen
in mine heart, that there is no feare of God
before his eyes.
2 For he b flattereth himselfe in his own eyes,
while his iniquity is found worthy to be hated.
3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquity and c deceit : he hath left off to vnderstand and to doe
good.
4 He d imagineth mischiefe vpon his bed : he setteth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

a I see euidently by his deeds, that sinne pusheth forward the reprobate from wickednesse to wickednesse, albeit he goe about to couer his impietie.
b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he himselfe seeth it not.
c The reprobate mocke at wholesome doctrine, and put not difference betweene good and euill.
d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, hee admonisheth the godly to beware of these vices.

5 Thy e mercy, O Lord, reacheth vnto the hea-uens, and thy faithfulnesse vnto the cloudes.
6 Thy righteousnesse is like the † mightie mountaines : thy iudgements are like a great
f deepe : thou Lord, doest saue man and beast.
7 How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.
8 They shalbe g satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.
9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.
10 Extend thy louing kindnesse vnto them that h know thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.
11 Let not the i foote of pride come against mee, and let not the hand of the wicked men mooue me.
12 k There they are fallen that worke iniquity:
they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

e Though wickednesse seemeth to ouerflow all the world, yet by thine heauenly prouidence thou gouernest heauen and earth.
† Ebr. the mountaines of God : for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called.
f The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the World.
g Onely Gods children haue ynough of all things both concerning this life and the life to come
h Hee sheweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that know him, and leade their liues vprightly i Let not the proude aduance him selfe against mee, neither the power of the wicked driue me away. k That is, in their pride where in they flatter themselues.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalme containeth exhortation and consolation for the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, & the affliction of the godly. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked doe liue for the time, hee doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine & transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous seemeth to liue in the world yet his end is peace, and he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked and preserued.

¶ A Psalme of David.

FRet not a thy selfe because of the wicked men,
neither be enuious for the euill doers.
2 For they shall soone be b cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.
3 c Trust thou in the Lord and doe good:
dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly:
4 And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and hee shall giue thee thine hearts desire.
5 d Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.
6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousnesse
as the light, & thy e iudgement as the noone day.
7 Waite patiently vpon the Lord, and hope in him; fret not thy selfe for him f which pro-spereth in his way, nor for the man that bringeth
his enterprises to passe.
8 Cease from anger, and leaue of wrath: fret
not thy selfe g also to doe euill.
9 For euill doers shalbe cut off, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.
10 h Therefore yet a little while and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.
11 But * meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their delite in the multitude of peace.
12 i The wicked practiseth against the iust,
and gnasheth his teeth against him.
13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne:
for he seeth that his day is comming.
14 The wicked haue drawen their sword and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore

a He admonisheth vs neither to vexe our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, neither to desire to be like them to make our state the better.
b For Gods iudgement cutteth downe their state in a moment.
c To trust in God, and doe according to his will, are sure tokens that his prouidence will neuer faile vs.
d Be not led by thine owne wisedome, but obey God, and he will finish his worke in thee.
e As the hope of the daylight causeth vs not to be offended with the darkenesse of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause and restore vs to our right.
f When God suffereth the wicked to prosper it seemeth to the flesh that he fauoureth their doings, Iob 21. 7. &c. g Meaning, except he moderate his affections, he shall be led to doe as they doe. h He correcteth the impatience of our nature, which cannot abide till the fulnesse of Gods time become * Matth. 5. 5. i The godly are assured that the power and craft of the wicked shall not preuaile against them but fall on their owne neckes, and therefore ought patiently to abide Gods time, and in the meane while bewaile their sinnes, and offer vp their teares, is a sacrifice of their obedience.

and needy, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shalbe broken.

16 k A small thing vnto the iust man is better then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord l knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shalbe perpetuall.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue m ynough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the n fatte of lambs: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull and o giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God shall inherite the land, and they that be cursed of him, shall be cut off.

23 p The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he q fall, hee shall not be cast off, for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong, and am olde, yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his r seede begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seede enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein s for euer.

30 The t mouth of the righteous will speake of wisedome, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is u iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet he x passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 y Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, and the ende of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the z saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lord: hee shalbe their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: hee shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

k For they are dayly fed as with Manna from heauen, and haue sufficient, when the wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hunger.
l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what meanes to deliuer them.
m For God will giue them contented mindes: and that which shall be necessary.
n They shall vanish away suddenly, for they are fed for the day of slaughter.
o God so furnisheth him with his blessings, that hee is able to helpe others.
p God prospereth the faithfull, because they walke in his wayes with an vpright conscience.
q When God doeth exercise his faith with diuers tentations.
r Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and though God suffer some iust man to lacke temporall benefits, yet hee recompenseth him with spirituall treasures.
s They shall continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inward rest.
t These three poynts are required of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, that Gods law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright.
u For though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will approoue their cause, and reuenge their wrong.
x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloud, which vanisheth away in a moment.
y He exhorteth the faithfull to marke diligently the examples both of Gods mercies, and also of his iudgements. z He sheweth that the patient hope of the godly is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath good successe, though for a time God prooue them by sundry tentations.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 Dauid lying sicke of some greeuous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He vttereth the greatnesse of his griefe by many wordes and circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euill intreated of his enemies. 21 But in the end with sure confidence hee commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedie helpe at his hand.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid for a remembrance.

O Lord a rebuke me not in thine b anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 For thine c arrowes haue light vpon mee, and thine hand lieth vpon me.

3 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my d sinne.

4 For mine e iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weightie burden they are too heauie for me.

5 My wounds are putrified, and corrupt because of f my foolishnesse.

6 I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe ‖ mourning all the day.

7 For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I g roare for the very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart † panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen h they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my i kinsmen stand afarre off.

12 They also that seeke after my life, lay snares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked things and imagine deceit continually.

13 But I as a k deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes.

15 For on thee, O Lord, doe I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

16 For I sayd, Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for l when my foot slippeth, they extol themselues against me.

17 Surely I am ready to m halt, and my sorow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, and am sorie for my sinne,

19 Then mine n enemies are aliue, and are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also, that reward euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I follow o goodnesse.

21 Forsake mee not, O Lord, be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Haste thee, to helpe mee, O my Lord, my p saluation.

a To put himselfe and others in minde of Gods chastisement for sinne.
b He desireth not to be exempted from Gods rod, but that he would so moderate his hand, that he might be able to beare it.
c Thy sicknesse, wherewith thou hast visited me.
d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iust in his punishments, because his sinnes had deserued much more.
e He confesseth his sinnes, Gods iustice, and maketh prayer his refuge.
f That rather gaue place to mine owne lusts, then to the will of God.
‖ Or, blacke as one that is disfigured and consumed with sickenesse.
g This example warneth vs neuer to dispaire, be the torment neuer so great: but alwaies to cry vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance.
† Ebr. runneth about, or, is tossed to and fro, meaning, that he was destitute of all helpe and counsell.
h My sight faileth me for very sorow.
i Partly for feare and partly for pride, they denied all duetie and friendship.
k For I can haue no audience before men, and therefore patiently wait for the helpe of God.
l That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they will mocke and triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me. m I am without hope to recouer my strength. o To my greatest miserie they most reioyce. o He had rather haue the hatred of all the world, then to faile in any part of his duetie to God ward. p Which art the authour of my saluation: and this declareth that he prayed with sure hope of deliuerance.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid vttereth with what great griefe and bitternesse of minde hee was driuen to these outragious complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he brast forth yet into words, that he would not, through the greatnesse of his griefe. 4 Then hee rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmitie of man, 8 And mixeth with them many prayers: but all doe shew a minde mind wonderfully troubled, that it may plainely appeare how he did striue mightily against death & desperation.

¶ To the excellent Musician [a] Iedithun.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I Thought, [b] I will take heed to my wayes, that I sin not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumb and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, [c] and my sorow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I [d] spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee know how long I haue to liue.

5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether e vanity. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the f foolish.

9 I should haue beene dumbe, and not haue opened my mouth, because g thou didst it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chastise man for iniquity, thou as a moth [h] makest his beauty to consume: surely euery man is vanity. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, [k] before I go hence and be not.

i The word signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, beauty, &c in whatsoeuer hee hath delight: so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this world. k For his sorow caused him think that God would destroy him vtterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saints to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despaire assaile them.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, and commendeth his prouidence towards all mankind. 5 Then doeth he promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and to declareth how God is truely worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks and prayeth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage hee calleth for ayde and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

I Waited a patiently for the Lord, & he enclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought mee also out of the [b] horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feet vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth e a new song of prayse vnto our God: many shall see it & feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth [d] not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 [e] O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts towards vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou diddest not desire: (for [f] mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sinne offring hast thou not requi ed.

7 g Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnes in [h] the great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy i trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdrawe not thou thy tender mercie from me, O Lord, let thy mercy and thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number then the haires of mine head: therefore mine heart hath k failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be l confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be [m] destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee, and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, [n] The Lord be praised.

17 Though I be poore and needy, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

Gods mercy may content for him against the rage of his enemies. m Let the same shame and confusion light vpon them, which they intended to haue brought vpon me. n As the faithfull alwayes prayse God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them that pity his estate, 9 and complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Iob. 13 18. After he feeleth the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffring his enemies to triumph against him, 13 giueth most hearty thanks to God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

BLessed is he that [a] iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliue, he shalbe blessed vpon the earth: and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the [b] bed of sorow: thou hast turned all his [c] bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercy vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies [d] speake euill of mee, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh [e] lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him: and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt.

8 [f] A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my [†] familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, [g] hath lifted vp the heele against me.

a Thou was one of the chiefe singers, 1. Chron. 16, 41.
b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patiently to haue taried Gods leasure, yet the vehemency of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.
c Though when the wicked ruled, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his mind.
d He confesseth that hee grudged against God, considering the greatnesse of his sorowes, and the shortnesse of his life.
e Yet Dauid offended in that hee reasoned with God as though that he were too seuere toward his weake creature.
f Make me not a mocking stocke to the wicked, or wrap mee not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame.
g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured them patiently.
h Though thine open plagues light not euermore vpon them, yet they secret curse continually fretteth them.

a Though God deferred his helpe, yet he patiently abode, till he was heard.
b He hath deliuered me from most great dangers.
c That is, a speciall occasion to prayse him: for Gods benefits are so many occasions for vs to praise his Name.
d To follow their example, which he must needs do that, trusteth not onely in the Lord.
e Dauid goeth from one kind of Gods fauour to the contemplation of his prouidence ouer all, & confesseth that his counsels towards vs are far aboue our capacities: we cannot so much as tell them in order.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand the spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: and here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the law nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice.
g When thou hadst opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine elect for his end.
h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuary.
i Dauid here cumbereth 3 degrees of our saluation: Gods mercy, whereby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continuall protection: and his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour for that hereof proceedeth our saluation.
k As touching the iudgement of the flesh. I was vtterly destitute of all counsell, yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to pray.
l He desireth that

b When for sorow and griefe of minde he calleth himselfe vpon his bed.
c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed and seest him comfort.
d That is, curse me and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched, but with my shamefull death.
e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and braggeth thereof.
f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments that God was his mortall enemy. † Ebr. the man of my peace. g As Dauid felt this faithlessnesse, and saw it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn. 13. 18. so shall his members continually procure the same.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon mee,
and raise me vp: so shall I reward them.
11 By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemy doth not triumph against me.
12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me h in mine
integrity, & doest set me before thy i face for euer.
13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel world without end. k So be it, euen so be it.

h Meaning, either in prosperity of life; or in the true feare of God against all tentatiõs.
i Shewing me euident signes of thy fatherly prouidence.
k By this repetition he stirreth vp the faithfull to prayse God.

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he sheweth, that hee was not so far ouercome with these sorowes & thoughts, 8 but that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, a committed to the sonnes of Korah.

AS the Hart brayeth for the riuers of water, so
b panteth my soule after thee, O God.
2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?
3 c My teares haue beene my meate day and night, while they dayly say vnto me, Where is thy God?
4 When I remembred d these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the house of God with the voyce of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? e wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.
6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me,
f because I remembred thee, from the land of Ior-den, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.
7 One g deepe calleth another deepe by the noise of thy water spouts: all thy waues and thy floods
are gone ouer me.
8 The Lord h will grant his louing kindnes in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen
a prayer vnto the God of my life.
9 I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? why goe I mourning,
when the enemy oppresseth me?
10 My i bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproach me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God?
11 k Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? wait on God:
for I will yet giue him thanks: hee is my present
helpe, and my God.

a As a treasure to be kept of them, which were of the number of the Leuites.
b By these similitudes of thirst and panting, he sheweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.
c As others take pleasure in eating and drinking, so he was altogether giuen to weeping.
d That is, how I led the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, and now seeing my contrary estate, I die for sorow.
e Though he sustained grieuous assaults of the flesh to cast him into despaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies getteth the victory.
f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment among the mountaines.
g Afflictions came so thick vpon me, that I felt my selfe as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our misery till God be pacified and send remedy.
h He assureth himselfe of Gods help in time to come.
i That is, I am most grieuously tormented.
k This repetition doth declare that Dauid did not ouercome at once, to teach vs to be constant, for as much as God will certainely deliuer his.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 He prayeth to be deliuered from them that conspire against him, that he might ioyfully praise God in his holy congregation.

IVdge a me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmercifull b people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.

mee: let them bring me vnto thine holy Moun-taine, and to thy Tabernacles.

vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God my God.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within me? e wayte on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my present helpe and my God.

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he would restore him to the Tabernacle.
b That is, the cruell company of mine enemies.
c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.
d He promiseth to offer a solemne sacrifice of thankesgiuing in token of his great deliuerance.
e Whereby he admonisheth the faithfull not to relent, but constantly to wayte on the Lord, though their troubles be long and great.

PSAL. XLIV.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 9 After they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the couenant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grieuous things they suffred 23 Finally, they pray vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

WE haue heard with our a eares, O God: our fathers haue told vs the workes that thou hast done in their dayes, in the old time:
2 How thou hast driuen out the b heathen with thine hand, and planted c them: how thou hast destroyed the d people, and caused e them to grow.
3 For they inherited not the lande by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, because thou didst f fa-uour them.
4 Thou art my king, O God: send helpe vnto
Iaakob.
5 h Through thee haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs.
6 For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.
7 But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaties,
and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.
8 Therefore will wee prayse God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah.
9 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to
i confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.
10 Thou makest vs to turn back from ẏ aduersary, and they, which hate vs, spoile ‖ for themselues.
11 * Thou giuest vs k as sheepe to be eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations.
12 Thou sellest thy people l without gaine, and doest not increase their price.
13 Thou makest vs a reproach to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.
14 Thou makest vs a prouerb among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.
15 My m confusion is dayly before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me, 16 For the voyce of the slanderer and rebuker,
for the enemy and n auenger.
17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not o forget thee, neither deale wee falsly concerning thy couenant.
18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of ‖ dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.
20 If we haue forgotten the Name of our God,
and holden vp our hands to a p strange god, 21 Shall not God q search this out? for hee
knoweth the secrets of the heart.

f Gods free mercy and loue is the only fountaine and beginning of the Church, Deut. 4, 37.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our misery and our affliction?
25 For our soule is [s] beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth to the ground.
26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy [t] mercies sake.

r The faithfull make this their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their sinnes, but for Gods cause, Mat. 5.10. 1.Pet.4.14.
s There is no hope of recouery, except thou put to thine hand and raise vs vp.
t Which is the onely sufficient ransome to deliuer both body and soule from all kinde of slauery and misery.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thankesgiuing for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was driuen away, or some other like sudden and maruellous deliuerance by the mighty hand of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doeth exhort the faithfull to giue themselues wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall be safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight to aswage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busie against the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon [a] Alamoth, a song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

GOD is our ‖ hope and strength, and helpe in [b] troubles, readie to be found.
2 Therefore will not wee [c] feare, though the earth be mooued, and though the mountaines fall into the middes of the sea.
3 Though the waters thereof [d] rage and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah.
4 Yet there is a [e] Riuer, whose streame shall make glad the Citie of God: euen the Sanctuarie of the Tabernacles of the most High.
5 God is in the middes of it: therefore shall it not be mooued: God shall helpe it [f] very early.
6 When the nations raged, and the kingdoms were mooued, God † thundered, and the earth melted.
7 The Lord of hoastes is [g] with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.
8 Come and behold the workes of the Lord, [h] what desolations he hath made in the earth.
9 He maketh warres to cease vnto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.
10 Be [i] still and know that I am God, I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth.
11 The Lord of hoastes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.

a Which was either a musicall instrument or a solemne tune vnto the which this Psalme was song.
‖ Or, protection.
b In all maner of troubles God sheweth his speedie mercie and power in defending his.
c That is, we will not be ouercome with feare.
d Though the afflictions rage neuer so much, yet the riuers of Gods mercies bring sufficient comfort to his.
e The riuer of Shiloah, which passed through Ierusalem, meaning, though the defence seeme neuer so small, yet if God haue appointed it, it is sufficient.
f Alwayes when neede requireth.

g They are assured that God can and wil defend his Church from all dangers and enemies.
h To wit, how oft he hath destroyed his enemies, and deliuered his people.
i Hee warneth them that persecute the Church, to cease their crueltie: for else they shall feele that God is too strong for them against whom they fight.

PSAL. XLVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all people to the worship of the true and euerlasting God, commending the mercie of God toward the posteritie of Iaakob. 9 And after prophecieth of the kingdome of Christ in the time of the Gospell.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

ALl people [a] clap your hands; sing lowd vnto God with a ioyfull voyce.
2 For the Lord is high, and terrible; a great King ouer all the earth.
3 He hath [b] subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete.
4 He hath chosen [c] our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iaakob whom he loued. Selah.

a Here is figured Christ, vnto whom all his should giue willing obedience, and who would shew himselfe terrible to the wicked.
b He hath made the Iewes, who were the keepers of the Lawe and Prophets, scholemasters to the Gentiles, that they should with gladnesse obey them.
c God hath chosen vs aboue all other nations, to enioy a most glorious inheritance.

5 God is gone vp with triumph, euen the Lord,
with the [d] sound of the trumpet.
6 Sing prayses to God, sing prayses: sing pray-ses vnto our King, sing prayses.
7 For God is the king of all the earth: sing
prayses euery one that hath [e] vnderstanding.
8 God raigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy Throne.
9 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he [f] is greatly to be exalted.

d He doeth allude vnto the trumpets, that were blowen at solemne feasts: but he doeth further signifie the triumph of Christ and his glorious ascension into the heauens.
e He requireth that vnderstanding be ioyned with singing, least the Name of God be prophaned with vaine crying.
f He prayseth Gods highnes, for that he ioyneth the great princes of the world (whom he calleth shields) to the fellowship of his Church.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hands of many kings is mentioned, for the which thankes are giuen to God, and the state of that citie is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. This Psalme seemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iehoshaphat, Asa or Ezechiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by forrein princes assaulted.

¶ [a] A song or Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praysed in the [b] Citie of our God, euen vpon his holy Mountaine.
2 Mount Zion, lying Northward, is faire in situation: it is the [c] ioy of the whole earth, and the Citie of the great king.
3 In the palaces thereof God is knowne for a [d] refuge.
4 For lo, the kings were [e] gathered, and went together.
5 When they saw [f] it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe.
6 Feare came there vpon them, and sorow, as vpon a woman in trauaile.
7 As with an East winde thou breakest the ships [g] of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.
8 As we haue [h] heard, so haue we seene in the Citie of the Lord of hoastes, in the citie of our God: God will establish it for euer. Selah.
9 We waite for thy louing kindnesse, O God,
in the middes of thy Temple.
10 O God, according to thy Name, so is thy prayse vnto the [i] worlds ende: thy right hand is full of righteousnesse.
11 Let [k] mount Zion reioyce, and daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudge-ments.
12 [l] Compasse about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towers thereof.
13 Marke well the wall thereof: behold her towers, that ye may tell your posteritie.
14 For this God is our God for euer and euer,
he shallbe our guide vnto the death.

a Some put this difference betweene a song and Psalme, saying that it is called a song, when there is no instrument, but the voyce: and the Psalme, the contrary. The song of the Psalm is when the instruments begin, and the voyce followeth. The Psalme of the song the contrary.
b Albeit God shew his wonders through all the world, yet he will be chiefly praysed in his Church.
c Because the word of saluation came thence to all them that should beleeue.
d Except God were the defence thereof, neither situation nor munition could preuaile.
e They conspired and went against Gods people.
f The enemies were afraid at the sight of the Citie.
g That is, of Cilicia, or of the sea called Mediterraneum.
h To wit, of our fathers: so haue we prooued: or God hath performed his promise.
i In all places where thy Name shall be heard of, men shall prayse thee, when they heare of thy marueilous works.
k Let Ierusalem and the cities of Iudea reioyce, for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies.
l For in this outward defence and strength Gods blessings did also appeare: but the chiefe is to be referred to Gods fauour and secret defence, who neuer leaueth his.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life. 7 Shewing them not to be most blessed that are most wealthy, and therefore not to be feared: but contrariwise he lifteth vp our minds to consider how all things are ruled by Gods prouidence: 14 Who as he iudgeth these worldly misers to euerlasting torments, 15 So doeth he preserue his, and will reward them in the day of the resurrection, 1. Thessal. 4.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Heare [a] this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world,
2 As well low as high, both rich and poore.
3 My mouth shall speake of wisdome, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge.
4 I will encline mine eare to a parable, and
vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe.
5 Wherefore should I [b] feare in the euill dayes,
when iniquitie shal compasse me about, as at mine
heeles?
6 They trust in their [c] goods, and boast themselues in the multitude of their riches.
7 Yet a man can by no means redeeme his brother: he cannot giue his ransome to God, 8 (So [d] precious is the redemption of their soules, [e] and the continuance for euer.)
9 That hee may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.
10 For hee seeth that wise men [f] die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for [g] others.
11 Yet they thinke their houses and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and ‖ call their lands by their names.
12 But man shall not continue in honour; he is like the [h] beasts that die.
13 This their way vttereth their foolishnesse:
yet their posteritie [i] delight in their talke. Selah.
14 [k] Like sheepe they lie in graue: [l] death de-uoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the [m] morning, for their beauty shall consume, when they shall go from their house to graue.
15 But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: ‖ for he will receiue mee. Selah.
16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich,
and when the glory of his house is increased.
17 * For he shall take nothing away, when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.
18 For while he liued, † he reioyced himselfe;
and [n] men will prayse thee, when thou makest
much of thy selfe.
19 ‖ [o] He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, [p] and they shall not liue for euer.
20 Man is in honour, and [q] vnderstandeth not:
he is like to beasts that perish.

a He will intreate how God gouerneth the world by his prouidence, which cannot be perceiued by the iudgement of the flesh.
b Though wickednes reigne, and enemies rage, seeing God will execute his iudgements against the wicked in time conuenient.
c To trust in riches is meere madnesse, seeing they can neither restore life, nor prolong it.
d That is, so rare or not to be found, as prophecy was precious in the dayes of Eli, 1. Sam 3.1.
e Meaning, it is impossible to liue for euer: also that life and death are onely in Gods hands.
f In that that death maketh no difference betweene the persons.
g That is, not to their children but to strangers. Yet the wicked profit not by these examples, but still dreame an immortalitie in earth.
‖ Or, labour that their name may be famous in earth.
h As touching the death of the body.
i They speake and doe the same thing that their fathers did.
k As sheepe are gathered into the folde, so shall they be brought to the graue.
l Because they haue no part of life euerlasting.
m Christes comming is as the morning, when the elect shall raigne with Christ their head ouer the wicked. ‖ Or, because hee hath receiued me. * Iob 27.19 1.tim. 6.7 † Ebr. hee blessed his soule.
n The flatterers prayse them that liue in delights and pleasures. ‖ Or, his soule.
o And not passe the terme appointed for life.
p Both they and their fathers shall liue here but a while, and at length die for euer.
q He condemneth mans ingratitude, who hauing receiued excellent gifts of God, abused them like a beast to his owne condemnation.

PSAL. L.

1 Because the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 which doe imagine that God will be worshipped with outward ceremonies onely, without the heart: and especially the Iewes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the Law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient. as Therefore the Prophet doth reprooue this grosse errour, and pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed where holinesse is set in ceremonies. 23 For hee declareth the worship of God to be spirituall, whereof are two principall parts, inuocation and thankesgiuing.

¶ A Psalme of [a] Asaph.

lence:d a fire shall deuoure before him, & a migh-
tie tempest shallbe mooued round about him.
4 He shall call the heauen aboue, and e ÿ earth to iudge his people.

ousnes : for God is Iudge himselfe. Selah.
7 Heare, O my people and I will speake : heare,
O Israel , and I will testifie vnto thee : for I am God, euen thy God.
8 I will not h reprooue thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings ,that haue not beene continually before me.
9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house,
nor goats out of thy folds.
10 i For all the beasts of the forest are mine,
and the beasts on a thousand mountaines.
11 I know all the foules on the mountaines,
and the wilde beasts of the field are mine.
12 If I be hungry , I will not tell thee: for the world is mine and all that therein is.
13 k Will I eate the flesh of bulles ? or drinke
the blood of goats ?
14 Offer vnto God praise, and l pay thy vowes vnto the most High.
15 And call vpon me in the day of trouble : so will I deliuer thee , and thou shalt glorifie me.
16 But vnto the wicked said God,m What hast thou to do to declare mine ordinances , that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, 17 Seeing thou hatest n to be reformed , and hast cast my words behind thee ?
18 For when thou seest a thiefe, o thou runnest
with him , and thou art partaker ẇ the adulterers.
19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgest deceit.
20 Thou p sittest,and speakest against thy brother , and slanderest thy mothers sonne.
21 These things hast thou done, and I held my deliuer you.

23 He that offereth r prayse , shall glorifie me:
and to him, that s disposeth his way aright , will I t shew the saluation of God.

c Because God had chosen it to haue his Name there called vpon,and also his image shined there in the doctrine of the Law. d As when God gaue his Law in mount Sinai , he appeared terrible with thunder and tempest, so will he appeare terrible to take account for the keeping thereof. e As witnesses against ÿ hypocrits. f God in respect of his elect , calleth the whole body holy , Saints, and his people. g Which should know that sacrifices are seales of the couenant betweene God and his people, and not set religion therein. h For I passe not for sacrifices , except the true vse be there , which is to confirme your faith in my promises. i Though he did delight in sacrifice , yet had he no need of mans help therevnto. k Though mans life for the infirmity thereof hath neede of food , yet God whose life quickeneth all the world , hath no neede of such meanes. l Shew thy selfe mindfull of Gods benefits by thankesgiuing. m Why doest thou faine to be of my people , and talkest of my couenant, seeing thou art but an hypocrite ? n And to liue according to my word. o Hee sheweth what are the fruits of them that contemne Gods word. p Hee noteth the cruelty of hypocrites , which spare not in their talke or iudgement their owne mothers sonnes. q I will write all thy wicked deeds in a rol , and make thee to reade and acknowledge them , whither thou wilt or no. r Vnder the which is contained faith and inuocation. s As God hath appointed. t That is , declare my selfe to be his Sauiour.

When Dauid was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, he did not onely acknowledge the same to God , with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie.7 Therfore first he desireth God to forgiue his sins, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit,13 With promise that he will not be vnmindfull of those great graces. 18 Finally , fearing least God would punish the whole Church for his fault,he requireth that hee would rather increase his graces toward the same.

¶ To him that excelleth, A Psalme of Dauid, when the Prophet Nathan a came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

HAue mercy vpon me , O God , b according to thy louing kindnes : according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.
2 Wash me c throughly from mine iniquitie,
and cleanse me from my sinne.
3 For I d know mine iniquities , and my sinne is euer before me.
4 Against thee , against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight , that thou mayest be iust when thou e speakest, and pure when thou iudgest.
5 Behold, I was borne in iniquity , and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.
6 Behold , thou f louest trueth in the inward affections : therfore hast thou taught me wisdome
in the secret of mine heart.
7 Purge mee with * hyssope , and I shall be cleane : wash me , and I shalbe whiter then snow.
8 Make me to heare g ioy and gladnesse , that
the h bones, which thou hast broken,may reioyce.
9 Hide thy face from my sinnes , and put away
all mine iniquities.
10 i Create in mee a cleane heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me.
11 Cast me not away from thy presence , and take not thine holy Spirit from me.
12 Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation , and stablish me with thy k free Spirit.
13 Then shall I teach thy l wayes vnto the wicked , and sinners shallbe conuerted vnto thee.
14 Deliuer me from m blood , O God , which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousnesse.
15 n Open thou my lips, O Lord , and my mouth shall shew forth thy prayse, 16 For thou desirest no sacrifice , though I would giue it : thou delitest not in burnt offring.
17 The sacrifices of God are a o contrite spirit : a contrite and a broken heart , O God, thou wilt not despise.
18 Be fauourable vnto p Zion for thy good pleasure : build the walles of Ierusalem.
19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of
q righteousnesse , euen the burnt offering and oblation ; then shall they offer calues vpon thine altar.

a To reprooue him because he had committed so horrible sinnes , and lyen in the same without repentance more then a whole yeere. that God would giue him the feeling of his excellent and abundant mercies. b As his sinnes were manifold and great , so he requireth him the feeling of his excellent and abundant mercies. c My sinnes sticke so fast in me , that I haue need of some singular kind of washing. d My conscience accuseth me so, that I can haue no rest till I be reconciled. e When thou giuest sentence against sinners, they must needes confesse thee to be iust , and themselues sinners. f He confesseth that God who loueth purenesse of heart, may iustly destroy man , who of nature is a sinner ,much more him , whom he had instructed in his heauenly wisdome. * Leuit. 14 6. g He meaneth Gods comfortable mercies toward repentant sinners. h By the bones he vnderstandeth all strength of soule and body which by cares and mourning are consumed. i He confesseth that when Gods Spirit is cold in vs, to haue it againe reuiued , is as a new creation. k Which may assure me that I am drawen out of the slauery of sinne. l He promiseth to endeuor that others by his example may turne to God. m From the murder of Vriah , and the others that were slaine with him. 2. Sam 11. 17. n By giuing me occasion to praise thee , when thou shalt forgiue my sinnes. o Which is a wounding of the heart, proceeding of faith, which seeketh vnto God for mercy. p He prayeth for the whole Church , because through his sinne it was in danger of Gods iudgement. q That is , iust and lawfull , applied to the right end , which is the exercise of faith and repentance.

1 Dauid describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersary Doeg : who by false surmises caused Ahimelech with the reste of the Priests to be slaine. 5 Dauid prophecieth his destruction, 6 and encourageth the faithful to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally , he rendreth thankes to God for his deliuerance. In this Psalme is liuely set forth the kingdome of Antichrist.

8 But I shalbe like a [g] greene oliue tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercy of God for euer and euer.

This Psalme partly conteineth meditations, whereby Dauid encourageth himselfe to trust in God against the assaults of tentations. And because our mindes are easily drawen from God by the allurements of the world, he sharpely reprooueth this vanitie, to the intent he might cleaue fast to the Lord.

3 For thy louing kindnesse is better then life:
therefore my lips shall prayse thee.
4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name.

shoote at him suddenly and [e] feare not.
5 They [f] encourage themselues in a wicked

9 And all men shall see it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought.
10 But the righteous [i] shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shall reioyce.

a In that he calleth to God with his voyce, it is a signe that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger.
b That is, from their secret malice.
c To wit, their outward violence.

e To be without feare of God and reuerence of man, is a signe of reprobation.

power: and is girded about with strength.
7 Hee appeaseth the [f] noyse of the seas, and the noyse of the waues thereof, and the tumults
of the people.
8 They also that dwell in the vttermost parts of the earth, shalbe afraid of thy signes; thou shalt make † the East and the West to reioyce.
9 Thou [g] visitest the earth, and waterest it;
thou makest it very rich: the [h] riuer of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne; for so thou appointest [i] it.
10 Thou [k] waterest abundantly the furrowes thereof; thou causest the raine to descend into the valleys thereof; thou makest it soft with showres,
and blessest the bud thereof.
11 Thou crownest the yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steps drop fatnesse.
12 They drop vpon the pastures of the wilder-
nes: and the hils shalbe compassed with gladnes.
13 The pastures are clad with sheepe; the valleys also shalbe couered with corne, therefore they shout for ioy, [l] and sing.

a Thou giuest dayly new occasion to thy Church to prayse thee.
b Not onely the Iewes but also the Gentiles in the kingdom of Christ.
c He imputeth it to his sinnes and to the sinnes of the people, that God who was accustomed to assist them withdraweth his succour from them.
d Thou wilt declare thy selfe to be the preseruer of thy Church in destroying thine enemies, as thou diddest in the red Sea.
e As of all barbarous nations and farre off.
f He sheweth that there is no part nor creature in the world which is not gouerned by Gods power and prouidence.

i Thou hast appointed the earth to bring foorth foode to mans vse.
k By this description he sheweth that all the order of nature is a testimony of Gods loue toward vs, who causeth all creatures to serue our necessitie.
l That is, the dumbe creatures shall not onely reioyce for a time for Gods benefits, but shall continually sing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 Hee prouoketh all men to prayse the Lord and to consider his works. 6 Hee setteth foorth the power of God to affray the rebels, 10 And sheweth how God hath deliuered Israel from great bondage and afflictions. 13 Hee promiseth to giue sacrifice, 16 And prouoketh all men to heare what God hath done for him, and to prayse his Name.

¶ To him that excelleth. A song or Psalme.

Reioyce in God, [a] all ye inhabitants of y^e earth.
2 Sing foorth the glory of his Name:
make his prayse glorious.

a He prophecieth that all nations shall come to the knowledge of God, who then was onely knowen in Iudea.

ſhall thine enemies be [b] in ſubiection vnto thee.
4 All the world ſhall worſhip thee, and ſing vnto thee, euen ſing of thy Name. Selah.
5 [c] Come and behold the workes of God: he is terrible in his doings toward [d] the ſonnes of men.
6 He hath turned the ſea into dry land: they paſſed through the riuer on foote; there did wee reioyce in him.
7 Hee ruleth the world with his power; his eyes behold the nations; the rebellious ſhall not [e] exalt themſelues. Selah.
8 Prayſe our God, yee people, and make the voyce of his prayſe to be heard.
9 Which [f] holdeth our ſoules in life, and ſuffereth not our feete to ſlip.
10 For thou, O God, haſt prooued vs, thou haſt tried vs as ſiluer is tried.
11 Thou haſt brought vs into the [g] ſnare, and laid a ſtrait chaine vpon our loynes.
12 Thou haſt cauſed men to ride ouer our heads; we went into fire and into water, but thou broughteſt vs out into a wealthy place.
13 I will goe into thine [h] Houſe with burnt offerings, and will pay thee my vowes.
14 Which my lippes haue promiſed, and my mouth hath ſpoken in mine affliction.
15 I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rams with incenſe; I will prepare bullocks and goates. Selah.
16 [i] Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my ſoule.
17 I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue.
18 [k] If I regard wickedneſſe in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me.
19 But God hath heard me, and conſidered the voyce of my prayer.
20 Prayſed be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

b As the faithfull ſhall obey God willingly, ſo the infidels for feare ſhall diſſemble themſelues to be ſubiect.
c Hee toucheth the ſlouthfull dulneſſe of man, who is cold in the conſideration of Gods workes.
d His prouidence is wonderfull in maintaining their eſtate.
e Hee prooueth that God will extend his grace alſo to the Gentiles, becauſe he puniſheth among them ſuch as will not obey his calling.
f Hee ſignifieth ſome ſpeciall benefite, that God had ſhewed to his Church of the Iewes, in deliuering them from ſome great danger: whereof or of the like he promiſeth that the Gentiles ſhalbe partakers.
g The condition of the Church is here deſcribed, which is to be led by Gods prouidence into troubles, to be ſubiect vnder tyrants, and to enter into manifold dangers.
h The duetie of the faithfull is here deſcribed, which are neuer vnmindfull to render God prayſe for his benefits.
i It is not enough to haue receiued Gods benefits, and to be mindfull thereof, but alſo we are bound to make others to profit thereby and prayſe God.
k If I delight in wickedneſſe, God will not heare me, but if I confeſſe it, he will receiue me.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God and to be lightened with his countenance. 2 To the ende that his way and iudgement may be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdome of God, which ſhould be vniuerſally erected at the comming of Chriſt.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth, A Pſalme or ſong.

GOd be mercifull vnto vs, and bleſſe vs, and [a] cauſe his face to ſhine among vs. (Selah.)
2 That [b] they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy ſauing health among all nations.
3 Let the people prayſe thee, O God; let all the people prayſe thee.
4 [c] Let the people be glad and reioyce; for thou ſhalt iudge the people righteouſly, and goueme the nations vpon the earth. Selah.
5 Let the people prayſe thee, O God; let all the people prayſe thee.
6 Then ſhall [d] the earth bring foorth her encreaſe, and God, euen our God ſhall bleſſe vs.
7 God ſhall bleſſe vs, and all the ends of the earth [e] ſhall feare him.

a That is, mooue our hearts with his holy Spirit, that we may feele his fauour towards vs.
b That both Iewes and Gentiles may know Gods couenant made with them.
c By theſe oft repetitions hee ſheweth that the people can neuer reioyce ſufficiently and giue thanks for the great benefits that they ſhall receiue vnder the kingdome of Chriſt.
d He ſheweth that where God fauoureth, there ſhall be abundance of all other things.
e When they feele his great benefits both ſpirituall and corporall toward them.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Pſalme Dauid ſetteth foorth as in a glaſſe the wonderfull mercies of God toward his people: 5 Who by all meanes and moſt ſtrange ſorts declared himſelfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reaſon of his promiſes, graces, and victories doeth excell without compariſon all worldly things. 34 He exhorteth therefore all men to prayſe God for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme or ſong of Dauid.

GOd [a] will ariſe, and his enemies ſhall be ſcattered; they alſo that hate him, ſhall flee before him.
2 As the ſmoke vaniſheth, ſo ſhalt thou driue them away; and as waxe melteth before the fire, ſo ſhall the wicked periſh at the preſence of God.
3 [b] But the righteous ſhall be glad, and reioyce before God; yea, they ſhall leape for ioy.
4 Sing vnto God, and ſing prayſes vnto his name; exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name [c] Iah, and reioyce before him.
5 He is a Father of the fatherleſſe, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation.
6 God [d] maketh the ſolitary to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were priſoners in ſtockes; but the rebellious ſhall dwell in a [e] drie land.
7 [f] O God, when thou wenteſt foorth before thy people; when thou wenteſt through the wilderneſſe, (Selah)
8 The earth ſhooke, and the heauens dropped at the preſence of this God; euen Sinai was mooued at the preſence of God, euen the God of Iſrael.
9 Thou, O God, ſenteſt a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou didſt refreſh it when it was wearie.

13 Though ye haue lien among [k] pots, yet ſhall ye be as the wings of a doue that is couered with ſiluer, and whoſe feathers are like yellow gold.
14 When the Almighty ſcattered kings [l] in it, it was white as the ſnow in Zalmon.
15 [m] The mountaine of God is like the mountaine of Baſhan: it is an high mountaine, as mount Baſhan.
16 [n] Why leape yee, yee high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it; yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer.
17 The charets of God are twentie thouſand thouſand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuary of Sinai.
18 Thou art gone vp on high; thou haſt [o] led captiuitie captiue, and receiued gifts for men; yea, euen the rebellious haſt thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there.
19 Prayſed be the Lord, euen the God of our ſaluation, which ladeth vs dayly with benefites. Selah.

a The Prophet ſheweth that albeit God ſuffereth the wicked tyrants to oppreſſe his Church for a time, yet at length hee will be reuenged of them.
b Hee ſheweth that when God declareth his power againſt the wicked, that it is for the commoditie and ſaluation of his Church, which prayſe him therefore.
c Iah and Iehouah are the names of God, which doe ſignifie his eſſence and maieſtie incomprehenſible, ſo that hereby is declared that all idoles are but vanitie, and that the God of Iſrael is the only true God.
d He giueth children to them that be childeleſſe, and encreaſeth their families.
e Which is barren of Gods bleſſings, which before they had abuſed.
f Hee teacheth that Gods fauour peculiarly belongeth to his Church, as appeareth by their wonderfull deliuerance out of Egypt.
g God bleſſed the land of Canaan, becauſe hee had choſen that place for his Church.
h The faſhion then was that women ſang ſongs after the victory, as Miriam, Deborah, Iudith, and others.
i The pray was ſo great, that not only the ſouldiers, but women alſo had part thereof.
k Though God ſuffer his Church for a time to lie in blacke darkeneſſe, yet he will reſtore it, and make it moſt ſhining and white.
l In the land of Canaan, where his Church was.
m Zion the Church of God, doeth excell all worldly things, not in pompe and outward ſhew, but by the inward grace of God, which there remayneth, becauſe of his dwelling there.
n Why boaſt yee of your ſtrength and beautie againſt this Mountaine of God?
o As God ouercame the enemies of his Church, tooke them priſoners, and made them tributaries: ſo Chriſt, which is God manifeſted in the fleſh, ſubdued Satan and ſinne vnder vs, and gaue vnto his Church moſt liberall gifts of his Spirit, Epheſ. 4. 8.

20 This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the [p] issues of death.
21 Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy pate of him that walketh
in his sinnes.
22 The Lord hath said, I will bring my people
againe from [q] Bashan: I will bring them againe
from the depths of the Sea:

and the tongue of thy dogges in the blood of the enemies, euen in [r] it.

goings of my God, and my King, which art in the Sanctuary.
25 The [t] singers went before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the maides playing with timbrels.
26 Prayse yee God in the assemblies, and the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine [u] of Israel.
27 There was [x] litle Beniamin with their [y] ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assembly, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtaly.
28 Thy GOD hath appointed thy strength:
stablish, O God, that which thou hast wrought
in vs,
29 [z] Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem, and Kings shall bring presents vnto thee.
30 Destroy the company of the spearemen, and multitude of the mighty bulles with the calues of the people, that [a] tread vnder feete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delite in warre.
31 Then shall the princes come out [b] of Egypt: Ethiopia shall haste to stretch her hands
vnto God.
32 Sing vnto God, O yee kingdomes of the earth; sing prayse vnto the Lord. (Selah) 33 To him that rideth vpon the most hie hea-uens, which were from the beginning: behold, hee
will send out by his [c] voyce a mighty sound.
34 Ascribe the power to God: for his maiesty is vpon Israel, and his strength is in the cloudes.
35 O God, thou art [d] terrible out of thine holy [e] places: the God of Israel is hee that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praysed be God.

p In most extreme dangers God hath infinite wayes to deliuer his.
q As he deliuered his Church once from Og of Bashan, and other tyrants, and from the danger of the red Sea, so will he still doe as oft as necessity requireth.
r That is, in the blood of that great slaughter, where dogs shall lappe blood.
s That is, how thou which art chiefe King goest out with thy people to warre, and giuest them the victory.

e He alludeth to the Tabernacle which was diuided into three parts.

PSAL. LXIX.

1 The complaints, prayers, feruent zeale and great anguish of Dauid is set foorth as a figure of Christ and all his members: 21 The malicious crueltie of the enemies. 22 And their punishment also. 26 Where Iudas and such traitours are accursed. 30 He gathereth courage in his affliction, and offereth prayses vnto God, 32 Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort. 35 Finally, hee doth prouoke all creatures to prayses, prophecying of the kingdome of Christ, and the preseruation of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 And their seede shall dwell for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon [a] Shoshannim.
A Psalme of Dauid.

Saue mee, O God: for the [b] waters are entred
euen to my soule.
2 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no
[c] stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.
3 I am weary of crying: my throate is dry:
mine [d] eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.
4 They that hate me without a cause, are more then the haires of mine head; they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies [e] falsly, are mighty, so that I restored that which I [f] tooke
not.
5 O God, thou knowest my [g] foolishnes, and my faults are not hid from thee.
6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hoastes, be ashamed for [h] me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through mee, O
God of Israel.
7 For thy sake haue I suffred reproofe: shame hath couered my face.
8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren,
euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.
9 [i] For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me,
and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.
10 I [k] wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.
11 I put on a sacke also; and I became a pro-uerbe vnto them.
12 They that [l] sate in the gate, spake of mee,
and the drunkards sang of me.
13 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an [m] acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercy: O God, heare me in the trueth of thy saluation.
14 Deliuer mee out of the myre, that I sinke
not; let me be deliuered from them that hate me,
and out of the [n] deepe waters.
15 Let not the water flood drowne me, neither let the deepe swallow me vp; and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon mee.
16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnesse is good; turne vnto mee according to the multitude of thy tender mercies, 17 And [o] hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble; make haste and heare
mee.
18 Draw neere vnto my soule and redeeme it;
deliuer me because of mine enemies.
19 Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour; all mine [p] aduersaries are before thee
20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and [q] I looked for some to haue pity on me, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found none.
21 For they gaue me gall in my meate, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke.
22 Let their [r] table be a snare before them, and their prosperity their ruine.
23 Let their eyes be blinded that they see not:
and make their [s] loynes alway to tremble.
24 Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.
25 * Let their [t] habitation be voyde, and let none dwell in their tents.
26 For they persecute him, whom thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorow of them,
whom thou hast wounded.
27 Lay [u] iniquity vpon their iniquity, and

b Dauid signifieth by the waters, in what great dangers he was, out of the which God did deliuer him.

d Though his senses failed him, yet his faith was constant and incouraged him still to pray.
e Causelesse enemies.
f They iudged me poore innocent as a theefe, and gaue my goods to others as though I had stolen them.
g Though I be guiltie to thee-ward, yet am I innocent toward them.
h Let not mine euill intreatie of the enemies be an occasion, that the faithfull fall from thee.
i When I sawe thine enemies pretend thy Name onely in mouth, and in their life denie the same, thine holy Spirit thrust me forward to reproue them and defend thy glorie.
k My zeale mooued me to lament and pray for my saluation.
l The more hee sought to winne them to God, the more they were against him both poore and rich.
m Knowing that albeit I suffer now trouble, yet thou hast a time wherein thou hast appointed my deliuerance.
n He sheweth a liuely faith, in that that he assureth himselfe, that God is fauourable to him, when hee seemeth to be angrie: and at hand when hee seemeth to be farre off.
o Not that hee feared that God would not heare him, but that care made him to thinke that God deferred long.
p Thou seest that I am beset as a sheepe among many woolues.
q He sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust in men in our great necessities but that our comfort onely dependeth of God: for man rather increaseth our sorrowes, then diminisheth them, Iohn 19. 29.

x They which feared by their profession to haue beene written in thy booke, yet by their fruits prooue the contrary, let them be hooued as reprobate.
y There is no sacrifice, which God more esteemeth, then thankesgiuing for his benefits.
z For as hee deliuered his seruant Dauid, so will hee doe all that are in distresse, and call vpon him.
a Vnder the temporall promise of the land of Canaan, he comprehendeth the promise of life euerlasting to the faithfull and their posteritie.

let them not come into thy righteousnesse.
28 Let them be put out of the x booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.
29 When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.
30 I will prayse the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thankesgiuing.
31 This also shall please the Lord better then a y yong bullocke that hath hornes and hoofes.
32 The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God shalbe glad, and your heart shall liue.
33 For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his z prisoners.
34 Let heauen and earth prayse him: the seas and all that moueth in them.
35 For God will saue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there and haue it in possession.

PSAL. LXX.

He prayeth to be right speedily deliuered. 2 Hee desireth the shame of his enemies, 4 And the ioyfull comfort of all those that seeke the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, to put a in remembrance.

O* God, b*haste thee* to deliuer mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.
2 Let them be c confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.
3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their d shame, which sayd, Aha, aha.
4 But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praysed.
5 Now I am e poore and needy: O God, make haste to me: thou art my helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

a Which might put him in remembrance of his deliuerance.
* Psal 40. 13.
b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time he will heare vs.
c Hee was assured that the more they raged, the neerer why were to destruction, and hee the neerer to his deliuerance.
d Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others i- their misery, least the same fall on our owne neckes.
e Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he grounded on experience, and boldly seeketh vnto him for succour.

PSAL. LXXI.

He prayeth in faith, established by the word of promise. 5 And confirmed by the worke of God from his youth. 10 He complaineth of the cruelty of his enemies, 17 And desireth God to continue his graces toward him. 22 Promising to be mindfull and thankefull for the same.

IN* a thee, O Lord, I trust: let mee neuer be ashamed.
2 Rescue mee and deliuer mee in thy b righteousnesse: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me.
3 Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou c hast giuen commandement to saue mee: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse.
4 Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hand d of the wicked: out of the hand of the euill and cruell man.
5 For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my e trust from my youth.
6 Vpon thee haue I beene stayed from the wombe: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my prayse shall be alwayes of thee.
7 I am become as it were a f monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust.

* Psal. 31. 1.
a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliuer him from his aduersaries.
b By declaring thy selfe true of promise.
c Thou hast infinite meanes, and all creatures are at thy commandement: therefore shew some signe, whereby I shall be deliuered.
d That is, from Absalom, Ahitophel and that conspiracie.
e Hee interpreteth his faith by the experience of Gods benefits, who did not onely preserue him in his mothers belly, but tooke him thence, and euer since hath preserued him.
f All the world woondereth at mee because of my miseries, as well they in authoritie as the common people, yet being assured of thy fauour, I remayned stedfast,

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy prayse, and with thy glory euery day.
9 Cast me not off in the time of g age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.
10 For mine enemies speake of me, & they that lay wait for my soule, take their counsell together, 11 Saying, h God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him.
12 Goe not farre from me, O God: i my God haste thee to helpe me.
13 Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt.
14 But I will waite continually, and will prayse thee more and more.
15 My mouth shall dayly rehearse thy righteousnesse, and thy saluation: k for I know not the number.
16 I will l goe forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousnesse, euen of thine onely.
17 O God, thou hast taught mee from my youth euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wonderous workes.
18 m Yea euen vnto mine olde age and gray head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them that shall come.
19 And thy n righteousnes, O God, I will exalt on high: for thou hast done great things: o O God, who is like vnto thee!
20 Which hast shewed me great troubles and p aduersities, but thou wilt returne and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth.
21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me.
22 Therefore will I prayse thee for thy q faithfulnesse, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O Holy one of Israel.
23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my r soule which thou hast deliuered.
24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousnesse dayly: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

g Thou that didst helpe me in my youth, when I had more strength, helpe me now to much the more in mine olde age and weakenesse.
h Thus the wicked both blaspheme God, and triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsaken them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands.
i To calling him his God, he putteth backe the false reports of the aduersaries, that sayd, God had forsaken him.
k Because thy benefits toward mee are innumerable, I cannot but continually meditate and rehearse them.
l I will renounce stedfast, being vpholden with the power of God.
m He desireth that as he hath begun, he would so continue his benefits, that his liberality may haue perfite prayse.

PSAL. LXXII.

He prayeth for the prosperous estate of the kingdome of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Under whom shall be righteousnesse, peace, and felicitie. 10 Vnto whom all Kings and nations shall doe homage, 17 Whose name and power shall endure for euer, and in whom all nations shall be blessed.

¶ A Psalme a of Salomon.

GIue thy b iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousnesse to the Kings c sonne.
2 Then shall hee iudge thy people in righteousnesse, and thy poore with equity.
3 The d mountaines, and the hils shall bring peace to the people by iustice.
4 Hee shall e iudge the poore of the people, hee shall saue the children of the needy, and shall subdue the oppressor.
5 They shall f feare thee as long as the sunne

a Composed by Dauid as touching the reigne of his sonne Salomon.
b Eudue the king with the Spirit of wisedome and iustice, that he reigne not as doe the worldly tyrants.
c To wit, to his posteritie.
d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most barren shall be enriched with thy blessings.
e Hee sheweth wherefore the sword is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppresse the wicked.
f The people shall imbrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a King that ruleth according to thy word.

6 He fhall come g downe like the raine vpon

7 In his dayes fhall the righteous flourifh, and abundance of peace fhall be fo long as the 8 His dominion fhalbe alfo from h fea to fea,

and from the riuer vnto the ends of the land.
9 They that dwell in the wildernes, fhal kneele
before him, and his enemies fhall licke the duft.
10 The kings of i Tarfhifh & of the yles fhall bring prefents : the kings k of Sheba and Seba fhall bring gifts.
11 Yea, all kings fhall worfhip him : all nations fhall ferue him.
12 For he fhall deliuer the poore when he cri-
eth : the needie alfo, and him that hath no helper.
13 He fhalbe mercifull to the poore and needy,
and fhall preferue the foules of the poore.
14 Hee fhall redeeme their foules from deceit and violence, and l deare fhall their blood be in his fight.
15 Yea, hee fhall liue, and vnto him fhall they

16 An handfull of corne fhall be fowen in the 18 Bleffed be the Lord God, euen the God of Ifrael, which onely doth p wondrous things.

19 And bleffed be his glorious Name for euer:
and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So be it, euen fo be it.
HERE END THE q prayers of Dauid
the fonne of Ifhai.

g As this is true in all godly kings, fo it is chiefly verified in Chrift, who with his heauenly dew, maketh his Church euer to flourifh.
h That is, from the red fea to the fea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward, meaning, that Chrifts Kingdome fhould be large and vniuerfall.
i Of Cilicia, and of all other countreyes, beyond the fea, which be meaneth by the yles.
k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, whereof Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.
l Though tyrants paffe not to fhed blood : yet this godly king fhall preferue his fubiects from all kind of wrong.
m God will both profper his life, and alfo make the people moft willing to obey him.
n Vnder fuch a king fhalbe moft great plenty, both of fruit and alfo of the increafe of mankind.
o They fhall pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doth profper them for his fake.
p Hee confeffeth that except God miraculoufly preferue his people, that neither the king nor the kingdome can continue. q Concerning his fonne Salomon.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldly profperitie of the vngodly, 14 nor yet the affliction of the good ought to difcourage Gods children : but rather ought to moone vs to confider our Fathers prouidence, and to caufe vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 forafmuch as the wicked vanifh away, 24 and the godly enter into life euerlafting, 28 in hope whereof he refigneth himfelfe into Gods hands.

¶ A Pfalme committed to Afaph.

YEt a God is good to Ifrael : euen to the pure in heart.
2 As for me, my feete were almoft gone : my fteps had well neere flipt.
3 For I fretted at the foolifh, when I faw the profperitie of the wicked.
4 For there are b no bands in their death, but they are luftie and ftrong.
5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.
6 c Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them,
and crueltie couereth them as a garment.
7 Their eyes ftand out for fatneffe: † they haue
more then heart can wifh.
8 They are licentious, and fpeake wickedly of their oppreffion : they talke prefumptuoufly.
9 They d fet their mouth againft heauen, and their tongue walketh thorow the earth.
10 Therefore his e people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.
11 And they f fay, How doeth God know it?
or is there knowledge in the moft High ?
12 Loe thefe are the wicked, yet profper they alway, and increafe in riches.
13 Certainely I haue cleanfed mine heart in vaine, and wafhed mine hands in innocencie.
14 For dayly haue I beene punifhed, and chaftened euery morning.
15 If I fay, g I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children, I haue trefpaffed.
16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for mee,
17 Vntill I went into the h Sanctuary of God:
then vnderftood I their end.
18 Surely thou haft fet them in flipperie places, and cafteft them downe into defolation.
19 How fuddenly are they deftroyed, perifhed
and i horribly confumed, 20 As a dreame when one awaketh ! O Lord, when k thou raifeft vs vp, thou fhalt make their image defpifed.
21 Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines.
22 So foolifh was I & ignorant: I was a l beaft before thee.
23 Yet I was alway m with thee : thou haft
holden me by my right hand.
24 Thou wilt guide mee by thy counfell, and afterward receiue me to glorie.
25 Whom haue I in n heauen but thee ? and I
haue defired none in the earth with thee.
26 My flefh faileth and mine heart alfo : but God is the ftrength of mine heart, and my o portion for euer.
27 For loe, they that withdrawe themfelues from thee, fhall perifh : thou deftroyeft all them that p goe a whoring from thee.
28 As for me, it is good for me q to draw neere to God : therefore I haue put my truft in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

a As it were betweene hope and defpaire he burfteth fooith into this affection, being affured that God would continue his fauour toward fuch as were godly indeed, and not hypocrites.
b The wicked in this life liue at pleafure and are not drawen to death like prifoners : that is, by fickneffe which is deaths meffenger.
c They glory in their pride as fome doe in their chaines, and in crueltie, as fome doe in apparell. † Ebr. they paffe the defires of the heart.

d They blafpheme God, and feare not his power and rayle vpon men, becaufe they efteeme themfelues aboue all others.
e Not onely the reprobate, but alfo the people of God oftentimes fall backe, feeing the profperous eftate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with forrowes, thinking that God confidereth not aright the eftate of the godly.
f Thus the flefh mooueth euen the godly to difpute with God touching their poore eftate and the profperity of the wicked.
g If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend againft thy prouidence, feeing thou difpofeft all things moft wifely, and preferueft thy children in their greateft dangers.
h Vntill I entred into thy fchoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou ordereft all things moft wifely and iuftly.
i By thy fearefull iudgement.
k When thou openeft our eyes to confider thy heauenly felicitie, we contemne all their vaine pompe.
l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reafon to feeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth he declare himfelfe a beaft. m By faith I was affured that thy prouidence did watch alwayes ouer mee, to preferue mee. n Hee fought neither helpe nor comfort of any faue of God onely. o He teacheth vs to denie our felues, to haue God our whole fufficiencie, and onely contentment. p That is, forfake thee to feeke others. q Though all the world fhrinke from God, yet he promifeth to truft in him, and to magnifie his workes.

i To wit, Pharaohs armie.

8 They sayd in their e hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.
9 Wee see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth f how long.

PSAL. LXXV.

1 The faithfull doe prayse the Name of the Lord, 2 which shall come to iudge at the time appointed, 3 when the wicked shall be put to confusion, and drinke of the cup of his wrath. 10 Their pride shalbe abased, and the righteous shalbe exalted to heauen.

4 Thou art more bright and puissant, then c the mountaines of pray.
5 The stout hearted are spoyled: they haue slept their sleepe, and all the men of strength haue not d found their hands.
6 At thy rebuke, O God of Iaakob, both the charet and horse are cast asleepe.
7 Thou, euen thou art to be feared; and who shall stand in thy e sight, when thou art angrie!

d Though all things be brought to ruine, yet I can restore and preserue them.
e The Prophet warneth the wicked that they would not set themselues against Gods people, seeing that God at his time will destroy.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 Reproaching the stubburne rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not onely vnderstand, 11 That God of his free mercie made his Couenant with their ancestours,17 But also seeing them so malicious and peruerse, might be ashamed, & so turne wholly to God. In this Psalme the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefits,to the intent the ignorant & grosse people might see in few words the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

HEare my b doctrine,O my people:incline your eares vnto the words of my mouth.
2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of old.
3 Which we haue heard and knowen,and our
c fathers haue told vs.
4 We will not hide them from their children, but to the generation to come we will shew the prayse of the Lord, his power also, and his won-derfull workes that he hath done:
5 How he established a d testimony in Iaakob,
and ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:
6 That the e posteritie might know it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children.
7 That they might f set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but keepe his
commandements:
8 And not to be as their g fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.
9 The children of h Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bow, turned backe in the day of battell.
10 They kept not the Couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law, 11 And forgate his actes, and his wonderfull
workes that he had shewed them.
12 Hee did marueillous things in the sight of their i fathers in the land of Egypt; euen in the field of Zoan.
13 *He diuided the Sea,and led them through:
he made also the waters to stand as an heape.
14 *In the day time also hee led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire.
15 *He claue the rocks in the wildernesse,and
gaue them drinke as of the great depths.
16 *Hee brought floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.
17 Yet they k sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wildernesse, 18 And tempted God in their hearts in l requiring meate for their lust.
19 *They spake against God also, saying,Can God m prepare a table in the wildernesse?
20 *Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?
21 Therefore the Lord heard, and was angrie, and the * fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleeued not in God, and n trusted not in his helpe.
23 Yet hee had commanded the o cloudes
aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.
25 *Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meate enough.
26 He caused the p East winde to passe in the heauen: and through his power hee brought in the South winde.
27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered fowle as the sand of the sea.
28 And he made it fall in the middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.
29 So they did eate, and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.
30 They were not turned from their q lust, but
the meate was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon
them,

a Reade Psal.32,

c Which were the people of God.
d By the testimonie and law, hee meaneth the law written, which they were commanded to teach their children, Deu.6,7.

e Hee sheweth wherein the children should be like their fathers: that is, in mainteining Gods pure Religion.
f Hee sheweth wherein the vse of this doctrine standeth: in faith, to the meditation of Gods benefits, and in obedience.
g Though these fathers were the seede of Abraham and the chosen people, yet hee sheweth by their rebellion, prouocation, falshood, and hypocrisie, that the children ought not to follow their examples.
h By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in number: whose punishment declareth that they were vnfaithfull to God, and by their multitude and authoritie had corrupt all others.
i He prooueth that not only the posteritie, but also their forefathers were wicked and rebellious to God.

32 For all this, they [s] sinned still, and beleeued not his wonderous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanity, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when he [t] slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most hie God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their [u] heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant.

38 Yet he being mercifull, [x] forgaue their iniquity, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stir vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembred that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernesse? and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they [y] returned and tempted God, and [z] limited the Holy one of Israel.

42 They [a] remembred not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke.

45 Hee sent [b] a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them.

46 He [c] gaue also their fruits vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grashopper.

47 Hee destroyed their vines with haile, and their wild figge trees with the hailestone.

48 He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of [d] euill angels.

50 He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence,

51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euen the [e] beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of [f] Ham.

52 But hee made his people to goe out like sheepe, & led them in the wildernes like a flocke.

53 Yea, hee caried them out safely, and they [g] feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies.

54 And he brought them vnto the borders of his [h] Sanctuairy: euen to this Mountain, which his right hand purchased.

55 * He cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies,

57 But turned backe, and dealt [i] falsly like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bow.

58 And they [k] prouoked him to anger with their high places, and mooued him to wrath with their grauen images.

59 God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel,

60 So that he [l] forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men, 61 And deliuered his [m] power into captiuity, and his beauty into the enemies hand.

62 And hee gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

63 The fire [n] deuoured their chosen men, and their maides were not [o] praysed.

64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their [p] widowes lamented not.

65 But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his [q] wine cryeth out,

66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame.

67 Yet hee refused the tabernacle of [r] Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued.

69 And he [s] built his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he stablished for euer.

70 He chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepefolds, 71 Euen from behinde the ewes with young, brought he him to feed his people in Iaakob, and his inheritance in Israel.

72 So [t] he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

r Though other were not spared, yet chiefly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God.

1 The Israelites complaine to God for the great calamitie and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 and confessing their sinnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance, 10 Because their calamities were ioyned with the contempt of his Name, 13 for the which they promise to be thankefull.

b Thou haſt buried them that they ſhall not come into iudgement.
c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing of ſinnes, and in touching our hearts to confeſſe them.
d As in times paſt they had felt Gods mercies, ſo now being oppreſſed by the long continuance of euils, they pray vnto God that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them. e Hee confeſſeth that our ſaluation commeth onely of Gods mercy. f He will ſend all proſperity to his Church, when he hath ſufficiently corrected them, alſo by his puniſhments the faithfull ſhall learne to beware that they returne not to like offences.

feare him, that glory may dwell in our land.
10 Mercie and trueth shall meete, righteousnesse and peace shall kisse one another.
11 g Trueth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall looke downe from heauen.
12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.
13 h Righteousnesse shall goe before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

g Though for a time God thus exerciseth them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy.
h Iustice shall then flourish, and haue free course and passage in euery place.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

1 Dauid sore afflicted & forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 5 Sometimes the mercies receiued. 11 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he may feare him, and glorifie his Name. 14. Hee complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requireth to be deliuered from them.

¶ A prayer of Dauid.

Incline a thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needie.
2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am b mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.
3 Be mercifull vnto mee, O Lord; for I c cry vpon thee continually.
4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant; for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.
5 For thou, Lord, art good and d mercifull, and of great kindnesse vnto all them that call vpon thee.
6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and e hearken to the voyce of my supplication.
7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee; for thou hearest me.
8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none f that can doe like thy works.
9 All nations whom thou hast made, shall come and g worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.
10 For thou art great and doest wonderous things; thou art God alone.
11 h Teach mee thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth; knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.
12 I will prayse thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.
13 For great is thy mercie toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from i the lowest graue.
14 O God, the proud are rised against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue k sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.
15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindnesse and trueth.
16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the l sonne of thine handmaid.
17 Shew a token of thy goodnesse toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen mee and comforted me.

a David persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, how to seeke redresse against their miseries.
b I am not enemy to them, but pitie them, though they be cruell toward me.
c Which was a sure token that he beleeued that God would deliuer him.
d Hee doeth confesse that God is good to all, but onely mercifull to poore sinners.
e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how wee may not be weary, though God grant not foorthwith our request, but that we must earnestly and often call vpon him.
f Hee condemneth all idoles, forasmuch as they can doe no workes to declare that they are gods.
g This prooueth that Dauid prayed in the Name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdom he doeth here prophecie.
h He confesseth himselfe ignorant till God hath taught him, and his heart variable and separate from God, till God ioyne it to him, and confirme it in his obedience.
i That is, from most great danger of death: out of the which none but onely the almightie hand of God could deliuer him. k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proud tyrants reigne, and that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuiledge to all vice and crueltie. l Hee boasteth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his free goodnesse hath euer bene mercifull vnto him, and giuen him power against his enemies, as to one of his owne houshold.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

1 The holy Ghost promiseth, that the condition of the Church which was in misery after the captiuitie of Babylon, should be restored to great excellencie, 4 So that there should be nothing more comfortable, then to be numbred among the members thereof.

¶ A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

God layd his a foundations among the holy mountaines.
2 The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboue all the habitations of Iaakob.
3 b Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God. Selah.
4 I will make mention of c Rahab and Babel among them that know mee: behold Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, d There is he borne.
5 And of Zion it shall be said, e Many are borne in her: and hee, euen the most High shall stablish her.
6 The Lord shall count, when he f writeth the people, He was borne there. Selah.
7 Aswell the singers as the players on instruments shall prayse thee: all my g springs are in thee.

a God did chuse that place among the hilles, to establish Ierusalem and his Temple.
b Though thy glorious estate doe not yet appeare, yet waite with patience, and God will accomplish his promise.
c That is, Egypt and these other countreys shall come to the knowledge of God.
d It shalbe said of him that is regenerate and come to the Church that he is as one that was borne in the Church. e Out of all quarters they shall come to the Church, and be counted as citizens. f When hee calleth them into the Church, whom he had elected and written in his booke. g The Prophet setteth his whole affections and comfort in the Church.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

1 A grieuous complaint of the faithfull, sore afflicted by sicknesse, persecutions and aduersitie. 7 Being as it were left of God without any consolation. 13 Yet he calleth on God by faith, and striueth against desperation. 8 Complaining himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

¶ *A song or Psalme of * Heman the Ezrahite to giue instruction*, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Malath a Leannoth.

O Lord God of my saluation, I cry day and night b before thee.
2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my crie.
3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.
4 I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:
5 c Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whom thou remembrest no more, and they are cut off from thy d hand.
6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darknesse, and in the deepe.
7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy e waues. Selah.
8 Thou hast put away mine f acquaintance farre from mee, and made mee to be abhorred of them: g I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.
9 h Mine eye is sorowfull through mine affliction; Lord, I call dayly vpon thee; I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.
10 Wilt thou shew i a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and prayse thee? Selah.
11 Shall thy louing kindnesse be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulnesse in destruction?
12 Shall thy wonderous workes be knowen in the darke? and thy righteousnesse in the land k of obliuion?
13 But vnto thee, haue I cryed, O Lord, and early shall my prayer come before thee.
14 Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me?
15 I am afflicted and at the point of death;

* 1. King. 4. 31 psalme 53.
a That is, to humble. It was the beginning of a song, by the tune whereof this Psalme was sung.
b Though many crie in their sorowes, yet they cry not earnestly to God for remedie, as he did whom he confessed to be the authour of his saluation.
c For he that is dead, is free from all cares and businesse of this life: and thus he saith, because he was vnprofitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut off from this world.
d That is, from thy prouidence and care, which is meant according to the iudgement of the flesh.
e The stormes of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed mee.
f Hee attributeth the losse and displeasure of his friends to Gods prouidence, whereby he partly punisheth, and partly trieth his.
g I see none end of my sorowes.
h Mine eyes and face declare my sorowes. i He sheweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to tary till they be dead, and then raise them vp againe. k That is, in the graue where onely the body lyeth without all sense and remembrance.

l I am euer in great dangers and sorowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery momeut.

† Ebr. were in darknesse.

l from my youth I suffer thy terrours doubting of my life.
16 Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off.
17 They came round about me daily like water, and compassed me together.
18 My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance † hid themselues.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

With many wordes doth the Prophet prayse the goodnesse of God, 23 For his testament and couenant, that hee had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of David. 38 Then doeth hee complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdom of David so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally, he prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnesse of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promise.

¶ A Psalme to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I Will [a] sing the mercies of the Lord for euer:
with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation.
2 For I [b] said, Mercy shall be set vp for euer:
thy trueth shalt thou [c] stablish in the very hea-uens.
3 [d] I haue made a couenant with my chosen:
I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant.
4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation.
Selah.
5 O Lord, euen the [e] heauens shall prayse thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the [f] Congregation of the Saints.
6 For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the [g] sonnes of the gods?
7 God is very terrible in the assemblie of the [h] Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all that are about him.
8 O Lord God of hoastes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee?
9 [i] Thou rulest the raging of the Sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.
10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemie with thy mightie arme.
11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world,
and all that therein is.
12 Thou hast created the North and the South: [k] Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.
13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.
14 [l] Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercie and trueth goe before thy face.
15 Blessed is the people that can [m] reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy [n] countenance, O Lord.
16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnesse shall they exalt them selues.
17 For thou art the [o] glory of their strength,
and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted.
18 For our [p] shield appertaineth to the Lord,
and our King to the Holy one of Israel.
19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto [q] thine
Holy one, and saidest, I haue layd helpe vpon one that is [r] mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out
of the people.
20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine
holy oyle haue I annoynted him.
21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.
22 The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.
23 But I will [s] destroy his foes before his face,
and plague them that hate him.
24 My trueth also and my [t] mercie shall be with him, and in my Name shall his [u] horne be exalted.
25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the [x] floods.
26 He shall cry vnto mee, Thou art my [y] Father, my God, and the rocke of my saluation.
27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher
then the kings of the earth.
28 My mercy will I keepe for him for euermore, and my Couenant shall stand fast with
him.
29 His seede also will I make to endure [z] for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.
30 But if his children forsake my Law, and walke not in my iudgements, 31 * If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements:
32 Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes.
33 [a] Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth.
34 My Couenant will I not breake, nor [b] alter
the thing that is gone out of my lips.
35 I haue sworne once by mine holines, † that I will not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His seede shall endure for euer, and his throne shall be as the sunne before me.
37 He shall be established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull [c] witnesse in the heauen.
Selah.
38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast beene angry with thine annoynted.
39 Thou hast [d] broken the Couenant of thy seruant, and prophaned his [e] crowne, casting it on the ground.
40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles:
thou hast layd his fortresses in ruine.
41 All that goe by the way, spoyle him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.
42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.
43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.
44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.
45 The dayes of his [f] youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.
46 [g] Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe,
for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause them to despaire of Gods fauour, yet the manifold examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they saw none occasion.
b As he that surely beleeueth in heart.
c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration and change: so shall the trueth of thy promise be vnchangeable.
d The Prophet sheweth what was the promise of God, whereon he grounded his faith.
e The Angels shall prayse thy power and faithfulnesse in deliuering thy Church.
f That is, in the heauens.
g Meaning, the Angels.
h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set him selfe against God?
i For as he deliuered the Church by the red Sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will he eft sonnes deliuer it, when the dangers be great.
k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Ierusalem, and Hermon Eastward: so the Prophet signifieth that all parts and places of the world shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church.
l For hereby hee iudgeth the world, and sheweth himselfe a mercifull Father and faithfull protectour vnto his.
m Feeling in their conscience that God is their Father.
n They shall be preserued by thy Fatherly prouidence.
o So that they are preserued and continue, they ought to giue the prayse and glory onely to thee.

p In that that our King hath power to defend vs, it is the gift of God.
q To Samuel and to others, to assure, that Dauid was thy chosen one.
r Whom I haue both chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as verse 21.
s Though there shall be euermore enemies against Gods kingdome, yet he promiseth to ouercome them.
t I will mercifully performe my promises to him, not withstanding his infirmities and offences.
u His power, glory and estate.
x He shall enioy the land round about.
y His excellent dignitie shall appeare herein, that he shall be named the sonnes of God, and the first borne, wherein he is a figure of Christ.
z Though for the sinnes of the people the state of this kingdom decayed: yet God reserued still a root, till he had accomplished this promise in Christ.
* 2. Sam. 7, 14.
a Though the faithfull answere not in all points to their profession, yet God will not breake his Couenant with them.
b For God in promising hath respect to his mercie, and not to mans power in performing.
† Ebr. If I lie vnto Dauid: which is a manner of oath.
c As long as the Sunne and Moone endure, they shall be witnesses to me of this promise.
d Because of the horrible confusion of things, the Prophet complaineth to God, as though he saw not the performance of his promise. And thus discharging his cares on God, he resisteth doubt and impatience.
e By this he meaneth the horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdom, which was vnder Ieroboam, or els by the spirit of prophecie Ethan speaketh of those great miseries, which came soone afterward to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon.
f He sheweth that the kingdome fell before it came to perfection, or was ripe.
g The Prophet in ioyning prayer with his complaint, sheweth that his faith neuer failed.

47 Remember [h] of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men?
48 What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.
49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?
50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my [i] bosome of all the mighty people.
51 For [k] thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the [l] footsteps of thine Anoynted.
52 Praysed be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

h Seeing mans life is short, and thou hast created man to bestowe thy benefits vpon him, except thou haste to help, death will preuent thee.
i He meaneth that Gods enemies did not onely slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, and as it were cast their iniuries in his bosome.
k So he calleth them that persecute the Church.
l They laugh at vs which patiently wait for the comming of thy Christ.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, 7 nor by his plagues to be thankfull, 12 therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts, and continue his mercies toward them and their posteritie for euer.

¶ A prayer of Moses, [a] the man of God.

Lord, thou hast bene our [b] habitation from generation to generation.
2 Before the [c] mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.
3 Thou [d] turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne ye sonnes of Adam.
4 [e] For a thousand yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.
5 Thou hast [f] ouerflowed them, they are as a sleepe, in the morning he groweth like the grasse:
6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.
7 For we are [g] consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.
8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.
9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue [h] spent our yeeres as a thought.
10 The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, [i] fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorrow: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away.
11 [k] Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.
12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that we may apply our hearts vnto [l] wisedome.
13 Returne (O Lord, [m] how long?) and be [‖] pacified toward thy seruants.
14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes:
15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.
16 [n] Let thy worke be seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their [o] children.
17 And let the [p] beauty of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and [q] direct thou þ worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

a Thus the Scripture vseth to call the Prophetes.
b Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles and trauels now this foure hundreth yeeres.
c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were layd.
d Moses by lamenting the frailtie and shortnesse of mans life mooueth God to pity.
e Though man thinke his life long, which is indeed most short, yet, though it were a thousand yeeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.
f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.
g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider the shortnes of our life, and for our sinnes thou abridgest our dayes.
h Our dayes are not onely short, but miserable, forasmuch as our sinnes dayly prouoke thy wrath.
i Meaning, according to the common state of life.
k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they which feare thee, onely know.
l Which is, by considering the shortnesse of our life, and by meditating the heauenly ioyes.
m Meaning, wilt thou be angry?
‖ Or, take comfort in thy seruants.
n Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke.
o As Gods promises appertained as well to their posteritie, as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posteritie.
p Meaning, that it was obscured, when he ceaseth to doe good to his Church.
q For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

PSAL. XCI.

1 Here is described in what assurance he liueth, that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all temptation. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glory.

Who so dwelleth in the [a] secret of the most High, shall abide in the shadowe of the Almighty.
2 [b] I will say vnto the Lord, O my hope, and my fortresse: hee is my God, in him will I trust.
3 Surely I will deliuer thee from the [c] snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.
4 Hee will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his [d] trueth shallbe thy shield and buckler.
5 [e] Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night: nor of the arrow that flieth by day:
6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.
7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.
8 Doubtlesse with thine [f] eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.
9 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge.
10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle.
11 [g] For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.
12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foot against a stone.
13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the [h] yong lyon, and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feet.
14 [i] Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath knowen my Name.
15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him; I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.
16 With [k] long life will I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

a He that maketh God his defence and trust, shall perceiue his protection to be a most sure safegard.
b Being assured of this protection, he prayeth vnto the Lord.
c That my God's helpe is most ready for vs, whether Satan assaile vs secretly, which he calleth a snare: or openly which is here meant by the pestilence.
d That is, his faithfull keeping of promise to helpe thee in thy necessitie.
e The care that God hath ouer his, is most sufficient to defend them from all dangers.
f The godly shall haue some experience of Gods iudgements against the wicked euen in this life, but fully they shall see it at that day when all things shalbe reuealed.
g God hath not appointed euery man one Angel, but many to be ministers of his prouidence to keep his, and defend them in their vocation, which is the way to walke in without tempting God.
h Thou shalt not onely be preserued from all euill, but ouercome it whether it be secret or open.
i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection, he bringeth in God to confirme the same.
k For he is contented with that life that God giueth: for by death the shortnesse of this life is recompensed with immortality.

PSAL. XCII.

1 This Psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God, and to prayse him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider, that the vngodly, when hee is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the end is described the felicity of the iust, planted in the house of God to prayse the Lord.

¶ A Psalme or song for the [a] Sabbath day.

It is a good thing to prayse the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High.
2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the [b] morning, and thy trueth in the night.
3 Vpon an [c] instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viole, with the song vpon the harpe.
4 For thou Lord, hast made me glad by thy [d] works, and I will reioyce in the works of thine hands.
5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.
6 An [e] vnwise man knoweth it not, and a

a Which teacheth that the vse of the Sabbath standeth in praysing God, and not onely in ceasing from workes.
b For Gods mercie and fidelity in his promises toward his, binde them to prayse him continually both day and night.
c These instruments were then permitted, but at Christs comming abolished.
d He sheweth what is the vse of the Sabbath day to wit, to meditate Gods works.
e That is, the wicked consider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perish.

foole doeth not vnderstand this.
7 (When the wicked grow as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish) that they shallbe destroyed for euer.
8 But thou, O Lord, art [f] most High for euermore.
9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of ini-
quitie shallbe destroyed.
10 [g] But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, and I shall be anoynted with fresh oyle.
11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.
12 The righteous shall [h] flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courts of our God.
14 They shall still bring foorth fruit in their age: they shallbe fat and flourishing.
15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquity is in him.

f Thy iudgements are most constant against the wicked and passe our reach.
g Thou will strengthen them with all power, and blesse them with all felicitie.
h Though the faithfull seeme to wither and be cut downe by the wicked, yet they shall grow againe and flourish in the Church of God as the cedars doe in mount Lebanon.
i The children of God shall haue a power aboue nature and their age shall bring foorth most fresh fruits.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 Hee prayseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beateth downe all people which lift them vp against his maiesty, 5 and prouoketh to consider his promises.

THe Lord [a] reigneth, and is cloathed with maiestie: the Lord is cloathed, and girded with power, the world also shall be established, that it cannot be mooued.
2 Thy [b] throne is established of old: thou art
from euerlasting.
3 [c] The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.
4 The waues of the sea are marueilous through the noise of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mighty.
5 Thy [d] testimonies are very sure: holinesse
becommeth thine House, O Lord, for euer.

a As God by his power and wisedome hath made and gouerneth the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers.
b Where in thou sittest and gouernest the world.
c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.
d Besides Gods power and wisedome in creating and gouerning, his great mercy also appeareth in that hee hath giuen his people his word and couenant.

PSAL. XCIV.

1 Hee prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogance of tyrants, 10 warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doth he comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God [a] the auenger, O God the auen-ger, shew thy selfe [b] clearely.
2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud.
3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked [c] triumph?
4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquity vaunt themselues.
5 They [d] smite downe thy people, O Lord,
and trouble thine heritage.
6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murther the fatherlesse.
7 [e] Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iaakob regard it.
8 Vnderstand, yee vnwise among the people:
and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?
9 Hee that [f] planted the eare, shall hee not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see?
10 Or he that chastiseth the [g] nations, shall he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not know?
11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man,
that they are vanitie.
12 Blessed is the man whom thou [h] chastisest,
O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pitte is digged for the wicked.
14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people,
neither will he forsake his inheritance.
15 For [i] iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart shall follow after it.
16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?
17 If the Lord had not [k] holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.
18 When I said, [l] My foot slideth, thy mercy,
O Lord, stayed me.
19 In the multitude of my [m] thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.
20 Hath the throne of iniquitie [n] fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a Law?
21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.
22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.
23 And he will recompense them their wickednesse, and [o] destroy them in their owne malice, yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

a Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.
b Shew by effect that thou art Iudge of the world to punish the wicked.
c That is, bragge of their crueltie and oppression: or esteeme themselues aboue all other.
d Seeing the Church was then so sore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now and therefore we must call to God, to take our cause in hand.
e He sheweth that they are desperate in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gaue themselues wholly to doe wickedly.
f He sheweth that it is impossible, but God should heare, see, and vnderstand their wickednesse.
g If God punish whole nations for their sinnes, it is meere folly for any one man, or els a few to thinke that God will spare them.
h God hath care ouer his, and chastiseth them for their wealth, that they should not perish for euer with the wicked.
i God will restore the state and gouernment of things to their right vse, and then the Godly shall follow him cheerefully.
k He complaineth of them which would not helpe him to resist the enemies: yet was assured that Gods helpe would not faile.
l When I thought there was no way but death.
m In my trouble and distresse I euer found thy present helpe.
n Though the wicked iudges pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that authority of God.
o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most, when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

PSAL. XCV.

1 An earnest exhortation to prayse God, 4 for the gouernment of the world, and the election of the Church. 8 An admonition not to follow the rebellion of the olde fathers, that tempted God in the wildernesse, 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

COme, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing [a] alowde vnto the rocke of our salua-
tion.
2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing lowd vnto him with Psalmes.
3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King aboue all [b] gods.
4 In whose hand are the deepe places of the earth, and the [c] heights of the mountaines are his.
5 To whom the Sea belongeth, for he made it,
and his hands formed the dry land.
6 Come, let vs [d] worship and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.
7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his [e] hand: to day, if ye will heare his voyce.
8 [f] Harden not your heart, as in ‖ Meribah,
and as in the day of ‖ Massah in the wildernes.
9 When your fathers * tempted mee, prooued me, though they had seene my worke.
10 Fourtie yeeres haue I contended with this generation, and said, They are a people that [g] erre
in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes.
11 Wherefore I sware in my wrath, saying,
Surely they shall not enter into [h] my rest.

a He sheweth that Gods seruice standeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the sacrifice of prayse and thanksgiuing.
b Euen the Angels (who in respect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his sight, much lesse the idoles, which mans braine inuenteth.
c All things are gouerned by his prouidence.
d By these three words he signifieth one thing: meaning that they must wholly giue themselues to serue God.
e That is, the flocke, whom he gouerneth with his owne hand. He sheweth wherein they are Gods flocke, that is, if they heare his voyce.
f By the contemning of Gods word.
‖ Or, in strife: where of the place was so called.
‖ Or, tentation, reade Exod. 17.7.
* Exod. 17. 2. numb. 14, 22.
g They were without iudgement and reason.
h That is, into the land of Canaan, where he promised them rest.

PSAL. XCVI.

a An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to prayse God for his mercie. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Christ.

a The Prophet sheweth that the time shall come, that all nations shall haue occasion to prayse the Lord for the reuealing of his Gospel.

SIng a vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and prayse his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord is b great and much to be praised: he is to be feared aboue all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are ‖ idoles: but the Lord c made the heauens.

6 d Strength and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuary.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and e power.

8 Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring f an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the g Nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shall be stable, and not moouе, and he shall iudge the people h in righteousnesse.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the field be ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the i trees of the wood then reioyce, 13 Before the Lord: for hee commeth, for hee commeth to iudge the earth; he will iudge k the world with righteousnesse, and the people in his trueth.

‖ Or, vanities.

c Then the idoles, or whatsoeuer made not the heauens, are not God.

d God cannot be knowen, but by his strength and glory, the signes whereof appeare in his Sanctuarie.

e As by experience ye see that it is onely due vnto him.

f By offering vp your selues wholy vnto God, declare that you worship him onely.

g He prophecieth that the Gentiles shall be partakers with the Iewes of Gods promise.

h He shall regenerate them a new with his Spirit, and restore them to the image of God.

i If the insensible creatures shall haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more we, from whom he hath taken malediction and sinne.

PSAL. XCVII.

a The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the comming of the kingdome of Christ, 7 dreadfull to the rebels and idolaters, 8 and ioyfull to the iust, whom he exhorteth to continue, 12 to reioycing and thankesgiuing.

THe a Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the b multitude of the Iles be glad.

2 c Cloudes and darknesse are round about him: righteousnesse and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.

3 There shall go a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.

4 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth saw it and was d afraid.

5 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The heauens declare his righteousnesse, and all the people see his glory.

7 e Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, and that glory in idols: worship him f all ye gods.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad; and the g daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.

9 For thou, Lord, art most High aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods.

10 Ye that h loue the Lord, hate euill; hee preserueth the soules of his Saints; hee will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

11 ‖ Light is sowen for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart.

12 Reioyce yee righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holy k remembrance.

a He sheweth that where God reigneth, there is all felicitie, and spirituall ioy

b For the Gospel shall not be onely preached in Iudea, but through all yles and countreyes.

c He is thus described to keepe his enemies in feare, which commonly contemne Gods power.

d This feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but maketh them to run away from God.

e He signifieth that Gods iudgements are in a readinesse to destroy the idolaters.

f Let all that which is esteemed in the world fall down before him.

g The Iewes shall haue occasion to reioyce, that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods saluation.

h He requireth two things of his children; the one that they detest vice, the other, that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance.

i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is sowen and laid vp to store for them.

k Be mindfull of his benefits and onely trust in his defence.

PSAL. XCVIII.

a An earnest exhortation to all creatures to prayse the Lord for his power, mercie and iustice in his promise by Christ, to by whom he hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

¶ A Psalme.

a That is, some song newly made in token of their wonderfull deliuerance by Christ.

* Isa. 59, 16.

b He preferreth his Church miraculously.

c For the deliuerance of his Church, d God was mooued by none other meanes to gather his Church of the Iewes and Gentiles, but because he would performe his promise.

e By this repetition and earnest exhortation to giue prayses with instruments, and also of the dumbe creatures, he signifieth that the world is neuer able to prayse God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

SIng a vnto the Lord a new song: for hee hath done marueilous things: * his right hand, and his holy b arme haue gotten him the victory.

2 The Lord declared his c saluation: his righteousnesse hath he reuealed in the sight of the nations.

3 Hee hath d remembred his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing ye lond vnto the Lord: cry out and reioyce, and sing prayses.

5 Sing prayse to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With e trumpets and sound of trumpets sing loud before the Lord the King.

7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together,

9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousnes shall he iudge the world: and the people with equitie.

PSAL. XCIX.

a Hee commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ vnto the Iewes and Gentiles, 3 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same, and to serue the Lord, 6 following the example of the auncient fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

THe Lord reigneth, let the a people tremble: he sitteth betweene the * Cherubims, let the earth be mooued.

2 The Lord b great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people.

3 They shall c prayse thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy.)

4 And the Kings power, that loueth iudgement; for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his d foorstoole; for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priests, e and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name, these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 Hee spake vnto them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a f auourable God vnto them, though thou diddest take vengeance for their inuentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

a When God deliuereth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble.

* Exod. 25, 22.

b Though the wicked rage against God, yet the godly shall prayse his Name and mightie power.

c That is, before his Temple or Arke, where he promised to heare when they worshipped him, as now he promiseth his spirituall presence, wherefore in his Church is assembled.

d Vnder these three he compreehendeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promise.

e For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doth he punish them that abuse his benefits.

PSAL. C.

a He exhorteth all to serue the Lord, 3 who hath chosen vs, and preserued vs, 4 and to enter into his assemblies to prayse his Name.

¶ A Psalme of prayse.

SIng a ye lond vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnesse; come before him with ioyfulnesse.

a Hee prophecieth that Gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great, that they shall haue wonderfull occasion to prayse his mercy & reioyce,

3 Know yee that euen the Lord is God; hee hath ^b made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture.
4 ^c Enter into his gates with prayse, and into his courtes with reioycing: prayse him and blesse his Name.
5 For the Lord is good: his mercie is ^d euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

b He chiefly meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people.
c He sheweth that God will not be worshipped, but by that meanes which he hath appointed.
d He declareth that we ought neuer to be wearie in praysing him, seeing his mercies towards vs last for euer.

PSAL. CI.

1 David describeth what gouernement hee will obserue in his house and kingdome. 5 He will punish and correct, by rooting foorth the wicked, 6 and cherishing the godly persons.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will^a sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee,
O Lord, will I sing.
2 I will doe wisely in the perfect way, ^b till thou commest to me: I will walke in the vpright-nesse of mine heart in the middes of my house.
3 I will set not wicked thing before mine eyes:
I hate ^c the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.
4 A froward heart shall depart from mee; I will know none euill.
5 Him that priuily ^d slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proud looke
and hie heart, I cannot suffer.
6 Mine eyes shall be vnto the ^e faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serue me.
7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within my house: hee that telleth lies, shall not re-maine in my sight.
8 ^f Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of in-iquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

a David considereth what maner of King he would be, when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be mercifull and iust.
b Though as yet thou deferrest to place me in the Kingly dignitie, yet will I giue my selfe to wisedome and vprightnesse being a priuate man.
c He sheweth that Magistrates doe not their duetie, except they be enemies to all vice.
d In promising to punish these vices, which are most pernitious in them that are about Kings, he declareth that he will punish all. e He sheweth what is the true vse of the sword: to punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good. f Magistrates must immediately punish vice, least it grow to further inconuenience: and if heathen magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God.

PSAL. CII.

1 It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithful to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 15 A consolation for the building of the Church: 18 Whereof followeth the prayse of God to be published vnto all posteritie. 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles, 28 and the stabilitie of the Church.

¶ A prayer^a of the afflicted, when hee shall be in distresse, and powre foorth his meditation before the Lord.

O Lord heare my prayer, and let my ^b cry come
vnto thee.
2 Hide not thy face from mee in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me, when I call, make haste to heare me.
3 For my dayes are ^c consumed like smoake,
and my bones are burnt like an herth.
4 Mine heart is smitten, and withered like grasse, because I forgate ^d to eate my bread.
5 For the voyce of my groning, my bones doe
cleaue to my skinne.
6 I am like a ^e pelicane of the wildernesse:
I am like an owle of the deserts.
7 I watch, and am as a sparow alone vpon the house top.
8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage against me, haue ^f sworne against me.

a Whereby is signified, that although we be in neuer so great miseries, yet there is euer place left for prayer.
b He declareth that in our prayer we must liuely feele that, which we desire, and stedfastly beleeue to obtaine.
c These excessiue kindes of speach shew how much the affliction of the Church ought to wound the hearts of the godly.
d My sorrowes were so great, that I passed not for mine ordinary food. e Euer mourning and solitarie, casting out fearfull cryes. f Haue conspired my death.

9 Surely I haue ^g eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping.
10 Because of thine ^h indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.
11 My dayes are like a shadowe that fadeth,
and I am withered like grasse.
12 But thou, O Lord, doest ^i remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.
13 Thou wilt arise and haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the ^k appointed time is come.
14 For thy seruants delight in the ^l stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.
15 Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glory, 16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare ^m in his glory, 17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer.
18 This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people which shalbe ^n created,
shall prayse the Lord.
19 For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord
behold the earth, 20 That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the ^o children of death:
21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his prayse in Ierusalem, 22 When the people shalbe gathered ^p together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.
23 Hee ^q abated my strength in the way, and
shortned my dayes.
24 And I said, O my God, take me not away in the midst of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.
25 Thou hast aforetime layd the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.
26 ^r They shall perish, but thou shalt endure:
euen they all shall waxe old as doeth a garment:
as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.
27 But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile.
28 The children of thy seruants shall continue,
and their seed shall stand ^f fast in thy sight.

g I haue not refused out of my mourning to take my refection.
h He sheweth that the afflictions did not onely moue him, but chiefly the feeling of Gods displeasure.
i Howsoeuer we be fraile, yet thy promise is sure, and the remembrance thereof shall confirme vs for euer.
k That is, the seuentie yeeres which by the Prophet Ieremie thou didst appoint, Ierem. 29, 12.
l The more that the Church is in miserie and desolation, the more ought the faithfull to loue and pitie it.
m That is, when he shall haue drawen his church out of the darknes of death.
n The deliuerance of the Church is a most excellent benefit, and therefore he compareth it to a new creation: for in their banishment the body of the Church seemed to haue beene dead, which by deliuerance was as it were created a new.
o Who now in their banishment could looke for nothing but death.
p He sheweth that Gods Name is neuer more praysed, then when religion florisheth and the church increaseth: which thing is chiefly accomplished vnder the kingdome of Christ.
q The Church lament that they see not the time of Christ, which was promised, but haue but fewe yeeres and short dayes.
r If heauen and earth perish, much more man shall perish: but the Church by reason of Gods promise endureth for euer.
f Seeing thou hast chosen thy Church out of the world, and ioyned it to thee, it cannot but continue for euer: for thou art euerlasting.

PSAL. CIII.

1 Hee prouoketh all to prayse the Lord, which hath pardoned his sinnes, deliuered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then hee addeth the tender mercies of God, which hee sheweth like a most tender Father towards his children. 14 The fraltie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to prayse the Lord.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

My soule, ^a prayse thou the Lord, and all that is within me, prayse his holy Name.
2 My soule, prayse thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefits.
3 Which ^b forgiueth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities.
4 Which redeemeth thy life from the ^c graue;
and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

a He wakeneth his dulnesse to prayse God, shewing that both vnderstanding and affection, minde and heart are too little to set foorth his prayse.
b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefits, remission of our sinnes. c For before that wee haue remission of sinnes, we are as dead men in the graue.

5 Which satisfied thy mouth with good things: and thy d youth is renued like the eagles.
6 The Lord executeth righteousnesse and iudgement to all that are oppressed.
7 He made his wayes knowen vnto e Moses,
and his workes vnto the children of Israel.
8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercy,
slow to anger and of great kindnesse.
9 He will not alway f chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.
10 He hath not g dealt with vs after our sinnes,
nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.
11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.
12 As farre as h the East is from the West, so farre hath he remooued our sinnes from vs.
13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that
feare him.
14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust.
15 The dayes of i man are as grasse: as a flowre of the field, so flourisheth he.
16 For the wind goeth ouer it, and it is gone,
and the place thereof shall know it no more.
17 But the louing kindnes of the Lord endu- reth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him,
and his k righteousnesse vpon childrens children, 18 Vnto them that keepe his l couenant, and
thinke vpon his commandements to doe them.
19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.
20 Prayse the Lord, ye m his Angels, that ex-cell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voyce of his word.
21 Prayse the Lord all ye his hoasts, ye his ser-uants that doe his pleasure.
22 Prayse the Lord all ye his works, in all places of his dominion: my soule, prayse thou the Lord.

d As the eagle, when her beake ouergroweth, sucketh blood, and so is renewed in strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church aboue all mans expectation.
e As to his chiefe minister, and next to his people.
f He sheweth first his seuere iudgement, but so soone as the sinner is humbled, he receiueth him to mercie.
g Who haue prooued by continuall experience, that his mercy hath euer preuailed against our offences.
h As great as the world is, so full is it of signes of Gods mercies toward his faithfull, when he hath remooued their sinnes.
i Hee declareth that man hath no thing in himselfe to mooue God to mercie, but onely the confession of his infirmity and miserie.
k His iust and faithfull keeping of his promise.
l To whom hee giueth grace to feare him and to obey his word.
m In that that we which naturally are slow to prayse God, exhort the Angels, which willingly doe it, we stirre vp our selues to consider our duety, and awake out of our sluggishnesse.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Psalme to prayse God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his marueilous prouidence. 35 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminished his blessings.

My soule, prayse thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art
a cloathed with glory and honour.
2 Which couereth himselfe with light, as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine:
3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers
in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.
4 Which b maketh the spirits his messengers,
and a flaming fire his ministers.
5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer mooue.
6 Thou couerest it with the c deepe as with a garment: the d waters would stand aboue the mountaines.
7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste away.
8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

a The Prophet sheweth that wee neede not to enter into the heauens to seeke God, for as much as all the order of nature, with the proprietie, and placing of the elements, are most liuely mirroures to see his maiestie in.
b As the Prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are ready to serue God: so the Apostle to the Hebr. 1.7. beholdeth in this glasse how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.
c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.
d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible, but the whole world should be destroyed.

9 But thou hast set them a bound, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer
the earth.
10 Hee sendeth the springs into the valleys,
which runne betweene the mountaines.
11 They shall giue drinke to all the e beastes of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.
12 By these f springs shall the fowles of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.
13 Hee watereth the mountaines from his
g chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.
14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of h man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth.
15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make his face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.
16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted.
17 That the birds may make their nests there:
the storke dwelleth in the firre trees.
18 The high mountaines are for the ‖ goates:
the rocks are a refuge for the conies.
19 He appointed i the moone for certaine seasons; k the sunne knoweth his going downe.
20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night,
wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.
21 The lyons roare after their pray, and seeke their meate l at God.
22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dennes.
23 m Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening.
24 O Lord, how n manifold are thy workes!
in wisedome hast thou made them all: the earth
is full of thy riches.
25 So is the sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.
26 There goe the ships, yea that ‖ Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.
27 o All these wait vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them foode in due season.
28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it;
thou openest thy hand, and they are filled with good things.
29 But if thou p hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die and returne to their dust.
30 Againe if thou q send forth thy spirit, they are created, & thou renewest the face of the earth.
31 Glory be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord
reioyce in his workes.
32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth,
he toucheth the mountaines, and they r smoke.
33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will prayse my God, while I liue.
34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.
35 Let the sinners be f consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, prayse thou the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

e If God prouide for the very beasts, much more will he extend his prouidence to man.
f There is no part of the world so barren, where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.
g From the cloudes.
h He describeth Gods prouidence care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necessary things for him, as herbes and other meate: but also things to reioyce and comfort him as wine and oyle, or oyntments.
‖ Or, does, roes, and such like.
i As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, moneths and yeeres.
k That is, by his course, either farre or neere, it noteth summer, winter and other seasons.
l That is, they onely haue meate according to Gods prouidence, who careth euen for the bruite beasts.
m To wit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannie and furie of beasts.
n He confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.
‖ Or, whale.
o God as a most nourishing Father, prouideth for all creatures their dayly foode.
p As thy presence giueth things being: so, if thou withdraw thy blessings, they all perish.
q As the death of creatures sheweth that we are nothing of our selues: so the generation declareth that we receiue all things of our Creatour.
r Gods mercifull face giueth strength to the earth, but his seuere countenance burneth the mountaines.
f Who infect the world, and cause God that he cannot reioyce in his workes.

PSAL. CV.

1 Hee prayseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to doe them good, euen for his promise sake.

Prayse

a For as much as the Israelites were exempted from the common condemnation of the world, and were elected to be Gods people, the Prophet willeth them to shew themselues mindfull by thankesgiuing.
b By the strength and face he meaneth the Arke where God declared his power and his presence.
c Which he hath wrought in the deliuerance of his people.
d Because his power was thereby as liuely declared, as if he should haue declared it by mouth.
e The promise which God made to Abraham to be his God, and the God of his seede after him, he renewed and repeated it againe to his seede after him.
f He sheweth that they should not enioy the land of Canaan by any other meanes, but by reason of his couenant made with their fathers.
g That is, the king of Egypt and the king of Gerar, Gen. 12. 17. and 20. 3.
h Those whom I haue sanctified to be my people.
i Meaning, the old fathers, to whom God shewed himselfe plainely, and who were fetters forth of his word.
k Either by sending scarcity, or by taking away the strength and nourishment thereof.
l So long he suffered aduersitie as God had appointed, and till he had tryed sufficiently his patience.
m That the very princes of the countrey should be at Iosephs commandement, and learne wisedome at him.
n So it is in God, either to mooue the hearts of the wicked to loue or to hate Gods children.
o Meaning, Moses and Aaron.
* Exod. 7. 20.
* Exod. 8. 6.
p So that this vermine came not by fortune, but as God had appointed, and his prophet Moses spake.
q It was strange to see raine in Egypt, much more it was fearefull to see haile.

PRayse the Lord, and call vpon his Name: a declare his workes among the people.
2 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, and talke of all his wondrous workes.
3 Reioyce in his holy Name, let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.
4 Seeke the Lord and his b strength: seeke
his face continually.
5 Remember his c marueilous workes that he hath done, his wonders, and the d iudgements of his mouth.
6 Ye seed of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iaakob, which are his elect.
7 Hee is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.
8 He hath alway remembred his couenant, and promise, that he made to a thousand generations,
9 Euen that which he e made with Abraham,
and his oath vnto Izhak:
10 And since hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a law, and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, 11 Saying, f Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.
12 Albeit they were few in number, yea very few, and strangers in the land, 13 And walked about from nation to nation,
from one kingdome to another people, 14 Yet suffered he no man to do them wrong,
but reprooued g Kings for their sakes, saying, 15 Touch not mine h anoynted, and doe my
i Prophets no harme.
16 Moreouer, hee called a famine vpon the land, and vtterly brake the k staffe of bread.
17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.
18 They held his feet in the stokes, and he was layd in yrons, 19 Vntill l his appoynted time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.
20 The King sent and loosed him; euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him.
21 He made him lord of his house, and ruler
of all his substance,
22 That hee should binde his m princes vnto
his will, and teach his Anciens wisdome.
23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.
24 And hee increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.
25 n He turned their heart to hate his people,
and to deale craftily with his seruants.
26 Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.
27 They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.
28 He sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not o disobedient vnto his commission.
29 * Hee turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.
30 * Their land brought foorth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers.
31 Hee p spake, and there came swarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters.
32 He gaue them q haile for raine, and flames
of fire in their land.
33 Hee smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coasts.
34 r He spake and the grashoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable,
35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their land,
and deuoured the fruit of their ground.
36 * He smote also all the first borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength.
37 Hee brought them foorth also with siluer and golde, and there was s none feeble among their tribes.
38 Egypt was t glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.
39 He spread a cloud to be a couering, and fire
to giue light in the night.
40 They u asked, and he brought quailes, and he filled them with the bread of heauen.
41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the dry places like a riuer.
42 For hee remembred his holy x promise to Abraham his seruant, 43 And hee brought foorth his people with
y ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse,
44 And gaue them the lands of the heathen,
& they tooke the labors of ye people in possession, 45 That they might z keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Prayse ye the Lord.

r He sheweth that all creatures are armed against man when God is his enemie, as at his commandement the grashoppers destroyed the land.
* Exod. 12. 29.
s When their enemies felt Gods plagues, his children by his prouidence were exempted.
t For Gods plagues caused them rather to depart with the Israelites, then with their liues.
u Not for necessitie, but for satisfying of their lust.
x Which he confirmeth to the posteritie, in whom after a sort the dead liue and enioy the promises.
y When the Egyptians lamented and were destroyed.
z This is the ende, why God preserueth his Church, because they should worship, and call vpon him in this world.

PSAL. CVI.

1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus, doe magnifie the goodnesse of God among the iust and repentant: 4 Desiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation. 8 And after the manifold marueiles of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed. 47 They doe pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the intent they may prayse the Name of the God of Israel.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRayse a ye the Lord because he is good, for his mercy endureth for euer.
2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shew forth all his prayse?
3 Blessed are they that b keepe iudgement, and doe righteousnesse at all times.
4 Remember mee, O Lord, with the c fauour of thy people: visit me with thy saluation, 5 That I may see the felicity of thy chosen,
and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glory
with thine inheritance.
6 Wee haue d sinned with our fathers: wee haue committed iniquity, and done wickedly.
7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red sea.
8 Neuerthelesse he e saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowen.
9 And he rebuked the red sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wil-dernesse.
10 And he saued them frō the aduersaries hand,
and deliuered them from the hand of the enemy.
11 * And the waters couered their oppressors:
not one of them was left.
12 Then f beleeued they his wordes, and sang prayse vnto him.
13 But incontinently they forgate his works:
they waited not for his g counsell,

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to prayse God for his benefites past, that thereby their mindes may be strengthened against all present troubles and despaire.
b He sheweth that it is not enough to prayse God with mouth, except the whole heart agree thereunto, and all our life be thereunto framed.
c Let the good will that thou bearest to thy people, extend vnto me, that thereby I may be receiued into the number of thine.
d By earnest confession aswell of their owne, as of their fathers sinnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promise would pitie them.
e The inestimable goodnesse of God appeareth in this, that hee would change the order of nature, rather then his people should not be deliuered, although they were wicked.
* Exod. 14. 27.
f The wonderfull workes of God caused them to beleeue for a time, and to prayse him.
g They would preuent his wisedome and prouidence.

14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wil-dernesse, and tempted God in the desert.
15 Then hee gaue them their desire: but hee sent [h] leannesse into their soule.
16 They enuied Moses also in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.
17 Therefore the earth opened and [i] swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the company of Abi-ram.
18 And the fire was kindled in their assemblie:
the flame burnt vp the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their [k] glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.
21 They forgat God their Sauiour, which had done great things in Egypt.
22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham,
and fearefull things by the red sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had [l] not Moses his chosen stood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, least hee would destroy them.
24 Also they contemned [m] that pleasant land,
and beleeued not his word, 25 But murmured in their tents and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.
26 Therefore [n] hee lifted vp his hand against them, to destroy them in the wildernesse, 27 And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreyes.
28 They ioyned themselues also vnto [o] Baal-
peor, and did eat the offerings of the [p] dead.
29 Thus they [q] prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But [r] Phinehas stoode vp, and executed
iudgement, and the plague was stayed.
31 * And it was [s] imputed vnto him for righteousnesse from generation to generation for e-uer.
32 They angred him also at the waters of
* Meribah, so that [t] Moses was punished for their sakes,
33 Because they vexed his Spirit, so that hee
spake vnaduisedly with his lips, 34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their [u] sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters whom they offred vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande
was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they stayned with their owne workes, and went [x] a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And hee gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them were lordes ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 Many [y] a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he saw when they were in affliction, &
he heard their cry.
45 And hee remembred his couenant toward them, and [z] repented according to the multitude of his mercies,
46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and [a] gather vs
from among the heathen, that wee may prayse thine holy Name, and glory in thy prayse.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVII

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord and gathered vnto him, to giue thanks, 9 for their mercifull prouidence of God gouerning all things at his good pleasure, 10 sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouth stopped.

Prayse [a] the Lord, because hee is good: for his
mercy endureth for euer.
2 Let them, [b] which haue beene redeemed of the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour.
3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the ‖ South.
4 When they wandred in the desert and wil-dernesse out of the way, and found no citie to dwell in,
5 [c] Both hungry and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.
6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse, 7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.
8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord
his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes
before the sonnes of men.
9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnesse.
10 They that dwell in darknesse and in the shadow of death, being bound in miserie and yron,
11 Because they [d] rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High,
12 When hee humbled their heart with hea-uinesse, then they fell downe, and there was no helper.
13 Then they [e] cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.
14 He brought them out of darknesse, and out of the shadow of death, and brake their bands asunder.
15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.
16 For hee hath broken the [f] gates of brasse,
and brast the barres of yron asunder.
17 [g] Fooles by reason of their transgression,

and

h The abundance that God gaue them profited not, but made them pine away, because God cursed it.
i By the greatnes of the punishment the hainous offence may be considered: for they that rise against Gods ministers, rebell against him.
k Hee sheweth that all idolaters renounce God to be their glory, when in stead of him they worship any creature, much more wood, stone, mettall, or calues.
l If Moses by his intercession had not obteined Gods fauour against their rebellions.
m That is, Canaan, which was as it were an earnest peny of the heauenly inheritance.
n That is, hee sware. Sometime also it meaneth, to punish.
o Which was the idole of the Moabites.
p Sacrifices offred to the dead idoles.
q Signifying, that whatsoeuer man inuenteth of himselfe to serue God by, is detestable, and prouoketh his anger.
r When all other neglected Gods glory, hee in his zeale killed the adulterers and preuented Gods wrath.
* Numb 25.12.
s This acte declared his liuely faith, and for his faiths sake was accepted.
* Numb.20.13. psal.95 8.
t If so notable a Prophet of God escape not punishment, though others prouoked him to sinne, how much more shall they be subiect to Gods iudgement, which cause Gods children to sinne?
u Hee sheweth how monstrous a thing idolatry is, which can winne vs to things abhorring to nature, whereas Gods word can not obteine most small things.
x Then true chastitie is to cleaue wholly and onely vnto God.
y The Prophet sheweth that neither by menaces, nor promises we can come to God, except we be altogether newly reformed, and that his mercy ouercome and hide our malice.
z Not that God is changeable in him selfe, but that then hee seemeth to vs to repent when hee altereth his punishment, and forgiueth vs.
a Gather thy Church, which is dispersed, and giue vs constancie vnder the crosse, that with one consent wee may all pray to thee, a This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed at the foote or tenour of the song, which was often times repeated.
b As this was true in the Iewes, so is there none of Gods elect, that feele not his helpe in their necessitie.
‖ Or, from the sea: meaning the red sea, which is on the South part of the land.
c He sheweth that there is none affliction so grieuous, out of the which God will not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them that are deliuered to be mindefull of so great a benefite.
d Then the true way to obey God, is to follow his expresse commandement: also hereby all are exhorted to descend into themselues, forasmuch as none are punished but for their sinnes.
e Hee sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because wee can be brought vnto him by none other meanes.
f When there seemeth to mans iudgement no recouerie, but all things are brought to despayre, then God chiefly sheweth his mighty power.
g They that haue no feare of God, by his sharpe rodds are brought to call vpon him, and so finde mercy.

and becauſe of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their ſoule abhoreth all meate, and they are brought to deaths doore.

19 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their diſtreſſe.

20 [b] Hee ſendeth his word and healeth them, and delliuereth them from their graues.

21 Let them therefore confeſſe before the Lord his louing kindneſſe, and his wonderfull workes before the ſonnes of men.

22 And let them offer ſacrifices of [k] prayſe, and declare his works with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the [l] ſea in ſhips, and occupie by the great waters,

24 They ſee the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For he commandeth and raiſeth the ſtormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.

26 They mount vpto the heauen, and deſcend to the deepe, ſo that their ſoule [m] melteth for trouble.

27 They are toſſed to and fro, and ſtagger like a drunken man, and all their [n] cunning is gone.

28 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their diſtreſſe.

29 Hee turneth the ſtorme to calme, ſo that the waues thereof are ſtill.

30 When they are [o] quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be.

31 Let them therefore confeſſe before the Lord his louing kindneſſe, and his wonderfull workes before the ſonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the [p] congregation of the people, and prayſe him in the aſſembly of the Elders.

33 Hee turneth the floods to a wildernеſſe, and the ſprings of waters into drineſſe.

34 And a fruitfull land into ‖ barrenneſſe, for the wickednеſſe of them that dwell therein.

35 Againe he [q] turneth the wildernes into pools of water, and the dry land into water ſprings.

36 And there he placeth the hungry, and they build a citie to dwell in,

37 And ſow the fields, and plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitfull [r] increaſe.

38 For he bleſſeth them, and they multiply exceedingly, and he diminiſheth not their cattell.

39 [s] Againe men are diminiſhed, and brought low by oppreſſion, euill and ſorow.

40 He powreth [t] contempt vpon princes, and cauſeth them to erre in deſert places out of [u] way.

41 Yet hee raiſeth vp the poore out of miſery, and maketh him families like a flocke of ſheepe.

42 The [w] righteous ſhall ſee it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie ſhall ſtop her mouth.

43 Who is wiſe that hee may obſerue theſe things? for they ſhall vnderſtand the louing kindneſſe of the Lord.

This Pſalme is compoſed of two other Pſalmes before the ſeuen and fiftieth and the ſixteth. The matter here contained is, 1 That David giueth himſelfe with heart and voyce to prayſe the Lord, 7 and aſſureth himſelfe of the promiſe of God concerning his kingdome ouer Iſrael, and his power againſt other nations: 11 Who though hee for ſome to forſake vs for a time, yet he alone muſt in the end caſt downe our enemies.

¶ A ſong or Pſalme of Dauid.

O God, mine heart is prepared, ſo is ‖ my tongue: I will ſing and giue prayſe.

2 Awake viole and harpe, I will awake early.

3 I will prayſe thee, O Lord, among the [b] people, and I will ſing vnto thee among the nations,

4 For thy mercy is great aboue the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

5 [c] Exalt thy ſelfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may be deliuered: [d] helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

10 Who will leade me into the ſtrong citie? who will bring me vnto Edome?

11 [f] Wilt not thou, O God, which hadſt forſaken vs, and didſt not goe foorth, O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe againſt trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we ſhall doe valiantly: for he ſhall tread downe our enemies.

[a] This earneſt affection declareth that hee is free from hypocriſie, and that ſluggiſhneſſe ſtayeth him not. ‖ Or, my glory, becauſe it chiefly ſetteth forth the glory of God.

[b] The prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles: for except they were called, they could not ſhare the goodneſſe of God.

[c] Let all the world ſee thy iudgements in that thou art God ouer all, and ſo conſeſſe that thou art glorious.

[d] When God by his benefits maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admoniſheth vs to be earneſt in prayers, to deſire him to continue and finiſh his graces.

PSAL. CIX.

[1] Dauid being falſely accuſed by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him, and to deſtroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he ſpeaketh of Iudas the traytor vnto Ieſus Chriſt, and of all the like enemyes of the children of God: 27 And deſireth to be deliuered, that his enemies may know the worke to be of God. 30 Then doth he promiſe to giue prayſe vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

HOld not thy tongue, O God of my [a] prayſe;

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened vpon mee: they haue ſpoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They compaſſed me about alſo with words of hatred, and fought againſt me without a cauſe.

4 For my friendſhip they were my aduerſaries, [b] but I gaue my ſelfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded me euill for good, and hatred for my friendſhip.

6 [c] Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduerſary ſtand at his right hand.

7 When he ſhall be iudged, let him be condemned, and let his [d] prayer be turned into ſinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his [e] charge.

9 Let his children be fatherleſſe, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg and ſeeke bread, comming out of their places deſtroied.

11 Let [f] the extortioner catch all that hee hath, and let the ſtrangers ſpoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him: neither let there be any to ſhew mercy vpon his fatherleſſe children.

13 Let his poſterity be deſtroyed, and in the generation following, let their name be put out.

14 [g] Let the iniquity of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the ſinne of his mother be done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memoriall from the earth.

[a] Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approoue mine innocency, and that is a ſufficient prayſe to me.

[b] To declare that I had no other refuge, but thee, in whom my conſcience was at reſt.

[c] Whether it were Doeg, or Saul, or ſome familiar friend that hath betrayed him, hee prayeth not of priuate affection, but mooued by Gods Spirit, that God would take vengeance vpon him.

[d] As to the elect all things turne to their profite: ſo to the reprobate, euen thoſe things that are good, turne to their damnation.

[e] This was chiefly accomplihed in Iudas. Acts 1. 20.

[f] He declareth that the curſe of God lieth vpon the extortioners, who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by God puniſhed with iudgement and fourth generation deſtroied of all. [g] Thus puniſheth the Lord to the third the wickednеſſe of the parents in their wicked children.

16 Becauſe

16 Because b he remembred not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man,
and the sorrowfull hearted to slay him.
17 As he loued cursing, i so shall it come vnto him, and as hee loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.
18 As he cloathed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.
19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith hee shall be alwayes girded.
20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersarie
k from the Lord, and of them that speake euill against my soule.
21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with mee according vnto thy l Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercy is good) 22 Because I am poore and needy, and mine heart is wounded within me.
23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the m grashopper.
24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh n hath lost all fatnesse.
25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they
that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.
26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: o saue mee according to thy mercie.
27 And they shall knowe that this is thine
hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.
28 Though p they curse, yet thou wilt blesse:
they shall arise, and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.
29 Let mine aduersaries be cloathed with shame,
and let them couer themselues with their confusion as with a cloake.
30 I will giue thanks vnto ẏ Lord greatly with my q mouth, and prayse him among the multitude.
31 For hee will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would r condemne his soule.

b He sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a strange sort that shew themselues cruell toward other.
i Thus giueth the Lord to euery man the thing wherein he delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lusts and reprobate minds.
k For being destitute of mans help, he fully trusted in the Lord, that hee would deliuer him.
l As thou art named mercifull, gracious and long suffering so shew thy selfe in effect.
m Meaning, that he hath no stay nor assurance in this world.
n For hunger, that came of sorrow, he was leane, and his naturall moisture failed him.
o The more grieuous ẏ Satan assayled him, the more earnest and instant was he in prayer.
p They shall gaine nothing by cursing mee:
q Not onely in confessing it secretly in my selfe, but also in declaring it before all the congregation.
r Hereby he sheweth that he had not to doe with them that were of litle power, but with the iudges and princes of the world.

PSAL. CX.

1 Dauid prophecieth of the power & euerlasting kingdome giuen to Christ, 4 and of his Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Leui.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

The a Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstoole.
2 The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of Zion: be thou ruler in the middes of thine enemies.
3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling c thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shalbe as the morning dew.
4 The Lord sware, and will not repent, Thou art
a Priest for euer, after the order of d Melchi-zedek.
5 The Lord that is at thy right hand, shall wound kings in the day of his wrath.
6 Hee shallbe iudge among the heathen: hee shall fill all with dead bodies, and smite the e head ouer great countries.
7 He shall drinke of the brooke in the way:
therefore shall he lift vp his head.

a Iesus Christ in the two and twentie of Matth. verse 44. giueth the interpretation hereof, and sheweth that this cannot properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to himselfe.
b And thence it shall stretch through all the world: and this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his word.
c By the word thy people shall be assembled into thy Church, whose increase shall be so abundant and wonderfull, as the drops of the dew.
d As Melchi-zedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: so the effect cannot be accomplished in any king saue onely Christ Heb. 7. 21.
e No power shalbe able to resist him. f Vnder this similitude of a captaine, that is so greedie to destroy his enemies, that he will not scarce drinke by the way, he sheweth how God will destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thankes to the Lord for his mercifull workes toward his Church, 10 and declareth wherein true wisdome and right knowledge consisteth.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

I Will a prayse the Lord with my whole heart in the assembly and congregation of the iust.
2 The works of the Lord are b great, & ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.
3 His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.
4 Hee hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.
5 He hath giuen c a ‖ portion vnto them that feare him: he will euer be mindfull of his couenāt.
6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes, in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.
7 The d workes of his hands are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.
8 They are established for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equity.
9 Hee sent redemption vnto his people: hee hath commanded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.
10 e The beginning of wisedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue f them, haue good vnderstanding: his prayse endureth for euer.

a The Prophet declareth that he will prayse God both priuately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrateth himselfe wholy and onely vnto God.
b He sheweth that Gods workes are a sufficient cause wherefore wee should prayse him, but chiefly his benefits toward his Church.
c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessarie for them, and will doe still euen for his couenants sake, and in this sense the Ebrew word is taken, Pro. 30, 8. and 31, 15.
‖ Or, pray, and food.
d As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe iust and true in the gouernement of the same.
e They onely are wise, that feare God, and obey the word. f To wit, his commandements, as verse 7.

PSAL. CXII.

1 Hee praiseth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 and condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

Blessed is the man that a feareth the Lord, and
delighteth greatly in his commandements.
2 His seed shalbe mighty vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shalbe blessed.
3 b Riches and treasures shalbe in his house,
and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.
4 Vnto the c righteous ariseth light in darknes:
he is mercifull & full of compassion & righteous.
5 A good man is mercifull, and d lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.
6 Surely he shall neuer be mooued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
7 He will not be afraide of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleeueth in the Lord.
8 His heart is established: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies.
9 Hee hath e distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousnesse remaineth for euer:
his f horne shall be exalted with glory.
10 The wicked shall see it, and be angry: hee shall gnash with his teeth, and g consume away:
the desire of the wicked shall perish.

a He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delight onely in the word of God.
b The godly shall haue abundance, and contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.
c The faithfull in all their aduersities, know that all shall goe well with them, for God will be mercifull and iust.
d He sheweth what is the fruite of mercy, to lend freely, and not for gaine, and so to measure his doings that he may be able to helpe where neede requireth, and not to bestow all on himselfe.
e The godly pinch not niggardly, but distribute liberally as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able. f His power and prosperous estate. g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord for his prouidence, 7 in that that contrary to the course of nature hee worketh in his Church.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

Prayse, O yee seruants of the Lord, a prayse the Name of the Lord.
2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from henceforth and for euer.
3 The Lords Name is praysed from the rising
of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our cold dulnes to prayse God, seeing his workes are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause.

4 The

4 The Lord is high aboue all b nations, and his glorie aboue the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high,

6 Who abaseth himselfe to behold things in the heauens and in the earth!

7 Hee rayseth the needie out of the dust, and lifteth vp the c poore out of the dung.

8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a family, and a ioyfull mother of children. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXIIII.

1 How the Israelites were deliuered out of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercy toward his Church, who when the course of nature faileth, preserueth his miraculously.

WHen * Israel went out of Egypt, and the house of Iaakob from the a barbarous people,

2 Iudah was his b sanctification, and Israel his dominion.

3 The sea saw it, and fled: Iorden was turned backe.

4 The c mountaines leaped like rammes, and the hils as lambes?

5 What ailed thee, O sea, that thou fleddest? O Iorden, why wast thou turned backe?

6 Ye mountaines why leaped ye like rammes, and ye hils as lambes?

7 The d earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iaakob.

8 Which e turneth the rocke into waterpooles, and the flint into a fountaine of water.

PSAL. CXV.

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants against whom they desire that God would succour them, 9 trusting most constantly that God will preserue them on this their need, seeing that he hath adopted and receiued them into his fauour. 18 Promising finally that they will not be vnmindfull of so great a benefite, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

NOt a vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie for thy louing mercie, and for thy trueths sake.

2 Wherefore shall the heathen say, b Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in heauen: he doth whatsoeuer he c will.

4 Their idoles are d siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes, and see not.

6 They haue eares, and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue e hands, and touch not: they haue feete, and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throat.

8 They that make them are f like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for hee is their helpe, and their shield.

10 O house of Aaron trust ye in the Lord, for he is their helpe, and their shield.

11 Yee that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper, and their shield.

12 The Lord hath beene mindfull of vs, he will bleste, hee b will bleste the house of Israel, hee will bleste the house of Aaron.

13 Hee will bleste them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lord will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you, and toward your children.

15 Ye are blessed of the Lord, which i made the heauen and the earth.

16 The k heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

17 The dead prayse not the Lord, neither any that l goe downe into the place of silence:

18 But wee will prayse the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXVI.

1 Dauid being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiuing the great goodnesse and loue of God toward him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 and protesteth that hee will be thankefull for the same.

I a Loue the Lord, because hee hath heard my voyce and my prayers.

2 For he hath inclined his eare vnto me, when I did call vpon him b in my dayes.

3 When the snares of death compassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: When I found trouble and sorow.

4 Then I called vpon the name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lord is mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in misery, and he saued me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, O d my soule: for the Lord hath beene beneficiall vnto thee.

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling.

9 I shall e walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 f I beleeued, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.

11 I sayd in my g feare, All men are liars.

12 What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?

13 I will h take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord, 14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the i death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of prayse, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my k vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the Lords house, euen in the mids of thee, O Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his Name, Ita 48.11. therefore they ground their prayer vpon this promise.

b When the wicked see that God accomplisheth not his promise as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen the impediments to serue his will.

d Seeing that neither the matter nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth that there is nothing why they should be esteemed.

e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of them, which not only haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason. f As much without sense, as blockes and stones.

g For they were appointed by God as instructers and teachers of faith and religion for others to follow.

h That is, he will continue his grace toward his people.

i And therefore doeth still gouerne and continue all things therein.

k And they declare enough his sufficiencie, so that the world seeueth him nothing, but to shew his fatherly care toward men.

l Though the dead set forth Gods glorie, yet hee meaneth here, that they prayse him not in his Church and Congregation.

a Hee granteth that no pleasure is so great, as to feele Gods helpe in our necessitie, neither that any thing more stirreth vp our loue toward him.

b That is, in conuenient time to seeke helpe, which was when he was in distresse.

c He sheweth forth the fruit of his loue in calling vpon him, confessing him to be iust and mercifull, and to helpe them that are destitute of aid and counsell.

d Which was vnquieted before, now rest vpon the Lord, for hee hath beene beneficiall towards thee.

e The Lord will preserue me, and saue my life.

f I felt all these things, and therefore was moued by faith to confesse them, 2.Cor. 4.13.

g In my great distresse I thought God would not regard man, which is but lies and vanitie, yet louer came this temptation, and felt the contrarie.

h In the Law they vsed to make a banket when they gaue solemne thankes to God, and to take the cuppe and drinke in signe of thankesgiuing.

i I perceiue that God hath a care ouer his, so that he both disposeth their death, and taketh an account.

k I will thanke him for his benefits, for that is a iust payment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

PSAL. CXVII.

1 Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to prayse God, because he hath accomplished aswell to them as to the Iewes, the promise of life euerlasting by Iesus Christ.

1 All * nations, prayse ye the Lord: all ye people, prayse him.

2 For his louing kindnesse is great toward vs, and the a trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 Dauid reiected of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obteined the kingdome. 4 For the which hee biddeth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankefull. And vnder his person in all this was Christ liuely set foorth, who should be of his people reiected.

1 Prayse a ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Let Israel now say, That his mercy endureth for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, that his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Let them that feare the Lord, now say, That is mercie endureth for euer.

5 I called vpon the Lord in b trouble, and the Lord heard me, and set me at large.

6 The Lord is with me: therefore I will not feare what c man can doe vnto me.

7 The Lord is with me amõg them that helpe me: therefore shall I see my desire vpõ mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence d in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nations haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

12 They came about me like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 e Thou hast thrust sore at me, that I might fail: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and f song: for he hath beene my deliuerance.

15 The g voyce of ioy and deliuerance shalbe in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but liue, and declare the workes of the Lord.

18 The Lord had chastened me sore, but hee hath not deliuered me to death.

19 Open ye vnto me the i gates of righteousnes, that I may goe into them, & prayse the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will prayse thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast beene my deliuerance.

22 * The stone, which the builders k refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lords doing, and it is maruelous in our eyes.

24 This is the l day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 m O Lord, I pray thee, saue now; O Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie.

26 Blessed be he, that commeth in the Name of the Lord; n wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs o light; binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will prayse thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee.

29 Prayse ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

* Rom. 15. 11.
a That is, the most certaine and continuall testimonies of his Fatherly graces.

a Because God by creating Dauid King, sheweth his mercie toward his afflicted Church, the Prophet doeth not onely himselfe thanke God, but exhorteth all the people to doe the same.
b Wee are here taught ÿ the more that troubles oppresse vs, the more ought we to be instant in prayer.
c Being exalted to this estate, he assured himselfe to haue man euer to be his enemie. Yet he doubted not, but God would mainteine him, because he had placed him.
d He sheweth that he had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue beene preferred to the kingdome, and therefore he put his trust in God and obteined.
e He noteth Saul his chiefe enemie.
f In that, he was deliuered, it came not of himselfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour, therefore he will prayse him.
g He promiseth both to render graces himselfe, and to cause others to doe the same, because that in his person the Church was restored.
h So that all, that are both farre and neere, may see his mightie power.
i He willeth the doores of the Tabernacle to be opened, that he may declare his thankfull minde.

PSAL. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holy word. 123 Also hee sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth, that is, when we serue him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

1 Blessed are a those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the Law of the Lord.

2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they worke b none iniquitie, but walke in his wayes.

4 Thou hast commaunded to keepe thy precepts diligently.

5 c Oh that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes!

6 Then should I not be confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commaundements.

7 I will prayse thee with an vpright d heart, when I shall learne the e iudgements of thy righteousnesse.

8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not f ouerlong.

a Heere they are not called blessed, which thinke themselues wise in their owne iudgement, not which imagine to themselues a certaine holinesse, but they whose conuersation is without hypocrisie.
b For they are ruled by Gods Spirite and imbrace no doctrine but his.
c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word.
d For true religion standeth in seruing God without hypocrisie.
e That is, thy precepts, which containe perfite righteousnesse.
f He refuseth not to be tryed by tentations, but he feareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmitie in time.

BETH.

9 Wherewith shall a a yong man redresse his way? in taking heede thereto according to thy word.

10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.

11 I haue b hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes.

13 With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great c delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy wayes.

16 I will delite in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

a Because youth is most giuen to licenciousnesse, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods word.
b If Gods word be grauen in our hearts, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him dayly more and more therein.
c The Prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth foorth an example for others to follow Gods word, and leaue worldly vanities.

GIMEL.

17 Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may a liue and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Law.

19 I am a b stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.

a Hee sheweth that we ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, and that we can not serue him aright, except he open our eyes and mindes.
b Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him if thy word were not his guide?

21 Thou

21 Thou c hast destroyed the proud: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements.
22 Remoone from me shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 d Princes also did sit, and speake against mee: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delite, and my counsellers.

c To all ages thou hast plagued all such which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy trueth.
d When the powers of the world gaue false sentence against mee, thy word was a guide and counseller to teach me what to doe, and to comfort mee.

DALETH.

25 My soule cleaueth to the a dust: quicken me according to thy word.
26 I haue b declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.
27 Make me to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wondrous works.
28 My soule melteth for heauinesse: rayse mee vp according to thy c word.
29 Take from me the d way of lying, and grant me graciously thy Law.
30 I haue chosen the way of trueth, and thy iudgements haue I layd before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.
32 I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou e shalt inlarge mine heart.

a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, and without thy Word I cannot liue.
b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholy on thee.
c If God did not maintaine vs by his word, our life would drop away like water.
d Instruct me in thy word, whereby my minde may be purged from vanity, and taught to obey thy will.
e By this hee sheweth that wee can neither chuse good, cleaue to Gods word, nor runne forward in his way, except hee make our hearts large to receiue grace, and willing to obey.

HE.

33 Teach a me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue me vnderstanding and I will keepe thy Law, yea, I will keepe it with my whole b heart.
35 Direct mee in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies: and not to c couetousnes.
37 Turne away mine d eyes from regarding vanity, and quicken me in thy way.
38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.
39 Take away e my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Behold, I desire thy commandements: f quicken me in thy righteousnesse.

a He sheweth that he cannot follow on to the end, except God teach him oft times, and leade him forward.
b Not onely in outward conuersation, but also with inward affection.
c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is the roote of all euill.
d Meaning, all his senses.
e Let me not fall to thy dishonour, but let mine heart still delite in thy gracious word.
f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the end.

VAV.

41 And let thy louing a kindnesse come vnto mee, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise.
42 So shall I b make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.
43 And take not the worde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements.
44 So shall I alway keepe thy Law for euer and euer.
45 And I will c walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.
46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before d Kings, and will not be ashamed.
47 And my delite shall be in thy Commandements, which I haue loued.
48 Mine handes also will I lift vp vnto thy Commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes.

a He sheweth that Gods mercy and loue is the first cause of our saluation.
b By trusting in Gods word hee assureth himselfe to be able to confute the slanders of his aduersaries.
c They that simply walke after Gods word, haue no lets to intangle them, whereas they that doe contrary, are euer in nettes and snares.
d Hee sheweth that the children of God ought not to suffer their Fathers glory to be obscured by the vaine pompe of princes.

ZAIN.

49 Remember a the promise made to thy seruant; wherein thou hast caused me to trust.
50 It is my comfort in my trouble; for thy promise hath quickened me.
51 The b proud haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.
52 I remembred thy c iudgements of olde, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.
53 d Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Law.
54 Thy statutes haue beene my songs in the house of my e pilgrimage.
55 I haue remembred thy Name, O Lord, in the f night, and haue kept thy Law.
56 g This I had because I kept thy precepts.

a Though hee feele Gods hand still to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promise, and comforteth himselfe therein.
b Meaning, the wicked, which contemne Gods word, and treade his Religion vnder foo e.
c That is, the examples, whereby thou declarest thy selfe to be iudge of the world.
d That is, a vehement zeale to thy glory and indignation against the wicked.
e In the course of this life and sorowfull exile.
f Euen when other sleepe.
g That is, all these benefits.

CHETH.

57 O Lord, that art my a portion, I haue determined to keepe thy words.
58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto mee according to thy promise.
59 I haue considered my b wayes, and turned my feet into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste and delayed not to keepe thy commandements.
61 The bands of the wicked haue c robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am d companion of all them that feare thee, and keept thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: e teach me thy statutes.

a I am perswaded that to keepe thy Law is an heritage and great gaine for me.
b He sheweth that none can imbrace the word of God, except he consider his owne imperfections and wayes.
c They haue gone about to draw me into their company.
d Not onely in mutual consent, but also with aide and succour.
e For the knowledge of Gods word is a singular token of his fauour.

TETH.

65 O Lord, thou hast dealt a graciously with thy seruant, according vnto thy word.
66 Teach me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleeued thy commandements.
67 Before I was b afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.
68 Thou art good and gracious: teach mee thy statutes.
69 The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart.
70 c Their heart is fat as greale, but my delight is in thy Law.
71 It is d good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.
72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto mee, then thousands of gold and siluer.

a Hauing prooued by experience that God was true in his promise, hee desireth that he would increase in him knouledge and iudgement.
b So Ieremie saith, that before the Lord touched him, he was like a calfe vntamed: so that the vse of Gods rods, is to call vs home to God.
c Their heart is indurate and hardened, puffed vp with prosperitie and vaine estimation of themselues.
d Hee confesseth that before that hee was chastened, he was rebellious, as man by nature is.

IOD.

73 Thine hands haue a made mee and fashioned me: giue mee vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandements.
74 So they that b feare thee, seeing mee, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted me † iustly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me, according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.
77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may c liue: for thy Law is my delight.
78 Let the proude be ashamed: for they haue deal

a Because God leaueth not his worke that he hath begun, he desireth a new grace: that is, that hee would continue his mercies.
b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he testifieth to others, that he faileth not them that trust in him.
c Hee declareth, that when he felt not Gods mercies, he was as dead.

dealt wickedly and falsly with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee [d] turne vnto me, and they that [e] know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart be vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

CAPH.

81 My soule [a] fainteth for thy saluation; yet I wait for thy word.

82 Myne eyes fayle for thy promise, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a [b] bottle in the smoke; yet doe I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the [c] dayes of thy seruant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proud haue [d] digged pits for me, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsly: [e] helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed [f] me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimony of thy mouth.

d That is, be comforted by mine example.
e He sheweth that there can be no true feare of God without the knowledge of his word.
a Though my strength faile me, yet my soule groneth and sigheth, resting still in thy word.
b Like a skinbottle or bladder ẏ is parched in the smoke.
c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?
d They haue not onely oppressed me violently, but also craftily conspired against me.
e He assureth himselfe, that God will deliuer his and destroy such as vniustly persecute them.
f Finding no helpe in earth, he lifteth vp his eyes to heauen.

LAMED.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in [a] heauen.

90 Thy trueth is from generation to generation: thou hast layed the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They [b] continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

92 Except thy law had bin my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.

93 I will neuer forget thy precepts, for by them thou hast quickned me.

94 I am [b] thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies.

96 I [d] haue seene an end of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large.

a Because none should esteeme Gods word according to the changes of things in this world, he sheweth that it abideth in heauen, and therefore is immutable.
b Seeing the earth and all creatures remaine in that estate wherein thou hast created them, much more thy trueth remaineth constant and vnchangeable.
c He prooueth by effect, that he is Gods child, because he seeketh to vnderstand his word.
d There is nothing so perfect in earth, but it hath an end, onely Gods word lasteth for euer.

MEN.

97 Oh how loue I thy law! it is my meditation [a] continually.

98 By thy commandements thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer ẇ me.

99 I haue had more [b] vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I vnderstood more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrained my feete from euery euill way, that I might keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for [c] thou diddest teach me.

103 How sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth; yea, more then hony vnto my mouth.

104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood.

a He sheweth that we cannot loue Gods word, except we exercise our selues therein and practise it.
b Whosoeuer doeth submit himselfe onely to Gods word, shall not onely be safe against the practises of his enemies, but also learne more wisdome then they that professe it, and are men of experience.
c So then of our selues we can doe nothing: but when God doth inwardly instruct vs with his spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then hony.

NVN.

105 Thy word is a [a] lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my paths.

106 I haue [b] sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.

108 O Lord, I beseech thee, accept the [c] free offerings of my mouth, and teach me thy iudgements.

109 My [d] soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy law.

110 The wicked haue laid a snare for me: but I swarued not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an [e] heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.

112 I haue applyed mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the end.

a Of our selues we are but darkenesse and cannot see, except we be lightened with Gods word.
b So all the faithfull ought to bind themselues to God by a solemne oath and promise, to stirre vp their zeale to embrace Gods word.
c That is, my prayers and thanksgiuing which sacrifice Hosea calleth the calues of the lips, Chap. 14. verse. 3.
d That is, I am in continuall danger of my life.
e I esteemed no worldly things, but made thy word mine inheritance.

SAMECH.

113 I hate [a] vaine inuentions: but thy Law doe I loue.

114 Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy word.

115 [b] Away from mee, yee wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God.

116 Stablish me according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope.

117 [c] Stay thou me, and I shalbe safe, and I will delight continually in thy statutes.

118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their [d] deceit is vaine.

119 Thou hast taken away all the wicked of the earth like [e] drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.

120 My flesh [f] trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraid of thy iudgements.

a Whosoeuer will embrace Gods word aright, must abhorre all fantasies and imaginations both of himselfe and others.
b And hinder me not to keepe the Law of the Lord.
c He desireth Gods continuall assistance, least hee should faint in this race, which he had begun.
d The craftie practises of them that contemne thy Law, shall be brought to nought.
e Which infected thy people, as drosse doeth the metall.
f Thy iudgements do not onely teach me obedience, but cause me to feare, considering mine own weaknesse, which feare causeth repentance.

AIN.

121 I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressour.

122 [a] Answere for thy seruant in that which is good, and let not the proud oppresse me.

123 Mine eyes haue fayled in waytıng for thy saluation, and for thy iust promise.

124 Deale with thy [b] seruant according to thy mercy, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy seruant: grant mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is [c] time for thee, Lord, to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Law.

127 Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue gold, yea, aboue most fine gold.

128 Therefore I esteemed all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false [d] wayes.

a Put thy selfe betweene mine enemies and me, as if thou were my pledge.
b He boasteth not that he is Gods seruant, but hereby putteth God in mind that as he made him his by his grace, so hee would continue his fauour toward him.
c The Prophet sheweth that when the wicked haue brought all things to confusion, and Gods word to vtter contempt, then it is Gods time to helpe and send remedy.
d That is, whatsoeuer dissenteth from the puritie of thy word.

PE.

129 Thy testimonies are [a] wonderfull: therefore doth my soule keepe them.

130 The entrance into thy [b] wordes sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple.

131 I opened my mouth, and [c] panted, because I loued thy commandements.

132 Looke vpon mee and be mercifull vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.

133 Direct my steps in thy word, and let none iniquity haue dominion ouer me.

134 Deliuer me from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts.

135 Shew the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teach me thy statutes.

a Conteining hie and secret mysteries, so that I am mooued with admiration and reuerence.
b The simple ideots that submit themselues to God, haue their eyes opened and their minds illuminated, as soone as they begin to read Gods word.
c My zeale toward thy word was so great.

136 Mine eyes gush d out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Law.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements.
138 Thou hast commanded a iustice by thy testimonies and trueth especially.
139 *My zeale hath euen consumed mee; because mine enemies haue forgotten thy words.
140 Thy word is prooued b most pure, and thy seruant loueth it.
141 I am c small and despised: yet doe I not forget thy precepts.
142 Thy righteousnes is an euerlasting righ-teousnes, and thy Law is trueth.
143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon me:
yet are thy commandements my delight.
144 The righteousnesse of thy testimonies is euerlasting: grant me vnderstanding, and I shall d liue.

KOPH.

145 I haue a cried with my whole heart: heare
me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes.
146 I called vpon thee; saue me, and I will keepe thy testimonies.
147 I preuented the morning light, and cried:
for I waited on thy word.
148 Mine eyes b preuent the night watches, to meditate in thy word.
149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy ‖ iudgement.
150 They draw neere that follow after c malice, and are farre from thy law.
151 Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy com-mandements are true.
152 I haue knowen long since d by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

RESH.

153 Behold mine affliction, and deliuer me: for
I haue not forgotten thy law.
154 Pleade my cause, and deliuer me; quicken me according vnto thy word.
155 Saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes.
156 Great art thy tender mercies, O Lord:
quicken me according to thy b iudgements.
157 My persecutors and mine oppressours are many: yet doe I not swarue from thy testimonies.
158 I saw the transgressors and was c grieued,
because they kept not thy word.
159 Consider, O Lord, how I d loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kind-nesse.
160 The e beginning of thy word is trueth,
and all the iudgements of thy righteousnes indure
for euer.

SCHIN.

161 Princes haue a persecuted mee without cause: but mine heart stood in awe of thy words.
162 I reioyce at thy word, as one that findeth
a great spoyle.
163 I hate falshood and abhorre it, but thy Law doe I loue.
164 b Seuen times a day doe I prayse thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
165 They that c loue thy law, shall haue great prosperity, and they shall haue none hurt.
166 Lord, I haue d trusted in thy saluation, and
haue done thy commandements.
167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.
168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: e for all my wayes are before thee.

TAV.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O
Lord, and giue me vnderstanding a according vn-
to thy word.
170 Let my supplication come before thee, and
deliuer me according to thy promise.
171 My lips shall b speake prayse, when thou hast c taught me thy statutes.
172 My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous.
173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.
174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord,
and thy Law is my delight.
175 Let my soule liue, and it shall prayse thee,
and thy d iudgements shall helpe me.
176 I haue e gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commaundements.

d He sheweth what ought to be ÿ zeale of Gods children, when they see his word contemned.

a We cannot confesse God to be righteous, except we liue vprightly and truely, as he hath commanded.
* Psal. 69, 9. iohn. 2, 17.
b Gold hath need to be fined, but thy word is perfection it selfe.
c This is the true triall, to prayse God in aduersity.
d So that the life of man without the knowledge of God, is death.

a He sheweth that all his affections and whole heart were bent to Godward for to haue helpe in his dangers.
b He was more earnest in the study of Gods word, then they that kept the watch were in their charge.
‖ Or, custome.
c He sheweth the nature of the wicked to be to persecute against their conscience.
d His faith is grounded vpon Gods word, that he would euer be at hand when his children be oppressed.

a For without Gods promise there is no hope of deliuerance.
b According to thy promise made in the law, which because the wicked lacke, they can haue no hope of saluation.
c My zeale consumed me when I saw their malice and contempt of thy glory.
d It is a sure signe of our adoption, when we loue the Law of God.
e Since thou first promisedst, euen to the end all thy sayings are true.

a The threatnings and persecutions of princes could not cause me to shrinke to confesse thee whom I more feare then men.
b That is, often and sundry times.
c For their conscience assureth them, that they please thee, whereas they, that loue not thee, haue the contrary.

d He sheweth that we must first haue faith before we can worke and please God.
e I had no respect of men, but set thee alwayes before mine eyes, as the iudge of my doings.

a As thou hast promised to be the schoolmaster vnto all them that depend vpon thee.
b The word signifieth to powre forth continually.
c All his prayer and desire is to profit in the word of God.

d That is, thy prouident care ouer me, and wherewith thou wilt iudge mine enemies.
e Being chased to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

PSAL. CXX.

1 The prayer of David being vexed by the false reports of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore he lamenteth his long abode among those infidels. 7 Who were giuen to all kinde of wickednes and contention.

¶ A song of a degrees.

I Called vnto the Lord in my b trouble, and hee heard me.
2 Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lips,
and from a deceitfull tongue.
3 What doeth thy c deceitfull tongue bring vnto thee? or what doeth it auaile thee?
4 It is as the d sharpe arrowes of a mightie man, and as the coales of Iuniper.
5 Woe is to me that I remaine in e Meshech,
and dwell in the tents of f Kedar.
6 My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.
7 I seeke g peace, and when I speake thereof,
they are bent to warre.

a That is, of lifting vp the tune and rising in singing.
b Albeit the children of God ought to reioyce when they suffer for righteousnes sake, yet it is a great griefe to the flesh to beare euill for well doing.
c He assured himselfe that God would turne their craft to their owne destruction.
d He sheweth that there is nothing so sharpe to pierce, nor so hot to set on fire, as a slaunderous tongue. e These were people of Arabia, which came of Iaphet, Genesis 10, 2. f That is, of the Ishmaelites. g He declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, and Kedar, to wit, the Israelites, which had degenerate from their godly father, and hated and contended against the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalme teacheth that the faithfull ought onely to looke for helpe at God, 7 who onely doth maintaine, preserue and prosper his Church.

¶ A song of degrees.

I Will lift vp mine eyes ‖ vnto the mountaines,
from whence my helpe shall come.
2 Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hath made the a heauen and the earth.
3 He will not suffer thy foot to slip, for he that keepeth thee, will not b slumber.
4 Behold, he that keepeth Israel; will neither slumber nor sleepe.
5 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand.
6 The sunne shall not c smite thee by day, nor
the moone by night.

‖ Or, aboue the mountaines: meaning, that there is nothing so high in this world, wherein he can trust, but onely in God.
a He accuseth mans ingratitude, which cannot depend on Gods power.
b He sheweth that Gods prouidence not onely watcheth ouer his Church in generall: but also ouer euery member thereof. c Neither heat nor cold, nor any incommodity shall be able to destroy Gods Church, albeit for a time they may molest it.

7 The Lord shall preserue thee from all euill: he shall keepe thy soule.
8 The Lord shall preserue thy d going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

d Whatsoeuer thou doest enterprise, shall haue good successe.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 Dauid reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promise and placed his Arke in Zion. 5 For the which hee giueth thankes, 8 And prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 I * a Reioyced when they said to me, We will goe into the house of the Lord.
2 Our b feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.
3 Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is c compact together in it selfe:
4 Whereunto d the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord go vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to prayse the Name of the Lord.
5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of e Dauid.
6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.
7 Peace be within thy f walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces.
8 For my g brethren and neighbours sakes, I will wish thee now prosperitie.
9 Because of the House of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

* 1.Chron.29.9.
a He reioyceth that God had appoynted a place, where the Arke should still remaine.
b Which were wont to wander to and fro, as the Arke remooued.
c By the artificiall ioyning and beautie of the houses, he meaneth the concord and loue that was betweene the citizens.
d All the tribes according to Gods couenant shall come and pray there.
e In whose house God placed the throne of iustice, and made it a figure of Christs kingdome. f The fauour of God prosper thee both within and without. g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithfull, which were afflicted either in Babylon or vnder Antiochus, by the wicked worldlings and contemners of God.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.
2 Behold, as the eyes of a seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God, vntill he haue mercie vpon vs.
3 Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for wee haue b suffered too much contempt.
4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnesse of the proud.

a He compareth the condition of the godly, to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, assuring that when all other helpes faile, God is euer at hand and like himselfe.
b He declareth that when the faithfull are so full, that they can no more endure the oppressions and scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

PSAL. CXXIV.

1 The people of God, escaping a great perill, doe acknowledge themselues to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. 4 They doe are the greatnesse of the perill. 6 And prayse the name of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 IF the Lord had not beene a on our side, (may Israel now say)
2 If the Lord had not beene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,
3 They had then swallowed vs vp b quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs.
4 Then the c waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:
5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.
6 Praysed be the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.
7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the d snare of the foulers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.
8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

a He sheweth that God was ready to helpe at neede, and that there was none other way to be saued, but by his onely meanes.
b So vnable were we to resist.
c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great danger that the Church was in, and out of the which God miraculously deliuered them.
d For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 Hee describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions. 4 And desireth their wealth. 5 And the destruction of the wicked.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 THey that trust in the Lord, shall be as mount Zion, which cannot a be remooued, but remaineth for euer.
2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth and for euer.
3 For the b rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, least the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednesse.
4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.
5 c But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

a Though the world be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shall stand sure, and be defended by Gods prouidence.
b Though God suffer his to be vnder the crosse least they should embrace wickednesse, yet this crosse shall not so rest vpon them, that it should driue them from hope.
c He desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites, and such as haue no zeale of the trueth.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, & sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuentie yeeres of captiuitie forespoken by Ieremie, Chap. 25.12. and 29.10.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 WHen the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, wee were like them that a dreame.
2 Then was our mouth b filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioy: then said they among the c heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.
3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.
4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the d riuers in the South.
5 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.
6 They went weeping, and caried e precious seede: but they shall returne with ioy, and bring their sheaues.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore tooke away all excuse of ingratitude.
b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.
c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull worke, the faithfull can neuer shew themselues sufficiently thankefull. d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to runne in the Wildernesse and barren places. e That is, seede which was scarce and deare: meaning, that they which trusted in Gods promise to returne, had their desire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domesticall and politicall, standeth by Gods meere prouidence and blessing. 3 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especiall grace and gift of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Salomon.

1 EXcept the Lord a build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the b citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.
2 It is in vaine for c you to rise earely, and to lie downe late, and eat the bread d of sorow: but hee will surely giue e rest to his beloued.
3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruit of the wombe his reward.
4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man; so are the f children of youth.
5 Blessed is the man that hath his quiuer full of them: for they g shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

a That is, gouerne and dispose all things pertaining to the familie.
b The publike estate of the common-wealth.
c Which watch and ward, and are also magistrates, and rulers of the citie.
d Either that which is gotten by hard labour, or eaten with griefe of minde.
e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable and as it were a rest. f That is, endued with strength and vertues from God, for these are signes of Gods blessings, and not the number. g Such children shall be able to stop their aduersaries mouthes, when their godly life is maliciously accused before Iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednesse appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A song of degrees.

BLessed is euery one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his [a] wayes.
2 When thou eatest the labours of thine
[b] hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shalbe well
with thee.
3 Thy wife shalbe as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy [c] children like the oliue plants round about thy table.
4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.
5 The Lord out of Zion shall [d] blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of [e] Ierusalem all
the dayes of thy life.
6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children,
and peace vpon Israel.

a God approoueth not our life, except it be reformed according to his word.
b The world esteemeth them happy, which liue in wealth and idlenesse: but the holy Ghost approoueth them best that liue of the meane profite of their labours.
c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing, more then in increase of children, he promiseth to enrich the faithfull with this gift.
d Because of the spirituall blessing which God hath made to his Church, these temporal things shall be graunted.
e For except God blessed his Church publikely, this priuate blessing were nothing.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be deliuered. 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shew, shall suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

THey haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth (may [a] Israel now say.)
2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.
3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.
4 But the [b] righteous Lord hath cut the cords of the wicked.
5 They that hate Zion, shall be all ashamed and turned backward.
6 [c] They shalbe as the grasse on the house
tops, which withereth afore it commeth forth.
7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand,
neither the glainer his lap:
8 [d] Neither they which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

a The Church now afflicted, ought to remember how her condition hath euer beene such from the begining to be molested most grieuously by the wicked: yet in time it hath euer beene deliuered.
b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his, as oxen out of the plough.
c The enemies that lift them selues most high, and as it were approach neere to the Sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie.
d That is, the wicked shall perish, and none shall passe for them.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes, and flee vnto Gods mercies.

¶ A song of degrees.

OVt of the [a] deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.
2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers.
3 If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, [b] who shall stand?
4 But mercie is with thee, that thou [c] mayest be feared.
5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his word.
6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then
the morning watch watcheth for the morning.
7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is [d] mercie, and with him is great redemption.
8 And hee shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

a Being in great distresse and sorow.
b He declareth that we cannot be iust before God, but by forgiuenesse of sinnes.
c Because of nature thou art mercifull: therefore the faithfull reuerence thee.
d He sheweth to whom the mercy of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church and not to the reprobate.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 David charged with ambition and greedie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men what they should doe.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of David.

LOrd, [a] mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eyes lofty, neither haue I walked in great [b] matters and hid from me.
2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is [c] wained.
3. Let Israel waite on the Lord from hence-foorth and for euer.

a He setteth forth his great humility, as an example to all rulers and gouernours.
b Which passe the measure and limits of his vocation.
c He was void of ambition and wicked desires.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull grounding on Gods promise made vnto David, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie, and the building of the Temple, to pray there as was forespoken, Deut. 12, 5.

¶ A song of degrees.

LOrd, remember Dauid with all his [a] affliction:
2 Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying, 3 I [b] will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed.
4 Not suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye
lids to slumber.
5 Vntill I finde out a place for the [c] Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iaakob.
6 Lo, we heard of it in [d] Ephrathah, and found it in the fields of the forrest.
7 Wee will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstole.
8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy [e] rest, thou,
and the Arke of thy strength.
9 Let thy Priests be cloathed with [f] righteous-nesse, and let thy Saints reioyce.
10 For thy [g] seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anoynted.
11 The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Da-uid, and he will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruit of thy body will I set vpon thy throne.
12 If thy sonnes keepe my Couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes
also shall sit vpon thy throne for [h] euer.
13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued
to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer; here will I dwell,
for I haue a [i] delight therein.
15 I will surely blesse her vitailes, and will sa-tisfie her poore with bread.
16 And will cloath her Priests with [k] saluation, and her Saints shall shout for ioy.
17 There will I make the [l] horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine An-oynted
18 His enemies will I cloath with shame, but on him his crowne shall florish.

a That is, with how great difficultie he came to the kingdom, and with how great zeale and care he went about to build thy Temple.
b Because the chiefe charge of the king was to set foorth Gods glory, he sheweth that he could take no rest, neither would goe about any worldly thing, were it neuer so necessarie, before he had executed his office.
c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods presence.
d The common bruit was that the Arke should remaine in Ephrathah, that is, in Beth-lehem a plentifull place: but after we perceiued that thou wouldest place it in Ierusalem, which was barren as a forrest, and compassed about onely with hilles.
e That is, Ierusalem, because that afterward his Arke should remoue to none other place.
f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Priests and in the people.
g As thou first madest promise to Dauid, so continue it to his posteritie, that whatsoeuer they shall aske for their people, it may be granted.
h Because this cannot be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the promise was spirituall.
i Meaning, for his owne sake, and not for the pleutifulnesse of the place for he promiseth to blesse it, declaring before that it was barren.
k That is, with my protection, whereby they shalbe safe.
l Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme conteineth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the seruants of God

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of David.

BEhold, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen [a] together.

a Because the greatest part were against Dauid, though some fauoured him, yet when hee was established king at length, they ioyned altogether like brethren: and therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue.

2 It

2 It is like to the precious b oyntment vpon
the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments.
3 And as the dew of c Hermon which falleth vpon the mountains of Zion: for d there the Lord appoynted the blessing and life for euer.

b The oyntment was a figure of the graces which come from Christ ÿ head vnto his Church.
c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentifull countrey about Ierusalem.
d Where there is such concord.

PSAL. CXXXIV.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites watching in the Temple, to prayse the Lord.

¶ A song of degrees.

BEhold, prayse ye the Lord, all yee a seruants of the Lord, yee that by night stand in the house of the Lord.
2 Lift vp your b hands to the Sanctuary, and prayse the Lord.
3 The Lord that c hath made heauen and earth,
blesse thee out of Zion.

a Ye that are Leuites and chiefly appoynted to this office.
b For their charge was not onely to keepe the Temple, but to pray there, and to giue God thanks.
c And therefore hath all power, blesse thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vsed to prayse the Lord, and blesse the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 Hee exhorteth all the faithfull, of what estate soeuer they be, to prayse God for his marueilous workes. 12 And specially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hath declared his Maiestie. 15 To the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRayse the Name of the Lord; yee seruants of the Lord, prayse him.
2 Yee that a stand in the House of the Lord,
and in the b courts of the House of our God.
3 Prayse yee the Lord for the Lord is good:
sing prayses vnto his Name: for it is a comely
thing
4 For the Lord hath c chosen Iaakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure.
5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.
6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that d did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea & in all the depths.
7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the * lightnings with the raine: hee draweth foorth the winde out of his treasures.
8 * He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.
9 Hee hath sent tokens and wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon
all his seruants.
10 * He smote many nations, and slew mighty
Kings:
11 As Sihon King of the Amorites, and Og
king of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:
12 And e gaue their land for an inheritance,
euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.
13 Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O
Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.
14 For the Lord will f iudge his people, and be pacified toward his seruants.
15 The g idoles of the heathen are siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.
16 They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes and see not.
17 They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth.
18 They that make them, are like vnto them:
so are all that trust in them.
19 Prayse the Lord, yee house of Israel: prayse
the Lord, ye house of Aaron.
20 Prayse the Lord, ye house of Leui: yee that feare the Lord, prayse the Lord.
21 Praysed be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Ye Leuites that are in his Sanctuary.
b Meening, the people: for the people and Leuites had their courts, which were places of the Temple separate.
c That is, hath freely loued the posterity of Abraham.
d He ioyned Gods power with his will, to the intent that we should not separate them, and hereby he willeth Gods people to depend on his power which he confirmed by examples.
* Iere. 10, 13.
* Exod. 12. 29.
* Num. 21, 24, 34.
e He sheweth what fruit the godly conceiue of Gods power, whereby they see how he destroyeth his enemies, and deliuereth his people.
f That is, gouerne and defend his people.
g By shewing what punishment God appoynteth for the heathen idolaters, hee warneth his people to beware the like offences, seeing that idoles haue neither power nor life, and that their deliuerance came not by idols, but by the mighty power of God. Reade Psal. 115, verse 4.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A most earnest exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation & gouernance of all things, which standeth in confessing that he giueth vs al of his meere liberalitie.

PRayse ye the Lord, because he is good: for his a mercy endureth for euer.
2 Prayse yee the God of gods: for his mercie
endureth for euer.
3 Prayse yee the Lord of lords; for his mercie
endureth for euer.
4 Which onely doeth great wonders; for his mercie endureth for euer.
5 Which by his wisedome made the heauens,
for his mercie endureth for euer.
6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon
the waters: for his b mercie endureth for euer.
7 Which made great lights: for his mercy endureth for euer.
8 As the sunne to rule the day; for his mercy
endureth for euer.
9 The Moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercy endureth for euer:
10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne,
(for his mercy endureth for euer.)
11 And c brought out Israel from among them; for his mercie endureth for euer.
12 With a mighty hand and d stretched out
arme; for his mercie endureth for euer:
13 Which diuideth the Sea into two parts;
for his mercie endureth for euer.
14 And made Israel to passe through the mids
of it; for his mercie endureth for euer:
15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his hoaste in the red Sea; for his mercie endureth for euer:
16 Which led his people thorow the e wildernes;
for his mercie endureth for euer:
17 Which smote great Kings: for his mercie
endureth for euer.
18 And slew f mighty Kings: for his mercie
endureth for euer:
19 As Sihon king of the Amorites: for his
mercy endureth for euer:
20 And Og the king of Bashan: for his mercy
endureth for euer:
21 And gaue their land for an heritage; for his mercy endureth for euer:
22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant;
for his mercy endureth for euer:
23 Which remembred vs in our g base estate;
for his mercy endureth for euer.
24 And hath rescued vs from our oppressours;
for his mercy endureth for euer:
25 Which giueth food to all h flesh; for his
mercy endureth for euer:
26 i Prayse ye the God of heauen; for his mercie
endureth for euer.

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits binde vs to thankesgiuing, but chiefly his mercy, which is principally declared towards his Church.
b This was a common kinde of thankesgiuing, which the whole people vsed, when they had receiued any benefit of God. as 2 Chron. 7. 6 and 20. 21 meaning, that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers but also continued the same to their posterity.
c Gods mercifull prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies.
d In doing such a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could doe.
e Where for the space of fourty yeeres he sheweth infinite and most strange wonders.
f Declaring thereby that no power nor authority was so deare vnto him, as the loue of his Church.
g In our greatest affliction and slauery, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.
h Seeing that God prouideth euen for the beasts, much more hath he care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefits.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true Religion decay, liued in great anguish & sorow of heart: the which griefe the Caldeans did so little pitie. 3 That they rather increased the same dayly with tauntes, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them 8 And moued by the Spirit of God, prophecie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously

BY the riuers of Babel we a sate, and there wee wept, when we remembred Zion.
2 We hanged our harpes vpon the willowes

a That is, we abode a long time, and albeit the countrie was pleasant, yet could it not stay our teares, nor turne vs from ÿ true seruice of our God.

in

in the mids [b] thereof.
3 Then they that led vs captiue, [c] required of vs songs and mirth, when we had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.
4 How shall wee sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land?
5 [d] If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.
6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue
cleaue to the roofe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my [e] chiefe ioy.
7 Remember the children of [f] Edom, O Lord, in the [g] day of Ierusalem, which said, Rase it, rase
it to the foundation thereof.
8 O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.
9 [h] Blessed shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

b To wit, of that countrey.
c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God.
d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefes, yet the common sorow of the Church is most grieuous vnto them, and is such, as they cannot but remember and lament.
e The decay of Gods religion in their countrey was so grieuous, that no ioy could make them glad, except it were restored.
f According as Ezekiel 25.13. and Ieremiah 49.7. verse prophecied: and Obadiah, vers. 10. sheweth that the Edomites which came of Esau, conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsfolke.
g When God did visit Ierusalem.
h He alludeth to Isaiahs prophecie, Chap. 13. and 16. verse, promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whom ambition mooued to fight against Babylon: but God vsed them as his rods to punish his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

1 Dauid with great courage praiseth the goodnesse of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 That it is knowen to forrein princes, who shall prayse the Lord together with him. 6 And hee is assured to haue the like comfort of God in the time following, as he had heretofore.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will prayse thee with my whole heart: euen before the [a] gods will I prayse thee.
2 I will worship toward thine holy [b] Temple and prayse thy Name, because of thy louing kind-nesse and for thy trueth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.
3 When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast [c] increased strength in my soule.
4 All the [d] kings of the earth shall prayse thee,
O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.
5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.
6 For the Lord is high, yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth [e] afarre off.
7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble,
yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch foorth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.
8 The Lord will [f] performe his worke toward mee: O Lord, thy mercy endureth for euer: forsake not the works of thine hands.

a Euen in the presence of Angels and of them that haue authority among men.
b Both the Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Christs comming were abolished: so that now God will be worshipped only in spirit and trueth, Iohn 4, 23.
c Thou hast strengthened me against mine outward and inward enemies.
d All the world shall confesse that thou hast wonderfully preserued me, and performed thy promise.
e Distance of place cannot hinder God to shew mercy to his, and to iudge the wicked though they thinke that he is farre off.
f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his worke in me, will continue his grace to the end.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 Dauid cleanseth his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not. 13 Which hee confirmeth by the creation of man, 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, hee protesteth to be enemie to all them that contemne God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, thou hast tried me, and knowen me.
2 Thou knowest my [a] sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thoughts afarre off.
3 Thou [b] compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.
4 For there is not a word in my [c] tongue, but
loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.
5 Thou holdest me straite behind and before,
and layest thine [d] hand vpon me.
6 Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for me:
it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it.
7 Whither shall I goe from thy [e] Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?
8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.
9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea:
10 Yet thither shall thine hand [f] leade me, and thy right hand hold me.
11 If I say, Yet the darknesse shall hide me,
euen the night shallbe [g] light about me.
12 Yea, the darkenesse hideth not from thee:
but the night shineth as the day: the darkenesse
and light are both alike.
13 For thou hast [h] possessed my reines: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.
14 I will prayse thee, for I am [i] fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes,
and my soule knoweth it well.
15 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned [k] beneath in the earth.
16 Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: [l] for in thy booke were all things written,
which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.
17 How [m] deare therefore are thy thoughts
vnto me, O God! how great is the summe of them!
18 If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I awake, [n] I am still with thee.
19 Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart
ye from me:
20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.
21 Doe not I [o] hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?
22 I hate them with an vnfained hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.
23 Try mee, O God, and knowe mine heart:
prooue me and know my thoughts.
24 And consider if there be any [p] way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the [q] way for euer.

a He confesseth that neither our actions, thoughts, or any part of our life can be hid from God, though he seeme to be farre off.
b So that they are euidently knowen to thee.
c Thou knowest my meaning before I speake.
d Thou so guidest mee with thine hand, that I can turne no way, but where thou appointest me.
e From thy power and knowledge?
f Thy power doth so fast hold me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.
g Though darknesse be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth thine eyes as well as the light.
h Thou hast made me in all parts, and therefore must needs know me.
i Considering thy wonderfull worke in forming me, I cannot but praise thee and feare thy mighty power.
k That is, in my mothers wombe: which he compareth to the inward parts of the earth.
l Seeing that thou diddest know me before I was composed of either flesh or bone, much more now must thou know me when thou hast fashioned me.
m How ought we to esteeme the excellent declaration of thy wisedome in the creation of man?
n I continually see new occasions to meditate in thy wisedome, and to prayse thee.
o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely.
p Or, any heinous way or rebellious: meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne, yet was he not giuen to wickednesse, and to prouoke God by rebellion.
q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the end.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Dauid complaineth of the crueltie, falshood and iniuries of his enemies. 8 Against the which hee prayeth vnto the Lord, and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore hee prouoketh the iust to prayse the Lord, and to assure themselues of his tuition.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

DEliuer mee, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the [a] cruell man:
2 Which imagine euill things in their [b] heart,
and make warre continually.
3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: [c] adders poison is vnder their lips, Selah.
4 Keepe [d] me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked; preserue me from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.
5 The proud haue layd a snare for mee, and spread a net with cordes in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah.
6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art
my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers.

a Which persecuteth me of malice and without cause.
b That is, by their false cauillations & lies they kindle the hatred of the wicked against me.
c He sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power and force faile them.
d He declareth what is the remedie of the godly, when they are oppressed by the worldlings.

7 O Lord God the ſtrength of my ſaluation, thou [e] haſt couered my head in the day of battell.
8 Let not the wicked haue his deſire, O Lord; [f] performe not his wicked thought, leaſt they be proud. Selah.
9 As for [g] the chiefe of them that compaſſe
mee about, let the miſchiefe of their owne lips
come vpon them.
10 Let coales fall vpon them: let [h] him caſt them into the fire, and into the deepe pits that they riſe not.
11 For the backbiter ſhall not be eſtabliſhed vpon the earth, euill ſhall [i] hunt the cruell man to deſtruction.
12 I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.
13 Surely the righteous ſhall prayſe thy Name,
and the iuſt ſhall [k] dwell in thy preſence.

e He calleth to God with liuely faith, being aſſured of his mercies, becauſe he had before time prooued, that God helped him euer in his dangers.
f For it is in Gods hand to ouerthrow the counſels and enterpriſes of the wicked.
g It ſeemeth that he alludeth to Saul.
h To wit, God: for Dauid ſaw that they were reprobate, and that there was no hope of repentance in them.
i Gods plagues ſhall light vpon him in ſuch ſort, that he ſhall not eſcape. k That is, ſhall be defended and preſerued by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

P S A L. CXLI.

1 Dauid being grieuouſly perſecuted vnder Saul, onely fleeth vnto God to haue ſuccour. 3 Deſiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

O Lord, I [a] call vpon thee: haſt thee vnto mee:
heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee.
2 Let my prayer be directed in thy ſight as incenſe, and the [b] lifting vp of mine handes as an euening ſacrifice.
3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and
keepe the [c] doore of my lips.
4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I ſhould commit wicked works with them that worke in-iquitie: and let me not eate of their [d] delicates.
5 Let the righteous ſmite me: for that is a benefit; and let [e] him reprooue me, and it ſhalbe a precious oyle that ſhall not breake mine head; for within a while I ſhall euen [f] pray in their miſeries.
6 When their iudges ſhalbe caſt downe in ſtonie places, they ſhall [g] heare my wordes, for they are ſweet.
7 Our bones lie ſcattered at the [h] graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.
8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God:
in thee is my truſt; leaue not my ſoule deſtitute.
9 Keepe mee from the ſnare, which they haue layd for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.
10 Let the wicked fall into [i] his nets [k] together, whiles I eſcape.

a He ſheweth that there is none other refuge in our neceſſities, but onely to flee vnto God for comfort of ſoule.
b He meaneth his earneſt zeale and geſture, which hee vſed in prayer: alluding of the ſacrifices which were by Gods commandement offered in the old Law.
c He deſireth God to keepe his thoughts and wayes either from thinking or executing vengeance.
d Let not their proſperitie allure me to be wicked as they are.
e He could abide all corrections, that came of a louing heart.
f By patience I ſhall ſee the wicked ſo ſharpely handled, that I ſhall for pitie pray for them.
g The people which followed their wicked rulers in perſecuting the Prophet, ſhall repent and turne to God, when they ſee their wicked rulers puniſhed. h Here appeareth that Dauid was miraculouſly deliuered out of many deaths as 2. Cor. 1. 9, 10. i Into Gods nets, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice. k So that none of them eſcape.

P S A L. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither aſtonied with feare, nor caried away with anger, nor forced by deſperation, would kill Saul: but with a quiet minde directed his earneſt prayer to God, who did preſerue him.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid, to giue inſtruction, and a prayer when he was in the caue.

I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce; with my voyce I [a] prayed vnto the Lord.
2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his preſence.

a Dauids patience and inſtant prayer to God condemneth their wicked rage, which in their troubles either deſpaire and murmure againſt God, or elſ ſeeke to others then to God, to haue redreſſe in their miſeries.

3 Though my ſpirit [†] was in perplexitie in me, yet thou kneweſt my path; in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily laid a ſnare for me.
4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld,
but there was none that would know me; all refuge failed me, and [‖] none cared for my ſoule.
5 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and ſayd, Thou art mine [b] hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.
6 Hearken vnto my cry, for I am brought very low; deliuer me from my perſecuters, for they are too ſtrong for me.
7 Bring my ſoule out of [c] priſon, that I may prayſe thy Name; then ſhall the righteous [d] come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

† Ebr. was folden or wrapped in me: meaning, as a thing that could haue no iſſue.
‖ Or, ſought for my ſoule.
b Though all meanes failed him, yet he knew that God would neuer forſake him.
c For he was on all ſides beſet with his enemies, as though he had beene in a moſt ſtrait priſon.
d Either to reioyce at my wonderfull deliuerance, or to ſet a crowne vpon mine head.

P S A L. CXLIII.

1 An earneſt prayer for remiſſion of ſinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly perſecute him by Gods iuſt iudgement. 8 He deſireth to be reſtored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirit, that hee may ſpend the remnant of his life in the true feare & ſeruice of God.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

HEare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto
my ſupplication: anſwere me in thy [a] trueth,
and in thy [b] righteouſneſſe.
2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy ſeruant: for in thy [c] ſight ſhall none that liueth, be iuſtified.)
3 For the enemie hath perſecuted my ſoule:
he hath ſmitten my life downe to the earth: hee
hath laid me in the darkeneſſe, as they that haue
beene dead [d] long agoe:
4 And my ſpirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine [e] heart within me was amaſed.
5 Yet doe I remember the time [f] paſt; I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands.
6 I ſtretch foorth mine hands vnto thee; my ſoule deſireth after thee, as the thirſtie land. Selah.
7 Heare mee ſpeedily, O Lord, for my ſpirit faileth; hide not thy face from mee, elſe I ſhalbe
like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.
8 Let mee heare thy louing kindneſſe in the [g] morning, for in thee is my truſt; [h] ſhew me the way, that I ſhould walke in, for I lift vp my ſoule
vnto thee.
9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies;
for [i] I hid mee with thee.
10 [k] Teach me to [l] doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade mee vnto the land of righteouſnes.
11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names ſake, and for thy righteouſneſſe bring my ſoule out of trouble.
12 And for thy mercy [m] ſlay mine enemies, and deſtroy all them that oppreſſe my ſoule; for
I am thy [n] ſeruant.

a That is, as thou haſt promiſed to be faithfull to thy promiſe to all that truſt in thee.
b That is, according to thy free goodneſſe, whereby thou defendeſt thine.
c He knew that his afflictions were Gods meſſengers to call him to repentance for his ſinnes, though toward his enemies he was innocent, and that in Gods ſight all men are ſinners.
d He acknowledgeth that God is the onely and true phyſitian to heale him: and that he is able to raiſe him to life, though he were dead long agoe, and turned to aſhes.
e So that onely by faith, and by the grace of Gods Spirit he was vpholden.
f To wit, thy great benefits of old, and the manifold examples of thy fauour towards thine.
g That is, ſpeedily and in due ſeaſon.
h Let thine holy Spirit counſell me how to come foorth of theſe great cares and troubles. i I hid my ſelfe vnder the ſhadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power. k He confeſſeth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will commeth by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his worde, giueth vnderſtanding by his Spirit, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him. l That is, iuſtly and aright: for ſo ſoone as wee decline from Gods will, wee fall into errour. m Which ſhall be a ſigne of thy Fatherly kindneſſe toward mee. n Reſigning my ſelfe wholly vnto thee, and truſting in thy protection.

P S A L. CXLIV.

1 He prayſeth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome reſtored, and for his victories obteined. 5 Demaunding helpe, and the deſtruction of the wicked. 9 Promiſing to acknowledge the ſame with ſongs of prayſes. 15 And declareth wherein the felicitie of any people conſiſteth.

a Who of a poore sheepheard hath made me a valiant warriour and mightie conquerour.
† Ebr. my deliuerer vnto me: for the Prophet cannot satisfie himselfe with any words.
b Hee confesseth that neither by his owne authoritie, power or policie his Kingdome was quiet, but by the secret grace of God.
c To giue vnto God iust prayse, is to confesse our selues to be vnworthy of so excellent benefits, and that he bestoweth them vpon vs of his free mercie.
d He desireth God to continue his graces, and to send helpe for the present necessitie.
e By these maner of speeches he sheweth that all the lets in the world cannot hinder Gods power, which he apprehended by faith.
f That is, deliuer me from the tumults of them that should be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement and enterprises, as though they were strangers.
g For though they shake hands, yet they keepe no promise.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

BLessed be the Lord my strength, which a teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to
battell.
2 He is my goodnesse and my fortresse, my towre and † my deliuerer, my shield and in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me.
3 Lord, what is man that thou c regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vp-on him?
4 Man is like to vanitie; his dayes are like a shadow that vanisheth.
5 d Bowe thine heauens, O Lord, and come
downe; touch the mountaines, & they shall smoke.
6 e Cast forth the lightning and scatter them;
shoot out thine arrowes and consume them.
7 Send thine hand from aboue; deliuer mee, and take me out of the great f waters, and from the hand of strangers.
8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand g of falshood.
9 I will sing a h new song vnto thee, O God,
and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings.
10 It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, and rescueth Dauid his i seruant from the hurt-
full sword.
11 Rescue me, and deliuer mee from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand, is a right hand of falshood:
12 That our sonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a place:
13 That our l corners may be full and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousand in our streets.
14 That our m oxen may be strong to labour;
that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes.
15 Blessed are the people that be n so, yea blessed are the people whose God is the Lord.

h That is, a rare and excellent song, as thy great benefits deserue. i Though wicked kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa 45,1. forasmuch as he vseth them to execute his iudgements: yet Dauid because of Gods promise, and they that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set forth Gods glorie. k He desireth God to continue his benefites toward his people, counting the procreation of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefits. l That the very corners of our houses may be full of store for the great aboundance of thy blessings. m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour. n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed when the kingdome of Dauid flourished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderfull prouidence of God, aswell in gouerning man, as in preseruing all the rest of his creatures. 17 He prayseth God for his iustice and mercie. 18 But specially for his louing kindnesse toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him. 21 For the which hee promiseth to prayse him for euer.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid of prayse.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God, euen prayse and thanksgiuing, and feeling that God still continueth his benefits towards vs, wee ought neuer to be wearie in praising him for the same.

O My God and King, a I will exalt thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.
2 I will blesse thee dayly, and prayse thy Name
for euer and euer.
3 b Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praysed, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.
4 Generation shall prayse thy works vnto c generation; and declare thy power.
5 I will meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes.
6 And they shall speake of the power of thy
d dreadfull acts, and I will declare thy greatnesse.
7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousnesse.
8 * The Lord is gracious, and e mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercie.
9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his works.
10 All thy works prayse thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.
11 f They shew the glory of thy kingdome,
and speake of thy power.
12 To cause his g power to be knowen to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renowme of his kingdome.
13 Thy * kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome,
and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.
14 The Lord vpholdeth all that h fall, and lif-teth vp all that are ready to fall.
15 The eyes of i all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season.
16 Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.
17 The Lord is k righteous in all his wayes,
and holy in all his works.
18 The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him, yea, to all that call vpon him in l trueth.
19 He will fulfill the m desire of them that feare
him; he will also heare their cry, & will saue them.
20 The Lord preserueth all them that loue him;
but he will destroy the wicked.
21 My mouth shall speake the prayse of the Lord, and all n flesh shall blesse his holy Name
for euer and euer.

b Hereby hee declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotion ought to obscure Gods glory. c Forasmuch as the ende of mans creation, and of his preseruation in this life is to prayse God, therefore hee requireth that not onely wee our selues doe this, but cause all others to doe the same.

d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked.
* Exod. 34. 6.
e He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our sins haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull, not onely in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feele the sweet comfort of the same.
f The Praise of thy glory appeareth in all thy creatures: and though the wicked would obscure the same by their silence, yet the faithfull are euer mindfull of the same.
g He sheweth that all things are out of order, but onely where God reigneth.
* Luke 1. 33. dan. 7, 14.
h Who being in miserie and affliction would faint and fall away, if God did not vphold them, and therefore they ought to reuerence him that reigneth in heauen, and suffer themselues to be gouerned by him. i To wit, aswell of man, as of beast. k He praiseth God, not onely because he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but also in that that he iustly punisheth the wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength and deliuering them. l Which onely appertaineth to the faithfull: and this vertue is contrary to infidelitie, doubting, impacienceie and murmuring. m For they will aske or wish for nothing, but according to his will, 1. Ioh 5, 14. n That is, all men shall be bound to prayse him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that hee hath to prayse God. 3 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God Almightie. 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted 9 Defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherlesse, and the widowes. 10 And reigneth for euer.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRayse thou the Lord, O my a soule.
2 I will prayse the Lord during my life; as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.
3 Put not your trust in b Princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is no helpe in him.
4 His breath departeth, and hee returneth to his earth; then his c thoughts perish.
5 Blessed is he that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.
6 Which made d heauen and earth, the sea,
and all that therein is; which keepeth his fideli-
tie for euer.
7 Which executeth iustice e for the oppressed, which giueth bread to the hungrie; the Lord
looseth the prisoners.
8 The Lord giueth sight to the blind: the

a He stirreth vp himselfe and all his affections to prayse God.
b That God may haue the whole prayse: wherein he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, shewing that of nature wee are more inclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God the Creator.
c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered themselues, and so imagined wicked enterprises.

d He encourageth the godly to trust onely in the Lord, both for that his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, and for his promise sake, his will is most ready to doe it. e Whose faith and patience for a while he tryeth, but at length he punisheth the aduersaries, that he may be knowen to be iudge of the world.

Lord raiseth vp the crooked: the Lord [f] loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord keepeth the [g] strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widow: but hee ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

10 The Lord shall [h] reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Prayse ye the Lord.

f Though he visit them by affliction, hunger, imprisonment and such like, yet his fatherly loue and pitie neuer faileth them, yea, rather to his these are signes of his loue.
g Meaning, all them that are destitute of worldly meanes and succour. h He assureth the Church that God reigneth for euer for the preseruation of the same.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet prayseth the bounty, wisedome, power, iustice, and prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion. 19 Declaring his word and iudgement so vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

Prayse ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a [a] pleasant thing, and prayse is comely.

2 The Lord doth build vp [b] Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 He healeth those that are [c] broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

4 Hee [d] counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisedome is infinite.

6 The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the [e] ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which [f] couereth the heauen with clouds, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to grow vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that [g] cry.

10 He hath no pleasure in the [h] strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercy.

12 Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: prayse thy God, O Zion.

13 For he hath made the barres of thy gates [i] strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the † floure of wheate.

15 He sendeth forth his [k] commandement vpon earth, and his word runneth very [l] swiftly.

16 He giueth snow like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his yce like morsels: who can abide the cold thereof?

18 He sendeth his word and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blow, and the waters flow.

19 He sheweth his [m] word vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they [n] knowen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Hee sheweth wherein we ought to exercise our selues continually, and to take our pastime: to wit, in praysing God.
b Because the Lord is the founder of the Church, it cannot be destroyed, though the members thereof be dispersed, and seeme as it were for a time to be cut off.
c With affliction, or sorow for sinne.
d Though it seeme to man incredible, that God should assemble his Church, being so dispersed, yet nothing can be too hard to him, that can number and name all the starres.
e For the more high that the wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the end.
f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodnesse, and wisedome, that he can neuer want most iust occasion to prayse God.
g For their crying is as it were a confession of their neede, which cannot be relieued, but by God onely, then if God shew himselfe mindfull of the most contemptible foules, can he suffer them to die with famine, whom he hath assured of life euerlasting? h Though to vse lawful meanes is both profitable and pleaseth God, yet to put our trust in them, is to defraud God of his honour. i He doth not onely furnish his Church with all things necessary, but preserueth also the same and maketh it strong against all outward force. † Ebr. fat. k His secret working in all creatures is as a commandement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force. l For immediatly and without resisting all things obey him. m As before hee called Gods secret working in all his creatures his word, so he meaneth hereby his word the doctrine of life euerlasting, which he hath left to his Church as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference is Gods free mercie, which hath elected his in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appoynted the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to prayse the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places. 14 Specially his Church, for the power that hee hath giuen to the same, after that he had chosen them and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

Prayse ye the Lord from the heauen: prayse ye him in the hie places.

2 Prayse ye him, all ye [a] his Angels: prayse him, all his armie.

3 Prayse ye him, [b] sunne and moone: prayse ye him all bright starres:

4 Prayse yee him, [c] heauens of heauens, and [d] waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.

7 Prayse ye the Lord from the earth, ye [e] dragons and all depths:

8 [f] Fire and haile, snow and vapours, stormy winde, which execute his word.

9 Mountaines and all hils, fruitfull trees, and all cedars:

10 Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and fethered foules:

11 [g] Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the world:

12 Yong men and maidens, also old men and children:

13 Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his prayse aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For he hath exalted the [h] horne of his people, which is a prayse for all his Saints, euen for the [i] children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Because they are members of the same body, he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing herevnto, and by their prompt obedience teach vs to doe our duety.
b In that Gods glory shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beauty is as a continuall praysing of God.
c Not that there are diuers heauens, but because of the spheres and of the situation of the fixed starres and planets, he comprehendeth by this worde the whole heauen.
d That is, the raine which is in the middle region of the ayre, which he here comprehendeth vnder the Name of the heauens.
e Meaning, the great and monstrous fishes, as whales and such like.
f Which come not by chaunce or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance. g For the greater gifts that any hath receiued, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bound is he to prayse God for the same: but neither hie nor low condition or degree can be exempted from this duetie. h That is, the dignitie, power and glory of his Church. i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to prayse the Lord for his victory and conquest, that hee giueth his Saints against all mans power.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

Sing yee vnto the Lord [a] a new song: let his prayse be heard in the Congregation of Saints.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that [b] made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their [c] King.

3 Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayses vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.

5 Let the Saints be ioyfull with glory: let them sing loud vpon their [d] beds.

6 Let the high Acts of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands,

d He alludeth to that continuall rest and quietnesse, which they should haue if they would suffer God to rule them. e This is chiefly accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate [illegible] iniuries. f Not onely the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord without cease, by all manes of wayes for all his mighty and wonderful works.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

2 Praise ye him in his mighty Acts: praise ye him according to his excellent greatnesse.

THE * PROVERBES OF SALOMON.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly manners, and also exhortations to both: whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences and deepe mysteries to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewell to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned 1. King. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

* This word Prouerbe, or Parable, signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to be kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in the euill part for a mocke or scoffe.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the enticings of sinners. 20 Wisedome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishments of them that contemne her.

THE Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel,

2 To knowe wisdome, a and instruction, to vnderstand the words b of knowledge,

3 To receiue c instruction to doe wisely, by d iustice and iudgement and equity.

4 To giue vnto the e simple sharpnesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of f vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, & their darke sayings.

7 ¶ * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles dispise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy g fathers instruction, and forsake not thy h mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be i a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ My sonne, if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay wait for k blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them vp aliue like a l graue, euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one m purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their n path.

16 For their feete run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainely as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood, and lie priuily for o their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedie of gaine: he would take away p the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ q Wisdome cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the r streetes.

21 She calleth in the high streete, among the prease in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her words in the city, saying,

22 O ye f fooliish, how long will ye loue foolishnesse? and the scornefull take their pleasure in scorning? and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my words.)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard.

25 But yee haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction,

26 I will also s laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth.

27 When u your feare commeth like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon mee, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not x finde me,

29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord

30 They would none of my counsell, but y despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eat of the z fruit of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.

32 For a ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisedome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She is seuereth from wickednesse.

a That is, what we ought to know and follow, and what we ought to refuse.

b Meaning, the worde of God wherein is the onely true knowledge.

c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise

d By liuing iustly and rendring to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him.

e To such as haue no discretion to rule themselues.

f As he sheweth that these parables containing the effect of religion as touching manners and doctrine, doe appertaine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned.

* Psal. 111. 10. Eccles. 1. 16.

g He speaketh this in the Name of God, which is the vniuersall Father of all creatures, or in the name of the pastor of the Church, who is as a father.

h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods worde.

i To wit, the wicked which haue not the feare of God.

k He speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour.

l As the graue is neuer satisfied, so the auarice of the wicked and their cruelty hath none end.

m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoyle of the innocents

n That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them.

o He sheweth that there is no cause to mistoue these which seeke to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and cruelty.

p Whereby he concludeth, that the couetous man is a murtherer.

q This wisedome is the eternall word of God.

r So that none can pretend ignorance.

s Wisedome reprooueth three kindes of men: the foolish or simple which erre of ignorance, and the mockers that cannot suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are drowned in worldly lusts, and hate the knowledge of god inesse.

t This is spoken according to our capacitie, signifying that the wicked, which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust reward of their mocking.

u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared.

x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe.

y Shewing that without faith and obedience, we can not call vpon God aright.

z They shall feele what commoditie their wicked life shall giue them.

a That is, the prosperity and sensualitie wherein they delight,

a That is, keepe them in thine heart.
b If thou giue thy selfe to the true knowledge of God without hypocrisie.
c Meaning, that we must seeke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
d Shewing that no labour must be spared.
e This (faith he) is the true wisedome, to know and feare God.
‖ Or, hideth the salvation.
f The word of God shall teach thee, and counsell thee how to gouerne thy selfe.
g That is, the word of God, which is the only light, to follow their owne fantasies which are darkenesse.
h When they see any giuen to euill as they are.
i Meaning, that wisedome which is the word of God, shall preserue vs from all vices, naming this vice of whoredom where-vnto man is most prone.
k That is, her husband, which is her head and guide to gouerne her, from whom she ought not to depart, but remaine in his subiection.
l Which is the promise made in mariage.
m Her acquaintance with her familiars, and them that haunt her.
n To them that are dead in body and soule.

MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and a hide my commandements within thee.
2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdome, and encline b thine heart to vnderstanding,
3 (For if thou calleſt after knowledge, c and cryeſt for vnderſtanding:
4 If thou ſeekeſt her as ſiluer, and ſearcheſt for her as for d treaſures.
5 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtand the feare of the Lord, and finde the e knowledge of God.
6 For the Lord giueth wiſedome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderſtanding.
7 He ‖ preſerueth the ſtate of the righteous, he is a ſhield to them that walke vprightly,
8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he perſerueth the way of his Saints)
9 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtand righteouſneſſe and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.
10 ¶ When wiſdome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy ſoule.
11 Then ſhall counſell preſerue thee, and vnderſtanding ſhall keepe thee,
12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that ſpeaketh froward things,
13 And from them that leaue the g wayes of righteouſneſſe to walke in the wayes of darkenes:
14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight h in the frowardneſſe of the wicked,
15 Whoſe wayes are crooked, and they are lewd in their paths.
16 And it ſhall deliuer thee from the ſtrange i woman, euen from the ſtranger, which flattereth with her words.
17 Which forſaketh the k guide of her youth, and forgetteth the l couenant of her God.
18 Surely her m houſe tendeth to death, and her paths vnto n the dead.
19 All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life:
20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous, 21 For the iuſt ſhall dwell in the o land, and the vpright men ſhall remaine in it.
22 But the wicked ſhall be cut off from the earth, and the tranſgreſſour ſhall be rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 5 Truſt in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 21 To them that follow the word of God, all things ſhall ſucceed well.

MY ſonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart* keepe my commandements.
2 For they ſhall increaſe the length of thy a dayes and the yeeres of life, and thy proſperitie.
3 Let not b mercy and trueth forſake thee: bind them on thy c necke, and write them vpon the table of thine d heart,
4 So ſhalt thou find fauour and good vnderſtanding in the ſight of God and man.
5 ¶ Truſt in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wiſedome.
6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he ſhall direct thy wayes.
7 ¶ Be not wiſe in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.
8 So health ſhalbe vnto thy e nauell, and marow vnto thy bones.
9 ¶ Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the firſt fruits of all thine increaſe.
10 So ſhall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy preſſes ſhall burſt with new wine.
11 ¶ My ſonne, refuſe not the chaſtening of the Lord, neither be grieued with his correction.
12 * For the Lord correcteth him, whom hee loueth, euen as the father doth the childe, in whom he delighteth.
13 Bleſſed is the man that findeth wiſedome, and the man that getteth vnderſtanding.
14 For the marchandiſe thereof is better then the marchandiſe of ſiluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.
15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canſt deſire, are not to be compared vnto her.
16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her right hand riches and glory.
17 Her wayes are wayes of pleaſure, and all her paths proſperitie.
18 She is a tree f of life to them that lay hold on her, and bleſſed is he that retaineth her.
19 The Lord by wiſedome hath laid the g foundation of the earth, and hath ſtabliſhed the heauens through vnderſtanding.
20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dew.
21 My ſonne, let not theſe things depart from thine eyes, but obſerue wiſedome and counſell:
22 So they ſhalbe life to thy ſoule, and grace vnto thy h necke.
23 Then ſhalt thou walke ſafely by the way: and thy foote ſhall not ſtumble.
24 If thou ſleepeſt, thou ſhalt not be afraid: and when thou ſleepeſt, thy ſleepe ſhalbe ſweet.
25 Thou ſhalt not feare for any ſudden feare, neither for the deſtruction of the wicked, when it commeth.
26 For the Lord ſhall be for thine aſſurance, and ſhall preſerue thy foot from taking.
27 ¶ With hold not the good from m the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it.
28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morrow will I giue thee, if thou now haue it.
29 ¶ Intend none hurt againſt thy neighbour, ſeeing he doth dwell n without feare by thee.
30 ¶ Striue not with a man cauſeleſſe, when hee hath done thee no harme.
31 ¶ Be not o enuious for the wicked man, neither chuſe any of his wayes.
32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his ſecret is with the righteous.
33 The curſe of the Lord is in the houſe of the wicked: but hee bleſſeth the habitation of the righteous.
34 With the ſcornefull he ſcorneth, but hee giueth grace vnto the humble.
35 The wiſe ſhall inherit glory: but ſooles diſhonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wiſedome and her fruits ought to be ſearched. 14 The way of the wicked muſt be refuſed. 20 By the words of God the heart, eyes, and courſe of life muſt be guided.

HEare, O ye children, the inſtruction of a a father, and giue eare to learne vnderſtanding.

o They ſhall enioy the temporall and ſpirituall promiſes of God, as the wicked ſhalbe voyd of them.

* Deut. 8. 1. & 30. 16.
a Long life is the bleſsing of God which he giueth to his, ſo far foorth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercy and trueth he meaneth the commandements of the firſt and ſecond tables: or els the mercy and faithfulneſſe that wee ought to vſe toward our neighbours.
c Keepe them as a moſt precious iewell.
d Haue them euer in remembrance.
e By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, as by breath he meaneth all the benefits promiſed in the Law both corporall and ſpirituall.

f As was commanded in the Law. Exod. 23. 19. Deut. 26. 2. and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to beſtow all at his commandement.
g For to the faithfull diſtributer God giueth in greater abundance. * Heb. 12. 5. reuel. 3. 19.

h Meaning, that he that ſeeketh wiſedome, that is, ſuffereth himſelfe to be gouerned by the word of God, ſhall haue all proſperitie both corporall and ſpirituall.
i Which bringeth forth ſuch fruit that they that eate thereof haue life: and he alludeth to the tree of life in paradiſe.
k Hereby he ſheweth that this wiſedome, whereof he ſpeaketh, is euerlaſting, becauſe it was before all the creatures, and that all things euen the whole world were made by it.
‖ Or, threat, reade Chap. 1. 9.
l Whereby God deſtroyeth the wicked, he will ſaue his as he did Lot in Sodom.
m Not onely from them to whom the poſſeſſion belongeth, but alſo thou ſhalt not keepe it from them, which haue need of the vſe thereof.
n That is, putteſt his truſt in thee.
o Deſire not to be like vnto him.
p That is, his reuengeance and fatherly affection which is hid and ſecret from the world.
q He will ſhewe by his plagues, that their ſcorne ſhall turne to their owne deſtruction, as Chap. 1, 26.

a He ſpeaketh this in the perſon of a Preacher. Chapter 2. verſe 6.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When hee [b] taught me, and sayd vnto mee, Let thine heart holde fast my words: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisedome: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and shee shall keepe thee: loue her and shee shall preserue thee.

7 [c] Wisedome is the beginning: get wisdome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou imbrace her.

9 Shee shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, shee shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 ¶ Heare, my sonne: and receiue my words, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe many.

11 I haue [d] taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousnesse.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be [e] strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for shee is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auoyde it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot [f] sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of [g] wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that [h] shineth more and more vnto the perfite day.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darkenesse: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto those that find them, and health vnto all their [i] flesh.

23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth [k] life.

24 Put away from the a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.

26 [l] Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoouue thy foot from euill.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden. 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a man to loue on his labours and to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisedome, and incline thine eare vnto my [l] knowledge,

2 That thou mayest regard counsell, and thy lips obserue knowledge.

3 For the lips [a] of a strange woman drop as an hony combe, and her mouth is more soft then [b] oyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her [c] feet goe downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are moueable: thou canst not know them.

7 Heare yee mee now therefore, O children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house,

9 Least thou giue thine [e] honour vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell:

10 Least the stranger should be filled with thy [f] strength, and thy [f] labours be in the house of a stranger.

11 And thou mourne at thine ende, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught me, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the mids of the Congregation and [g] assembly.

15 ¶ Drinke the water of [h] thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the mids of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes.

17 But let them be thine, euen [i] thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let thy [k] fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of [e] thy youth.

19 Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldest thou [l] delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the [m] eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his paths.

22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the coards of his owne sinne.

23 He shall [n] die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great follie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Suretyship for sureties. 6 The slothfull and sluggish is stirred to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

MY sonne, if thou be surety for thy neighbour, and hast striken hands with the stranger,

2 Thou art [a] snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my Sonne and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye lids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 ¶ Goe to [b] the pismire, O sluggard: behold her wayes, and be wise.

7 For shee hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Prepareth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her foode in haruest.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard? when

b Meaning, Dauid his father.

c He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last study, or els care not for it at all.

d Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.

e That shalt walke at liberty without offence.

f Meaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke.

g Gotten by wicked meanes and cruell oppression.

h Signifying, that the godly increase dayly in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is when they shalbe ioyned to their head in the heauens.

i That is, they shall haue health of body: vnder the which all other blessings promised in the law are conteined.

k For at the heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.

l Keepe a measure in all thy doings.

a He forbiddeth vs not to become suretie one for an other, according to the rule of charitie, but that we consider for whom and after what sort, so that the creditour may not be defrauded.

b If the Word of God cannot instruct them, yet learne at the little pismire to labour for thy selfe and not to burden others.

d She hath euer new meanes to allure to wickednes.

e That is, thy strength and goods to be that will haue no pitie vpon thee: as it reade of Samson, and the prodigall sonne.

f The goods gotten by thy trauell.

g Although I was faithfully instructed in the truth, yet had I almost fallen to vtter shame and destruction, notwithstanding my good bringing vp in the assembly of the godly.

h He teacheth vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours and to be beneficiall to the godly that want, i Destribute them according to the wicked and infidels, but reserue them for thy selfe, thy family and them that are of the houshold of faith.

k Thy children which shall come of thee in great abundance, shewing that God blesseth marriage, and curseth whoredome.

l Which thou diddest marry in thy youth.

‖ Or, goe astray with a stranger?

m He declareth that except man doe ioyne to bit wife both in heart and in outward conuersation, that he shal not escape the iudgements of God.

n Because he will not giue eare to Gods word and be admonished.

* Chap.24.33.
e He expresseth liuely the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neuer so long, yet haue neuer enough, but euer seeke occasions thereunto
d That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.
e It shall come in such sort, as thou art not able to resist it
f He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persons and sluggards come, by calling them vnthriftie, or the men of Belial, and slanderous † Ebr. speaketh.
g Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.
h Meaning, the raging affections, which cary a man away in such sort that he cannot tell what he doeth.
‖ Or, neighbours.
i Reade Chap.3.3.
k By the commandement, hee meaneth the word of God: and by the instruction, the preaching and declaration of the same, which is committed to the Church.
l And reprehensions when the word is preached bring vs to life.
m With her wanton lookes and gesture.
n Meaning, that shee will neuer ceasse till she haue brought thee to beggerie, and then seeke thy destruction.
o He approoueth not theft, but sheweth that it is not so abominable as whoredome, forasmuch as these might be redeemed, but adulterie was a perpetuall infamie, and death by the law of God.
p Meaning, for very necessity.
† Ebr. faileth in heart.
q That is, death appointed by the Law.
r He sheweth that man by nature seeketh his death, that hath abused his wife, and so concludeth, that neither Gods Law nor the law of nature admitteth any ransome for the adulterie.

when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?
10 * Yet a little sleepe, a litle slumber, [c] a little folding of the hands to sleepe.
11 Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that [d] trauelleth by the way, and thy necessitie like [e] an armed man.
12 The vnthriftie man [f] and the wicked man
walketh with a froward mouth.
13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he † signifieth with his feet: he [g] instructeth w his fingers.
14 Lewd things are in his heart: he imagineth
euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.
15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shalbe destroyed suddenly without recouerie.
16 ¶ These six things doth the Lord hate: yea,
his soule abhorreth seuen:
17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood, 18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, [h] feete that be swift in running to mischiefe, 19 A false witnes that speaketh lyes, and him
that raiseth vp contentions among ‖ brethren.
20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.
21 Binde them alway vpon thine [i] heart, and tie them about thy necke.
22 It shall leade thee when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.
23 For the [k] commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and [l] corrections for instruction are the way of life, 24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman,
and from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.
25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her [m] eye lids.
26 For because of the whorish woman, a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.
27 [n] Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his cloathes not be burnt?
28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feet
not be burnt?
29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife,
shall not be innocent, whosoeuer toucheth her.
30 Men do not [o] despise a thiefe, when he stea-
leth to satisfie his [p] soule, because he is hungry.
31 But if hee be found, hee shall restore seuen fold, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.
32 But hee that committeth adulterie with a woman, he † is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.
33 Hee shall finde [q] a wound and dishonour,
and his reproach shall neuer be put away.
34 For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not [r] spare in the day of vengeance.
35 He cannot beare the sight of any ransome:
neither will hee consent, though thou augment the gifts.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisedome and to the word of God. 5 Which will preserue vs from the harlot, 6 Whose maners are described.

My sonne, keepe my words, and hide my com-mandements with thee.
2 Keepe my commandements, and thou shalt line, and mine instruction as ẏ [a] apple of thine eyes.
3 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them
vpon the table of thine heart.
4 Say vnto wisedome, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman.
5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smooth in her words.
6 ¶ [b] As I was in the window of mine house,
I looked thorow my window.
7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding.
8 Who passed thorow the streete by her corner, and went toward her house.
9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be [c] blacke and darke.
10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots ‖ behauiour, and ‖ subtill in heart.
11 (Shee [d] is babling and lowd, whose feete cannot abide in her house.
12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and lieth in wait at euery corner) 13 So she caught him and kissed him, and † with an impudent face sayd vnto him, 14 I haue [e] peace offerings: this [f] day haue I payed my vowes.
15 Therefore came I foorth to meet thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.
16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, ‖ carpets and laces of Egypt.
17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.
18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance.
19 For mine husband is not at home hee is gone a iourney farre off.
20 He hath taken † with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed.
21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she intised him.
22 And hee followed her straightwayes, as an [g] oxe that goeth to the slaughter, and [h] as a foole to the stockes for correction.
23 Till a dart strike thorow his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that † he is in danger.
24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.
25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes:
wander thou not in her paths.
26 For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the [i] strong men are all slaine by her.
27 Her house is the way * vnto the graue,
which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

† Ebr. It is for his life. i Neither wit nor strength can deliuer them that fall into the hands of the harlot. * Chap. 2,18.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisedome declareth her excellencie, 11 riches, 15 power, 22 eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

Doth * not [a] wisedome cry? and vnderstanding vtter her voyce?
2 She standeth in the toppe of the high places,
by the way in the place of the pathes.
3 She cryeth besides [b] the gates before the ci-
tie at the entrie of the doores, 4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voyce
to the children of men.

a By this diuersitie of words, hee meaneth that nothing ought to be so deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor mind any thing so much.
b Salomon vseth this parable to declare their folly, that suffer themselues to be abused by harlots.
c He sheweth that there was almost none so impudent, but they were afraid to be seene, and also their owne consciences did accuse them which caused them to seeke the night to couer their filthinesse.
‖ Or, garment.
‖ Or, hid.
d He describeth certaine conditions, which are peculiar to harlots.
† Ebr. she strengthened her face.
e Because that in peace offerings a portion returned to them that offered, she sheweth him that shee hath meat at home to make good cheere with: or els shee would vse some cloake of holinesse till she had gotten him to her snares.
f Which declareth that harlots outwardly will seeme holy and religious: both because they may the better deceiue others, and also thinking by obseruing of ceremonies and offerings to make satisfaction for their sinnes.
‖ Or, carued worke.
† Ebr. in his hand.
g Which thinking hee goeth to the pasture, goeth willingly to his owne destruction.
h Which goeth cheerefully, not knowing that he shalbe chastised.

* Chap.1.20.
a Salomon declareth that man is cause of his owne perdition and that he can pretend no ignorance, forasmuch as God calleth to all men by his word, and by his workes to follow vertue, and to flee from vice.
b Where the people did most resort, and which was the place of iustice.

5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdome, and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart.
6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shall teach things that be right.
7 For my mouth shall speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednesse.
8 All the words of my mouth are righteous:
there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.
9 They are all [c] plaine to them that will vn-derstand, and straight to them that would finde
knowledge.
10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer,
and knowledge rather then fine gold.
11 For wisedome is better then precious stones:
and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto
her.
12 I wisedome dwell with [d] prudence, and I find foorth knowledge and counsels.
13 The feare of the Lord is to hate [e] euill, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewd things I doe hate.
14 I haue counsell and wisdome: I am vnder-standing, and I haue strength.
15 By me [f] kings raigne, and princes decree iustice.
16 By me princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
17 I loue them that loue mee: and they that seeke me [g] early shall finde me.
18 Riches and honour are with mee; [h] euen
durable riches and righteousnesse.
19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine
gold, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousnes, and in the midst of the paths of [i] iudgement, 21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.
22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was [k] before his works of old.
23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.
24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.
25 Before the mountaines were setled; and before the hilles, was I begotten.
26 Hee had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.
27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there,
when hee set the compasse vpon the deepe:
28 When hee established the cloudes aboue;
when hee confirmed the fountaines of the deepe:
29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commandement, when hee appointed the foundations of the earth, 30 Then was I with him [m] as a nourisher, and I was dayly his delight, reioycing alway before
him,
31 And tooke my [n] solace in the compasse of [o] his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.
32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto
me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.
33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth mee, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the posts of my doores.
34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.
35 But hee that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

c Meaning, that the word of God is easie vnto all that haue a desire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the prince of this world.
d That is, except a man haue wisedome, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counseller.
e So that hee that doeth not hate euill, feareth not God.
f Whereby he declareth that honours, dignitie or riches come not of mans wisedome or industry, but by the prouidence of God.
g That is, studie the word of God diligently, and with a desire to profit.
h Signifying that he chiefly meaneth the spirituall treasures and heauenly riches.
i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisedome.
k Hee declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisedome, which he magnifieth and prayseth thorow this booke: meaning thereby the eternall son of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whom Saint Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning. Iohn 1.1.
l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this word, Wisedome, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.
m Some reade, a chiefe worker: signifying that this Wisedome, euen Christ Iesus, was equall with God his father, and created, preserueth and still worketh with him, as Ioh. 5.17.
n Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisedome of God. o By earth hee meaneth man, which is the worke of God, in whom wisedome tooke pleasure: insomuch as for mans sake the diuine wisdome tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs and filled vs with vnspeakeable treasures: and this it that solace and pastime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

1 Wisedome calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The conditions of the harlot.

Wisedome hath built her [a] house, and hewen
out her [b] seuen pillars.
2 She hath killed her victuals, drawen her wine, and [c] prepared her table.
3 She hath sent forth her [d] maidens, and cri-eth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying, 4 Who so is [e] simple, let him come hither, and
to him that is destitute of wisedome, she saith, 5 Come, and eate of my [f] meate, and drink of the wine that I haue drawen.
6 Forsake your way, yee foolish, and yee shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.
7 He that reprooueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a [g] blot.
8 Rebuke not a [h] scorner, least he hate thee:
but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.
9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and hee will increase in learning.
10 The beginning of wisedome is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is [i] vnderstanding.
11 For thy dayes shall be multiplied by mee,
and the yeeres of thy life shall be augmented.
12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for [k] thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.
13 ¶ A [l] foolish woman is troublesome; she is ignorant and knoweth nothing.
14 But shee sitteth at the doore of her house
on a seate in the high places of the citie, 15 To call them that passe by the way, that goe right on their way, saying, 16 Who so is simple let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdome, she saith also, 17 Stollen waters are sweet, and hid bread is pleasant.
18 But he knoweth not, that the dead are there,
and that her ghests are in the depth of hell.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.
b That is, many chiefe stayes and principall parts of the Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastours and Doctours.
c Hee compareth wisedome with great Princes that keepe open house, for all that come.
d Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisedome.
e Hee that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is voide of malice.
f By the meat and drinke, is meant the word of God, and the ministration of the Sacraments, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church.
g For the wicked will contemne him and labour to defame him.
h Meaning them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs and swine: or he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profit.
i He sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know the will of God in his word, which is meant by holy things. k Thou shalt haue the chiefe profit and commoditie thereof. l By the foolish woman, some vnderstand the wicked preachers, who counterfeite the word of God: as appeareth verse 16. which were the words of the true preachers, as verse 4. but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning, that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh then the word of God, and therefore they themselues boast thereof.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter, and all that follow, vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which hee calleth Parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: and also sheweth what profite commeth of wisdome, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnesse.

THE PARABLE OF SALOMON.

A Wise* sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.
2 The treasures of [a] wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.

* Chap. 15.20.
a That is, wickedly gotten.

b Though he suffer the iust to want for a time, yet he will send him comfort in due season.
‖Or, deceitfull.

3 The Lord will b not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.
4 A ‖ slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.
5 He that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisdome: but he that sleepeth in haruest, is the son of confusion.
6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous:
but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of c the
wicked.
7 The memoriall of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall d rot.
8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements:
but the foolish in † talke shalbe beaten.
9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh ‖ boldly:
but hee that peruerteth his wayes, shall be knowen.
10 Hee that e winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and he that is f foolish in talke, shall be beaten.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a welspring of life; but iniquitie couereth the mouth of
the wicked.
12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: * but loue
couereth all trespasses.
13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdome is found, and g a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisedome.
14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.
15 The rich mans goods are his h strong city;
but the feare of the needy is their pouerty.
16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life;
but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.
17 He that regardeth instruction is in the way of life; but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.
18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips,
and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.
19 In many words there cannot want iniquity;
but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.
20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer;
but the heart of the wicked is little worth.
21 The lips of the righteous doe i feed many;
but fooles shall die for want of wisdome.
22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich,
and he doeth adde k no sorrowes with it.
23 It is a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly;
but wisdome is vnderstanding to a man.
24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will graunt the desire of the righteous.
25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked
no more; but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.
26 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slothfull to them that l send him.
27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes;
but the yeeres of the wicked m shalbe diminished.
28 The patient abiding of the righteous shalbe
gladnes; but the hope of the wicked shall perish.
29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man; but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.
30 The righteous shall n neuer be remooued:
but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.
31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdome: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.
32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

c When their wickednes shalbe discouered, they shall be as dumbe, and not know what to say.
d Shalbe vile and abhorred both of God and man, contrary to their owne expectation, which thinke to make their name immortall.
† Ebr. lippes.
‖Or, surely.
e That beareth a faire countenance, and imagineth mischiefe in his heart, as Chap. 6, 13.
f For the corruption of his heart is knowen by his talke.
* 1. Cor. 13, 4. 1. pet. 4. 8.
g That is, God will finde him out to punish him.
h And so maketh him bold to doe euill, whereas pouerty bridleth the poore from many euill things.
i For they speake trueth, and edifie many by exhortations, admonitions, and counsell.
k Meaning, that all worldly things bring care, and sorrow, whereas they that feele the blessings of God, haue none.
l He is but a trouble and griefe to him that sendeth him about any businesse.
m The time of their prosperitie shalbe short because of their great fall, though they seeme to liue long.
n They enioy in this life by faith and hope, their euerlasting life.

CHAP. XI.

False a balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite † weight pleaseth him.
2 When pride commeth, then commeth
b shame: but with the lowly is wisedome.
3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressers shall destroy them.
4 * Riches auaile not in the day of wrath; but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.
5 The righteousnesse of the vpright shall direct his way; but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.
6 The righteousnes of the iust shall deliuer them; but the transgressers shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.
7 * When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth,
and the hope of the vniust shall perish.
8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his c stead.
9 An d hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour; but the righteous shalbe deliuered by knowledge.
10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie
e reioyceth; and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.
11 * By the ‖ blessing of the righteous the citie is exalted; but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hee that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisedome: but a man of vnderstanding
will f keepe silence.
13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth
a secret; but hee that is of a faithfull heart, concealeth a matter.
14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many g counsellers are, there is health.
15 He shall be sore vexed, that is suretie for a h stranger, and he i that hateth suretiship, is sure.
16 A ‖ gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches.
17 He that is mercifull, k rewardeth his owne soule: but hee that troubleth his owne ‖ flesh, is cruell.
18 The wicked worketh a deceitfull worke:
but he that soweth righteousnesse, shall receiue a sure reward.
19 As righteousnesse leadeth to life: so he that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.
20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord; but they that are vpright
in their way, are his delight.
21 l Though hand ioyne in hand, the wicked shall not be vnpunished; but the seed of the righteous shall escape.
22 As a iewell of golde in a swines snout, so is a faire woman which ‖ lacketh discretion.
23 The desire of the righteous is onely good;
but the hope of the wicked m is indignation.
24 There is that scattereth, n and is more increased;
but he that spareth more o then is right,
surely commeth to pouertie.
25 The † liberall person shall haue plenty; and he that watereth, shall also haue raine.
26 He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him; but blessing shalbe vpon the head

5 A wise man is strong : for a man of vnderstanding increaseth his strength.

6 * For with counsell thou shalt enterprise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell, is health.

7 Wisedome is high to a foole : therefore hee cannot open his mouth in the [a] gate.

8 Hee that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an authour of wickednesse.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be [b] faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

11 Deliuer them that are drawen [c] to death, and wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine ?

12 If thou say, Behold, we knew not of it : he that pondereth the hearts, doeth not hee vnderstand it ? and he that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not ? will he not also recompense euery man according to his workes ?

13 My sonne, eate [d] hony, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is sweet vnto thy mouth.

14 So shall the knowledge of wisedome be vnto thy soule if thou finde it, and there shall be an [ll] end, and thine hope shall not be cut off.

15 Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place.

16 For a iust man [e] falleth seuen times, and riseth againe, but the wicked fall into mischiefe.

17 Be thou not glad when thine enemie falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when hee stumbleth, 18 Least the Lord see it, and it displease him, and he turne his wrath [f] from him.

19 * Fret not thy selfe because of the malicious, neither be enuious at the wicked.

20 For there shall be none end of plagues to the euill man : * the light of the wicked shall be put out.

21 My sonne, feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are seditious.

22 For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them [g] both ?

23 ALSO THESE THINGS PERTEINE TO THE WISE, It is not good † to haue respect of any person in iudgement.

24 Hee that saith to the wicked, * Thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him.

25 But to them that rebuke him, shall be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodnesse.

26 They shall kisse the lips of him that answereth vpright words.

27 Prepare thy worke without, and make ready thy things in the field, [h] and after, build thine house.

28 Be not a witnesse against thy neighbour without cause : for wilt thou deceiue with thy lips ?

29 * Say not, I will do to him as he hath done to me, I [i] will recompense euery man according to his worke.

30 I passed by the field of the slouthfull, and by the vineyard of the man destitute of vnderstanding.

31 And lo, it was all growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had couered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken downe.

32 Then I beheld, and I considered it well : I looked vpon it, and receiued [k] instruction.

33 Yet a little sleepe, [l] a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.

34 So thy pouerte commeth as one that trauelleth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

CHAP. XXV.

1 THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the [a] men of Hezekiah King of Iudah [b] copied out.

THE glory of God is to [c] conceale a thing secret : but the [d] Kings honour is to search out a thing.

3 The heauens in height, and the earth in deepnesse, and [§] kings heart can no man search out.

4 Take the [e] drosse from the siluer, and there shall proceed a vessell for the finer,

5 Take [g] away the wicked from the King, and his throne shalbe established in righteousnes.

6 Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men,

7 * For it is better, that it be said vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to be put lower in the presence of [§] Prince whom thine eyes haue seene.

8 Goe not foorth hastily to strife, least thou know not what to doe in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another,

10 Least hee that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not [h] cease.

11 A word spoken in his place, is like apples of gold with pictures of siluer.

12 He that reproueth the wise and the obedient eare, is as a golden eareting, and an ornament of fine gold.

CHAP. XXVIII.

THe wicked [a] flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of the land [b] there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man, if hee oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine that leaueth no food.

4 They that forsake the Law, prayse the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselues against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement: but they that seeke the Lord, vnderstand all things.

6 *Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then hee that peruerteth his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth [c] them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shallbe [d] abominable.

10 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherit good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie [e] him.

12 *When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man [f] is tried.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercie.

14 Blessed is the man that [g] feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring lion, and an hungry beare, so is [h] a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnesse, shall prolonge his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not [i] stay him.

18 He that walketh vprightly shall be saued: but hee that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.

19 * He that tilleth his land, shallbe satisfied with bread, but he that followeth the idle, shalbe filled with pouertie.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and [†] hee that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of [k] bread.

22 A man with a wicked [l] eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not that pouertie shall come vpon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father and mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 Hee that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but the that trusteth in the Lord, shallbe [m] fat.

26 Hee that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but hee that walketh in wisedome, shalbe deliuered.

27 Hee that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

28 * When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselues: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXIX.

A Man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed, and cannot be cured.

2 * When the righteous ‖ are in authority, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisedome reioyceth his father: but * hee that feedeth harlots wasteth his substance.

4 A king by iudgement maintaineth the countrey: but a man receiuing gifts, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, [a] spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his [b] snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornefull men bring a city into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with [c] a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

21 For three things the earth is mooued: yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe,

22 For [l] a seruant when hee reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate.

23 For ẏ hatefull woman, when she is maried, & for a handmaid that is [m] heire to her mistresse.

24 These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are [n] wise, and full of wisedome.

25 The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in summer:

26 The conies a people not mighty, yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grashopper hath no king, yet goe they forth all by bands:

28 The spider taketh hold [o] with her hands, and is in kings palaces.

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going.

30 A lion which is strong among beastes, and turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lusty grayhound, and a goat, and a king against whom there is no rising vp.

32 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand [p] vpon thy mouth.

33 When one churneth milke, hee bringeth forth butter; and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out, so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

h The leach hath two forkes in her tongue, which here he calleth her two daughters, whereby shee sucketh the blood, and is neuer satiate: euen so are the couetous extortioners insatiable.
i Which haunt in the valley for carions.
k Shee hath her desires, and after counte[n]ance setteth as though she were an honest woman.
l These commonly abuse the state whereunto they are called.
m Which is maried to her master after the death of her mistresse.
n They containe great doctrine and wisedome.
o If man be not able to compasse these common things by his wisdome, we cannot attribute wisdome to man, but folly.
p Make a stay, and continue not in doing euill.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 He exhorteth to chastitie and iustice. 10 And sheweth the conditions of a wise and worthy woman.

1 THE WORDS OF KING [a] LEMVEL: The [b] prophecie which his mother taught him.

What my sonne! and what the sonne of [c] my wombe! and what, O sonne of my desires!

3 Giue not thy strength vnto women, [d] nor thy wayes which is to destroy kings.

4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drinke wine, nor for princes [e] strong drinke.

5 Least he drinke and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.

6 Giue yee strong drinke vnto him that is ready to perish, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.

7 Let him drinke, that hee may forget [f] his pouerty, and remember his miserie no more.

8 Open thy mouth for the [g] dumbe in the cause

a That is of Salomon, who was called Lemuel, that is, of God, because God had ordeined him to be king ouer Israel.
b The doctrine which his mother Bath-sheba taught him.
c By this often repetition of one thing, she declareth her motherly affection.
d Meaning, that women are the destruction of kings, if they haunt them.
e That is, the King must not giue himselfe to wantonnesse, and neglect his office, which is to execute iudgement.
f For wine doeth comfort the heart, as Psal. 104, 15.
g Defend their cause that are not able to helpe themselues.

her price is farre aboue the pearles.
11 The heart of her husband trufteth in her,
and he fhall haue no neede of [h] fpoyle.
12 Shee will doe him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life.
13 She feeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth
cheerefully with her hands.
14 Shee is like the fhips of marchants: fhee

17 She girdeth her loynes with ftrength, and ftrengtheneth her armes.
18 She feeleth that her marchandife is good:
her candle is not put out by night.
19 Shee putteth her hands to the wheele, and her hands handle the fpindle.

h He fhall not neede to vfe any vnlawfull meanes to gaine his liuing.
‖ Or, meate, as Pfal. 111, 15.
i She prepareth their meat betime.
k She purchafeth it with the gaines of her trauaile.

20 Shee ftretcheth out her hand to the poore,
and putteth forth her hands to the needy.
21 Shee feareth not the fnow for her familie:
for all her familie is cloathed with ‖ skarlet.
22 She maketh her felfe carpets: fine linnen
and purple is her garment.
23 Her husband is knowen in the [l] gates, when he fitteth with the Elders of the land.
24 She maketh ‖ fheetes, and felleth them, and giueth girdles vnto the marchant.
25 [m] Strength and honour is her cloathing, and in the latter day fhe fhall reioyce.
26 She openeth her mouth with wifdome, and the [n] law of grace is in her tongue.

and eateth not the bread of idleneffe.
28 Her children rife vp, and [o] call her bleffed:
her husband alfo fhall prayfe her, faying,
29 Many daughters haue done vertuoufly:
but thou furmounteft them all.
30 Fauour is deceitfull, and beautie is vanitie:
but a woman that feareth the Lord fhee fhall be prayfed.

let her owne workes prayfe her in the [q] gates.

ECCLESIASTES, OR THE PREACHER.

THE ARGVMENT.

Salomon as a Preacher and one that defired to inftruct all in the way of faluation, defcribeth the deceiueable vanities of this world: that man fhould not be addicted to any thing vnder the funne, but rather inflamed with the defire of the heauenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which fet their felicity either in knowledge, or in pleafures, or in dignitie and riches, fhewing that mans true felicitie confifteth in that, that hee is vnited with God, and fhall enioy his prefence: fo that all other things muft be reiected, faue in afmuch as they further vs to attaine to this heauenly treafure, which is fure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other faue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

1 All things in this world are full of vanitie, and of none indurance. 13 All mans wifedome is but follie and griefe.

THE wordes of the [a] Preacher,
the fonne of Dauid king in Ierufalem.
2 [b] Vanitie of vanities, fayth
the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.
3 What remaineth vnto man
in all his [c] trauaile, which he fuffreth vnder ẏ funne?
4 One generation paffeth, and another generation fucceedeth: but the earth remaineth for [d] euer.
5 The funne rifeth, and the funne goeth downe,
and draweth to his place where he rifeth.
6 The [e] winde goeth toward the South, and compaffeth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuites.
7 * All the riuers goe into the fea, yet the fea
is not full: for the riuers goe vnto the place [f] whence they returne, and goe.
8 All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eye is not fatisfied with feeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.
9 [g] What is it that hath bin? that that fhalbe:
and what is it that hath bin done? that which fhall
be done: & there is no new thing vnder the funne.
10 Is there any thing, whereof one may fay, Behold this, it is new? it hath bin already in the old time that was before vs.
11 There is no memory of the former, neither fhall there be a remembrance of the latter that fhall be, with them that fhall come after.
12 ¶ [h] I the Preacher haue beene king ouer Ifrael in Ierufalem.
13 And I haue giuen mine heart to fearch and find out wifdome by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this fore trauell hath God giuen to the fonnes of men, [i] to humble them thereby.) 14 I haue confidered all the workes that are done vnder the funne, and behold, all is vanitie,
and vexation of the fpirit.
15 That which is [k] crooked, can none make ftreight: & that which faileth, cannot be numbred.
16 I thought in mine heart, and fayd, Behold,
I am become great, and excell in wifdom all them that haue beene before me in Ierufalem; and mine heart hath feene much wifedome and knowledge.
17 And I gaue mine heart to know wifdome and knowledge, [l] madneffe and foolifhneffe; I knew alfo that this is a vexation of the fpirit.
18 For in the multitude of wifedome is much [m] griefe; and he that increafeth knowledge, in-creafeth forow.

a Salomon is here called a preacher, or one that affembleth the people, becaufe he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to paffe their life in this tranfitory world.
b He condemneth the opinions of all men that fet felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, feeing that in this world all things are as vanitie and nothing.
c Salomon doeth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but fheweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forafmuch as all things are tranfitory.
d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longeft, euen to the laft day, which yet is fubiect to corruption. e By the funne, wind and riuers, he fheweth that the greateft labour and longeft hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicity in this world. * Ecclus. 40, 11. f The fea which compaffeth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which powre out fprings and riuers into the fea againe. g Hee fpeaketh of times and feafons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times paft, fo come they to paffe againe.

h He prooueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and ftudie, hee chiefly fhould haue obtained it, becaufe he had gifts and aydes of God therevnto aboue all other.
i Man of nature hath a defire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punifhment of finne, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God.
k Man is not able by all his diligence to caufe things to go otherwife then they doe: neither can hee number the faults that are committed, much leffe remedy them. l That is, vaine things, which ferued vnto pleafure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of confcience. m Wifedome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and minde: for when a man hath attained to the higheft, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicity.

CHAP.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 24 The wise and the foole haue both one ende touching the bodily death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to now, I will prooue [a] thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.
2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?
3 I sought in mine heart † to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in [b] wisedome, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they † enioy vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.
4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.
5 I haue made me gardens and † orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruit.
6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.
7 I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the [c] house: also I had great Possession of beeues and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.
8 I haue gathered vnto mee also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers, and women singers, and the [d] delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman [e] taken captiue, and women taken captiues.
9 And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wise-dome [f] remained with me.
10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my [g] portiō of all my trauaile.
11 Then I looked on all my works that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profit vnder the sunne.
12 ¶ And I turned to behold [h] wisedome, and madnes, and folly; (for who is the man that ‖ will come after the King in things, which men now haue done?)
13 Then I saw that there is profit in wisdome, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent
then darkenesse.
14 * For the wise mans [i] eyes are in his head,
but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I know
also that the same [k] condition falleth to them all.
15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.
16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole [l] for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come, shall all be forgotten. And [m] how dieth the wise man, as doeth the foole?
17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne is grieuous vnto me;
for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.
18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the Sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shalbe after me.
19 And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This a Salomon maketh this discourse with himselfe, as though he would try whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.

† Ebr. draw my flesh to wine.
b Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisedom and the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.
† Ebr. see.
† Ebr. paradises.
c Meaning, of the seruants or slaues, which hee had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were the masters.
d That is, whatsoeuer men take pleasure in.
e Which were the most beautifull of them that were taken in warre, as Iudg. 5, 30. Some vnderstand by these words, no women, but instruments of musicke.
f For all this God did not take his gift of wisedome from mee.
g This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanity in the next verse.
h I bethought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisedome or mine owne affections and pleasures which he calleth madnes.
‖ Or, compare with the King.
* Prou. 17, 24.
i Hee foreseeth things which the foole cannot for lacke of wisedome.
k For both die and are forgotten as verse 16: or they both alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.
l Meaning, in this world.
m He woondreth that men forget a wise man, being dead, as well as they doe a foole.

is also vanitie.
20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart [n] abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed
vnder the Sunne.
21 For there is a man whose trauaile is in wise-dome, and in knowledge, and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall he [o] giue
his portion: this also is vanity, and a great griefe.
22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed
vnder the Sunne?
23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.
24 There is no profit to man, but that he eat,
and drinke, and [p] delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.
25 For who could eat, and who could haste to [q] outward things more then I?
26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdome, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner hee giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God:
this also is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.
o Among other griefes that was not the least, to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauails, to one that had taken no paine therefore, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.
p When man hath all laboured, hee can get no more then foode and refreshing, yet hee confesseth also that this commeth of Gods blessing as Chap. 3, 13.
q Meaning, to pleasures.

CHAP. III.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

TO all things there is an [a] appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.
2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.
3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.
4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh, a time to mourne, and a time to daunce.
5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.
6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.
7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.
8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.
9 What profit hath hee that worketh of the thing wherein he trauaileth?
10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen
to the sonnes of men, [b] to humble them thereby.
11 He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time; also hee hath set the [c] world in their heart, yet cannot man find out the work that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.
12 I know that there is nothing good in them,
but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.
13 And also that euery man eateth and drink-eth, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour.
This is the [d] gift of God.
14 I know that whatsoeuer God shall doe, it shalbe for [e] euer; to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish; for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.
15 What is that that hath beene? that is now;
and that that shall be, hath now beene; for God
[f] requireth that which is past.
16 And moreouer, I haue seene vnder the Sunne
the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse,
and the place of iustice, where was iniquity.
17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetuall: next to teach vs not to be grieued, if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.
b Reade Chap. 1, 13.
c God hath giuen man a desire, and affection to seeke out the things of this world, and to labour therein.
d Reade Chap. 2, 24 and these places declare that we should doe all things with sobrietie and in the feare of God, forasmuch as he giueth not his gifts to the intent that they should be abused.
e That is man shall neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to passe.
f God onely causeth that, which is past, to returne.

iust and the wicked: for time is g there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had h purged them: yet to see too, they are in themselues as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts are euen as one i condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue al one breath, & there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all is vanity.

20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who k knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should l reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shalbe after him.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein. l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24. and Chap. 3. 12. 22. Chap. 5. 17. and Chap. 8. 15. he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

a The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mans labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an old King that is a foole.

SO a I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and behold, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them, and loe, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I prayfed the b dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue.

3 And I count him c better then them both, which hath not yet beene: for hee hath not seene the euill works which are wrought vnder the sun.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all d perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

5 The foole foldeth his hands, and e eateth vp his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doeth he thinke, For whom doe I trauaile and defraud my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, & this is an euill trauaile.

9 f Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold g cord is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish King, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the h prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is i borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the Sunne k with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is none l end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heed to thine m foote when thou entrest into the house of God, and be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of n fooles: for they know not that they doe euill, thinke themselues abused, as other haue beene in time past for him. m That is, with what affection thou commest to God. n Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

a Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue enough. 12 The labourers sleepe is sweete. 14 Man when he dieth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented mind, is the gift of God.

BE not a rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth; therefore let thy words be b few.

2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse; so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of words.

3 * When thou hast vowed a vow to God, defer not to pay it; for he delighteth not in fooles; pay therefore that thou hast c vowed.

4 It is better that thou shouldest not vow, then that thou shouldest vow and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy d flesh to sinne; neither say before the e Angel, that this is ignorance; wherefore shall God be angry by thy voyce, and destroy the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many words: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for he that is f higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the g abundance of the earth is ouer all: the king h also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loueth riches, shalbe without the fruit thereof: this is also vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes.

11 The sleepe of him that trauaileth, is sweete, whether hee eate little or much: but the i facietie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches k reserued to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euill trauell, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his l hand is nothing.

14 * As he came foorth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as he came, so shall he goe, and what profit hath he that he hath trauelled for the m winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in n darknesse with k Which follow and flatter the Kings sonne, or him that shall succeede, to enter into credite with them in hope of gaine.

l They neuer cease by all means to creepe into fauour, but when they obteine not their greedy desires, they and so care no more to heare the worde of God.

a Either in vowing or in praying: meaning, that we should vse all reuerence to Godward.

b Hee heareth thee not for thy many words sake, or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith and feruent minde. * Deut. 23. 21.

c He speaketh of vowes, which are approoued by Gods worde, and serue to his glory.

f Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie to the intent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.

with much grief, and in his sorow and anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue sene good, that it is comely to o eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his p life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

o Reade Chap. 3.22.

p He will take no great thought for the paines that he hath indured in time past.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

There is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that he desireth: but a God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sickenesse.

3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplyed: and his soule be not b satisfied with good things, and he be not c buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For d he commeth into vanitie, and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall be couered with darkenesse.

5 Also he hath not seen the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth; yet the e soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that f knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The g sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lusts: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knowen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is h stronger then hee.

a He sheweth that it is the plague of God when the rich man hath not a liberall heart to vse his riches.
b If he can neuer haue ynough.
c As we see oftentimes that the couetous man either falleth into crimes that deserue death, or is murthered or drowned or hangeth himselfe or such like, and so lacketh the honor of buriall, which is the last office of humanitie.
d Meaning, the vntimely fruit whose life did neither profit or hurt any.
e His desire and affection.
f That knoweth to vse his goods well in the iudgement of men.
g To be content with that which God hath giuen, is better then to followe the desires that neuer can be satisfie.
h Meaning, God who will make him to feele that he is mortall.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoid the contrary.

Surely there be many things that increase vanitie, and what auaileth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is a good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing hee maketh them as a * shadow? for who can shew vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne?

3 * A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of b death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of c mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the d thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man e mad; and the reward destroieth the heart.

10 The f end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hasty spirit to be angry for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better then these? for thou doest not enquire g wisely of this thing.

13 Wisedome is good with an h inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wisedome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisedome giueth life to the possessors thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God; for who can make * straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction i consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should find k nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the daies of my vanity: there is a iust man that perisheth in his l iustice, & there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust m ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked n ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on o this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from p that: for he that feareth God shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisedome shall strengthen the wise men more then ten mighty princes that are in the city.

22 * Surely there is no man iust in the earth that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine q heart also to all the words that men speake, least thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For oftentimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast || cursed others.

25 All this haue I prooued by wisedome: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may r it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can find it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to know and to enquire and to search wisdome, and reason, and to know the wickednesse of folly, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nets and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shalbe taken by her.

29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to s find the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not. I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Onely loe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous; but they haue sought many t inuentions.

a There is no state where in man can liue to haue perfit quietnesse in this life.

d Which crackle for a while and profit nothing.
e A man that is esteemed wise, when he is brought to oppression becommeth like a beast.
f He noteth their lightnesse which enterprise a thing and suddenly leaue it off againe.
g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans sinnes.
h He answereth to them that esteeme not wisedome, except riches be ioyned therewith, shewing that both are the gifts of God, but that wisdome is farre more excellent, and may be without riches.

CHAP. VIII.

a To obey Princes and Magistrates. 17 The workes of God passe mans knowledge.

WHo is as the wiseman? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisedome of a man doth make his face to shine: and b the strength of his face shalbe changed.

2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the c mouth of the king, and to the word of the oath of God.

3 d Haste not to goe foorth of his sight: stand not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandement, shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall know the e time, and iudgement.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the f miserie of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not Lord g ouer the spirit to retaine the spirit: neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessors thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne h hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and i they returned, and they that came from the holy k place, were yet forgotten in the city, where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not l executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolonge his dayes; he shall be like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it commeth according to ᵐ the worke of the wicked; and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust; I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praysed ioy, for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue n to eate and to drinke and to reioyce; for this is adioined to his labour the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know wisedome, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe.

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne; for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it; yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende. 16 Wisedome excelleth strength.

I Haue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or o hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one b condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whosoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a c liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing knowe that they shall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is doue vnder the sunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheresull heart: for God now d accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be e white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 † * Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanity, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou laboureſt vnder the sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisedome in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge; but time and f chance commeth to them all.

12 For neither doth man know his g time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare; so are the children of men snared in the euill time, when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisedome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto mee.

14 A little citie and few men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisedome, but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then sayd I, Better is wisdome then strength; yet the wisedome of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the cry of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisedome then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisedome. 11 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish kings and drunken princes. 17 And of good Kings and Princes.

a Meaning, what things he ought to chuse or refuse: or man knoweth not by these outward things, that is, by prosperitie or aduersitie, whom God doeth fauour or hate, for he seeth them as well to the wicked as to the godly.
b In outward things, as riches and povertie, sickenesse and health, there is no difference betweene the godly and the wicked: but the difference is that the godly are assured by faith of Gods fauour and affiftance.
c He noteth the Epicures and carnall men, which made their belly their god, and had no pleasure, but in this life, wishing rather to be an abiect and vile person in this life, then a man of authoritie, and so to die, which is meant by the dogge and lyon.
d They flatter themselues to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance.
e Reioyce, be merry, and spare for no cost, thus speake the wicked belly-gods.
f Ebr. regard the life.
* Chap. 5, 18.
f Thus the worldlings say to proone that all things are lawfull for them, and attribute that to chance and fortune, which is done by the prouidence of God.

d Withdraw not thy selfe lightly from the obedience of thy prince.
e That is, when time is to obey, and how farre he should obey.
f Man of himselfe is miserable, and therefore ought so doe nothing to increase the same, but to worke all things by wisdom and counsell.
g Man hath no power to saue his owne life, and therefore must not rashly cast himselfe into danger.

folly him that is in estimation for wisedome, and
for glory.
2 The heart of a [a] wise man is at his right hand;
but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.
3 And also when the foole goeth by the way,

4 If the [c] spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp acifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the

6 Folly is set in great excellency, and the [e] rich set in the low place.
7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes

that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.
9 Hee that remooueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood, shalbe in danger thereby.
10 If the yron be blunt, & one hath not whet
the edge, he must then put to more [f] strength: but the excellency to direct a thing is wisedome.
11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed;
no better is a babler.
12 The words of the mouth of a wise man haue
grace; but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.
13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.
14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying,
Man knoweth not what shalbe; and who can tell him what shalbe after him?
15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him;
for he knoweth not to go into the [g] citie.
16 Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

h That is, without wisedome and counsell.
i Are giuen to their lustes and pleasures.
k Meaning, when he is noble for vertue and wisedome, and with the gifts of God.
l Thou canst not worke euill so secretly, but it shall be knowen.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods pro-uidence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

CAst thy bread vpon the [a] waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.
2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight:
for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the
earth.
3 If the [b] cloudes be full, they will powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the [c] tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shalbe.
4 He that obserueth the [d] wind shall not sow,
and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.
5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the womb of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.
6 In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand [e] rest: for thou know-est not whether shall prosper, this or [f] that, or whether both shall be a like good.
7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.
8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of [g] darkenesse, because they are many, all that commeth is vanitie.
9 [h] Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.
10 Therefore take away [i] griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill [k] to depart from thy flesh:
for childhood and youth are vanitie.

a That is, be liberall to the poore, and though it seeme to be as a thing ventred on the sea, yet it shall bring thee profit.
b As the cloudes that are full, powre out raine, so the rich that haue abundance must destribute it liberally.
c He exhorteth to be liberall while wee liue: for after there is no power.
d Hee that feareth inconueniences, when necessitie requireth, shall neuer doe his duetie.
e Be not wearie of well doing.
f That is, which of thy workes are most agreable to God.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age.
7 The soule returneth to God. 11 *Wisdome is the gift of God, and consisteth in fearing him and keeping his
commandements.*

REmember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill daies come not,
nor the yeeres approach, wherein thou shalt say,
I haue no pleasure in them:
2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light,
nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the [a] cloudes
returne after the raine.
3 When the [b] keepers of the house shall tremble, and the [c] strong men shall bow themselues, and the [d] grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that [e] looke out by the windowes:
4 And the [f] doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the [g] grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voyce of the [h] bird: and all the [i] daughters of singing shalbe abased:
5 Also they shall be afraid of the [k] hie thing,
and feare shalbe in the [l] way, and the almond tree shall [m] flourish, and the [n] grashopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driuen away:
for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners goe about in the streete.
6 Whiles the [o] siluer coard is not lengthened,
nor the golden [p] ewer broken, nor the [q] pitcher broken at the [r] well, nor the [s] wheele broken at the [t] cisterne.
7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the [u] spirit returne to God that gaue it.
8 Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.
9 And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables.
10 The Preacher sought to find out pleasant words, and an vpright writing, euen the words of trueth.
11 The words of the wise are like goads, and like nailes [x] fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one [y] pastour.
12 And of other things beside these, my sonne, take thou heede: for there is none end in making a Before thou come to a continuall miserie: for when the cloudes remaine after the raine, mans griefe is increased.

many z bookes, and much reading is a wearinesse of the flesh.

13 Let vs heare the end of all: feare God and keepe his commandements: for this is the whole duety of man.

14 For God will bring every worke vnto iudgement, with every secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

AN † EXCELLENT SONG WHICH WAS SALOMONS.

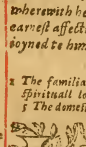
THE ARGVMENT.

In this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfite loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefites wherewith he doeth enrich her of his pure mercie and grace without any of her deserving. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the Spirituall loue betweene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithfull soule inflamed with the desire of Christ, whom she loueth.
b The seeling of thy great benefits.
c They that are pure in heart and conuersation.
d The Faithfull confesse that they cannot come to Christ, except they be drawē.
e Meaning, the secret ioy that is not knowē in the world.
f The Church confesseth her spots and sinne, but hath confidence in the fauour of Christ.
g Kedar was Ismaels soone, of whom came the Arabians that dwelt in tents.
h Which within were all set with precious stones and Iewels.
i Consider not the Church by the outward appearance.
k The corruption of nature through sinne and afflictions.
l Mine owne brethren, which should haue moit fauoured me.
m She confesseth her own negligence.
n The spouse feeling her fault seeth to her husband only for succour.
o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastours, and they set forth their owne deuises in stead of thy doctrine.
p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, so goe to the pathours where was no worldly treasure to be compared vnto thee.
r The Church reioyceth that she is admitted to the company of Christ.
s He shall be most deare vnto me.
t Christ accepteth his Church, and commendeth her beautie.
u That is, the heart of the faithfull, wherein Christ dwelleth by his Spirit.



Et a him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the b sauour of thy good ointments, thy name is as an oyntment powred out: therefore the c virgins loue thee.

3 d Draw me; we will run after thee; the King hath brought me into his e chambers; wee will reioyce and be glad in thee; we will remember thy loue more then wine; the righteous doe loue thee.

4 I am f blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tents of g Kedar, and as the h curtaine of Salomon.

5 Regard yee mee not because I am i blacke; for the k sunne hath looked vpō me. The l sonnes of my mother were angry against me: they made me the keeper of ỹ vines; but I m kept not mine own vine.

6 Shew me, n O thou whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flockes of o thy companions?

7 p If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee foorth by the steps of the flocke, and feed thy kids by the tents of the shepheards.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the q charets of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

10 Wee will make thee borders of golde with floods of siluer.

11 r Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.

12 My wel-beloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my f breasts.

13 My wel-beloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedy.

14 My loue, behold, thou art t faire; beholde thou art faire; thine eyes are like the doues.

15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire, and pleasant; also our u bed is greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the doue. 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the valleyes.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my a loue among the daughters.

3 b Like the apple tree among the trees of the foreſt, so is my welbeloued among the sons of men: vnder his shadowe had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruit was sweet vnto my mouth.

4 Hee brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples; for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth imbrace me.

7 c I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the field, that ye stir not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.

8 d It is the voyce of my welbeloued: behold, he commeth leaping by the mountains, and skipping by the hils.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: loe, he e standeth behind our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the f grates.

10 My welbeloued spake and sayd vnto mee, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For behold, g winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come; and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figtree hath br ought foorth her yong figs: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My doue, that art in the h holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shew mee thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweet, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the foxes, the i little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: hee feedeth among the lillies.

17 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a k roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

CHAP

† Ebr. A song of songs: so called because it is the chiefest of those 1005. which Salomon made, as is mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32.

a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things.
b The spouse testifieth her great desire toward her husband, but her strength faileth her, and therefore the desireth to be comforted, and felt it.
c Christ chargeth them which haue to doe in the Church as it were by a solemne oath, that they trouble not the quietnesse thereof.
d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.
e Forasmuch as his humanitie was hidde vnder the cloake of our flesh.
f So that we cannot haue full knowledge of him in this life.
g That is, since and errour is driuen backe by the commng of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all things flourish.
h Thou that art ashamed of thy sinnes, come and shew thy selfe vnto me.
i Suppresse the heretikes whiles they are young, that is, when they begin to shew their malice, and destroy the vine of the Lord.
k The Church desireth Christ to be most ready to helpe her in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wildernes.

I N my bed by ^a night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him; but I found him not.
2 I will rise therefore now, and go about in the city, by the streets, and by the open places, and will ^b seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not.
3 The ^c watchmen that went about the city,
found mee: to whom I sayd, Haue you seene him whom my soule loueth?
4 When I had past a little from them, then I found him whom my soule loued; I tooke hold on him, and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceiued me.
5 ^d I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please.
6 Who is shee that commeth vp out of the ^e wildernes like pillars of smoake perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the † spices of the marchant?
7 Behold his ^f bed, which is Salomons; three-score strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.
8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh
for the feare ^g by night.
9 King Salomon made himselfe a ‖ palace of the trees of Lebanon.
10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.
11 Come foorth, ye ^h daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the ^i crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

a The Church by night, that is in troubles, seeketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.
b Shewing that although we be not heard at the first, yet we must still continue in prayer, till we feele comfort.
c Which declareth, that we must seeke vnto all of whom we hope to haue any succour.
d Reade Chap. 2, 7.
e This is referred to the Church of Israel, which was led by the wildernes fortie yeeres.

f By the bed is meant the Temple which Salomon made.
g He alludeth to the watch which kept the Temple.
‖ Or, charet.
h All ye that are of the number of the faithfull.
i Christ become man was crowned by the loue of God with the glorious crowne of his diuinity.

CHAP. IV.

1 The prayses of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ towards her.

B Ehold, thou art ^a faire, my loue; behold, thou art faire; thine eyes are like the doues; among thy lockes * thine haire is like the ^b flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.
2 They teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing; which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren
among them.
3 Thy lips are like a threed of scarlet, and thy talke is comely, thy temples are within thy locks
as a piece of a pomegranate.
4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence; a thousand shields hang therein, and all the targates of the strong men.
5 Thy two ^c breasts are as two yong roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.
6 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flie away, I will go into the mountaine of myrrhe, and to the mountaine of incense.
7 Thou art all faire my loue, and there is no spot in thee.
8 ^d Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shener, and Hermon, from the dennes of the lions, and from the mountaines of the leopards.
9 My ^e sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine ^f eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.
10 My sister, my Spouse, how faire is thy loue?
how much better is thy loue then wine? and the sauour of thine oyntments then all spices?
11 Thy ^g lippes, my Spouse, droppe as hony combes: hony and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauour of thy garment is as the sauour of Lebanon.
12 My sister, my spouse is as a garden inclosed,
as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.
13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweet fruits, as camphire, spikenard, 14 Euen spikenard, and saffron: calamus, and cynamon, with all the trees of incense, myrrhe
and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.
15 ^h O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.
16 Arise, O ^i North, and come, O South, and blow on my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out: let my wellbeloued come to his garden,
and eat his pleasant fruit.

a Because Christ delighteth in his Church, he commendeth all that is in her.
* Chap. 6, 4.
b He hath respect to the multitude of the faithfull, which are many in number.
c Wherein are knowledge and zeale two precious iewels.
d Christ promiseth his Church to call his faithfull from all the corners of the world.
e Christ calleth his Church sister, in respect that he had taken the flesh of man.
f In that he made his Church beautifull & rich, he loued his gifts in her.
g Because of thy confession and thankesgiuing.
h The Church confesseth that all her glory and beauty commeth of Christ, who is the true fountaine of all grace.
i She desireth Christ to comfort her, and to powre the graces of his Spirit vpon her, which Spirit is meant by the North and South wind.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce. 3 She confesseth her nakednesse. 10 She prayseth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my ^a garden, my sister, my spouse,
I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine
hony combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merry, O welbeloued.
2 ^b I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying,
Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dew, and my locks with the drops of the ^c night.
3 I haue put off my ^d coate, how shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, how shall I defile
them?
4 My wellbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and † mine heart was affectioned toward him.
5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my ^e fingers
pure myrrhe upon the handles of the barre.
6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbe-loued was gone & past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but he answered me not.
7 The ^f watchmen that were about the city, found me: they smote me, and wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from
mee.
8 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you find my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.
9 ^h O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? wha[t] is thy welbeloued more then another louer, tha[t]

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOD, according to his promise, Deuteron. 18. 15. that hee would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interprete and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine conteined briefly therein, to the vtilitie and profite of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law, they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First, to his doctrine conteined briefly in the two Tables; secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the Couenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same; not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safegard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearely intreated it then Moses, and set foorth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whom this Couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations; euer applying the doctrine, as hee saw that the disease of the people required. Hee declareth also many notable prophecies which hee had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah his office, and kingdome. And of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as most principall points conteined in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons that hee preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8. 1. and Habak. 2. 2) the Priestes tooke it downe, and reserued it among their Registers; and so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, hee was of the kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah king of Iudah, as the best writers doe agree) and prophecied more then 64 yeeres, from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom hee was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, it is one thing among others is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordained them in his secret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

1 Isaiah reprooueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbornnesse, that neither for benefits nor punishments would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 and of the restitution thereof.

1 A [a] Vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which hee saw [b] concerning Iudah and Ierusalem, in the dayes of [c] Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

2 Heare, O [d] heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath said, I haue nourished and brought vp [e] children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3 The [f] oxe knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib; but Israel hath not knowen; my people hath not vnderstood.

4 Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie; a [g] seede of the wicked, corrupt children; they haue forsaken the Lord; they haue prouoked the [h] Holy one of Israel to anger; they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore should ye be [i] smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more; the whole [k] head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 From the [l] sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds and swelling, and sores full of corruption; they haue not beene wrapped, [m] nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste; your cities are burnt with fire; strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrow of [n] strangers.

8 And the daughter of [o] Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hoastes [p] had reserued vnto vs euen a small remnant, wee should haue beene [q] as Sodom, and should haue beene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, O [r] princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offrings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I [s] desire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goats.

12 When ye come to appeare before mee, who

a That is, a reuelation or prophecie, which was one of the two meanes whereby God declared himselfe to his seruants in old time, as Num. 12. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah and Ierusalem, but not onely: for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also.

c Called also Azariah, 2 Kings 15. 1. of these Kings, read 2 King. from Chap. 14. vnto Chap. 21. and 2 Chron. from Chap. 25. vnto Chap 33.

d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he calleth to the dumbe creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut. 32. 1.

e Here declareth his great mercie toward the Iewes forasmuch as hee chose them aboue all other nations to be his people and children, as Deuteronom 10. 15.

f The most dull and bruit beasts doe more acknowledge their duety toward their masters, then my people doe toward mee, of whom they haue receiued benefites without comparison.

g They were not onely wicked as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euill example infected others.

h That is, him that sanctifieth Israel.

i What auaileth it to seeke to amend you by punishment, seeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebell?

k By naming the chiefe parts of the body, he signifieth that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.

l Euery part of the bodie as well the least as the chiefest, was plagued.

m Their plagues were so grieuous that they were incurable, and yet they would not repent.

n Meaning, of them that dwell farre off, which because they looke for no aduantage of that which remaineth destroy all before them.

o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his Name.

q That is, all destroyed.

r Yee that for your vices deserued all to be destroyed, as they of Sodom, saue that God of his mercie reserued a little number, Lamentations 3. 22.

s Although God commanded these sacrifices for a time, as aydes and exercises of their faith: yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them, Psalme 50. 13. Ieremiah 6. 20. Amos 5. 21. Micah 6. 7.

required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bring no mo oblations, t in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I cannot suffer your new moones, nor Sabbath, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

14 My soule hateth your u new moones and your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearie to beare them.

15 And when you shall stretch out your hands I will hide mine eyes from you: and though yee make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full x of blood.

16 y Wash you, make you cleane, take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill.

17 Learne to z doe well: seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse, and defend the widow.

18 Come now, a and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimsen, they shall be made b white as snow: though they were red like scarlet, they shalbe as wooll.

19 If yee c consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

21 How is the d faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now e they are murtherers.

22 Thy f siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of g theeues: euery one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hoastes, the h Mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will i ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge mee of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it k be pure, and take away all thy tinne.

26 l And I will restore thy Iudges as at the first, and thy councellers as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in m iustice.

28 And the n destruction of the transgressours and of the sinners shall be together: and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed.

29 For they shalbe confounded for the o okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shall be ashamed of the gardens that ye haue chosen.

30 For ye shall be as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the strong shall be as p towe, and the maker thereof as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

CHAP. II.

a The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6. The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

THe word that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem,

2 * It a shalbe in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and b shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and all nations shall c flow vnto it.

3 And many people shall goe, and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to d the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths, * for the e Law shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from f Ierusalem.

4 And g he shall iudge among the nations, and h rebuke many people: they shall i breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into sythes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne k to fight any more,

5 O house of Iaakob, come yee, and let vs l walke in the Law of the Lord.

6 Surely thou m hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are n full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, o and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of P siluer and gold, and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charets were infinite.

8 Their land was also full of idoles; they worshipped the worke of their owne handes, which their owne fingers haue made.

9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man q humbled himselfe; therefore r spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his Maiestie.

11 The high looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in s that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hoastes is vpon all the proud and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted, and it shalbe made low.

13 Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan.

14 And vpon all the hie t mountaines, and vpon all the hils that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall.

16 And vpon u all the ships of Tarshish, and t Without faith and repentance.

u Your sacrifices offered in the new moones and feasts: hee condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and they themselues are void of faith and mercy.

x He sheweth that where men be giuen to auarice, deceit, cruelties and extortion, which is meant by blood, there God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme neuer so holy, as Chap. 59. 3.

y By this outward washing, he meaneth the spirituall: exhorting the Iewes to repent and amend their faults.

z This kind of reasoning by the second Table, the Scriptures vse in many places against the hypocrites, who preferred such workes and religion in word, but when the charitie and loue toward their brethren should appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion.

a To know if I doe accuse you without cause.

b Least sinners should pretend any rigour on Gods part, he only willeth them to be pure in heart, and he will forgiue all their sinnes, were they neuer so many or great.

c He sheweth that whatsoeuer aduersitie man endureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne iucredulitie and disobedience.

d That is, Ierusalem, which had promised fidelity vnto me, as a wife to her husband.

e Giuen to couetousnes and extortion, which he signified before by blood ver. 15.

f Whatsoeuer was pure in the before, is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shew.

g That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners: and not onely doe not punish them, but are themselues such.

h When God will shew himselfe merciful to his Church, he is called himselfe, The Holy one of Israel: but when he hath a doe with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whom no power is able to resist.

i I will take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Iewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them. Which thing yet hee doeth with a griefe, because of his Couenant.

k Least the faithfull among them should be ouercome with his threatning, he addeth this consolation.

l It is onely the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing hee doeth because of his promise, made concerning the saluation of his Church.

m By iustice is meant Gods faithfull promise, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church.

n The wicked shall not be partakers of Gods promise Psal. 92. 9.

o That is, the rites and pleasant places, where ye commit idolatry, which was forbidden, Deut. 16, 22.

p The false god, wherein ye put your confidence, shalbe consumed as easily as a piece of tow.

* Mich. 4. 1.

a The decree and ordinance of God, touching the restauration of the Church, which is chiefly meant of the time of Christ.

b In an euident place to be seene and discerned.

c When the kingdome of Christ shalbe enlarged by the preaching of the doctrine. Here also is declared the zeale of the children of God, when they are called.

d Alluding to mount Zion, where the visible Church then was.

* Mich. 4. 2.

e Meaning, the whole doctrine of saluation.

f This was accomplished, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went thorow all the word.

g The Lord, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him.

h That they may acknowledge their sinnes, and turne to him.

i He sheweth the fruit of the peace, which the Gospell shoulf bring: to wit, that men should doe good one to another, whereas before they were enemies.

k He seeketh not against the vse of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth how the heart of the godly shalbe affected one to and another, but shal be perfected when we are ioyned with our Head Christ Iesus.

l Seeing the Gentiles will be so readie, make you haste and shew them the way to worship God.

m The Prophet seeing the small hope that the Iewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken them for their sins.

n Full of the corruption that reigned chiefly in the East parts.

o They altogether gaue themselues to the fashions of other nations.

p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatry: next their couetousnes, and thirdly their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.

r Thus the Prophet spake, being influenced with the zeale of Gods glory, and that he might feare them with Gods iudgements.

s Meaning, at soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements.

t By hie trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud and lustie, and thinke themselues most strong in this world.

u Hee condemneth their vaine confidence, which they had in strong holdes, and in their rich marchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate.

vpon all pleasant pictures.
17 And the hautinesse of men shall be brought low, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.
18 And the Idoles will he vtterly destroy.
19 Then shall they goe * into the holes of the rocks, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.
20 At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles & his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) [x] to the mowles,
and to the backs.
21 To goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.
22 Cease you from the man, whose [y] breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

* Hosea 10.8. luke 23.30. reuel 6.16. and 9. 6.

x They shall cast them into most vile and filthie places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped, he is dead, and consider that you haue to doe with God.

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people, God will take away the wise men, and giue them foolish princes. 14 The couetousnesse of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

For loe, the Lord God of hoastes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay [a] and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,
2 The strong man, and the man of warre, [b] the iudge, and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,
3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable,
and the counseller, and the cunning artificer, and [c] eloquent man.
4 And I will appoint [d] children to be their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them.
5 The people shalbe [e] oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.
6 When euery one shall [f] take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast cloathing, thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:
7 In that day he shall [g] sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor cloathing: therefore make me no prince
of the people.
8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and works are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.
9 The [h] triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodom: they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules:
for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.
10 [i] Say ye, Surely it shalbe well with the iust:
for they shall eate the fruit of their works.
11 Woe be to the wicked, it shalbe euill with him: for ẏ reward of his hands shallbe giuen him.
12 [k] Children are extortioners of my people,
and women haue rule ouer them: O my people,
they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy
the way of thy paths.
13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, hee
standeth to iudge the people.
14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the [l] Ancients of his people & the princes thereof:
for yee haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoyle of
the poore is in your houses.
15 What haue ye to do that ye beate my people to pieces, [m] and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hoasts?
16 The Lord also saith, [n] Because the daughters of Zion are hauty, and walke with [o] stretched out neckes, and with [p] wandring eyes, walking and [q] minsing as they goe, and making a [r] tinkling with their feet.
17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion bald, and the Lord shall discouer their secret parts.
18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the kalles, and the round tyres.
19 The sweet balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets.
20 * The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earerings, 23 The rings and the mufflers, 22 The costly apparell and the vailes, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes.
23 And the glasses and the fine linnen, and the hoods and the [s] launes.
24 And in stead of sweete sauour, there shalbe stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnesse, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackecloath, and burning in stead of beauty.
25 Thy men shall fall by the [t] sword, and thy strength in the battell.
26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament,
and she being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperity, he sheweth that they should be taken from them.

b The temporall gouernour and the minister.

c By these he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, and wherein they had any occasion to vant themselues.

d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge and strength.

e For lacke of good regiment, and order.

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe so horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shalbe found able or willing to be their gouernour

g Feare shall rather cause him to forsweare himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him

h When God shall examine their deeds whereupon they now set an impudent face, he shall finde the marke of their impietie in their forehead

i Be ye that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles. k Because the wicked people were more addict to their princes, then to the commandements of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such princes, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate. l Meaning, that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, and not preserued it, according to their duetie.

m That is, yee shew all cruelty against them.

n He menaceth the people because of the arrogancy and pride of their women, which gaue themselues to all wantonnes and dissolution.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a signe, that they were not chaste

q Which shewed their wantonnes.

r They delighted them in slippers that did creke, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

s In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

t Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands which haue suffered this dissolutenesse, and also the common weale, which hath not remedied it.

CHAP IV.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

And in that day shall [a] seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we will weare our owne garments: one-ly [b] let vs be called by thy name, and take away
our [c] reproach.
2 In that day shall the [d] bud of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.
3 Then he that shall be left in Zion, and he that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shalbe called holy, and euery one shall be [e] written among the liuing in Ierusalem,
4 When the Lord shall wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the [f] blood of Ie-rusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of [g] iudgements, and by the spirit of burning.
5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, [h] a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the [i] glory shall be a defence.
6 And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a co-uert for the storme [k] and for the raine.

a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they contrary to womanly shamefastnesse shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud signifying that Gods grace should be as plentifull toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap. 45 8. Some by the budde of the Lord meane Christ. e He alludeth to the booke of life, whereof read Exod. 32 32 meaning, Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting. f That is, the cruelty, extortion, auarice, and all wickednes. g When things shall be redressed that were amisse. h He alludeth to the piller of the cloud, Exod. 13, 21. meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place. i The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image and tokens of his grace shine in them. k God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine, he describeth the state of the people. 7 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

NOw will a I sing to my b beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard, * My beloued had a c vineyard in a very fruitfull hill.

2 And hee hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, d and hee built a tower in the mids thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then hee looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth e wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, f betweene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth foorth wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I g will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 ¶ Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hoasts is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and he looked for h iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousnesse, but behold i a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there be no k place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine l eares, saith the Lord of hoasts. Surely many houses shall be desolate, euen great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one m bath, and the seed of an n homer shall yeeld an o ephah.

11 ¶ Woe unto them, that p rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill q night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the r worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people s is gone into captiuitie, because they had t no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore u hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shalbe brought downe, and man shall be humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hoastes shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall x the lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them that draw iniquity with y cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, z Let him make speed: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the Holy One of Israel draw neere and come, that we may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, a and euill of good, which put darknes for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for sowre.

21 Woe vnto them that are b wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wo vnto them that are c mighty to drinke wine, and vnto them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, &c as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their roote shalbe as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Law of the Lord of hoasts, and contemned the word of the Holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his e hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the middes of the streets, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe f vnto the nations afarre, and will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall g faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleep, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor h the latchet of his shooes be broken.

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hoofes shalbe thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and he shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall i roare, and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if k they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenesse and sorow, and the light shalbe darkened in their l skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of king Vzziah, a I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an b hie throne, and lifted vp, and the lower c parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The d Seraphims stoode vpon it, euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his e face, and with twaine he couered his f feete, and with twaine he did h flie, a The Prophet by this song doth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude, and Gods mercy.

b That is, to God. * Iere. 2. 21. mat. 21. 33.
c Meaning, that he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.
d He spared no diligence nor cost.
e In the seuenth verse he declareth what they were.
f He maketh them iudges in their owne cause, for as much as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.
g I will take no more care for it: meaning, that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.
h Iudgement and righteousnesse are the fruits of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruell oppressors there is no religion.
i Of them that are oppressed.
k To wit, for the poore to dwell in.
l I haue heard the complaint and cry of the poore.
m Which conteineth about ten bottles: so that euery acre should but yeeld one bottel.
n Which conteineth an hundreth pottels.
o An Ephah conteineth ten pottels, and is to dry things as much as Bath is in liquors.
p That feare no pain nor diligence to follow their lustes.
q Which are neuer weary of their rioting and excessiue pleasures, but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.
r They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what end he hath created them.
s Speake as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.
t Because they would not obey the Word of God.
u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction it shall neuer be satiate.
x God comforteth the poore bushes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countreys, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had bene deprived by the fat and cruell tyrants.
y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sin.
z He sheweth what are the words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements, 2. Pet. 3. 4.
a Which are not ashamed of sinne, nor care for honestie, but are growen to a desperate impietie.
b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.
c Which are neuer weary, but shew their strength, and bragge in gluttony and drunkenes.
d Both they and their posterity, so that nothing shall be left.
e He sheweth that God had so fore punished this people, that the dumbe creatures, if they had beene so plagued, would haue bin more sensible, and therefore his plagues must continue, till they begin to feele them.
f He will make the Babylonians to come against them as his becke, and to fight vnder his standard.
g They shall be prompt and iustie to execute Gods vengeance.
h The enemy shall haue none impediments.
i Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemie.
k The Iewes shall find no succour.
l To the land of Iudah.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehend him, that is by visible figures, as Iohn Baptist saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a doue. b As a Iudge ready to giue sentence. c Of his throne. d They were Angels, so called because they were of a fierie colour, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will. e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnesse of Gods glory. f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnesse of God in them. g Which thing declareth the prompte obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

3 And one cried to another, and said, [b] Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hoasts: the whole [i] world
is full of his glory.
4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes [k] moo-ued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.
5 Then I said, [l] Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King, and Lord of hoasts.
6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto mee with an hot cole in his hand, which he hath taken from the [m] altar with the tongs:
7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Loe, this hath touched my lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy [n] sinne shalbe purged.
8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying,
Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs?
Then I said, Here am I, send me.
9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people,
[o] Yee shall heare indeed, but yee shall not vnder-stand: ye shall plainely see, and not perceiue.
10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauy, and shut their eyes, least they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heart, and conuert, and he heale them.
11 Then said I, Lord, [p] how long? And hee answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate.
12 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids
of the land.
13 But yet in it shall be [q] a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an elme [r] or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seed shall be the substance thereof.

b This oft repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselues in praysing God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.
i His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to praise him.
k Which things were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.
l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more need to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere that man approacheth to God, the more doth he know his owne sinne and corruption.
m Of the burnt offrings, where the fire neuer went out.
n This declareth that man cannot render due obedience to God, till he haue purged vs. o Wherby is declared that for the malice of man, God will not immediatly take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, & be saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duty, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their own malice their heart is hardened, Matt.13.14. Act. 28.26. rom.11,8. p As he was mooued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people. q Meaning, the tenth part, or as some write, it was reuealed to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie, that ten Kings should come before their captiuity, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah. r For the fewnes they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in Winter loseth leaues, and seemed to be dead, yet in Summer is fresh and greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem is besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the king.
14 Christ is promised.

AND in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Io-tham, the sonne of Vzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the king of ‖ Aram [a] came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remeliah king of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it; but he could not ouercome it.
2 And it was told the house of [b] Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with [c] Ephraim: therefore his heart was [d] mooued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are mooued by the wind.
3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go foorth now to meete Ahaz (thou and [e] Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper
poole, in the path of the fullers field, 4 And say vnto him; Take heed, and be still:
feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking [f] firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne.
5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim and Remaliahs sonne,
saying,
6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them up, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the mids thereof, euen the sonne
of [g] Tabeall.
7 Thus saith the Lord God, it shall not stand, neither shall it be.
8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and [h] threescore yeere, Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.
9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.
10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz,
saying,
11 Aske [i] a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it either in the depth beneath, or in the height aboue.
12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will
I [k] tempt the Lord.
13 Then he said, Heare you now. O house of Dauid; is it a small thing for you to grieue [l] men, that ye will also grieue my God?
14 Therefore the * Lord [m] himselfe will giue
you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and shee shall call his name ‖ Im-manuell.
15 [n] Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the
good.
16 For afore the childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of both her kings.
17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that are not come from the day that [p] Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of [q] As-
shur.
18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the [r] flie that is at the vttermost parts of the floods of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Asshur.
19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks,
and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushie
[s] places.
20 In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, the head and the haire of the [t] feet, and it shall consume the beard.
21 And in the same day shall a man [u] nourish
a yong kow, and two sheepe.
22 And for the [x] abundance of milke, that they shall giue, hee shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

* 2 Kings 16. 5.
‖ Or, Syria.
a To wit, the second time: for in the first battell Ahaz was ouercome.
b Meaning, the Kings house.
c That is, Israel, because that tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48. 19.
d For feare.
e That is to say, the rest shall returne, which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie that the rest of the people should returne out of their captiuitie.

f Which haue but a little smoke and shall quickly be quenched.
g Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemy to the house of Dauid.
h Counting from the fiue and twentieth yeere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophecied this thing, and now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetuall captiuity, which thing came to passe within 12. yeere after that Isaiah did this message.
i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shalbe destroyed and thou preserued.
k Not to beleeue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God, but to refuse a signe when God offreth it for the aid and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him.
l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your selues.
m Forasmuch as thou art vnworthy, the Lord for his owne promise sake will giue a signe, which shalbe that Christ the Sauiour of his Church, and the effect of all signes and miracles shalbe reuealed.
‖ Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him that is both God and man.
n Meaning, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shalbe nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.
o Not meaning Christ but any child: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the kings of Samaria and Syria shall be destroyed. p Since the time that the twelue Tribes rebelled vnder Roboam. q In whom thou hast put thy trust. r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrey is hot and moist, it is full of flies, as Assyria is full of bees. s Signifying, that no place shalbe free from them. t That is, that which is from the belly downeward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small. u He that before hath a great number of cattell, shalbe content with one kow and two sheepe. x The number of men shalbe so small, that a few beasts shalbe able to nourish all abundantly.

23 And at the same day euery place, wherein shall be a thousand vines, shall bee at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shall be for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with y bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes.

25 But on z all the mountaines, which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

y As they that go to seeke wilde beasts among the bushes.
z The mountains contrary to their wont, shalbe tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be enquired at.

MOreouer the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a a great roll, and write it b with a mans pen, Make speed to the spoyle: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto me c faithfull witnesses to record, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the d Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name, ‖ Maher-shalahash-baz.

4 For before the e childe shall haue knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, f he shall take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the King of Asshur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of g Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of h the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and hee shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and go ouer all their bankes.

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflow, and passe through, and shall come vp to the i necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O k Immanu-el.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye l people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all yee of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee, in taking m of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye not, A n confederacie, to all them to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you o their feare, not be afraid of them.

13 p Sanctifie the Lord of hoastes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shall be as a q Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall, and shall be broken, and shall be snared, and shall be taken.

16 r Binde vp the testimony: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I and the s children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, t by the Lord of hoastes, which dwelleth in Mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers which whisper and murmure, u Should not a people enquire at their God? from the x liuing to the dead?

20 To the y Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this word: it is because there is no z light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in a it: and when hee shall be hungry, he shall euen fret himselfe, b and curse his king and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

22 And when he shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and c darkenesse, vexation, and anguish, and he is driuen to darkenesse.

a That thou maiest write in great letters, to the intent it may be more easily read.
b Meaning, after the common fashion, because all men might read it.
c Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credit with the people, when hee set this vp vpon the doore of the Temple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2 Kin. 16, 12.
d Meaning, to his wife, and this was done in a vision.
‖ Or made speed to the spoile: haste to the pray.
e Before any child be able to speake.
f That is, the army of Assyria.
g Which was a fountaine at the foote of mount Zion, out of the which ran a small riuer through the city: meaning, that they of Iudah, distrusting their owne power, which was small, desired such power and riches as they saw in Syria and Israel.
h That is, the Assyrians which dwell beyond Euphrates.
i It shall be ready to drowne them.
k He speaketh this to Messiah, or Christ, in whom the faithfull were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.
l To wit, yee that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, &c.
m To encourage me that I should not shrinke for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.
n Consent not yee that are godly, to the league and friendship that this people seeke with strangers and idolaters.
o Meaning, that they should not feare the thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God.
p In putting your trust onely in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently looking for his helpe, and fearing to doe any thing contrary to his will.
q Hee will defend you which are his elect, and reiect all the rest, which is meant of Christ, against whom the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2, 34. Rom. 9 33. 1 Pet. 2 7, 8.

r Though all forsake me, yet ye that are mine, keep my word fast sealed in your hearts.
s Meaning, them that were willing to heare and obey the word of God, whom the world hated, as though they were monsters and not worthy to liue.
t This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing could come vnto them, but by the will of the Lord.
u Answere the wicked thus, Should not Gods people seeke succour onely at him?
x That is, will they refuse to be taught of the Prophet, who is the mouth of God, and seeke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan?
y Seeke remedie in the word of God, where his will is declared.
z They haue no knowledge, but are blinde leaders of the blinde.
a This is, in Iudah, where they should haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God.
b In whom afore they put their trust.
c They shall thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophecie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

YEt a the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction, b that it had when at the first hee touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtaly, nor afterward when he was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galile of c the Gentiles.

2 The people that d walked in darknesse, haue seene a great e light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the f light shined.

3 Thou hast g multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruest, & as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle.

4 For the h yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken, as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warriour is with noise, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shalbe i with burning, and deuoring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon

a He comforteth the Church againe after these great threatnings, promising to restore them to great glory in Messiah.
b Wherewith Israel was punished, first by Tiglath-pileser, which was a light scourge in respect of that which they suffered afterward by Shalmaneser, who caried the Israelites away captiues.
c Whereas the Iewes and Gentiles dwelt together by reason of those twenty cities, which Salomon gaue to Hiram.
d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing which should come to passe threescore yeeres after, as though it were now done.
e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.
f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Mathew 4. 15. 16.
g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hag. 2 10.
h Thou gauest them perfite ioy by deliuering them, and by destroying the tyrants, that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou diddest deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7, 21.
i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but especially by the comming of Christ, of whom he prophecieth in the next verse.

his shoulder, and he shall call his name, Wonderfull, Counseller, The mightie God, The everlasting [k] Father, The prince of peace.

7 The encrease of his gouernment and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement, and with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer; [l] the zeale of the Lord of hoastes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon [m] Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of their heart,

10 The [n] brickes are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones; the wild figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Neuerthelesse, the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of [o] Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth; yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hoastes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh follie; yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse [p] burneth as a fire; it deuoureth the briers and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest; and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hoasts shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire; no man shall [q] spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied; euery one shall eate the [r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim; and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shalbe against Iudah; yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saued.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and [a] write grieuous things.

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from [b] farre? to whom will yee flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your [c] glory?

4 [d] Without mee euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O [e] Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send [f] him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But hee thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdoms of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruit of the proud heart [i] of the king of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes.

13 Because hee said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisedome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one that gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the [k] axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hoasts send among his fat men leannesse, and vnder his glory he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a [l] fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure [m] his thorns & his briers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule [n] and flesh: & he shalbe as the [o] fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a childe may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall [p] stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnesse.

23 For the Lord God of hoastes shall make the consumption euen [r] determined, in the middes of all the land.

k The authour of eternity, end by whom the Church and euery member thereof shall be preserued for euer, and haue immortall life.

l His singular loue and care for his sleck.

m This is another prophecie against them of Samaria, which were mockers and contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

n We were but weake, when the enemie ouercame vs, but wee will make our selues so strong, that we will neither care for out enemies, nor feare Gods theatnings.

o Rezin king of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assayled by the Philistims.

p Wicked nesse as a bellowes kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

q Though there were no forreine enemie, yet they shall destroy one another.

r Their greedinesse shalbe insatiable, so that one brother shall eate vp another, as though he should eat his owne flesh.

a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppresse the poore: meaning, that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischiefe, should be first punished.

b To wit, from Assyria. c Your riches and authority, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall go into captiuity, and the rest shalbe slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be his executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites, and in the sixt and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing and acte: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.

g Seeing that I haue ouercome a towell one city as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine handes?

h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for he beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rods.

i Meaning of Senecherib.

k Here we see that no creature is able to doe any thing, but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.

l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.

m That is, the Assyrians.

n To wit, body and soule vtterly.

o When the battell is lost, and the standard taken.

p This is the end of Gods plague toward his, to bring them to him, and to forsake all trust in others.

q This small number which seemed to be consumed, and yet according to Gods decree is saued shall be sufficient to fill all the place that he hath determined, world with righteousnesse. r God will destroy this land and after saue a small portion,

24 Therefore

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hoasts, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur, he shall smite thee with a rod, & shal lift vp his staffe against thee after ỹ maner of f Egypt.
25 But yet a very little time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.
26 And the Lord of hoastes shall rayse vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of t Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the u Sea, so hee will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.
27 And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed because of x the anoynting.
28 He is come to y Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.
29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.
30 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.
31 Madmenah is removed: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.
32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: hee shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.
33 Behold, the Lord God of hoasts shall cut off the z bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the high shalbe humbled.
34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forrest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

a Christ borne of the roote of Iesse. 2 His vertues and kyndome. 6. The fruits of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BVt there shall come a a rodde foorth of the stocke of Ishai, and a grasse shall growe out of his rootes.
2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisedome and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord.
3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord; for hee shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares.
4 But with righteousnesse shall hee iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall b smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.
5 And iustice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.
6 The c wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lye with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a little childe shall leade them.
7 And the kow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lye together: and the lyon shall eate straw like the bullocke.
8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the weaned childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.
9 They shall not hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of my holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, d as the waters that couer the sea.
10 And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the e people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his f rest shall be glorious.
11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand g againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.
12 And hee shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the world.
13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie h Iudah, neither shall Iudah vexe Ephraim:
14 But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.
15 The Lord also shall vtterly destroy the i tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty wind shall lift vp his hand k ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.
16 And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that hee came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiving of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

AND thou a shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.
2 Behold, God is my b saluation: I will trust, & will not feare: for the Lord God is my strength and song: he is also become my saluation.
3 Therefore with ioy shall yee c draw waters out of the wels of saluation.
4 And yee shall say in that day; * Prayse the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.
5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the world.
6 Cry out, and shout, d O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the Holy one of Israel in the midst of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

THe a burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.
2 Lift vp a standard vpon the high mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the b hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.
3 I haue commanded them, that I haue c sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my glory.

f As the Egyptians did punish thee.
t Reade Chap. 9.4
u When the Israelites passed through by the lifting vp of Moses rod, and the enemies were drowned, Exod. 14.28.
x Because of the promise made to that kingdom, whereby Christ his kingdome was prefigured.
y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem, to confirme the faithfull, when it should come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be destroyed.
z Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shall be all led away captiues.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuity vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as Dauid came out of Ishai a man without dignity, so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house as out of a dead stocke, Chap. 53. 2.
b All these properties can agree to none, but onely vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull, and mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the wicked he is the fauour of death, and to them that shall perish: for that all the world shall be smitten with his rodde, which is his word.
c Men because of their wicked affections are named by the name of beasts, wherein the like affection reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutuall charity, that they shall be like lambes, fauouring and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65, 25.
d As shall be in as great abundance as the waters in the sea.

e He prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles,
f That is, the Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal 132.14.
g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans, and them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people being dispersed through all the world.
h Here he describeth the consent that shalbe in his Church, and their victory against their enemies.
i Meaning an corner of the sea, that entreth into the land, and hath the forme of a tongue.
k To wit, Nilus, the great riuer of Egypt, which entreth into the sea with seuen streames.

a He sheweth how the Church shall prayse God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.
b Our saluation standeth onely in God, who giueth vs an assured confidence, constancy, and occasion to prayse him for the same.
* Exod. 15. 2. Psal. 118. 14.
b The graces of God shalbe to abundant, that ye may receiue them in as great plenty, as waters out of a fountaine that is full.
* Chron. 16. 8.
d Yee that are of the Church.

a That is, the great calamity, which was prophecied to come on Babel, as a most grieuous burden, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues wherewith to declare that God is enemies: and also not thinke strange, if God spare not these that are ignorant, that they must be punish them which haue knowledge of his Law, and keepe it not. b To wit, the Medes and Persians. c That is, prepared and appointed to execute my iudgements. c Which willingly goe about to the worke wherevnto I appoint them, but how the wicked doe this, reade Chap. 10. 6.

a The army of the Medes and the Persians against Babylon.
f Ye Babylonians.

4 The noise of a multitude is in the mountains like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hoastes numbreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the e weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle f you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

8 And they shalbe afraid: anguish and sorrow shall take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shalbe amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like g flames of fire.

g The Babylonians anger and griefe shalbe so much, that their faces shall burne as fire.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruell, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

h They that are ouercome shall thinke that all the powers of heauen and earth are against them, Ezek. 32. 7. Ioel 3. 15. Matt. 14. 19.

10 For the h starres of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shalbe darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.

i He compareth Babylon to the whole world, because they esteemed themselues by reason of their great empire.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the i world, and their iniquity vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the k proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

k He noteth the principall vice, wherevnto they are most giuen, as are all that abound in wealth.

12 I will make a l man more precious then fine gold, euen a man aboue the wedge of gold of Ophir.

l He noteth the great slaughter that shall be, seeing the enemy shall neither for gold, or siluer spare a mans life, as ver. 17.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hoastes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

m Meaning, the power of Babylon with their hired souldiers.

14 And m it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee each one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found, shall be striken through: and whosoeuer ioyneth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 * Their n children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shalbe spoiled, and their wiues rauished.

n This was not accomplished when Cyrus tooke Babylon, but after the death of Alexander the great.

17 Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard siluer, nor be desirous of gold,

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdomes, the beauty and pride of the Caldeans, shalbe as the destruction of God * in Sodom and Gomorah.

* Gen. 19. 24. Iere. 50. 40.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the o Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall their shepheards make their folds there.

o Who vseth to go from countrey to countrey to find pasture for their beasts, but there shall they finde none.

21 But p Zijm shall lodge there, & their houses shalbe full of Obim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyrs shall dance there.

p Which were either wild beasts, or soules, at wiched spirits, whereby Satan deluded man, as by the fairies, gobbins, and such like fantasies.

22 And Iim shall cry in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shal not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuity. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the king. 29 The deliuerance of the Philistims.

FOr a the Lord will haue compassion of Iaakob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger b shall ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

a He sheweth why God will haste to destroy his enemies: to wit, because he wil deliuer his Church

2 And the people shall receiue them & bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for c seruants and handmaydes: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shall be ioyned with the Church, and worship God.

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou diddest serue.

c Signifying, that the Iewes should be superiors to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby all are brought to the subiection of Christ, 2 Cor. 10. 5.

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressour ceased? and the gold thirstie Babel rested?

d That is, hee suffered all violence and iniuries to be done.

5 The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the sceptre of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did d not let.

e Meaning, there can be no rest nor quietnesse, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

7 The whole world is at e rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art layde downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

f As though they feared, least thou shouldest trouble the dead, as thou diddest the liuing: and heere he destroyeth the proud tyrannie of the wicked, which knoweth not that all creatures wish their destruction, that they may reioyce.

9 Hell beneath is mooued for thee to f meete thee at thy comming, raysing vp the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought down, to the graue, and the sound of the viols: the worme g is spred vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

g In stead of thy costly carpets and couerings.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O h Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cut downe to the ground, which diddest cast loues vpon the nations?

h Thou that thoughtest thy selfe most glorious, and as it were placed in the heauens for the morning starre that goeth before the sunne, is called Lucifer, to whom Nebuchad-nezzar is compared.

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the i North.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, where of the Temple was on the North-side, Psal. 48 2. where by he meaneth that tyrants fight against God, when they persecute his Church, and would set themselues in his place.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the clouds, and I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the side of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall k looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes?

k In marueiling at thee.

17 He made the world as a wildernesse, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not l the house of his prisoners.

18 All the kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art m cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the rayment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorow with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

m In thou wast not buried in the sepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyrannie was so abhorred.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thine owne land, and ſlaine thy people: the ſeed of the wicked ſhall not be renowmed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a ſlaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not riſe vp nor poſſeſſe the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will riſe vp againſt them (ſayth the Lord of hoſts) and wil cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the ſonne, and the nephew, ſayth the Lord.

23 And I will make it a poſſeſſion to the [‖] hedgehog, and pooles of water, &c. I will ſweepe it with the beſome of deſtruction, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

24 The Lord of hoaſtes hath ſworne, ſaying, Surely like as I haue purpoſed, ſo ſhall it come to paſſe, and as I haue conſulted, it ſhall ſtand:

25 [o] That I will breake to pieces Aſſhur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote, ſo that his yoke ſhall depart from [p] them, and his burden ſhall he taken from off their ſhoulder.

26 This is the counſell that is conſulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand ſtretched out ouer all the nations.

27 Becauſe the Lord of hoaſtes hath determined, and who ſhall diſannull it? and his hand is ſtretched out, and who ſhall turne it away?

28 ¶ In the yeere that king Ahaz died, was this [q] burden,

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole [r] Paleſtina) becauſe the rod of him that did beate thee is broken: for out of the ſerpents roote ſhall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof ſhall be a fiery flying ſerpent.

30 For the [t] firſt borne of the poore ſhall be fed, and the needy ſhall lie downe in ſafety: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and [u] it ſhall ſlay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, crie, O citie; thou whole land of Paleſtina art diſſolued, for there ſhall come from the [u] North a ſmoke, and none ſhall be [v] alone, at his time appointed.

32 What ſhall then one anſwere the meſſengers of the Gentiles? that the Lord hath ſtabliſhed [z] Zion, and the poore of his people ſhall truſt in it.

CHAP. XV.

A prophecie againſt Moab.

THe a burden of Moab, Surely [b] Ar of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence: in a night: ſurely Kir of Moab was deſtroyed, and brought to ſilence in a night.

2 [c] He ſhall goe vp to the Temple, and to Dibon the hie places to weepe: for [d] Nebo and for Medeba ſhall Moab howle: vpon all [e] their heads ſhall be baldneſſe, and euery beard ſhaued.

3 In their ſtreetes ſhall they be girded with ſackecloath: on the toppes of their houſes, and in their ſtreetes euery one ſhall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh: their voyce ſhall be heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriours of Moab ſhall ſhout: the ſoule of euery one ſhall lament in himſelfe.

5 Mine [f] heart ſhall crie for Moab: his fugitiues ſhall flee vnto Zoar, as an heifer of three yeere olde: for they ſhall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith; and by the way of Horonaim they [h] ſhall raiſe vp a cry of deſtruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhall be dried vp: therefore the graſſe is withered, the herbes conſumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their ſubſtance ſhall they beare to the [i] brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab, and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer-Elim

9 Becauſe the waters of Dimon ſhall be full [k] of blood; for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lions [l] vpon him that eſcapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The cauſes wherefore the Moabites are deſtroyed.

SEnd [a] yee a lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wildernesſe, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it ſhall be as a bird that [b] flieth, and a neſt, forſaken: the daughters of Moab ſhall be at the foordes of Amon.

3 Gather a counſel, execute iudgement, [c] make thy ſhadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chaſed out; bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my baniſhed dwell with thee; Moab, be thou their couert from the face of the deſtroyer; for the extortioner [d] ſhall ende: the deſtroyer ſhall be conſumed, and the oppreſſour ſhall ceaſe out of the land.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be prepared, [e] and he ſhall ſit vpon it in ſtedfaſtneſſe, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and ſeeking iudgement, and haſting iuſtice.

6 Wee haue heard of the pride of Moab (hee is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his [f] lies ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab howle vnto Moab, euery one ſhall howle, for the foundations of Kir-hareſeth ſhall yee mourne, yet they ſhall be [g] ſtriken.

8 For the vineyards of Heſhbon are cut downe and the vine of Sibmah; [h] the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof; they are come vnto [i] Iaazer; they wandred in the wildernesſe; her godly branches ſtretched out themſelues, and went ouer the ſea.

9 Therefore will [k] I weepe with the weeping of Iaazar, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heſhbon, and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, becauſe vpon thy ſummer fruits, and vpon thy harueſt [l] a ſhouting is fallen.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull field; and in the vineyards ſhall be no ſinging nor ſhouting for ioy; the treader ſhall not tread wine in the wine preſſes; I haue cauſed the reioycing to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore, my [m] bowels ſhall ſound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareſh.

12 And when it ſhall appeare that Moab ſhall be weary of his high places, then ſhall he come to his [n] temple to pray, but he ſhall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken againſt Moab ſince that time.

14 And now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying,

[a] He calleth to the Medes and Perſians, and all thoſe that ſhould execute Gods vengeance.

[‖] Or, tortois.

[o] As I haue begun to deſtroy the Aſſyrians in Sanherib: ſo will I continue, and deſtroy them wholly, when I ſhall deliuer you from Babylon.

[p] From the Iewes.

[q] Reade Chap. 13.1.

[r] He willeth the Philiſtims not to reioyce becauſe the Iewes are diminiſhed in their power, for their ſtrength ſhall be greater then euer it was.

[s] The Iſraelites, which were brought to moſt extreme miſerie.

[t] To wit, my people.

[u] That is, from the Iewes, or Aſſyrians: for they were both North from Paleſtina.

[x] But they ſhall be all ready, and ioyne together,

[y] Which ſhall come to enquire of the ſtate of the Church

[z] They ſhall anſwere that the Lord doth defend his Church, and them that ioyne themſelues thereunto.

[a] Reade Chap. 13.1.

[b] The chiefe city, whereby the whole countrey was meant.

[c] The Moabites, ſhall flee to their idoles for ſuccour, but it ſhall be too late.

[d] Which were cities of Moab.

[e] For as in the Weſt parts the people vſed to let their haire grow long, when they mourned, ſo in the Eaſt parts they cut it off,

[f] The Prophet ſpeaketh this in the perſon of the Moabites: or as one that felt the great iudgement of God that ſhould come vpon them.

[g] Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleaſure, and neuer felt ſorow.

[h] He deſcribeth the miſerable diſſipation and flight of the Moabites,

[i] To hide themſelues, and their goods there.

[k] Of them that are ſlaine.

[l] So that by no meanes they ſhould eſcape the hand of God; thus will God punish the enemies of his Church.

[a] That is, offer a ſacrifice, whereby he derideth their long delay, which would not repent when the Lord called them, ſhewing them, that it is now too late, ſeeing the vengeance of God is vpon them.

[b] There is no remedy, but you muſt flee.

[c] Hee ſhe weth what Moab ſhould haue done, when Iſrael their neighbour was in affliction to whom becauſe they would giue no ſhadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortleſſe.

[d] The Aſſyrians ſhall oppreſſe the Iſraelites, but for a while.

[e] Meaning, Chriſt.

[f] Their vaine confidence and proud braggs ſhall deceiue them, Iere 48 2.

[g] For all your mourning, yet the citie ſhall be deſtroyed, euen vnto the foundation.

[h] That is, the Aſſyrians and other enemies.

[i] Meaning, that the countrey of Moab was now deſtroyed, and all the precious things thereof were caried into the borders, yea into other countreyes, and ouer the ſea.

[k] He ſheweth that their plague was ſo great, that it would haue mooued any man to lament with them, as Pſal. 141 5.

[l] The enemies are come vpon thee, and ſhout for ioy, when they carry thy commodities from thee, as Ierem 48 33. all meanes to ſeeke great god ſhall not

[o] In three yeeres ÿ yeeres of an [p] hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

o He appointed a certaine time to punish the enemies in.
p Who will obserue iustly the time for the which hee is hired, and serue no longer, but will euer long for it.

CHAP. XVII.

1 A prophecie of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim, 7 Calamitie mooueth to repentance.

The [a] burden of [b] Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of [c] Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flockes; for they shall lie there; and none shall make them afraide.

3 The munition also shall cease from [d] Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the [e] glory of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hoastes.

4 And in that day the glory of [f] Iaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shall be made cleane.

5 And it shalbe as when the haruest man gathereth [g] the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shalbe as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of [h] Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall [i] be left in it; as the shaking of an oliue tree, two or three beries are in the top of the vpmost boughes, and foure or fiue in the high branches of the fruite thereof; saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his [k] maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And hee shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall he looke to those things which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes & branches, which [l] they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation,

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange [m] vine branches.

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish; but the haruest shall be gone in the day [n] of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 [o] Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noise of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sound like the noyse of mightie waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noyse of many waters: but God shall [p] rebuke thẽ, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rouling thing before the whirlewinde.

14 And loe, in the euening there is [q] trouble; but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

a Read Chap. 13. 1.
b The chiefe citie of Syria.
c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.
d It seemeth that the Prophet would comforth the Church in declaring the destruction of these two kings of Syria and Israel, when as they had conspired the ouerthrow of Iudah.
e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude and alliance with other nations: therefore he saith that they shall be brought downe, and the Syrians also.
f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boasted themselues of their nobilitie, prosperitie, strength and multitude.
g As the abundance of corne, doth not feare the haruest men that should cut it downe: no more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to shrinke, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.
h Which valley was plentifull and fertile.
i Because God would haue his couenant stable, he promiseth to reserue some of this people and to bring them to repentance.
k He sheweth that Gods corrections euer bring forth some fruite, and cause his to turne from their sinnes, and to humble themselues to him.
l As the Cananites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more be able to defend their inhabitants then bushes, when God shall send the enemie to plague them. m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreyes. n As the Lord threatneth the wicked in his Law, Leuit. 26 16. o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations. p Hee addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull which were in Israel. q Hee compareth the enemies the Assyrians to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church, 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

Oh, the [a] land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia.

2 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euen in vessels of [b] reedes vpon the waters, saying, [c] Goe, yee swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible [d] people from their beginning euen hitherto; a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foot: whose land the [e] floods haue spoyled.

3 All yee the inhabitants of the world, and dwellers in the earth, shall see when [f] hee setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto mee, I will [g] rest and behold in my tabernacle, as [h] the heate drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of dew in the heat of haruest.

5 For afore the haruest, when the floure, is finished, and the fruit is riping in the floure, then hee shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the bouges:

6 They shall be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the [i] beasts of the earth; for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a [k] present be brought vnto the Lord of hoasts (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foot, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the name of the Lord of hoastes, euen the mount Zion.

a He meaneth that part of Ethiopia, which lieth toward the sea, which was so full of ships that the sailes (which he compareth to wings) seemed to shadow the sea.
b Which in those countreyes were great, insomuch as they made ships of them for swiftnesse.
c This may be taken that they sent others to comfort the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength, that the Iewes should not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians, and promised them aide to goe against Iuda.
d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues, made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threatned, Deut. 28 37.
e Meaning the Assyrians, as chap. 8, 7. f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians. g I will stay a while from punishing the wicked. h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites, whereby hee meaneth, that hee will seeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but hee will suddenly cut them off. i Not onely men shall contemne them, but the bruite beastes. k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue that little remnant as an offring vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

The [a] burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord [b] rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shalbe mooued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall [c] fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the [d] spirit of Egypt shall faile in the mids of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of the cruell lords, and a mightie king shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hoasts.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall [e] faile, and the riuer shall be dried vp, and wasted.

6 And the [f] riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shall be emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flags shall be cut downe.

a Reade Chap. 13. 1.
b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnesse of their men, the Lord sheweth that hee will come ouer all their munitions in a swift cloud, and that their idoles shall tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts shall faint.
c As he caused the Amonites, Moabites and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God 2 Chron 20, 22, chap 49. 26.
d Meaning their policie and wisedome. e Hee sheweth that the sea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themselues most sure, should not be able to defend them from his anger, but that hee would send the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as slaues. f For Nilus ran into the sea by seuen streames, as though they were so many riuers.

7 The grasse in the riuer, and at the g head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more.
8 The fishers also shall h mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shall be weakened.
9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sorts, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nets.
10 For their nets shall be broken, and all they
that make ponds shalbe heauie in heart.
11 Surely the princes of i Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh, is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I k am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient kings?
12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hoastes hath determined against Egypt?
13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of l Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued
Egypt, euen the m corners of the tribes thereof.
14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit n of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.
15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may o doe, nor the tayle, the branch nor the rush.
16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraide and feare because of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hoastes, which he shaketh ouer it.
17 And the land of Iudah shalbe a feare p vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shall be afraide thereat, because of the counsell
of the Lord of hoastes, which he hath determined
vpon it.
18 In that day shall fiue cities in the land of Egypt q speake the language of Canaan, and shall r sweare by the Lord of hoasts: one shall be called the citie of s destruction.
19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and t a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.
20 And it shalbe for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hoastes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressours, and he shall send them u a Sauiour, and a great man, and shall deliuer them.
21 And the Lord shalbe knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe x sacrifice & oblation, and shall vow vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.
22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, &
he shalbe intreated of them and shall heale them.
23 In that day, shall there be a path from y Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.
24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur: euen a blessing in the mids of
the Land.
25 For the Lord of hoasts shall blesse it, saying,
Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke
of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

g The Ebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.
h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other things, whereby countreyes are enriched.
i Called also Tanes a famous citie vpon Nilus.
k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the king that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so hee flattered himselfe, saying, I am wise.
l Or, Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Caira.
m The principall vpholders thereof are the chiefest cause of their destruction.
n For the spirit of wisedome he hath made them drunken and giddie with the spirit of error.
o Neither the great nor the small, the strong nor the weake.
p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence: but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shall feare least the like light vpon them.
q Shall make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speech of Canaan, meaning, the language wherein God was then serued.
r Shall renounce their superstitions, and protest to serue God aright.
s Meaning, of sixe cities, fiue should serue God, and the sixt remaine in their wickednes: and so of the sixe part there should be but one lost.
t There shall be euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speech is taken of the Patriarkes, and ancient times, when God hath not as yet appointed the place, and full maner how he would be worshipped.
u This declareth that this prophecie should be accomplished in the time of Christ.
x By these ceremonies hee comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ.
y By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one fold vnder Christ their shepheard.

CHAP. XX.

a The three yeeres captiuity of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Isaiah.

IN the yeere that a Tartan came to b Ashdod, (when c Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it.
2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loose the d sackecloath from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foot: And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.
3 And the Lord sayd, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked and barefoote three yeeres
as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia, 4 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and old men, naked and bare-foote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.
5 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of e Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their f glorie.
6 Then shall the inhabitants of this g yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fledde for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and how shall we be deliuered?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 and of Arabia.

THe burden of the a desert sea. As the whirlewinds in the South vse to passe from the wil-dernesse, so shall it b come from the horrible land.
2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto mee,
The c Transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp d Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning
e thereof to cease.
3 Therefore are my f loynes filled with sorow;
sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amazed when I saw it.
4 Mine heart failed: fearefulnesse troubled me: the night g of my pleasures hath hee turned into feare vnto me.
5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch tower: eat, drinke: h arise, ye princes, anoynt the shielde:
6 For thus hath the i Lord sayd vnto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.
7 And hee saw a charet with two horsemen:
k a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camell: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede.
8 And hee cryed, A l lion: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:
9 And beholde, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And m he answered and sayd,
* Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.
10 O n my threshing, and the † corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hoasts the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.
11 ¶ The burden of o Dumah, he calleth vnto

a Who was captaine of Saneherib, 2.King.18.17.
b A citie of the Philistims.
c The Ebrewes writ that Sanecherib was so called.
d Which signifieth that the Prophet did lament the miserie that he saw prepared, before the three yeeres that he went naked and barefooted.
e In whose ayde they trusted.
f Of whom they boasted and gloried.
g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.
a On the sea side betweene Iudea and Caldea was a wildernesse, whereby he meaneth Caldea.
b That is, the ruine of Babylon by the Medes and Persians.
c The Assyrians and Caldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shall be ouercome of the Medes and Persians: and this he prophecied an hundred yeere before it came to passe.
d By Elam he meaneth the Persians.
e Because they shall finde no succour, they shall mourne no more, nor, I haue caused mourning, whom Babylon had afflicted.
f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.
g He prophecieth the death of Belshazzar, as Dan.5.30. who in the mids of his pleasures was destroyed.
h Whiles they are eating and drinking, they shall be commanded to tourne to their weapons.
i To wit, in a vision by the spirit of prophecie.
k Meaning, charets of men of warre, and others that caried the baggage.
l Meaning Darius, which ouercame Babylon.
m The watchman whom Isaiah set vp, told him who came toward Babylon, and the Angel declared that it should be destroyed: all this was done in a vision.
* Iere. 51.8. reuel. 14. 8.
n Meaning, Babylon.
† Ebr. sonne.
o Which was a citie of the Ishmaelites, and was so named of Dumah, Gene. 25. 14.

p A mountaine of the Idumeans.
q He describeth the vnquietnes of the people of Dumah, who were night and day in feare of their enemies, and euer ran to and fro to enquire newes.
r For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and he appointeth what way they shall take.
f Signifying, that for feare they shall not tary to eat nor drinke.
t He appointeth them respite for one yeere only, and then they should be destroyed.
u Reade Chap. 16. 14.

mee out of p Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?
12 The watchman sayd, The q morning commeth, and also the night. If ye will aske, inquire:
returne and come.
13 ¶ The burden against Arabia. In r the forrest of Arabia shall yee tary all night, euen in the wayes of Dedanim.
14 O inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forth f water to meet the thirsty, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread.
15 For they flee from the drawen swords, euen
from the drawen sword, and from the bent bow,
and from the grieuousnes of warre.
16 For thus hath the Lord sayd vnto me, Yet a yeere t according to the yeeres of an u hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall faile.
17 And the residue of the number of the strong archers of the sonnes of x Kedar shallbe few: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

x Which was the name of a people of Arabia: and by the horrible destruction of all these nations, he teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remaine in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Hee prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 15 A threatning against Shebna. 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaines, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets, which were alwayes there, whom they named Seers.
b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house tops for feare of their enemies.
c Which wast wont to be full of people and ioy.
d But for hunger.
e And led into captiuity.
f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.
g Hee sheweth what is the duety of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and especially of the ministers, Ierem. 9. 1.
h That is, the shout of the enemies whom God had appointed to destroy the city.
i He putteth them in minde how God deliuered them once from Saneherib, who brought the Persians and

THe burden of the a valley of vision. What b aileth thee now that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the house tops?
2 Thou that art full of c noyse, a citie full of brute, a ioyous citie, thy slaine men shall not be slaine d with sword, nor die in battell.
3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shalbe e bound: all that shalbe found in thee, shalbe bound together, which haue fled from f farre.
4 Therefore sayd I, Turne away from me, I will weep g bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.
5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hoastes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.
6 ¶ And Elam i bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.
7 And thy chiefe valleyes were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate.
8 And he discouered the k couering of Iudah:
and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour
of the house of the forest.
9 And yee haue seene l the breaches of the city of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.
10 And yee numbred the houses m of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall.
11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for the n waters of the old poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker o thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of old.

King 7. 2. l Ye fortified the ruinous places which were neglected in time of peace: meaning, the whole City, and the City of Dauid, which was within the compasse of the other. m Either to pull downe such as might hurt, or else to know what men they were able to make. n To prouide if neede should be of water. o To God that made Ierusalem, that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes, then in God,

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hoasts
call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes
and girding with sackcloath.
13 And behold, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen
and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine,
p eating and drinking, for to morow we shall die.
14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hoasts, Surely this iniquity shall not be purged
from you, till ye die, sayth the Lord God of hoasts.
15 Thus sayth the Lord God of hoasts, Goe, get thee to that q treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou r here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in a hie place, or that graueth an habitation f for himselfe in a rocke?
17 Behold, the Lord will cary thee away with a great captiuity, and will surely couer thee.
18 Hee will surely rolle and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glory shalbe the t shame
of the lords house.
19 And I will driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.
20 And in that day will I u call my seruant
Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I cloathe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and hee shall be a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem,
and of the house of Iudah.
22 And the x key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open.
23 And I will fasten him as a y naile in a sure place, and he shall be for the throne of glory to his fathers house.
24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posterity z all small vessels, from the vessels of the cups, euen to all the instruments of musicke.
25 In that day saith the Lord of hoasts, shall the a naile that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shalbe broken and fall, and the burden that was vp-on it, shalbe cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

p In stead of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheere, contemning the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drinke, for our Prophets say, that wee shall die to morow.
q Because the Ebrew word doeth also signifie one that doeth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke that this wicked man did nourish secret friendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians to betray the Church, and to prouide for himselfe against all dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily, and gat of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the highest.
r Meaning, that hee was a stranger, and came vp of nothing.
f Whereas hee thought to make his name immortall by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians.
t Signifying, that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the shame of those princes, by whom they are preferred.
u To be steward againe, out of the which office hee had beene put, by the craft of Shebna. x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernement of the kings house. y I will establish him, and confirme him in his office: of this phrase, reade Ezra. 9. 9. z Meaning, that both small and great that shall come of Eliakim, shall haue prayse and glory by his faithfull officer. a Hee meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

a Reade Chap. 13. 1.
b Ye of Cilicia that come thither for marchandise.
c Tyrus is destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar.
d By Chittim they meant all the yles and countreyes westward from Palestina.
e All men know of this destruction.
f Haue haunted thee, and enriched thee.

g Meaning, the corne of Egypt, which was fedde by the ouerflowing of Nilus. h That is, Tyrus, which was the chiefe port of the sea. i I haue no people left in me, and am as a barren woman that neuer had childe,

nourished

nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the same commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be [k] sory, concerning the rumour of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to [l] Tarshish; howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious city? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that [m] crowneth men) whose marchants are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hosts hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to the [n] daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And he sayd, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed, [o] O virgin [p] daughter of Zion; rise vp, goe ouer vato Chittim; yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans; this was no people; [q] Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernesse; they set vp the towers thereof; they raised the palaces thereof, and hee [r] brought it to ruine.

14 Howle yee shippes of Tarshish, for your [s] strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one King) at the end of seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus [t] sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe and go about the city (thou harlot that hast beene forgotten) [u] make sweete melody, sing moe songs that thou mayest be remembred.

17 And at the ende of seuenty yeeres shall the Lord visit Tyrus, and she shall returne to her [x] wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be [z] holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be layd vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable cloathing.

k Because these two countreyes were ioyned in league together.
l Tyrus willeth other marchants to goe to Cilicia, and so come no more there.
m Who maketh her marchants like princes.
n Thy strength will no more serue thee: therefore flee to other countreys for succour.
o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.
p Because Tyrus was build by them of Zidon.
q The Caldeans which dwelt in tents in the wildernes, were gathered by the Assyrians into cities.
r The people of the Caldeans destroyed the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that seeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrians, which were so great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to ouerthrow Tyrus.
s That is, Tyrus by whom ye are enriched.
t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age.
u Shall vse all craft and subtiltie to entise man againe vnto her.
x She shall labour by all meanes to recouer her first credit: as an harlot when she is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers
y Though she haue beene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her olde wicked practises, and for gaine shall giue herselfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.
z He sheweth that God yeelds the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthy gaine, vnto the true worshipping of God, and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A propheric of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserued shall praise the Lord.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the [a] earth empty, and hee maketh it waste: hee turneth it vpside downe, and scatereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like [b] Priest, and like seruant, like master, like mayde, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsury.

a This prophecie is as a conclusion of that which hath beene threatned to the Iewes, and other nations from the 13 Chap. and therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands which were before named.
b Because this was a name of dignitie, family, and so signified also a man of dignity as 2 Sam. 8.18. and 20.25. 1. Chro. 18.17. and by these words the Prophe. signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall be neither religion, order, nor policy, Hosea 4.9.

3 The earth shall be cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away, the world is feebled and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth [c] also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting Couenant.

6 Therefore hath the [d] curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shalbe bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of [f] vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in 11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the [g] mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the cities is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ Surely thus shall it be in the midst of the earth, among the people, [h] as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from [i] the sea.

15 Wherefore prayse yee the Lord in the valleyes, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard prayses, euen glory to the [k] iust, and I sayd, [l] My leannesse, my leannesse, woe is me: the transgressours haue offended: yea the transgressours haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shalbe remooued like a tent, and the iniquity thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And in that day shall the Lord [n] visit the hoast aboue that is on high, euen the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall be gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shallbe shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be [o] visited.

23 [p] Then the moone shalbe abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hosts shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall be before his ancient men.

c That is, rendreth not her fruit for the sinne of the people, whom the earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.
d Written in the Law, as Leuit 26, 14. Deut. 28, 16. thus the Prophets vsed to apply particularly the menaces and promises, which are generall in the Law.
e With heate and drought, or els that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath.
f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.
g Because they did not vse Gods benefits aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning.
h Hee comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation the Lord will assemble his Church which shall prayse his Name, as Chap. 12 25.
i From the vtmost coasts of the world, where the Gospel shall be preached, as verse 16.
k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel thorow all the world.
l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies, and domesticall.
Some reade, my secret, my secret; that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet, that the good should be preserued, and the wicked destroyed.
m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.
n There is no power so high or mightie, but God will visit him with his rods.
o Not with his rods, as verse 21. but shall be comforted
p When God shall restore his Church, the glory thereof shall so shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the sunne and the moone shalbe darke, in comparison thereof.

CHAP.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the godly.

O Lord, thou a art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things according to the counsels of old, with a stable trueth.

2 For thou hast made of a b city an heape, of a strong city, a ruine: euen the palace c of strangers, of a city, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the d mighty people giue glory vnto thee: the city of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast beene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blast e of the mighty is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, f as the heate in a drie place; hee will bring downe the song of the mighty, as the heate in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this b mountaine shall the Lord of hoastes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marow, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine i the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 k He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will l wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue wayted for him, and hee will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue wayted for him, we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and l Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in m Madmenah.

11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the middest of them (as hee that swimmeth stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church, which before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities which haue bin thine enemies.

c That is, a place whereat all vagabounds may liue without danger, and as it were at ease, as in a palace.

d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy correction feare and glorifie thee.

e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.

f Meaning, that as the heate is abated by the raine, so shall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

g As a cloud shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shall God asswage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.

h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which shuld vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banket, 21 Matt 22.2. kept backe from Christ. i Meaning, that ignorance and blindnes, whereby we are with perfit ioy. Reuel. 7.17. and 21.4. l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church. m There were two cities of this name one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 2.49 and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. which seemeth to haue bin a plentifull place of corne, Chap. 10 31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shall a this song be sung in the land of Iudah, Wee haue a strong citie: b saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarks.

2 c Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3 By an assured d purpose wilt thou preserue perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on hie: e the hie city hee will abase: euen vnto the ground will he cast it down, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall tread it downe, euen the feete of the f poore, and the steps of the needy.

a This song was made to comfort the faithfull when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shalbe sufficient for vs.

c He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuity to Ierusalem.

d Thou hast decreed to end thy purpose cannot be changed.

e There is no power so high that can let God when he will deliuer his.

f God will set the poore afflicted ones the power of the wicked,

7 The way of the iust is righteousnes: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also wee, O Lord, haue wayted for thee in the way of thy g iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne h righteousnes.

10 Let mercy i be shewed to the wicked, yet he will not learne righteousnes: In the land of vprightnes will he do wickedly, and will not behold the maiesty of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not behold thine high hand: but they shall see it, and be confounded with k the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine l enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our works for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other m lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but wee will remember thee onely and thy Name.

14 The n dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memory.

15 Thou hast increased o the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious, thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they p visited thee; they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorow, and crieth in her paines, so haue we beene in thy q sight, O Lord.

18 Wee haue conceiued, wee haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought foorth r wind: there was no help in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of t the world fall.

19 ¶ u Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise, Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy u dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: x enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visit the iniquity of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her y blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

g We haue constantly abode in the aduersities wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.

h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.

i The wicked though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer the better.

k Through enuy and indignation against thy people.

l The fire and vengeance, where with thou dost destroy thine enemies.

m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.

n Meaning, that the reprobate, euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euerlasting death.

o To wit, the company of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.

p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were mooued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.

q To wit, in extreme sorow.

r Our labours had none end, neither did we enioy the comfort that we looked for.

s The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed.

t He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should not vtterly rise to glory, the contrary should come to the wicked, as verf. 14.

u As hearbs dead in winter flourish again by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the duft, shall rise vp to ioy, when they feele the dew of Gods grace. x He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods worke. y The earth shall vomite and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophecie against the kingdome of Satan. 2 And of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that a day the Lord with his sore and great and mighty b sword shall visite Liuiathan, that piercing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard c of redde wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

a At the time appointed.

b That is, by his mighty power and by his word. He prophecieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdo: me vnder the name of Liuiathan, Asshur, and Egypt.

c The Church, should

c Meaning, of the best wine, which this vineyard, that is bring forth, as most agreeable to the Lord.

4 Anger [d] is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thorns against me in battell? I would go thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will he [e] feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 [f] Hereafter Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and grow: and the world shalbe filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten [g] him, as he smote those that smote him? or is he slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In [h] measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough wind in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquity of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the [i] fruit, the taking away of his sin: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the [k] defenced city shallbe desolate, and the habitation shallbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shall the calfe feed, & there shal he lie and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs of it are dry, they shalbe broken; the [l] women come and set them on fire; for it is a people of none vnderstanding; therefore he that made them shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the [m] riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be [n] blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur, and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennes of Israel. 9 The vntowardnes of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

Woe to the [a] crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim; for his glorious beauty shallbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the [b] valley of them that be fatte, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and [c] strongh hoste like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewind that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throw to the ground mightly.

3 They shalbe troden vnder foot, euen the crown and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as [d] the hasty fruite afore Summer, which when hee that looketh vpon it seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hoastes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beauty vnto the [e] residue of his people.

6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for [f] strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But [g] they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke; they are swallowed vp with wine; they haue gone astray through strong drinke; they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting; no place is cleane.

9 [h] Whom shall hee teach knowledge? and whom shall hee make to vnderstand the things that hee heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawen from the brests.

10 For [i] precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a stammering [k] tongue, and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom [l] hee sayd, [m] This is the rest: [n] giue rest vnto him that is weary, and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the word of the [o] Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little and there a little: that they may go and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.

14 Wherefore heare the word of the Lord, ye scornefull men, that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a [p] couenant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe thorow, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made [q] falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are wee hidde.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a [r] tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleeueth, [f] shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and [t] righteousnes to the balance, and the [u] haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflow [x] the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shallbe disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe thorow, then shall ye be troden downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe thorow euery morning in the day and in the night, and there shallbe onely [y] feare, to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is [z] streigth, that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrow, that one cannot wrape himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount [a] Perazim: he shallbe wroth as in the valley [b] of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

22 Now therefore be no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hoastes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, and cannot be angry with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by briers and thornes.
e He marueileth that Israel will not come by gentlenesse, except God make them to feele his rods, and so bring them vnto him.
f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the root spring againe and bring foorth in great aboundance.
g Hee sheweth that God punisheth his in mercy, and his enemies in iustice.
h That is, thou wilt not destroy the root of thy Church, though the branches thereof perish by the sharp wind of affliction.
i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatry, and the monuments thereof be destroyed.
k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shew them after, yet Ierusalem shallbe destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall grow in it.
l God shal not haue need of mighty enemies: for the very women shall doe it to their great shame.
m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.
n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

a Meaning, the proud kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperity.
b Because the Israelites for the most part dwelt in plentifull valleys, he meaneth hereby the valley of them that had aboundance of worldly prosperity, and were as it weere crowned therewith as with garlands.
c He seemeth to meane the Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were caried away.
d Which is not of long continuance, but is soone ripe and first eaten.
e Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperity, but made God their glory, shallbe preserued.

f He will giue counsell to the gouernour, & strength to the captaine, to driue the enemies in at their owne gates.
g Meaning, the hypocrites which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life and doctrine, which is here meant by drunkennes and vomiting.
h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish and as vnmeet as yong babes.
i They must haue one thing ofttimes told.
k Let one teach what he can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange language.
l That is, the Prophet, whom God should send.
m This is the doctrine, wherevpon ye ought to stay and rest.
n Shew to them that are weary and haue need of rest, what is the true rest.
o Because they will not receiue the word of God, when it is offred, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardned, that they care not for it, as before, Chap. 6.9.
p They thought they had shifts to auoyd Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.
q Though the prophets condemned their idoles and vaine trust of falshood and vanity, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in these things.
r That is, Christ, by whom all the building must be tried and vpholden. Psal. 118.22. matth. 21,42. acts.4,11. rom 9,33. 1.pet. 2,6.
f He shallbe quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.
t In the restitution of his Church, iudgement and iustice shall reigne.
u Gods corrections and afflictions.
x Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselues.
y Terrour and destruction shall make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentlenes could not bring you vnto.
z Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it.
a When Dauid ouercame the Philistims, 2.Sam.5,20. 1.Chron.14,11.
b Where Ioshua discomfited fiue kings of the Amorites, Iosh.10.12.

24 Doeth the plow-man plow all the day, to sowe; doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it e plaine, will he not then sow the fitches, and sow cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place?

26 For his God doth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shal a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin; but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corne when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway threth it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from the Lord of hosts, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in workes.

1 A prophecie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

AHa altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: b let them kill lambes

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shall be heauinesse and sorow, and it shall be vnto me like c an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the d ground, and thy speech shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy e strangers shall be like fine dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away: and it shalbe in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hosts with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the f multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, g he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion.

9 h Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath coured you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophet, and your chiefe Seers hath hee coueted.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I can i not, for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people k come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remoued their heart farre from me, and their l feare toward mee was taught by the precept of men.

14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise men shall m perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shallbe hid.

15 Woe vnto them that n seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their works are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuises shall it not be esteemed o as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made mee not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, Hee had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shallbe p turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the words of the booke, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the Holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornfull shall be consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the q word, and tooke him in a snare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham: Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the Holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, r shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes, which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels, 4 and sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore he threateneth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 but offereth mercie to the repentant.

WOe to the a rebellious children, sayeth the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and b couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke foorth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his c princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shallbe all ashamed of the people that cannot profit them, nor helpe, nor do them good, but shallbe a shame and also a reproach.

e As the plowman hath his appoynted time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for he punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort, and some after another, so that his chosen seed is beaten and tried, but not broken, as are the Wicked.

a The Ebrewe word Ariel sig. signifieth the lyon of God, and significth the Altar, because the altar seemed to denote the sacrifice that was offred to God, as Ezek. 43. 16.

b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not faile long.

c Your citie shall be full of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

d Thy speach shall be no more so loftie, but abased and low as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarce be heard.

e Thine hired souldiers in whom thou trustest, shall be destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlewinde.

f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee, and that which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come at vawares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.

g That is, hee thinketh that he eateth.

h Muse hereon as long as ye list, ye shall ye find nothing but occasion to be astonied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

i Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderstand;

k Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Matt. 13. 5.

l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, & not by my word.

m Meaning, that where as God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles and without vnderstanding.

n Teir is spoken of them, which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft saith the Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine hands no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

p Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel that is a plentiful place in respect of that shall be then, may be taken as a forest, as Chap. 32. 15. and thou hee speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that went about to find fault with the Prophets words, and would not apply admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger.

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderstanding, and knowledge, man cannot but still erre and murmure against him.

a Who contrary to their promise take not me for their protector, and contrary to my commandement seeke helpe at strangers.

b They seeke shifts to elude their dooings, and set godly meanes.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in embassie to seeke helpe, and abode at these cities.

6 c The d burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and old lyon, the viper and fiery flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that cannot profit.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto e her, Their strength is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may be for the f last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not g heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie h errours.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the Holy one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the Holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this word, and trust in i violence, and wickednes, and stay therevpon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pity, and in the breaking thereof is not found k a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the l Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but we will flee away vpon m horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand at one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, till yee be left as a ship mast vpon the n top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wait, that hee may haue o mercy vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of p iudgement. Blessed are all they that wait for him.

19 Sure[1] q people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem, thou shalt weepe no more: he will certainely haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when hee heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy r raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, f walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall[2] t poliute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloath, and thou shalt say vnto it, u Get thee hence.

23 Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shallbe fat and as oyle, in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the young asses, that tilt the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winnowed with the shouell and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery hie x mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers, and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the y Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen fold, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, z the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie, his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his spirit is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it diuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the iawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the b night, when a solemne feast is kept, and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the Mightie one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the c rod.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall d cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and hearps and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For e Tophet is prepared of old; it is euen prepared for the h King; he hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood; the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

d That is, a heauy sentence or prophecie against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernes, which was South from Iudah, signifying that if the beasts should not be spared, the men should be punished much more grieuously.
e To wit, to Ierusalem.
f And not to come to and fro to seeke helpe.
g That is, this prophecie.
h That it may be a witnesse against them for all posterity.
i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delighted to be flattered, and led in errour.
k Threaten vs not by the word of God, neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as here. 11,21.
l Meaning, in their stubbornes against God and the admonitions of his Prophets, nr Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shallbe without recouery.
m Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should onely depend on him.
o We will trust to escape by our horses.
p Whereas all the trees are cut downe saue two or three to make maisters.
q He commendeth the great mercies of God, who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.
r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Ier. 10.24 and 30.11.
[1] Or, instructour.
s God shall direct all thy wayes, and appoint thee how to goe either hither or thither.
t Ye shall cast away your idoles, which you haue made of gold, and siluer, with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthy thing, and polluted.
u Shewing, that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deed we flee vn tes enemies to idolatry.

x By these diuers maners of speach he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shallbe so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.
y When the Church shallbe restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnesse of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shallbe the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.
z This threatning is against the Assyrians the chiefe enemies of the people of God.
a To driue them to no hing: and thus God confoundeth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he cleaueth his.
b Ye shall reioyce at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.
c Gods plague.
d It shall destroy.
e With ioy and assurance of the victory.
f Against Babel: meaning the Assyrians and Babylonians.

g Here it is taken for hell, where the wicked are tormented.
h So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked.
i By these figuratiue speaches he declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOe vnto them that a goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong; but they looke not vnto the Holy one of Israel, nor b seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet his c wisest; therefore he will bring euill, & not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit; and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the d helper shall

a There were two especiall causes, why the Israelites should not inyoke amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither; Deut. 17. 16. and 28. 68. Least they should forget the benefit of their redemption: and secondly, least they should be corrupted with the superstition and idolatry of the Egyptians, & so forsake God, Ier. 2. 18. b Meaning, that they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things: for they cannot trust in both. c And knoweth their craftie enterprises, and will bring all to nought. d Meaning, both the Egyptians and the Israelites.

4 For thus hath the Lord ſpoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelpe roareth vpon his pray, againſt whom if a multitude of ſhepheards be called, he will not be afraid at their voyce, neither will humble himſelfe at their noyſe: ſo ſhall the Lord of hoſts come ᵉ down to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, ſo ſhall the Lord of hoaſts defend Ieruſalem by defending and deliuering, by paſſing through and preſeruing it.

6 O ye children of Iſrael, turne againe, in as much as ye are ᶠ ſunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man ſhall ᵍ caſt out his idoles of ſiluer, and his idols of gold, which your hands haue made you, euen a ſinne.

8 ʰ Then ſhall Aſſhur fall by the ſword, not of man, neither ſhall the ſword of man deuoure him, and hee ſhall flee from the ſword, and his young men ſhall faint.

9 And he ſhall goe for feare to his ⁱ towre, and his princes ſhalbe afraid of the ſtandard, ſaith the Lord, whoſe ᵏ fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ieruſalem.

e He ſheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their truſt in him, he is ſo able, that none can reſiſt his power: and ſo carefull ouer them, as a bird ouer her young, which euer flyeth about them for their defence: which ſimilitude the ſcripture vſeth in diuers places, as Deut. 32. 11. mat. 23. 37.
f He toucheth their conſcience, that they might earneſtly feele their grieuous ſinnes, and ſo truely repent, for as much as now they are almoſt drowned and paſt recouery.
g By theſe fruits your repentance ſhalbe knowen, as Chap. 2. 18. h When your repentance appeareth. i This was accompliſhed ſoone after when Saneheribs armie was diſcomfited, and he fled to his caſtle in Nineueh for ſuccour. k To deſtroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers deſcribed by the gouernment of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Chriſt.

BEhold, ᵃ a King ſhall reigne in iuſtice, and the princes ſhall ᵇ rule in iudgement.

2 And that man ſhall be as an hiding place from the wind, and as a refuge for the tempeſt, as riuers of water in a dry place, and as the ſhadow of a great rocke in ᶜ a weary land.

3 The eyes of ᵈ the ſeeing ſhall not be ſhut, and the eares of them that heare, ſhall hearken.

4 And the heart of the fooliſh ſhall vnderſtand knowledge, and the tongue of the ſtutters ſhalbe ready to ſpeake diſtinctly.

5 A ᵉ niggard ſhall no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will ſpeake of niggardnes, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and ſpeake falſely againſt the Lord, to make emptie the hungry ſoule, and to cauſe the drinke of the thirſtie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuiſeth wicked counſels to vndoe the poore with lying words, and to ſpeake againſt the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuiſe of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

9 ¶ Riſe vp ye women that are at eaſe: heare my voyce, ye ᶠ careles daughters, hearken to my words.

10 Ye women that are careleſſe, ſhalbe in feare ᵍ aboue a yeere in dayes, ʰ for the vintage ſhall faile, and the gatherings ſhall come no more.

11 Yee women, that are at eaſe, be aſtonied: feare, O ye careleſſe women: put off the clothes, make bare, and gird ſackcloath vpon the loynes.

12 Men ſhall lament for the ⁱ teares, euen for the pleaſant fields, and for the fruitfull vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people ſhall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houſes of ioy in the city of reioycing.

14 Becauſe the palace ſhalbe forſaken, and the ‖ noyſe of the city ſhalbe left: the towre and fortreſſe ſhall be dennes for euer, and the delight of wild aſſes, and a paſture for flocks, 15 Vntill the ᵏ Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruitfull field, and the ˡ plenteous field be counted as a foreſt.

16 And iudgement ſhall dwell in the deſert, and iuſtice ſhall remaine in the fruitfull field.

17 And the worke of iuſtice ſhalbe peace, euen the worke of iuſtice and quietneſſe, and aſſurance for euer.

18 And my people ſhall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in ſure dwellings, and in ſafe reſting places.

19 When it haileth, it ſhall fall on the foreſt, and the ᵐ citie ſhalbe in the low place.

20 Bleſſed are ye ⁿ that ſowe vpon all waters, and ᵒ driue thither the feet of the oxe & the aſſe.

a This prophecie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Chriſt, and therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.
b By iudgement and iuſtice is meant an vpright gouernment, both in policie, and religion.
c Where men are weary with trauelling for lacke of water.
d He promiſeth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderſtanding, and zeale of the ſame, are contrary to the threatnings againſt the wicked, Chap. 6. 9. and 29. 10.
e Vice ſhall no more be called vertue, nor vertue eſteemed by power and riches.
f He prophecieth of ſuch calamitie to come, that they will not ſpare the women & children, and therefore willeth them to take heed and prouide.
g Meaning, that the affliction ſhould continue long, and when one yeere were paſt, yet they ſhould looke for new plagues.
h God will take from you the meanes and occaſions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goods. i By the teates hee meaneth the plentifull fields, whereby men are nouriſhed as children with the teate: or, the mothers for ſorow and heauineſſe ſhall lacke milke.

k That is, when the Church ſhall be reſtored. thus the Prophets, after they haue denounced Gods iudgements againſt the wicked, vſe to comfort the godly, leaſt they ſhould faint.
l The field which is now fruitfull, ſhalbe but as a barren foreſt in compariſon of that it ſhall be then, as Chap. 29. 17. which ſhall be fulfilled in Chriſts time, for then they that were before as the barren wildernes, being regenerate ſhalbe fruitfull, and they that had ſome beginning of godlineſſe, ſhall bring foorth fruits in ſuch abundance, that their former life ſhall ſeeme but as a wildernes, where no fruits were. m They ſhall not need to build it in high places for feare of the enemie: for God will defend it, and turne away the ſtormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth foorth in abundance, or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made dry for your vſes. o The fields ſhall be ſo ranke, that they ſhall ſend out their cattell to eate vp the firſt croppe, which abundance ſhall be ſignes of Gods loue and fauour toward them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deſtruction of them by whom God hath puniſhed his Church.

WOe to thee that ᵃ ſpoyleſt, and waſt not ſpoyled: and doeſt wickedly, and they did not wickedly againſt thee: when thou ſhalt ᵇ ceaſe to ſpoyle, thou ſhalt be ſpoyled: when thou ſhalt make an end of doing wickedly, ᶜ they ſhall doe wickedly againſt thee.

2 ᵈ O Lord, haue mercy vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which waſt ᵉ their arme in the morning, our helpe alſo in time of trouble.

3 At the noiſe of the tumult, the ᶠ people fled: at thine ᵍ exalting the nations were ſcattered.

4 And your ſpoyle ſhall be gathered like the gathering of ʰ caterpillers: and ⁱ he ſhall goe againſt him like the leaping of graſhoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement & iuſtice.

6 And there ſhall be ſtabilitie of ᵏ the times, ſtrength, ſaluation, wiſedome, and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord ſhalbe his treaſure.

7 Behold, ˡ their meſſengers ſhall cry without, & the ᵐ ambaſſadours of peace ſhal weep bitterly.

8 The ⁿ pathes are waſte: the wayfaring man ceaſeth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: he regardeth no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is aſhamed, and hewen downe: ᵒ Sharon is like a wildernes, and Baſhan is ſhaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I ᵖ ariſe, ſaith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my ſelfe.

11 ᵠ Ye ſhall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth ſtubble: the fire of your breath ſhall deuoure you.

12 And the people ſhall be as the burning of a Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans and Aſſyrians, but chiefly of Saneherib, but not onely.

b When thine appoynted time ſhall come that God ſhall take away thy power: and that which thou haſt wrongfully gotten, ſhalbe giuen to others, as Amos 5. 11.
c The Caldeans ſhall do like to the Aſſyrians, as the Aſſyrians did to Iſrael, and the Medes and Perſians ſhall do the ſame to the Caldeans.
d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull, when troubles come, to pray and ſeeke helpe of God.
e Which helpedſt our fathers ſo ſoone as they called vpon thee.
f That is, the Aſſyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Perſians. g When thou, O Lord, didſt lift vp thine arme to puniſh thine enemies. h Yee that as caterpillers deſtroyed with your number the whole world, ſhall haue no ſtrength to reſiſt your enemies the Caldeans: but ſhall be gathered on an heape and deſtroyed. i Meaning, the Medes and Perſians againſt the Caldeans. k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah. l Sent from Saneherib. m Whom they of Ieruſalem ſent to intreat of peace. n Theſe are the words of the ambaſſadours, when they returned from Saneherib. o Which was a plentifull countrey, meaning, that Saneherib would deſtroy all. p To helpe and deliuer my Church. q This is ſpoken againſt the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but he ſheweth that their enterpriſe ſhalbe in vaine, and that the fire which they had kindled for others, ſhould conſume them.

y Hit vengeance shall be so great, that all the world shall talke thereof.
f Which doe not beleeue the words of the Prophet, and the assurance of their deliuerance.
g Meaning, that God will be a sure defence to all them that liue according to his word.
h They shall see Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies, and restored to honour and glory.
i They shall be no more thus in as they were of Sanherib, but go where it pleaseth them.
y Before that this liberty come to, thou shalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemie shall so sharply assaile you, that one shall crie, where is the clerke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? an other shall cry for him that valueth the rich houses, but God will deliuer you from this feare.
z Let vs be content with this small riuer of Shiloah, and not desire the great streames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in ships and destroy vs.
a He derideth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction as they that perish by shipwracke. b Hee comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shalbe enriched with all benefits both of body and soule.

lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, yee that are far off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power.

14 The [f] sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire, who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings?

15 Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill,

16 He shall dwell on [g] high: his defence shall be the munitions of rocks: bread shalbe giuen him, and his waters shalbe sure.

17 Thine eyes shall [h] see the King in his glory: they shall behold the [i] land farre off.

18 Thine heart [y] shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is hee that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speach, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feasts: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that cannot be remooued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs, as a place [z] of floods, and broad riuers, whereby shall passe no ship with oares, neither shall great ship passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our law-giuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs.

23 Thy [a] cords are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the [b] pray be deuided for a great spoyle: yea, the lame shal take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

CHAP. XXXIV

1 Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

COme neere, ye [a] nations and heare, & hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath [b] destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their slaine shall be cast out, and their stinke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoaste of heauen [c] shalbe dissolued, and the heauen shalbe folden like a booke: and all their hoastes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

5 For my sword shalbe [d] drunken in the heauen: behold, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of [e] my curse to iudgement.

6 The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat and with [f] blood of the flambes and the goats, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in [g] Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the [h] vnicorne shall come downe with them, and the heifers with the bulles, and their land shall be drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnesse.

8 For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the yeere of recompense for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into [i] brimstone, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch.

10 It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall go vp euermore: it shalbe desolate from generation to generation; none shall passe through it for euer.

11 But the pelicane [k] and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauen shall dwel in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of [l] vanitie, and the stones of emptinesse

12 [m] The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shalbe none, and all the princes thereof shalbe as nothing.

13 And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles, and thistles in the strong holds thereof, and it shalbe an habitation for dragons, and a court for ostriches.

14 There shall [n] meet also Ziim and Iim, and the Satyre shall crie to his fellow, and the scrichowle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There [o] shall the owle make her nest, and lay and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadow: there shall the vultures also be gathered, euery one with her make.

16 Seeke in the [p] booke of the Lord, and reade: none of these shall faile, none shall want her make: for [r] his mouth hath commanded, and his very spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the [s] lot for them, and his hand hath deuided vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioy of them that beleeue in Christ. 3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruits that follow thereof.

THe a desert and the wilderneſſe ſhall reioyce, and the waſte ground ſhalbe glad and flouriſh as the roſe.

2 It ſhall flouriſh abundantly, and ſhall greatly reioyce alſo and ioy: the glory of Lebanon ſhall be giuen vnto it: the beauty of [b] Carmel, and of Sharon, they ſhall [c] ſee the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3 [d] Strengthen the weake hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Be you ſtrong, feare not: behold, your God commeth with [e] vengeance: euen God with a recompenſe, he will come and ſaue you.

5 Then ſhall the eyes of the [f] blind be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6 Then ſhall the lame man leape as an hart, and the dumbe mans tongue ſhall ſing: for in the [g] wilderneſſe ſhall waters breake out, and riuers in the deſert.

a He prophecieth of the deſtruction of the Edomites, and other nations which were enemies to the Church.
b God hath determined in his counſell, and hath giuen ſentence for their deſtruction.
c He ſpeaketh this in reſpect of mans iudgement, who in great feare and horrible troubles, thinketh that heauen and earth periſhe.
d I haue determined in my ſecret counſell, and to the heauens to deſtroy them till my ſword be weary with ſhedding of blood. e They had an opinion of holineſſe, becauſe they came of the Patriarke Izhak, but in effect were accurſed of God, and enemies vnto his Church, as the Papiſtrie.

f That is, both of young and old, poore and rich of his enemies.
g That famous citie ſhalbe confumed as a ſacrifice burnt to aſhes.
h The mighty and rich ſhalbe aſwell deſtroyed as the inferiours.

i He alludeth to the deſtruction of Sodome and Gomorah, Gen. 19. 24.

k Reade Chap. 13. 21. and Zeph. 2. 14.

l In vaine ſhall any man go about to build it againe.
m Meaning, there ſhalbe neither order nor policie, nor ſtate of common-weale.

o Signifying, that Idumea ſhould be an horrible deſolation and barren wildernes.
p That is, in the booke where ſuch curſes are threatned againſt the wicked.
q To wit, beaſts and foules.
r That is, the mouth of the Lord.
s He hath giuen the beaſts and foules Idumea for an inheritance.

a He prophecieth of the full reformation of the Church both of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Chriſt, which ſhall be fully accompliſhed at the laſt day: albeit as yet it is compared to a deſert and wildernes.
b The Church which ſhalbe before compared to a barren wildernes, ſhall by Chriſt be made moſt plenteous and beautifull.
c He ſheweth that the preſence of God is the cauſe that the Church doth bring forth fruit and flouriſh.
d He willeth all exhort and ſtrengthen to encourage one another, and ſpecially the miniſters to the weake that they may patiently abide the comming of God, which is at hand.
e To deliuer your enemies. f When the knowledge of Chriſt is reuealed. g They that were barren and deſtitute of the graces of God, ſhall haue them giuen by Chriſt.

7 And the drie ground ſhalbe as a poole, and the thirſtie as ſprings of water: in the habitation of dragons, where they lay, ſhall be a place for reeds and ruſhes.
8 And there ſhalbe a path and a way, and the way ſhall be called [h] holy: the polluted ſhall not paſſe by it: for [i] he ſhalbe with them, and walke
in the way, and the fooles ſhall not erre.
9 There ſhallbe [k] no lyon, nor noyſome beaſts ſhall aſcend by it, neither ſhall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke.
10 Therefore the [l] redeemed of the Lord ſhall returne and come to Zion with praiſe: and euerlaſting ioy ſhall be vpon their heads: they ſhall obtaine ioy and gladneſſe, and ſorow and mourning ſhall flee away.

h It ſhalbe for the Saints of God and not for the wicked.
i God ſhall leade and guide them, alluding to the bringing forth of Egypt.
k As he threatned to the wicked to be deſtroyed hereby, Chap. 30. 6.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Saneherib ſendeth Rabſhakeh to beſiege Ieruſalem. 15 His blaſphemies againſt God.

Now [a] in the [b] fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Aſſhur came vp againſt all the ſtrong cities of Iudah, and tooke
them.
2 And the King of Aſſhur ſent Rabſhakeh from Lachiſh toward Ieruſalem vnto king Hezekiah, with a great hoaſt, & he ſtood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.
3 Then came foorth vnto him Eliakim the ſonne of Hilkiah the [c] ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna [d] the chancellour, and Ioah the ſonne of Aſaph the recorder.
4 And [e] Rabſhakeh ſaid vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus ſaith the great king,
the King of Aſſhur, What confidence is this,
wherein thou truſteſt?
5 I ſay, [f] Surely I gaue eloquence, but counſell and ſtrength are for the warre: on whom then doeſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me?
6 Loe, thou truſteſt in this broken ſtaffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: ſo is [g] Pharaoh
King of Egypt vnto all that truſt in him.
7 But if thou ſay vnto me, We truſt in the Lord our God, is not that hee, whoſe hie places and whoſe altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and ſaid to Iudah and to Ieruſalem, Ye ſhall worſhip before this altar?
8 Now therefore giue hoſtages to my Lord
the king of Aſſhur, and I will giue thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders vpon them.
9 For how canſt thou ‖ deſpiſe any captaine of the [h] leaſt of my lords ſeruants? and put thy truſt on Egypt for charets and for horſemen?
10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to deſtroy it? The Lord ſayd vnto me, [i] Goe vp againſt this land and deſtroy it.
11 ¶ Then ſaid Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabſhakeh, [k] Speake, I pray thee, to thy ſer-uants in the Aramites language (for we vnderſtand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.
12 Then ſaid Rabſhakeh, Hath my maſter ſent
mee to thy maſter, and to thee, to ſpeake theſe wordes, and not to the men that ſit on the wall?
that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke
their owne † piſſe with you?
13 So Rabſhakeh ſtood, and cried with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and ſaid, Heare the words of the great King, of the King of Aſſhur.
14 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah de-ceiue you: for he ſhall not be able to deliuer you.
15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to truſt in the Lord, ſaying, The Lord will ſurely deliuer vs:
this citie ſhall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Aſſhur.
16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus ſayth
the king of Aſſhur, Make [l] appointment with me,
and come out to me, that euery man may eate
of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well.
17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate and wine,
a land of bread and vineyardes,
18 Leaſt Hezekiah deceiue you, ſaying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Aſſhur?
19 Where is the god of [m] Hamath, and of Ar-pad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of my hand?
20 Who is hee among all the gods of theſe lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord ſhould deliuer Ieruſalem out of mine hand?
21 Then they [n] kept ſilence, and anſwered him not a worde: for the kings commandement was, ſaying, Anſwere him not.
22 Then came Eliakim the ſonne of Hilkiah
the ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the ſonne of Aſaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent cloathes, and tolde him
the words of Rabſhakeh.

a This hiſtorie is rehearſed becauſe it is as a ſeale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for the threatnings and promiſes: to wit, that God would ſuffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length would ſend deliuerance.
b When he had aboliſhed ſuperſtition, and idolatry, and reſtored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith and patience.
c For he was now reſtored to his office, as Iſaiah had prophecied, Chap. 22. 20.
d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in the kings houſe, when he was driuen to ſend this wicked man in ſuch a weightie matter.
e Saneheribs chiefe captaine.
f He ſpeaketh this in the perſon of Hezekiah, falſly charging him that he put his truſt in his wit and eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lord.
g Satan laboured to pull the godly King from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from truſt in the Egyptians, whoſe power was weake and would deceiue them, to yeeld himſelfe to the Aſſyrians, and ſo not to hope for any helpe of God.
‖ Or, turne backe.
h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his ſmall power, which is not able to reſiſt one of Saneheribs leaſt captaines.
i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord: but we muſt trie the ſpirits, whether they be of God or no.
k They were afraid, leaſt by his words, he ſhould haue ſtirred vp the people againſt the King, and alſo pretended to grow to ſome appoyntment with him.
† Ebr. the water of their feet.
l The Ebrew word ſignifieth bleſſing, whereby this wicked captaine would haue perſwaded the people, that their condition ſhould be better vnder Saneherib then vnder Hezekiah.
m That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which theſe two other cities alſo were: whereby we ſee how euery towne had his peculiar idole, and how the wicked make God an idole, becauſe they do not vnderſtand that God maketh them his ſcourge, and puniſheth cities for ſinnes.
n Not that they did not ſhew by euident ſignes that they did deteſt his blaſphemie: for they had now rent their cloathes, but they knew it was in vaine to vſe long reaſoning with this infidell, whoſe rage they ſhould haue ſo much more prouoked.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hezekiah asketh counſell of Iſaiah, who promiſeth him the victorie. 10 The blaſphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Saneherib is ſlaine of the Angel. 38 And he himſelfe of his owne ſonnes.

And [*] when the King Hezekiah heard it, hee [a] rent his cloathes, and put on ſackecloath and came into the houſe of the Lord.
2 And hee ſent Eliakim the ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Prieſts, cloathed in ſackecloath vnto
[b] Iſaiah the Prophet, the ſonne of Amoz.
3 And hee ſaid vnto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blaſphemie: for the children are come to the [c] birth, and there is no ſtrength to bring foorth.
4 If ſo be the Lord thy God hath [d] heard the words of Rabſhakeh, whom the King of Aſſhur
his maſter hath ſent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproach him with words, which the Lord thy God hath heard, then [e] lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.
5 So the ſeruants of the King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.
6 And Iſaiah ſaid vnto them, Thus ſay vnto your maſter, Thus ſaith the Lord, Be not afraid of the wordes that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſer-uants of the King of Aſſhur haue blaſphemed me.

* 2. Kings 19. 1.
a In ſigne of grief and repentance.
b To haue comfort of him by the word of God, that his faith might be confirmed and ſo his prayer be more earneſt: teaching hereby that in all dangers theſe two are the onely remedies, to ſeeke vnto God and his miniſters.
c We are in as great ſorow as a woman that trauaileth of child, and cannot be deliuered.
d That is, will declare by effect that he hath heard it: for when God deferreth to puniſh, it ſeemeth to the fleſh, that hee knoweth not the ſinne, or heareth not the cauſe.
e Declaring that the miniſters office doeth not onely ſtand in comforting by the word, but alſo in praying for the people.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a [f] noise, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against [g] Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when hee heard it, hee sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God [h] deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all landes in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as [i] Gozan, and [k] Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it, and hee went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which [l] dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands and [m] their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that [n] all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Asshur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, The [o] virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: thee daughter of Ierusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou railed on and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the [p] holy One of Israel

24 By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heights of his top, and to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged, [q] and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, [r] and haue formed it long agoe? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced?

27 Whose inhabitants haue † small power, and are afraid and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on ye house tops, or corne blasted [f] afore it be growen:

28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy [t] going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against mee.

29 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine [u] hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou [x] camest.

30 And this shall be a [y] signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the [z] second yeere such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yeere, sow ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof.

31 And [a] the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take root downward and beare fruit vpward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hoasts shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the King of Asshur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant [b] Dauids sake.

36 ¶ *Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth foure score, and fiue thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at [c] Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the Temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes *slewe him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of ‖ Ararat: and [d] Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his stead.

f Of the Egyptians and Ethiopians, that shall come and fight against him.
g Which was a citie toward Egypt, thinking thereby to haue stayed the force of his enemies.
h Thus God would haue him to vtter a most horrible blasphemie before his destruction: as to call the authour of all trueth, a deceiuer: some gather hereby that Shebnah had disclosed vnto Saneherib the answere that Isaiah sent to the king.

o Whom God had chosen to himselfe as a chaste virgin, and ouer whom he had care to preserue her from the lusts of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.
p Declaring hereby that they that are enemies to Gods Church, fight against him whose quarell his Church onely maintaineth.
q He boasteth of his policie, in that that he can finde meanes to nourish his army; and of his power in that that his army is so great, that it is able to drie vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters which the Iewes had closed in.

r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserue it: and therefore he saith that he formed it of old, euen in his eternall counsell which cannot be changed.

f He sheweth that the state and power of most flourishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Church, which shall remaine for euer, because God is the maintainer thereof.

x Thou shalt lose thy labour.
y God giueth signes after two sorts: some goe before the thing, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some go after the thing, as the sacrifice, which they were commanded to make three dayes after their departure: and these latter are to keepe the benefits of God in our remembrance: of the which sort this here is.

1 Hezekiah is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fifteene yeeres after. 10 He giueth thanks for his benefit.

About* that [a] time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt die, and not liue.

2 Then Hezekiah [b] turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, a Soone after that the Assyrians were slaine: so that God will haue the exercise of his children continuall, that they may learne onely to depend vpon God and aspire to the heauens.

b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgement, seeing hee had appoynted him to die so quickely after his deliuerance from so great calamitie, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, and also foreseeing the great change that should come in the Church, forasmuch as hee left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not borne: and when he reigned, we see what a tyrant he was.

3 And sayd, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfit heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.
4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,
5 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde
vnto thy dayes fifteene yeeres.
6 And I will deliuer thee [c] out of the hand of the king of Asshur, and this citie: for I will defend this citie.
7 And [d] this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken,
8 Behold, I will bring againe the shadow of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the [e] sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

10 I sayd in the [g] cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued
of the residue of my yeeres.
11 I said, [h] I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.
12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remoo-ued from me, like a shepheards tent: I [i] haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day [k] to night, thou wilt make an ende of me.
13 I reckoned [l] to the morning: but he brake
all my bones like a lyon, from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me.
14 Like a crane or a swallow, so did I [m] chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord, [n] it hath oppressed mee, comfort me.
15 What shall I say, [o] for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke [p] weakely
all my yeares in the bitternesse of my soule.
16 O Lord, [q] to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shall be knowen, that thou causedst me to [r] sleepe and hast giuen life to me.
17 Behold, for [s] felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my [t] sinnes behind thy backe.
18 For [u] the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.
19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the [x] children shall declare thy trueth.
20 The Lord was ready to saue mee: therefore wee will sing my song: all the dayes of [y] our life
in the house of the Lord.
21 Then said Isaiah, Take a lumpe of dry figs
and [z] lay it vpon the boile, and he shall recouer.
22 Also Hezekiah [a] had said, What is the signe, that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reprooued because hee shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

AT [*] the same time, [a] Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent [b] letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had beene sicke, and was recouered.
2 And Hezekiah was [c] glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious oynt-ment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures; there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not.
3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and sayd vnto him, What sayd these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.
4 Then sayd hee, What haue [d] they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene; there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed
them.
5 And Isaiah sayd to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hoastes, 6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntill this day, shalbe [e] caried to Babel:
nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.
7 And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shallbe [f] eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.
8 [g] Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken; and he sayd, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

1 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reprooueth the Idolaters, and them that trust not in the Lord.

COmfort [a] yee, comfort ye my people, will your God say.
2 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and crie vnto her, that her [b] warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned; for shee hath receiued
of the Lords hand [c] double for all her sinnes.
3 A [d] voyce cryeth in the [e] wildernesse, [f] Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.
4 Euery valley shalbe exalted, and euery [g] moun-taine and hill shallbe made low; and the crooked
shallbe streight, and the rough places plaine.
5 And the glory of the Lord shallbe reuealed, and all [h] flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

c He doth not onely promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest and quietnesse from the Assyrians, who might haue renewed their armie to reuenge their former discomfiture.
d For Hezekiah had asked for the confirmation of his faith, a signe, as ver. 22. and 2 King. 20.8. whereunto he was mooued by the singular motion of Gods spirit.
e Reade 2. King. 20, 10.
f He left this song of his lamentation and thankesgiuing to all posterity, as a monument of his owne infirmitie, and thankfull heart for Gods benefits, as Dauid did, Psal. 51.
g At what time it was tolde me that I should die.
h I shall no more prayse the Lord here in this Temple among the faithfull: thus God suffereth his dearest children to want his consolation for a time, that his grace afterward may the more appeare when they feele their owne weakenesse.
i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.
k That is, in one day, or shortly.
l Ouer night I thought that I should liue till morning, but my pangs in the night perswaded me the contrary: he sheweth the horror that the faithfull haue when they apprehend Gods iudgement against their sinne.
m I was so opprest with sorow, that I was not able to vtter my words, but onely to grone and sigh.
n To wit, sorow and griefe both of body and mind. o God hath declared by his Prophet that I shall die, and therefore I will yeeld vnto him. p I shall haue no release, but continuall sorowes whiles I liue. q They that shall ouerliue the men that are now aliue, and all they that are in these yeeres shall acknowledge this benefite. r That after that thou hadst condemned me to death, thou restoredst me to life. s Whereas I thought to haue liued in rest and ease being deliuered from mine enemie, I had griefe vpon griefe. t He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, and Gods fauour then a thousand liues. u For as much as God hath placed man in this world to glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his wrath, when their dayes were shortened, either because that they seemed vnworthy for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glory, seeing that there are so few in earth, that do regard it, as Psal. 6 5. and 115, 17.
x All posterity shall acknowledge, and the fathers according to their duety toward their children shall instruct them in thy graces, and mercies toward me.

y Hee sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church, to wit, to giue the Lord thankes for his benefits.
z Read 2 King, 20, 7
a As verse 7.
* 2. King 20, 12.
a This was the first king of Babylon, which ouercame the Assyrians in the tenth yeere of his reigne.
b Partly mooued with the greatnesse of the miracle, partly because he shewed himselfe enemie to his enemies, but chiefly because he would ioyne with them whom God fauoured, and haue their helpe, if occasion serued.
c Reade 2. King, 20. 13, & 2. Chron. 32. 25, 31.
d He asketh him of the particulars, to make him vnderstand the craft of the wicked, which he before being ouercome with their flattery and blinded with ambition, could not see.
e By the grieuousnes of the punishment is declared how greatly God detesteth ambition & vaine glory.
f That is, officers and seruants.
g Reade 2. Kings 20, 19.
a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them, that they shalbe neuer destitute of prophets whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule.
b The time of her affliction.
c Meaning, sufficient, as chap. 61. 7 and full correction, or double grace, whereas she deserued double punishment. d To wit, of the Prophets e That is, in Babylon and other places where they were kept in captiuity, and misery. f Meaning Cyrus and Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuity, and make them a ready way to Ierusalem: and this was fully accomplished, when Iohn the Baptist brought tidings of Iesus Christs comming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Matth. 3 3. g Whatsoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shall be remooued. h This miracle shalbe so great, that it shall be knowen through all the world.

i The voyce of God which spake to the Prophet Isaiah.
k Meaning, all mans wisedome and naturall powers, Iames 1, 10. 1. Pet. 1, 24.
l The spirit of God shall discouer the vanitie in all that seeme to haue any excellencie of themselues.
m Though considering the frailtie of mans nature many of the Iewes should perish, and so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promise should be fulfilled, and they that remained, should feele the fruite thereof.
n To publish this benefite through all the world.
o He sheweth at one word the perfection of all mens felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence.
p His power shall be sufficient without helpe of any other, and shall haue all meanes in himselfe to bring his will to passe.
q He shall shew his care and fauour ouer them that are weake and tender.
r Declaring that as God onely hath all power, so doeth he vse the same for the defence and maintenance of his Church.
s He sheweth Gods infinite wisdome for the same end and purpose.
t He speaketh all this to the intent that they should neither leane man nor put their trust in any, saue onely in God.
u Hereby he armeth them against the idolatrie, wherewith they should be tempted in Babylon.
x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore shall haue not to suffice their owne necessities, will defraude themselues to feede their idoles.
y Haue ye not the word of God, which plainely condemneth idolatry?
z Can you not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serue your vse, that you should not serue them nor worship them? a So that his power appeareth in euery place whereforouer wee turne our eyes. b Who hath set in order the infinite number of the starres.

6 A i voyce sayd, Crie. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grasse, and all the k grace thereof is as the floure of the field.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the l Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the m word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 ¶ O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the high n mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold o your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and p his arme shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

11 He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with q young.

12 Who hath measured the waters in his r fist? and counted heauen with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath instructed the spirit of the Lord? or was t his counseller, or taught him?

14 Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgment? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: behold, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.

17 All nations before him are as u nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whom then x will yee liken God? or what similitude will ye set vp vnto him?

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldesmith maketh siluer plates.

20 Doth not x the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation? he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image that shall not be mooued.

21 Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard? y it hath it not beene told you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstood it by the z foundation of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, hee stretcheth out the heauens as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in.

23 Hee bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie.

24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for hee did euen a blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble.

25 To whom now will yee liken mee, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth b out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnesse of his power & mighty strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, c My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the d ends of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is weary: there is no searching of his e vnderstanding.

29 But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 f Euen the young men shall faint, and be weary, and the young men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lord, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings, as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be weary, and they shall walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercie in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEepe a silence before me, O ylands, and let the people g renew their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp the iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bow.

3 Hee pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete.

4 Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the d generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the e first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The yles saw it, and did f feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drew neere, and g came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour, and sayd to his brother, h Be strong.

7 So the workeman comforted the founder, and hee that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the soldering, and he fastened it with nailes that it should not be mooued.

8 ¶ But thou, Israel, art my i seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abrahams my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and sayd vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will susteine thee with the k right hand of my iustice.

11 Behold, all they that prouoke thee, shall be ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, and they that striue with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not l finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will help thee.

14 Feare not thou m worme, Iaakob, and yee

e He rebuketh the Iewes, because they did not rest on the prouidence of God, but thought that he had forsaken them in their troubles.
d And therefore all power is in his hand to deliuer when his time commeth.
e Shewing that men must patiently abide, and not curiously seeke out the cause of Gods delay in our afflictions.
f They that trust in their owne vertue, and do not acknowledge that all commeth of God, a God as though he pleaded his cause with all nations, requireth silence, that hee may be heard in his right.

b That is, gather all their power and supports.
c Who called Abraham (who was the paterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) from the idolatrie of the Caldeans to goe to and fro at his commandement, and placed him in the land of Canaan.
p Who hath created man and maintained his succession.
e Though the world set vp neuer so many gods, yet they diminish nothing of my glory: for I am all one, vnchangeable, which haue euer beene, and shallbe for euer.
f Considering mine excellent workes among my people.
g They assembled themselues, and conspired against me to maintaine their idolatrie.
h He noteth the obstinacie of the idolaters to maintaine their superstitions.
i And therefore oughtest not to posture thy self with the superstitioo of the Gentiles.
k That is, by the force of my promise, in the performance whereof I will shew my self faithfull and iust.
l Because they shall be destroyed. m Thus he calleth them because they were contemned of all the world, and that they considering their owne estate, should seeke vnto him for helpe.

men

men of Israel: I will helpe thee, saith the Lord, and thy redeemer the Holy One of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roler, and a new threshing instrument having teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy One of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore and the needy seeke water, & there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them:)

18 I will open riuers in the tops of the hilles, and fountaines in the mids of the valleyes: I will make the wildernesse as a poole of water, and the waste [p] land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wildernesse the cedar, the Shittah tree, and the myrrhe tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wildernesse the fierre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them see and know, and let them consider and vnderstand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Israel [q] hath created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons saith the King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring them foorth, and let them tell vs what shall come, let them shewe the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are gods: yea, doe good or do euill, that we may declare it, and beehold it together.

24 Behold, yee are of no value, and your maker is of nought: man hath [s] chosen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp [t] from the North, and he shall come: from the East fanne shall he [u] call vpon my name, and shall come vpon [x] princes as vpon clay, & as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foot.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? or before time, that we may say, Hee is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth [y] your words.

27 I am the first, that saith to Zion, Beholde, behold [z] them: and I will giue to Ierusalem [a] one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when [b] I beheld, there was none: and when I enquired of them, there was no counseller, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

n I will make thee able to destroy all thineenemies, be they neuer so mighty: and this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Christ.

o That is, they that shallbe afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon.

p God will rather change the order of nature then they should want any thing, that cry to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to them hereby that they shall lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babylon.

q That is, hath appointed and determined that it shall come to passe.

r Hebiddeth the idolaters to propoue their religion, and to bring foorth their idoles, that they may be tried whether they know all things, and can do all things: which if they cannot do, he concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.

s So that a man cannot make an idole, but he must do that which God detesteth and abhorreth: for hee abuseth his owne deuises and forsaketh the Lord.

t Meaning, the Chaldeans.

u That is, Cyrus, who shall doe all things in my name & by my direction: whereby hee meaneth that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shall be ordered by Gods prouidence and appointment.

x Both of the Chaldeans and others.

y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.

z That is, the Israelites which returne from the captiuitie.

a To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and ministers.

b When I looked whether the idoles could doe these things I found that they had neither wisedome nor power to doe any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanities.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why hee was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

BEholde, a my seruant: b I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule c delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: hee shall bring foorth d iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not e cry, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.

3 A f bruised reede shall hee not breake, and the smoking g flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring foorth iudgement in h truth.

4 He shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue i set iudgement in the earth: and the k yles shall wait for his Law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord (hee that created the heauens and spread them abroad: hee that stretched foorth the earth, and the buds thereof: hee that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in l righteousnesse, and will hold m thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkenesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my [o] glory will I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Beholde, the former things are [p] come to passe, and new things doe I declare; before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth; ye that go downe to the sea, and all that is therein; the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wildernesse and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that q Kedar doeth inhabite; let the inhabitants of the rockes sing; let them shout from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the yles.

13 The Lord shall goe forth as a r gyant; hee shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shout and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue beene still and refrained my selfe; now will I cry like a [s] trauailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines, and hils, and drie vp all their herbs, and I will make the floods yles, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the [t] blind by a way, that they knew not, and lead them by pathes that they haue not knowen: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things streight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, yee deafe: and ye blind, regarde, that ye may see.

19 Who is blind but my [u] seruant? or deafe as my [x] messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the [y] perfite, and blind as the Lords seruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not?

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called heere seruant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after that they haue declared any great promise, because hee is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him as to a most faithfull steward. Some reade, I will establish him: to wit, in his office by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit. c He onely is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meanes of reconciliation, Mat. 3.17. Eph. 1.6.

d He shall declare himselfe gouernor ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his worde, and rule them by his Spirit. e His comming shall not be with pompe and noyse, as earthly princes. f He will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support and comfort them. g Meaning, the weeke of a lampe, or candle which is almost out, but he will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter. h Although hee fauour the weake, yet will hee not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to truth and equitie. i Till he haue set all things in good order. k The Gentiles shall be desirous to receiue his doctrine. l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation. m To assist and guide thee. n As him, by whom the promise made to all nations in Abraham shall be fulfilled. o I will not suffer my glory to be diminished: which I should doe if I were not faithfull in performing the fame, and the idolaters thereby would exroll their idoles aboueme. p As in time past I haue beene true in my promises, so will I be in time to come. q Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whom dwell comprehended all the people of the East. r He sheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the confirmation of his Church. s I will assist to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred as a woman that desireth to be deliuered, when time is in trauell. t That is, my poore people which are in perplexitie and care. x The Priest to whom my word is committed, which should not onely beare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it. y As the Priestes and Prophets that should be light vnto others?

u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light because of my Law.

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnesse sake,that he may magnifie the Law and exalt it.
22 But this people is [z] robbed and spoyled,and shallbe all snared in dungeons,and they shallbe hid in prison houses; they shallbe for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoyle,and none shall say,[a] Restore.
23 Who among you shall hearken to this,and take heede,and heare for [b] afterwards?
24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle,& Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes,neither be obedient vnto his Law.
25 Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell; and it set him on fire round about, and he knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

z Because they will not acknowledge this benefit of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he suffereth them to be spoyled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulitie.
a There shallbe none to succour them, or to will the enemie to restore that which hee hath spoyled.
b Meaning, Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

But now thus saith the Lord,[a] that created thee,
O Iaakob: and he that formed thee,O Israel,
[b] Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name,thou art mine.
2 When thou passest through the [c] waters, I will be with thee,and through the floods,that they doe not ouerflow thee. When thou walkest tho-row the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.
3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel,thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ransome,Ethiopia,and Seba for thee.
4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue [e] man for thee,and people for thy sake.
5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I willbring thy seed from the [f] East, and gather thee from the West.
6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, & my daughters from the ends of the earth.
7 Euery one shall be called by my [g] Name:
for I created him for my glory, formed him and
made him.
8 I will bring foorth the blinde people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares
9 Let all the nations be gathered [h] together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew vs former things?
let them bring forth their [i] witnesses, that they may be iustified; but let them [k] heare, and say,
It is trueth.
10 You [l] are my witnesses,saith the Lord, and my [m] seruant,whom I haue chosen: therefore yee shall know and beleeue mee, and yee shall vnder-stand that I am: before mee there was no God formed,neither shall there be after me.
11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauiour.
12 I haue declared, and I haue saued,and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, sayeth the Lord,that I am God.
13 Yea, before the day was, I am,and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe
it, and who shall let it?

a After these threatnings he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because hee hath regenerate them, adopted them, and called them.
b When thou feelt dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefit and the loue of thy God, and it shall encourage thee.
c By water and fire he meaneth all kind of troubles and perils.
d I turned Saneheribs power against these countries, and made them to suffer that affliction which thou shouldest haue done, and so were as the payment of thy ransome, chap.37,9.
e I will not spare any man,rather then thou shouldest perish, for God more esteemeth one of his faithfull, then all the wicked in the world.
f He prophecieth of their deliuerance from the captiuity of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersall Church, alluding to that which is written,Deut.30,3.
g Meaning, that he could not be vnmindfull of them, except he would neglect his owne Name and glory.
h Signifying,that no power can resist him in doing this miraculous worke, not all their idoles are able to doe the like, as Chap. 41,22.
i To prooue that the things which are spoken of them, are true. k Shewing, that the malice of the wicked hindreth them in the knowledge of the trueth, because they will not heare when God speaketh by his word. l The Prophets and people to whom I haue giuen my Law. m Meaning specially Christ, and by him all the faithfull.

14 Thus saith the Lord your Redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and [n] brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldeans cry in [o] the ships.
15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.
16 Thus sayth the Lord which maketh a way
in [p] the Sea, and a path in the mighty [q] waters.
17 When he [r] bringeth out the [s] charet and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise, they are extinct, and quenched as towe.
18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of olde.
19 Behold,I do a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the [t] desert, and floods in the wildernesse.
20 The wilde [u] beasts shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wildernesse to giue drinke to my people,euen to mine elect.
21 This people haue I formed for my selfe:
they shall shew forth my prayse.
22 And thou hast not [x] called vpon mee, O
Iaakob, but thou hast [y] wearied me,O Israel 23 Thou [z] hast not brought mee the sheepe of thy burnt offrings, neither hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering nor wearied the with incense.
24 Thou boughtest me no sweet [a] sauour with money, neither hast thou made mee drunke with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me to [b] serue with thy sinnes, and wearied me with thine
iniquities.
25 I, euen I am hee that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes.
26 Put me in [c] remembrance: let vs be iudged
together: count thou that thou mayst be iustified.
27 Thy [d] first father hath sinned, and thy [e] teachers haue transgressed against me.
28 Therefore I haue [f] prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuary, and haue made Iaakob a curse, and Israel a reproach.

o They shall cry when they would escape by water, seeing that the course of Euphrates is turned another way by the enemie.
p When he deliuered Israel from Pharaoh,Exod. 14,22.
q When the Israelites passed through Iorden, Iosh.3,17.
r When he deliuered his people out of Egypt.
s Pharaoh and his mighty armie.
t Meaning, that their deliuerance out of Babylon should be more famous then that from Egypt was, Ier.23,7. hag.2,10. 2 cor.5,17. reuel. 21,5.7.
u They shall haue such abundance of all things as they returne home, euen in the drie and barren places, that the very beasts shall feele my benefits, and shall acknowledge them: much more men ought to be thankfull for the same.
x Thou hast not worshipped mee as thou oughtest to haue done.
y Because thou hast not willingly receiued that which I did command thee, thou diddest grieue me. Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the onely cause of their deliuerance, forasmuch as they had deserued the contrary z Meaning, in true faith and obedience. a Either for the composition of the sweet oyntment, Exod.30.34. or for the sweet incense, Exod.30,7. b Thou hast made mee to beare an heauie burden by thy sinnes c If I forget any thing that may make for thy iustification, put me in remembrance and speake for thy selfe. d Thine ancesters. e Thy Priests and thy Prophets f That is, reiected, abhorred, and destroyed them in the wildernesse and at other times.

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lord promiseth comfort, and that hee will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of Idoles. 17 The beastlinesse of idolaters.

Yet now heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen.
2 Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: hee will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous [b] whom I haue chosen.
3 For I will powre water vpon the [c] thirstie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will powre my spirit vpon thy seed,& my blessing vpon thy buds, 4 And they [d] shall grow as among the grasse,
and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.
5 One shall say, I am the Lordes: another

a He created and chose thee from the beginning of his owne mercie, and before thou couldest merite any thing.
b Whom God accepteth as righteous: or which hadst occasion thereunto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation. c Because man of himselfe is as the drie and barren land,he promiseth to moysten him with the waters of his holy Spirit, Ioel 2.28.Iohn 7.38 acts 2. 17. d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.

e shallbe

e shallbe called by the name of Iaakob : and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.
6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hoastes, [f] I am the first,
and I am the last, and without me is there no God.
7 And who is like mee, that shall [g] call and shall declare it, and set [h] it in order before me, since I appointed the [i] ancient people ? and what is at hand, and what things are to come ? let [k] them shew vnto them.
8 Feare yee not, neither be afraid : haue not I told thee of olde, and haue declared it ? [l] you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I know not.
9 All they that make an image, are vanitie;
and [m] their delectable things shall nothing profit : and they are their owne witnesses, [n] that they see not nor know : therefore they shall be confounded.
10 Who hath made a [o] god, or molten an image, that is [p] profitable for nothing ?
11 Beholde, all that are of the [q] fellowship thereof, shall be confounded : for the workemen themselues are men : let them all be gathered together, and [r] stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.
12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and fashioneth it with hammers,
and worketh it with the strength of his armes;
yea, he is [s] an hungred, and his strength faileth;
he drinketh no water, and is faint.
13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line ; he fashioneth it with a red threed, he plaineth it, and he purtrayeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beau-tie of a man, that it may remaine in [t] an house.
14 Hee will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest ; hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.
15 And man burneth thereof ; for hee will take thereof, and [u] warme himselfe : he also kind-leth it, and baketh bread, yet hee maketh a god,
and worshippeth it ; hee maketh it an idole, and boweth vnto it.
16 Hee burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof hee [x] eateth flesh;
he rosteth the roste, and is satisfied ; also he warmeth himselfe and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue beene at the fire.
17 And the residue thereof hee maketh a god,
euen his idole; he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer mee ; for thou art my god.
18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstood:
[y] for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.
19 And none † considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and

e By this diuersity of speech hee meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall be holy and receiue the true religion of God, as Psal 87.5.
f I am alwayes like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as Chap. 41,4. and 48. 12. reuel. 1.17. and 22,13.
g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church.
h That is, declare vnto me how I ought to proceed herein.
i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other in his eternall election.
k Meaning, their idoles.
l Reade Chap. 43. 10.
m Whatsoeuer they bestow vpon their idoles, to make them to seeme glorious.
n That is, the idolaters seeing their idoles blinde, must needs be witnesses of their owne blindnesse, and feeling that they are not able to helpe them, must confesse that they haue no power.
o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed as God, is most detestable.
p Whereby appeareth their blasphemy, which call images the bookes of the laitie, seeing that they are not onely here called vnprofitable, but Chap 41,24 abominable, and Ieremie calleth them the worke of errours, Ier. 10.15. Habakkuk, a lying teacher 2.18.
q That is, which by any way consent either to the making or worshipping.
r Signifying, that the multitude shall not then saue the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselues thereby among men.
s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to set foorth their deuotion towards their idoles.
t To place it in some Temple.
u Hee setteth foorth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a god of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles.
x That is, he either maketh a table or trenchers.
y The Prophet giueth here an answere to all them ẏ wonder how it is possible that any should be so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts.
† Ebr. returneth.

haue baked bread also vpon the coales thereof : I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination ? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree ?
20 He feedeth [z] of ashes; a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?
21 [a] Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel)
for thou art my seruant : I haue formed thee; thou art my seruant : O Israel forget me not.
22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist, turne vnto mee,
for I haue redeemed thee.
23 [b] Reioyce yee heauens ; for the Lord hath done it ; showt, ye lower parts of the earth; brast foorth into prayses, yee mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein : for the Lord hath redeemed
Iaakob, and will be glorified in Israel.
24 Thus saith the Lord thy redeeemer, and hee that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.
25 I destroy the [c] tokens of the soothsayers,
and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne
the wise men backeward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse.
26 ¶ He confirmeth the word of his [d] seruant,
and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited : and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall be built vp, and I will repaire the decaied places thereof.
27 He saith to the [e] deepe, Be drie, and I will drie vp the floods.
28 He saith to [f] Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard, and he shall performe all my desire : saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be built, and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely layd.

z He is abused as one that would eate ashes, thinking to satisfie his hunger.
a Shewing that mans heart is most inclined to idolatrie, and therefore hee warneth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the liuing God, when they should be among the idolaters.
b He sheweth that the worke of the Lord toward his people shall be so great, that the insensible creatures shall be mooued therewith.
c He armeth them against the soothsayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hand, that they knew by the starres, that God would not deliuer them, and that Babylon should stand.
d Of Isaiah and the rest of his Prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance.
e Hee sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when hee brought them out of Egypt, thorow the sea.
f To assure them of their deliuerance, hee nameth the person by whom it should be, more then an hundreth yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Thus saith the Lord vnto [a] Cyrus his [b] anoynted, whose right hand I haue holden to [c] subdue nations before him ; therefore will I weaken
the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.
2 I will go before thee, and make the [d] crooked straight : I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.
3 And I will giue thee the treasures of dark-nesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest [e] know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.
4 For Iaakob my seruants [f] sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.
5 I am the Lord, and there is none other;
there is no God besides mee : I [g] girded thee
though thou hast not knowen me, 6 That they may know from the rising of the sunne, and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.
7 I forme the [h] light, and create darkenesse : I a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anoynted for a time, but after another sort then he called Dauid.
c To guide him in the deliuerance of my people.
d I will take away all impediments and lets.
e Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people.
f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.
g I haue giuen thee strength, power and authoritie.
h I send peace and warre, prosperitie, and aduersitie, as Amos 3,6.

make

make peace, and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things.
8 Ye heauens send the dewe from aboue, and let the clouds drop downe [i] righteousnes: let the earth open, and let saluatiou and iustice growe foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue [k] created him.
9 [l] Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsheard with the potsheards of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, [m] It hath none hands?
10 Woe vnto him that sayeth to his father,
What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?
11 Thus saith the Lord, the onely one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me [n] of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes
of mine hands: command you me.
12 I haue made the earth, and created man
vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the hea-uens, I haue euen commaunded all their [o] armie.
13 I haue raised [p] him vp in righteousnes, and I will direct all his wayes: hee shall build my ci-tie, and he shall let go my captiues, not for [q] price
nor reward, saith the Lord of hoastes.
14 Thus sayeth the Lord, The labour [r] of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be [s] thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.
15 Verely, thou O God [t] hidest thy selfe, O
God, the Sauiour of Israel.
16 All they shallbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.
17 But Israel shall be saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed
nor confounded world without end.
18 For thus sayth the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine:
he formed it to be [u] inhabited) I am the Lord,
and there is none other.
19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither [x] in a place of darkenes in the earth: I said not in vaine
vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you mee: I the Lord doe speake righteousnes, and declare righteous things.
20 Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, [y] yee abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.
21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsel together, who hath declared this from the beginning, or hath told it of old? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside mee, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.
22 Looke vnto me, and yee shall be saued: all i Hee comforteth the Iewes, as if hee would say, Though when ye looke to the heauens and earth for succour, yee see nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet will I cause them to bring foorth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promise: which is meant by righteousnesse.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.
l Hereby hee brideleth their impatiencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God, and will not tary his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like, and not contend against God.
m That is, it is not perfectly made.
n In stead of murmuring, humble your selues, and aske what yee will for the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as yee are of these things which are at your commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, and make it the application of the similitude.
o That is, the starres.
p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulnesse of my promise in deliuering my people.
q Meaning, freely and without raunsome, or any grieuous condition.
r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so king Artahshashte gaue this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra.7,17.
s Whereas to fore they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ.
t Hereby hee exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliuerance be deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed. u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church. x As doe the false gods, which giue vncertaine answeres. y All yee idolaters which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiect.

[z] the endes of the earth shalbe saued: for I am
God, and there is none other.
23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in [a] righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery [b] knee shall bowe vnto mee,
and euery tongue shall sweare by me.
24 Surely [c] hee shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto
him, and all that [d] prouoke him shalbe ashamed.
25 The whole seede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

z He calleth the idolaters to repentance, willing them to looke vnto him with the eye of faith.
a That is, that the thing which I haue promised shall be faithfully perfourmed.
b The knowledge of God and the true worshipping shall be thorow all the world, Rom. 14. 11. Phil. 2. 10. whereby he signifieth that wee must not onely serue God in heart, but declare the same also by outward profession. c Meaning, the faithfull shall feele and confesse this. d All the contemners of God.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles. 3 Hee calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his workes.

BEl is bowed downe: [a] Nebo is fallen; their idoles were vpon the [b] beasts, and vpon the cattel; they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.
2 [c] They are bowed downe, and fallen together; for they could not rid them of the burden,
and their [d] soule is gone into captiuitie.
3 Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are [e] borne of mee from the wombe, and brought vp of mee
from the birth.
4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen
I will beare you vntill the hoare haires: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carie
you, [f] and I will deliuer you.
5 ¶ To whom will ye make me like, or make me equall, or [g] compare me that I should be like
him?
6 They draw gold out of the bag, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe and worship it.
7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doth he stand, and cannot remooue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.
8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it
againe to [h] minde, O you transgressers.
9 Remember the former things of olde: for
I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.
10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning; and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.
11 I call a [i] bird from the East, and the man of my [k] counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.
12 Heare mee yee stubburne hearted, that are farre from [l] iustice.
13 I bring [m] neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

a These were the chiefe idoles of Babylon.
b Because they were of gold and siluer, the Medes and Persians caried them away.
c The beasts that caried the idoles, fell downe vnder their burden.
d He derideth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.
e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut.32.11.
f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer.
g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idols to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruch.6.25.
h Become wise, meaning, that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.
i That is, Cyrus, which shall come as swift as a birde, and fight against Babylon. k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined. l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise. m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom.3,3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COme downe and sit in the dust: O [a] virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no [b] throne,

a Which hast liued in wealth and wantonnesse, and hast not yet beene ouercome by any enemie.

b Thy gouernement shall be taken from thee.
c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to cutte the mill was the office of slaues.
d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride, shallbe made vile, euen from the head to the foot.
e I will vse no humanity nor pity toward thee.
f The Israelites shall confesse that the Lord doth this for his Churches sake.
g For very shame, and hide my selfe.
h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, and therefore in stead of pitying their misery, thou diddest increase it.
i So that thy punishment shallbe so great as is possible to be imagined.
k Thou diddest trust that thine owne wisedome and policy would haue saued thee.
l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing but in God, considering also such vaine deuises, which serue to no vse, but to delude the people, and to bring them from depending onely on God.
m They shall vtterly perish & no part of them remaine.
n They shall flee euery one to that place, which hee thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shall deceiue them.

b throne, O daughter of the Caldeans; for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the mill stones, and g grinde meale; loose thy lockes: d make bare the feete: vncouer the leg, and passe thorow the floods.

3 Thy filthines shalbe discouered, and thy shame shalbe seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a e man.

4 f Our redeemer, the Lord of hoastes is his Name, the holy One of Israel.

5 g Sit still, and get thee into darkneſſe, O daughter of the Caldeans; for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdomes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand, thou didst shew them no h mercy, but thou didst lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saidest, I shalbe a lady for euer, so that thou diest not set thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember y latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest careleſſe, She saith in her heart, I am and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowhood; they shall come vpon thee in their i perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse; thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy k wisdome and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof; destruction shall fall vpon thee; which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, of thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast l wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profit, or if so be thou maiest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gazers, and prognosticators stand vp, and saue thee from these things that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from m the power of the flame: there shalbe no coales m to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy merchants from thy youth; euery one shal wander to his owne n quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

x The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reproued. 12 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

HEare yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are a called by the name of Israel, and are come out of b the waters of Iudah; which sweare by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in trueth nor in righteousnesse.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselues c vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hoastes.

3 I haue declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew that e thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brasse.

5 I therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not yee g declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Behold, I knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde; for I knew that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the h wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I defer my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, k that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but l not as siluer: I haue m chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it; for how should my Name o be polluted? p surely I will not giue my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob and Israel, my called, P I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I cal them, q they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued r him; he will do his will in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shal prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the s beginning from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath t sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee u to profite, and leade thee by the way that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh, that thou hadst beakened to my commandements! then had thy prosperitie bin as the flood, and thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had beene as the sand, and the fruite of thy body like the grauell thereof: his x name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 y Goe yee out of Babel: flee yee from the Chaldeans with a voyce of ioy: tell and declare this; shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they z were not thirstie: he led them thorow the wildernesse; hee caused the waters to flow out of the rocke for them; for he claue the rocke and the water gushed out.

22 There is no a peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

a He detecteth their hypocrisie which vaunted themselues to be Israelites, and were not so indeede.
b Meaning the fountaine and stocke.
c They make a shew as though they would haue none other God.
d Hee sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoeuer he had promised.
e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubburne wil and impudencie might haue beene ouercome.
f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon.
g Will and acknowledge this my benefit, and declare it vnto others?
h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doth not declare all things at once, least they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisedome.
i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.
k As it was my free mercy that I did chose thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.
l For I had respect to thy weakenesse and infirmitie: for in siluer there is some puritie, but in yron there is nothing but drosse.
m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldest haue beene consumed.
n God inyoyneth the saluation of his with his owne honour: for that they cannot perish, but his glorie should be diminished, as Deut. 32.27. & Reade Chap. 42.8.
P Reade Chap. 42.9.
q To obey me, and to doe whatsoeuer I command thee.
r Meaning Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.
s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.
t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things.
u What things shall doe thee good; and forewarneth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance.
x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel. y After that he had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, hee sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance. z Hee sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them, as hee did their fathers out of Egypt. a Thus hee speaketh that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57.21.

CHAP. XLIX.

a The Lord God exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promises. 6 Christ

6 Chriſt is the ſalnation of all that beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

HEare yee me, O yles, and hearken,yee people from farre. The Lord hath called [a] me from the wombe,and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a ſharpe [c] ſword : vnder the ſhadow of his hand hath he [d] hid me, and made me a choſen ſhaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And ſayd vnto me,Thou art my ſeruant [e] Iſrael, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I ſayd , I haue [f] laboured in vaine : I haue ſpent my ſtrength in vaine and for nothing; but my iudgment is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now ſayeth the Lord that formed me from [ſ] wombe to be his ſeruant , that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Iſrael be not gathered) [g] yet ſhall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord; and my God ſhalbe my ſtrength)

6 And hee ſayd, It is a ſmall thing that thou ſhouldeſt be my ſeruant to raiſe vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to reſtore the deſolations of Iſrael : I will alſo giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayeſt be my ſaluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord the redeemer of Iſrael, and his holy One , to him that is deſpiſed in ſoule, to a nation that is abhorred , to a [i] ſeruant of rulers , Kings ſhall ſee , and [k] ariſe, and princes ſhall worſhip , becauſe of the Lord , that is faithfull : and the holy One of Iſrael , which hath choſen thee.

8 Thus ſayth the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of ſaluation haue I helped thee : and I will preſerue thee,and will giue [m] thee for a couenant of [ſ] people , that thou maieſt raiſe vp the [n] earth,and obtaine the inheritance of the deſolate heritages :

9 That thou mayeſt ſay to the [o] priſoners, Goe foorth ; and to them that are in darkeneſſe, Shew your ſelues; they ſhall feede in the wayes, and their [p] paſtures ſhall be in all the tops of the hilles.

10 They ſhall not be hungry,neither ſhall they be thirſty, neither ſhall the heate ſmite them, nor the ſunne; for he that hath compaſſion [q] on them, ſhall leade them; euen to the ſprings of water ſhall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines , as a way, and my paths ſhall be exalted.

12 Behold , theſe ſhall come from farre : and loe, theſe from the North and from the Weſt,and theſe from the land of [r] Sinim.

13 Reioyce , O [ſ] heauens ; and be ioyfull , O earth ; breaſt forth into prayſe , O mountaines; for God hath comforted his people , and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion ſayd , The Lord hath [t] forſaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child,and not haue compaſſion on the ſonne of her wombe ? though they ſhould forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of [u] mine handes : thy [x] walls are euer in my ſight.

17 Thy builders make [y] haſte : thy deſtroyers and they that make thee waſte , are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about and behold: all theſe gather themſelues together and come to thee : as I liue , ſayth the Lord , thou ſhalt ſurely [z] put them all vpon thee as a garment , and gird thy ſelfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy deſolations , and thy waſte places, and thy land deſtroyed, ſhall ſurely be now narow for them that ſhall dwell in it , and they that did deuoure thee, ſhall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrenneſſe ſhall ſay againe in thine eares, The place is ſtraite for mee: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then ſhalt thou ſay in thine heart , Who hath begotten mee theſe , ſeeing I am barren and deſolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro ? and who hath nouriſhed them? behold , I was left alone : whence are theſe ?

22 Thus ſayth the Lord God , Behold , I will lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles , and ſet vp my ſtandart to the people , and they ſhall bring thy ſonnes in their armes and thy daughters ſhall be caried vpon their ſhoulders.

23 And Kings ſhall be thy nurſing fathers, and Queenes ſhall be thy nurſes : they ſhall worſhip thee with their faces toward the earth , and licke vp the [c] duſt of thy feete : and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord : for they ſhall not be aſhamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be [d] taken from the mighties? or the iuſt captiuity deliuered ?

25 But thus ſaith the Lord , [e] Euen the captiuitie of the mighty ſhall be taken away : and the pray of the tyrant ſhall be deliuered : for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee , and I will ſaue thy children,

26 And will feede them that ſpoyle thee,with [f] their owne fleſh , and they ſhall be drunken with their owne blood , as with ſweete wine ; and all fleſh ſhall know that I the Lord am thy Sauiour and thy Redeemer, the mighty one of Iaakob,

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forſaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminiſhed. 5 Chriſts obedience and victory.

THus ſayth the Lord , Where is that [a] bill of your mothers diuorcement , [b] whom I haue caſt off? or who is the crediteur [c] to whom I ſold you , Behold , for your iniquities are ye ſold, and becauſe of your tranſgreſſions is your mother forſaken.

2 [d] Wherefore came I , and there was no man ? I called , and none anſwered : is mine hand [e] ſo ſhortened , that it cannot helpe ? or haue I no power to deliuer ? Behold , at my rebuke I dry vp the ſea : I make the floods deſert ; their fiſh rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirſt.

3 I cloathe the heauens with darkeneſſe , and make a [f] ſacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen [g] mee a tongue of the learned , that I ſhould know to miniſter a word in time to him that is [h] weary ; he will raiſe

a This is ſpoken in the perſon of Chriſt , to aſſure the faithfull that theſe promiſes ſhould come to paſſe : for they were all made in him, and in him ſhould be performed.
b This is meant of the time that Chriſt ſhould be manifeſted to the world , as Pſal.2,7. c By the ſword and ſhaft , he figoifieth the vertue and efficacie of Chriſts doctrine.
d God hath taken me to his protection and defence : this chiefly is meant of Chriſt , and may alſo be applied to the miniſters of his word.
e By Iſrael is meant Chriſt , and all the body of the faithfull , as the members , and their head.
f Thus Chriſt in his members complaineth , that his labour and preaching take none effect , yet hee is contented that his doings are approoued of God.
g Though the Iewes refuſe my doctrine , yet God will approoue my miniſtery.
h To declare my Goſpel to the Gentiles , Chap.49,6. Acts 13,47. Luk. 2.32.
i Meaning , the Iewes , whom tyrants kept in bondage.
k The beneſit of their deliuerance ſhall be ſo great, that great and ſmall ſhall acknowledge it , and reuerence God for it.
l Thus he ſpeaketh of his Church when he would ſhew his mercie toward it, 2.Cor.6,2.
m Meaning, Chriſt alone.
n Signifying , that before Chriſt renew the earth by his word , there is nothing but confuſion and diſorder.
o To them that are in the priſon of ſinne and death.
p Being in Chriſts protection, they ſhalbe ſafe againſt all dangers, and free from the feare of the enimies.
q Meaning, that there ſhould be nothing in their way from Babylon that ſhould hinder or hurt them : but this is ac compliſhed ſpiritually.
r Meaning,the South countrey,ſo that Chriſt ſhall deliuer his from all the parts of the world.
ſ Reade Chap.44.23.
t Hee obiecteth what the faithfull might ſay in their long affliction , and anſwereth thereunto to comfort them, with a moſt proper ſimilitude,and full of conſolation.

u Becauſe I would not forget thee.
x Meaning , the good order of policie,and diſcipline.
y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp againe , and to deſtroy thine enemies.
z Hee ſheweth what are the ornaments of the Church : to haue many children, which are aſſembled by the word of God , and gouerned by his Spirit.
a He ſheweth that Chriſt will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes , but alſo of the Gentiles.
b Meaning , that Kings ſhalbe conuerted to the Goſpel , and beſtow their power and authoritie for the preſeruation of the Church.
c Being ioyned with the Church, they ſhall humble themſelues to Chriſt their head , and giue him all honour.
d He maketh this as an obiection , as though the Caldeans were ſtrong, and had them in iuſt poſſeſſion.
e This is the anſwere to their obiection , that none is ſtronger then the Lord , neither hath a more iuſt title vnto them.
f I will cauſe them to deſtroy one another , as Iudg.7,22 & 2.Chron.20,22. Chap.19,2.

g Meaning , that he had not forſaken her , but through her owne occaſion , as Hoſe.2,2.
h Which ſhould declare that I haue not her off : meaning , that they could ſhew none.
i Signifying , that he ſolde them not for any debtor pouerty , but that they ſolde themſelues to ſinnes to buy their owne luſtes and pleaſures.
k He came by his Prophets and miniſters , but they would not beleeue you , as I haue holpen their doctrine and conuert. e Am I not as able to helpe your fathers of olde,when I dryed vp the red Sea,and killed the fiſh in the riuers, and alſo afterward in Iorden ? f As I did in Egypt in token of my diſpleaſure, Exod.10.21. g The Prophet doth repreſent here the perſon and charge of them that are iuſtly called to the miniſtery of Gods word. h To him that is oppreſſed by affliction and miſery.

me vp in the morning, in the morning he will waken mine eare to heare, [i] as the learned.
5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.
6 I gaue my backe vnto the [k] smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting.
7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.
8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersary? let him come neere to me.
9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can comdemne me? lo, they shall waxe old as a garment: the moth shall eate them vp.
10 [l] Who is among you that feareth the Lord? Let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenesse and hath no light, let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.
11 Behold, all you kindle [m] a fire, and are com-passed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled.
This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe
in sorow.

i As they that are taught, and made meet by him.
k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamity whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompense of the wicked, but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.
l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen.
m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light, and consolation which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorow, and not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

HEare me [a] yee that follow after righteousnes, and yee that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the [b] rocke, whence you are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.
2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone; and blessed him and increased him.
3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert [c] like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.
4 Hearken yee vnto me my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a [d] Law shall proceed from me, & I will bring forth my iudgement
for the light of the people.
5 My [e] righteousnes is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine [f] armes shall iudge the people:
the yles shall wait for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.
6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath; for the [g] heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner; but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousnes shall not be abolished.
7 Hearken vnto me ye that know righteous-nesse, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.
8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll:
but my righteousnes shall be for euer, and my sal-uation from generation to generation.
9 Rise vp, Rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as [h] in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut [i] Rahab, and wounded the [k] dragon?

a He comforteth the Church, that they should not be discouraged for their small number.
b That is, to Abraham, of whom ye were begotten, and to Sarah, of whom we were borne.
c As plentifull as Paradise, Gen. 2.3. d I will rule and gouerne my Church by my word and doctrine.
e The time that I will accomplish my promise.
f My power and strength.
g He forewarneth them of the horrible changes and mutations of all things, and how he will preserue his Church in the mids of all these dangers.
h He putteth them in remembrance of his great benefit for their deliuerance out of Egypt, that thereby they might learne to trust in him constantly.
i Meaning, Egypt, Psal. 87.4.
k To wit, Pharaoh, Ezek. 29. 3.

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?
11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall [l] returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnes; and sorow and mourning shall flee away.
12 I, euen I am he that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?
13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spred out the heauens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually
all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?
14 The captiue [m] hasteth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.
15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided
the sea, when his waues roared; the Lord of hoasts is his Name.
16 And I haue put my words in thy [n] mouth,
and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.
17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lord the [p] cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.
18 There is none to guide her among all her sonnes, whom she hath brought foorth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.
19 These two [q] things are come vnto thee:
who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?
20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.
21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable
and drunken, but [r] not with wine.
22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen
the dregges of the cup of my wrath; thou shalt drinke it no more.
23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee; which haue sayd to thy soule, Bow downe that we may goe ouer, and thou hast laid thy body as the ground, and as the streetes to them that went ouer.

m He comforteth them by the short time of their banishment: for in seuenty yeeres they were restored, and the greatest empire of the world destroyed.
n Meaning, of Isaiah, and of all true ministers, who are defended by his protection.
o That all things may be restored in heauen and earth, Ephes. 1.10.
p Thou hast beene iustly punished and sufficiently, as Chap. 40. 2. & this punishment in the elect is by measure, and according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iust vengeance of God to driue them to an insensiblenes and madnesse, as Iere. 25.15. 16.
q Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the body, as war, and famine, and the other is inward, and appertaineth to the minde: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he saith, How shalt thou be comforted?
r But with trouble and feare.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

ARise, arise; put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beauty, O Ierusalem,
the holy Citie: for henceforth there shall no [a] more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.
2 Shake thy selfe from the [b] dust; arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bands of thy neck,
O thou captiue daughter, Zion.
3 For thus sayeth the Lord, Yee were solde

a No wicked tyrant which shall subuert Gods true religion and oppresse the conscience.
b Put off the garments of sorow and heauines, and put on the apparell of ioy and gladnes.

for c nought, therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.
4 For thus sayth the Lord God, My people went d downe aforetime into Egypt to soiourne there, and Asshur e oppressed them without cause.
5 Now therefore what haue I heere, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought;
& they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, sayth the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is f blasphemed?
6 Therefore my people shall know my Name:
therefore they shall know in that day, that I am hee that doe speake: behold, it is I.
7 How g beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth
peace! that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth!
8 h The voyce of thy watchmen shallbe heard;
they shall lift vp their voyce, and shout together:
for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion.
9 O yee desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together, for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.
10 The Lord hath made i bare his holy arme
in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.
11 k Depart, depart ye: goe ye out from thence,
and touch no vncleane thing, go out of the mids
of her, be ye cleane, that l beare the vessels of the Lord.
12 For ye shall not go out m with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will go before you, and ẏ God of Israel will gather you together.
13 Behold, my n seruant shall prosper: he shallbe
exalted and extolled, and be very hie.
14 As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so o deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) so p shall he sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their q mouthes at him:
for that which had not bin told them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they r vnderstand.

c The Babylonians paid nothing to me for you: therefore I will take you againe without ransome. d When Iaakob went thither in time of famine. e The Egyptians might pretende some cause to oppresse my people because they went thither, and remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyranny by: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians. f To wit, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them. g Signifying, that the ioy and good tidings of their deliuerance should make their afflicti-on in the meane time more easie: but this is chiefly meant of the spirituall ioy, as Nahum. 1. 15. rom. 10. 15. h The Prophets which are thy watchmen, shall publish this thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah, but was accomplished vnder Christ. i As ready to smite his enemies, and to deliuer his people. k He warneth the faithfull not to pollute themselues with the superstitions of the Babylonians, as Chap. 48. 20. 2. Cor. 6. 17. l For the time is at hand, that the Priestes and Leuites chiefly (and so by them all the people, which shalbe as the Leuites in this office) shall cary home the vessels of the Temple which Nebuchad-nezzar had taken away. m As your fathers did out of Egypt. n Meaning Christ, by whom our spirituall deliuerance should be wrought, whereof this was a figure. o In the corrupt iudgement of man, Christ in his person was not esteemed. p He shall spread his word through many nations. q In signe of reuerence, and as being astonished at his excellency. r By the preaching of the Gospel.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose word few will beleeue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnesse, 12 and is dead for our sinnes.

WHo a will beleeue our report? and to whom is the b arme of the Lord reuealed?
2 But hee shall growe vp before him as a branch, and as a c roote out of a dry d ground; he hath neither forme nor beauty: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that we should desire
him.
3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of e infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.
4 Surely, hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried f our sorowes; yet wee did iudge him as g plagued and smitten of God, and humbled.
5 But he was wounded for our transgressions:
he was broken for our iniquities: the h chastise-ment of our peace was vpon him; and with his stripes are we healed.
6 All we like sheep haue gone astray: we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laid vpon him the i iniquity of vs all.
7 Hee was oppressed, and hee was afflicted, yet did he not k open his mouth: hee is brought
as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumbe, so hee opened not
his mouth.
8 Hee was taken out from l prison, and from iudgement: m and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.
9 n And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednes, neither was any deceit in his mouth.
10 Yet the Lord would breake him and make him subiect to infirmities: when o he shal make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seed and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.
11 Hee shall see of the p trauell of his soule, and
shalbe satisfied; by his knowledge shall my q righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.
12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and hee shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because r he hath powred out his soule vnto death; and he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne f of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

a The Prophet sheweth that very few shall receiue this their preaching of Christ, and of their deliuerance by him, Iohn 12. 38. rom. 10. 16. b Meaning, that none can beleeue, but whose hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holy Spirit. c The beginning of Christs kingdome shalbe small and contemptible in the sight of man, but it shall growe wonderfully, and flourish before God. d Reade Chap. 11. 1. e Which was by Gods singular prouidence for the comfort of sinners, Hebr. 4. 15. f That is, the punishment due to our sinnes: for the which he hath both suffered and made satisfaction, Mat. 8. 17. 1. pet. 2. 24. g We iudged euill, thinking that he was punished for his owne sinnes, and not for ours. h He was chastised for our reconciliation, 2. Cor. 5. 3. i Meaning, the punishment of our iniquity, and not the fault it selfe. k But willingly and patiently obeyed his fathers appoyntement, Mat. 26. 63. acts 8. 32. l From the crosse and graue, after that he was condemned. m Though he died for sinne, yet after his resurrection he shall liue for euer: and this his death is to restore life to his members, Rom. 6. 9. n God the Father deliuered him into the hands of the wicked, and to the powers of the world to do with him what they would. o Christ by offring vp himselfe shall giue life to his Church, and so cause them to liue with him for euer. p That is, the fruit and effect of his labour, which is the saluation of his Church. q Christ shal iustifie by faith through his word, wheras Moses could not iustifie by the law. r Because he humbled himselfe, therefore he shalbe extolled to glory, Phi. 2. 7. 8. &c. to vers. 11. f That is, of all that beleeue in him.

CHAP. LIV.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whom afterward hee sheweth mercy.

REioyce, O a barren that diddest not beare:
breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that diddest not trauaile with child; for the b desolate

the Lord.
2 c Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtains of thine habitations:
spare not: stretch out thy cords, and make fast thy stakes.
3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.
4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproach of thy e widowhood any more.
5 For hee that f made thee, is thine husband,

deemer the holy One of Israel, shall be called the

a After that hee hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, because it should feele the fruit of the same, and calleth her barren, because that in the captiuity she was a widow without hope to haue any children. b The Church in this her affliction and captiuity shall bring foorth moe children, then when she was at libertie: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, and therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel. c Signifying, that for the great number of children that God should giue her, she should seeme to lack roome to lodge them. d The afflictions which thou sufferedst at the beginning. e When as thou wast refused for thy sinnes, Chap. 50, 1. f That did regenerate thee by his holy Spirit.

g His glory shall shine through the whole World, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.
h As a wife which was forsaken in thy youth.

i As sure as the promise that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflow the earth.

k Hereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.
l Or, iasper, or pearle.
l By the hearing of his word and inward mouing of his Spirit.
m In stabilitie and sureneſſe, ſo that it ſhall ſtand for euer.
n And therefore ſhall not preuaile.
o Meaning, the domeſticall enemies of the Church, as are the hypocrites.
p Signifying hereby, that man can doe nothing, but ſo farre as God giueth power: for ſeeing that all are his creatures, he muſt needs gouerne and guid them.

a Chriſt by propoſing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly luſts, and ſo thirſt not after theſe waters.
b Signifying, that Gods benefits can not be bought for money.
c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things neceſſary to the ſpirituall life, as theſe are neceſſary to this corporall life. d He reproueth their ingratitude, which refuſe thoſe things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time ſpare neither coſt nor labour to obtaine thoſe which are nothing profitable. e You ſhall be fed abundantly. f The ſame couenant which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid, that it ſhould be eternall, 2. Sam. 7. 13. Acts 13. 34. g Meaning Chriſt, of whom Dauid was a figure.

God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forſaken, and afflicted in ſpirit, and as a h yong wife when thou waſt refuſed, ſaith thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forſaken thee, but with great compaſſion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little ſeaſon, but with euerlaſting mercie haue I had compaſſion on thee, ſaith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto me as the i waters of Noah, for as I haue ſworne that the waters of Noah ſhould no more goe ouer the earth, ſo haue I ſworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines ſhall remooue, and the hilles ſhall fall downe; but my mercie ſhall not depart from thee, neither ſhall the couenant of my peace fall away, ſaith the Lord, that hath compaſſion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and toſſed with tempeſt, that haſt no comfort, behold, I will lay thy ſtones with the k carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with ſaphirs,

12 And I will make thy windowes of l emerauds, and thy gates ſhining ſtones, and all thy borders of pleaſant ſtones.

13 And all thy children ſhalbe l taught of the Lord, and much peace ſhalbe to thy children.

14 In m righteouſneſſe ſhalt thou be eſtabliſhed, and be farre from oppreſſion; for thou ſhalt not feare it: and from feare; for it ſhall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemie ſhall gather himſelfe, but without n me: whoſoeuer ſhall gather himſelfe in thee, o againſt thee, ſhall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the p ſmith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth foorth an inſtrument for his worke, and I haue created the deſtroyer to deſtroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made againſt thee, ſhall not proſper: and euery tongue that ſhall riſe againſt thee in iudgement, thou ſhalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords ſeruants, and their righteouſneſſe is of me, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Chriſt. 8 Gods counſels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

HO, euery one that a thirſteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue b no ſiluer, come, buy and eate: come, I ſay, buy c wine and milke without ſiluer and without money.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out ſiluer, and not for bread? d and your labour without being ſatisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your ſoule delight in e fatneſſe.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto mee: heare, and your ſoule ſhall liue, and I will make an euerlaſting couenant with you, euen the f ſure mercies of Dauid.

4 Behold, I gaue g him for a witneſſe to the people, for a prince and a maſter vnto the people.

5 Behold, thou ſhalt call a nation that thou knoweſt not, h and a nation that knew not thee, ſhall runne vnto thee becauſe of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Iſrael: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while he may i be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked k forſake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and hee will haue mercy vpon him; and to our God, for hee is very ready to forgiue.

8 For my l thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, ſayth the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, ſo are my wayes higer then your wayes, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe, and the ſnow from heauen, and returneth not thither but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue ſeed to the ſower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So ſhall my m word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it ſhall not returne vnto me voyd, but it ſhall accompliſh that which I will, and it ſhall proſper in the thing whereto I ſent it.

12 Therefore ye ſhall goe out with ioy, and be led foorth with peace; the n mountaines and the hils ſhall breake foorth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field ſhall clap their hands.

13 For thornes there ſhall grow fire trees; for nettles ſhall grow the myrthe tree, and it ſhall be to the Lord o for a name, and for an euerlaſting p ſigne that ſhall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iuſtice. 10 Againſt ſhepheards that denoure their flocke.

THus ſaith the Lord, a Keepe iudgement and doe iuſtice, for my ſaluation is at hand to come, and my b righteouſnes to be reuealed.

2 Bleſſed is the man that doeth this, and the ſonne of man which layeth hold on it; hee that keepeth the c Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the ſonne of the ſtranger, which d is ioyned to the Lord, ſpeake and ſay, The Lord hath ſurely ſeparated me from his people; neither let the Eunuch ſay, Behold, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord vnto the Eunuches that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuſe the thing that pleaſeth me, and take hold of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine e Houſe and within my walls, a place, and a f name better then of the ſonnes and of the daughters; I will giue them an euerlaſting name, that ſhall not be put out.

6 Alſo the ſtrangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to ſerue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his ſeruants; euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and embraceth my couenant, h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou didſt not receiue to be thy people.

i When he offereth himſelfe by the preaching of his word.
k Hereby he ſheweth that repentance muſt be ioyned with faith and how we cannot call vpon God aright, except the ſutes of one faith appeare.
l Although you are not ſoone reconciled one to another, and iudge mee by your felues yet I am moſt eaſie to be reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you.
m In theſe ſmall things haue their effect, as day by experience ſheweth, much more ſhall my promiſe which I haue made and confirmed, bring to paſſe the things which I haue ſpoken for your deliuerance.
n Reade Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.
o To ſet forth his glory.
p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forſake his Church.

a God ſheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered them: to wit, the workes of charitie whereby true faith is declared.
b Which I will declare toward you, and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.
c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole ſeruice of God and true religion.
d Let none thinke himſelfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of the Lord: for the Lord will take away all impediments, and will forſake none which will keepe his true religion, and beleeue in him.
e Meaning, in his Church.
f They ſhall be called after my people, and be of the ſame religion: yea, vnder Chriſt the dignitie of the faithfull ſhalbe greater then the Iewes were at that time.
g Hereby he meaneth the ſpirituall ſeruice of God, to whom the faithfull offer continuall thankeſgiuing, yea themſelues and all that they haue, as a liuely and acceptable ſacrifice, house shall be called an house of prayer for h all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.
9 All ye i beasts of the field, come to deuoure,
euen all ye beasts of the forest.
10 Their k watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe, and delight in sleeping.
11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue enough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand:
for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.
12 Come, I will bring wine, and wee will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to l morow shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

h Not onely for the Iewes, but for all others, Matth. 21.13.
i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithfull that when this commeth, they may know it was told them before.
k He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernours, prophets, and pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice, and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.
l We are well yet, and to morow shall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that hee should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 and their vaine confidence.

The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away a from the euill to come.
2 b Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.
3 But you c witches children, come hither, the seed of the adulterer and of the whore.
4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seed?
5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the d children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks?
6 Thy portion is in the smoothe stones e of the riuer; they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in f these?
7 Thou hast made thy g bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.
8 Behind the h doores also and posts hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest vp, and diddest i enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.
9 Thou wentest k to the kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine oyntments, and send thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell.
10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifold iourneys, yet saydest thou not, l There is no hope:
thou m hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieued.
11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast n lied vnto me, and hast not re-membred me, neither set thy mind thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long
o time? therefore thou fearest not me.
12 I will declare thy righteousnesse p and thy workes, and they shall not profit thee.
13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together, deliuer thee: but the wind
q shall take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine holy Moun-taine.
14 r And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.
15 For thus saith he that is hie and excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the high and holy place:
with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuiue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.
16 For I will not contend for euer: neither will I be alwaies wroth, s for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.
17 For his t wicked couetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me, and was angry, yet hee went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.
18 I haue seene his waies, and will u heale him:
I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto
him, and to those that lament him.
19 I create the x fruit of the lips, to be peace:
peace vnto them that are y farre off, and to them that are neere, sayth the Lord: for I will heale
him.
20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can z not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt.
21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God will punish the wicked.
b The soule of the righteous shalbe in ioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.
c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people, derided Gods word and his promises, boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of sorcerers, which forsooke God, and fledde to wicked meanes for succour.

f In the sacrifices which you offring before these idoles, thought you did serue God.
g To wit, thine altars in an open place, like an impudent harlot, that careth not for the light of her husband.
h In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the posts & doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6.9. and 27. 1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatry in euery place.
i That is, diddest increase thine idolatrie more and more.
k Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts and presents to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, and more and more diddest torment thy selfe.
l Although thou sawest all thy labors to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault, and leaue off.
m Hee derideth their vnprofitable diligence, which thought to haue made all sure, and yet were deceiued.

n Broken promise with me.
o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie, and grow to further wickednesse.
p That is, thy naughtinesse, idolatries, and impieties which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their blindnesse.
q Meaning, the Assyrians and others, whose helpe they looked for.
r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus.
s I will not vse my power against fraile man, whose life is but a blast.
t That is, for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant here by couetousnesse.
u Though they were obstinate, yet I did not withdraw my mercie from them.
x That is, I frame the speach and words of my messengers which shall bring peace.
y As well to him that is in captiuitie as to him that remaineth at home.
z Their euill conscience doeth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest, Reade Chap. 28. 12.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The workes of the hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

Crie a aloude, spare not; lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob their sinnes.
2 Yet they b seeke me daily, and will know
my waies, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God:
they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,
3 c Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest
it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke d your will, and require all your debts.
4 Behold, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as yee doe to day, to make your voyce to be e heard aboue.
5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow

a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vse all diligence and seueritie to rebuke the hypocrites.
b They will seeme to worship me and haue outward holinesse.
c He setteth forth the malice and disdaine of the hypocrites, which grudge against God, if their worke be not accepted.
d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the second table, and by their duety toward their neighbours, that they haue neither faith nor religion.
e So long as you vse contention and oppression, your fasting and prayers shall not be heard.

downe his head, as a bul-rush, and to lie downe in sackecloath and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen? to loose the bands of wickednesse, to take off the heauy burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery f yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from g thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy h light breake foorth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy i righteousnes shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shall thou call, and the Lord shall answere: thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting foorth of the k finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou l powre out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the m darkenesse, and thy darknesse shallbe as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee, that shall build the olde n waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou o turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine Holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word,

14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

2 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confession of sinnes. 16 God alone will preserue his Church though all men faile.

BEhold, * the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare beauie, that it cannot heare.

2 But * your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your handes are defiled with a blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man b contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanity, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and c bring forth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice d egges, and weaue the spiders c web: hee that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webs shalbe no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labors: for their workes are workes of iniquities, and the worke of cruelnie is in their hands.

7 Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is f iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth g iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but lo, it is darkenesse: for brightnes, but we walke in darkenesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the h blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitary places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like i beares, and mourne like doues: we looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our k sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart l false matters.

14 Therefore m iudgement is turned backeward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the street, and equity cannot enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe n a pray: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe: o Therefore his arme did p saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousnesse, as an habergion, and an q helmet of saluation vpon his head, and hee put on the garments of vengeance for cloathing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As r make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repayre the s ylands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne; for the enemy shall t come like a flood, but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto t them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my Couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my words, which I haue put in thy mouth, u shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seed of thy seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall haue abundance though they suffer for a time

ARise, O Ierusalem, be bright, for thy a light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darkenesse shall couer the b earth, and grosse darkenesse the people; but the

f That you leaue off all your extortions.

g For in him thou seest thy selfe as in a glasse.

h That is, the prosperous state wherewith God will blesse thee.

i The testimony of thy goodnesse shall appeare before God and man.

k Whereby is meant all maner of iniurie.

l That is, haue compassion on their miseries.

m Thine aduersitie shalbe turned into prosperity.

n Signifying, that of the Iewes should come such as should build againe the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is meant of the spirituall Ierusalem, whose builders were the Apostles.

o If thou refraine thy selfe from thy wicked works.

* Num.11 23. chap 50,2.

* Ierem.5,25.

a Reade Chap.2,12.

b All men winke at the iniuries and oppressions, and none go about to remedie them.

c According to their wicked deuices, they hurt their neighbours.

d Whatsoeuer commeth from them is poyson, and bringeth death.

e They are profitable to no purpose,

f That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

g Gods protection to defend vs.

h We are altogether destitute of counsell, and can finde no end of our miseries.

i We expresse our sorowes by outward signes, some more, some lesse.

k This confession is generall to the Church, to obtaine remission of sinnes, and the Prophets did not exempt themselues from the same.

m There is neither iustice, nor vprightnesse among men.

n The wicked will destroy him.

o Meaning, to doe iustice, and to remedie the things that were so farre out of order.

p That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke ayde of any other.

q Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church and to punish their enemies.

r To wit, your enemies, which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

s He sheweth that there shallbe great affliction to the Church, but God will euer deliuer his.

t Whereby hee declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne and Satan belongeth to none, but to the children of God, whom he iustifieth.

u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the Spirit; he ioyneth the one with the other, and promiseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

a The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie: where as speaking of Babylon, he commanded her to goe downe, Chap.47,1.

b Signifying, that all men are in darkenesse till God giue them the light of his Spirit, and that this light shineth to none, but to those that are in his Church.

Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee.
3 And the Gentiles shall walke in [c] thy light,
and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.
4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and beholde:
all [d] these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.
5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart
shalbe astonied [e] and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.
6 The [f] multitude of camels shall couer thee:
and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shew foorth the praises of the Lord.
7 All the sheepe of [g] Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rams of Nebaioth shall serue thee:
they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine [h] altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.
8 Who are these [i] that flie like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes?
9 Surely the yles shall wait for mee, and the ships [k] of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer and their gold with them vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.
10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their [l] Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.
11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.
12 For the nation and the [m] kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations
shalbe vtterly destroyed.
13 The [n] glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for
I will glorifie the place of my [o] feet.
14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall [p] downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord Zion of the Holy one of Israel.
15 Whereas thou hast beene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.
16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the [q] breasts of Kings:
and thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.
17 For brasse will I bring gold, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement [r] peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.
18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt [s] call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.
19 Thou shalt haue no more Sunne to shinne by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the [t] Moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.
20 Thy Sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy Moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy so-row shalbe ended.
21 Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the [u] graffe of my planting shall be the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.
22 A little one shall become as a [x] thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophecieth that Christ shall be anoynted, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THE * Spirit of the Lord God is [a] vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anoynted mee: he hath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind vp the [b] broken hearted, to preach libertie to the [c] captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,
2 To preach the [d] acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of [e] vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,
3 To appoynt vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for [f] ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of glad-nesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called [g] trees of righteousnes, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.
4 And they shall build the old waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many [h] generations.
5 And the strangers shall [i] stand and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen, and dressers of your vines.
6 But yee shall be named the [k] Priests of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: Ye shall eate the [l] riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glory.
7 For your shame, you shall receiue [m] double,
and for confusion, [n] they shall reioyce in [o] their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the [p] double: euerlasting ioy shalbe vnto them.
8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate [q] robberie for burnt offering, & I will direct their worke in trueth, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with them.
9 And [r] their seed shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.
10 [s] I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath cloathed me with the garments of saluation, and coue-red mee with the robe of righteousnesse: he hath decked me like a bridegrome, & as a bride tyreth her selfe with her iewels.
11 For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousnes to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

c Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre, and that the Gentiles should receiue light of her.
d An infinitie number from all countreys, as chap. 49.18.
e For ioy, as the heart is drawen in for sorow.
f Meaning, that euery one shall honour the Lord with that wherewith he is able: signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue.
g That is, the Arabians, that haue great abundance of cattell.
h Because the Altar was a figure of Christ, Hebr. 13.10. he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him, which is not offered to him by this Altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe.
i Shewing, what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale.
k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and setters foorth of the Church.
l Meaning, Cyrus and his successors, but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospel.
m He sheweth that God hath giuen all power and authority here in earth for the vse of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profite the same, shall be destroyed.
n There is no thing so excellent which shall not serue the necessitie of the Church
o Signifying, that Gods Maiestie is not included in the Temple, which is but the place for his feete, that we may learne to rise vp to the heauens. p To worship their head Christ, by obeing his doctrine. q Both hie and low shall be ready to helpe and succour thee. r Thy gouernours shall loue thee, and seeke thy wealth and prosperitie. s Meaning, not a temporall felicitie, but a spirituall, which is fulfilled in Christs kingdome.

t Signifying, that all worldly meanes shall cease, and that Christ shalbe all in all as Reuel 21.23. and 22.5.
u The children of the Church.
x Meaning, that the Church should be miraculously multiplied.
* Luke 4.18.
a This appertaineth to all the Prophets and ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.
b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes.
c Which are in the bondage of sinne.
d The time when it pleased God to shew his good fauour to man, which S. Paul calleth the fulnesse of tyme, Gal 4 4.
e For when God deliuereth his Church, he punisheth his enemies.
f Which was the signe of mourning.
g Trees that bring forth good fruits, as Matt. 3.8.
h That is, for a long time.
i They shalbe ready to serue you in all your necessities.
k This is accomplished in the time of Christ, by whom all the faithfull are made Priests and Kings, 1. Pet. 2.9 reuel. 1.6. and 5 10.
l Reade Chap. 6. 11.16.
m Abundant recompence as this word is vsed, Chap 40.2.
n That is, the Iewes.
o To wit, of the Gentiles.
p Whereas the Gentiles had dominion ouer the Iewes in times past, now they shall haue double authoritie ouer them, and possesse twise so much. q I will not receiue their offerings which are extortioners deceiuers, hypocrites, or that depriue mee of my glory r That is of the Church. s He sheweth what shall be the affection, when they feele this their deliuerance.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophet haue had for Christs comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOr Zions sake I will not [a] holde my tongue,
and for Ierusalems sake I will not rest, vntill
the righteousnesse thereof breake foorth as the [b] light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.
2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnes, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by [c] a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.
3 Thou shalt also be a [d] crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.
4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, [e] Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land,
Desolate, but thou shalt be called || Hephzi-bah,
and thy land || Beulah: for the Lord delighteth
in thee, and thy land shalt haue an [f] husband.
5 For as a yong man marieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes [g] marry thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer
thee.
6 I haue set [h] watchmen vpon thy walles, O
Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: [i] yee that are mind-full of the Lord, keepe not silence, 7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire, and vntill he set vp Ierusalem the [k] praise of the world.
8 The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thy corne to be meat for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.
9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eat it,
and praise the Lord, and the gatherers thereof
shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.
10 [l] Goe through, goe through the gates:
prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp
a standart for the people.
11 Beholde, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto
the ends of the world, [m] tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Sauiour commeth: Behold, his wages
is with him, and [n] his worke is before him.
12 And they shall call them, The holy people,
the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A [o] citie sought out and not forsaken.

a The Prophet saith that he will neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tidings of their deliuerance.
b Till they haue full deliuerance: and this the Prophet speaketh to encourage all other ministers to the setting foorth of Gods mercies toward his Church.
c Thou shalt haue a moore excellent fame then thou hast had hitherto.
d He shall esteeme thee as deare and precious as a king doeth his crowne.
e Thou shalt no more be contemned as a woman forsaken of her husband.
|| Or, my delight in her.
|| Or, maried.
f That it may be replenished with children.
g Forasmuch as they confesse one faith and religion with thee, they are in the same bond of marriage with thee, and they are called the children of the Church, in asmuch as Christ maketh her plentifull to bring forth children vnto him.
h Prophets, Pastours, and Ministers.
i He exhorteth the Ministers neuer to cease to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to doe the same.
k For the restauration whereof all the world shall praise him.
l Signifying the great number that should come to the Church, and what meanes he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as Chap 57.14.
m Ye Prophets and Ministers shew the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ, Zach. 9.9. matt. 21.5.
n Hee shall haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap 40.10.
o That is, one ouer whom God hath had a singular care to recouer her when she was lost.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefits toward his Church.

WHo is this that commeth [a] from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great strength. [b] I speake in righteousnes, and am mightie to saue.
2 [c] Wherefore is thine apparell red, & thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine presse?
3 I haue troden the wine-presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will tread them in mine anger; and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.
4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart,
and the [d] yeere of my redeemed is come.
5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe,
and I wondred that there was none to vphold:
therefore mine owne [e] arme helped mee, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.
6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them [f] drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.
7 I will [g] remember the mercie of the Lord,
and the prayses of the Lord, according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue,
and according to his great mercies.
8 For hee said, Surely they are my [h] people, children that will not lie: so hee was their Sa-uiour.
9 In all their troubles hee was [i] troubled, and the Angel [k] of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and hee bare them and caried them alwayes continually.
10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie,
and he fought against them.
11 Then he [l] remembred the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the [m] shep-heard of his sheepe? Where is hee that put his holy Spirit within [n] him?
12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting
Name.
13 Hee ledde them through the deepe, as an [o] horse in the wildernesse, that they should not stumble.
14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley,
the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.
15 [p] Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holinesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy [q] zeale & thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy com-
passions? they are restrained from [r] me.
16 Doubtlesse thou art our Father: though
[s] Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.
17 O Lord, why hast [t] thou made vs to erre
from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy [u] seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.
18 The people of thine holinesse haue pos-

a This prophecie is against the Idumeans and enemies which persecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is here set forth all bloody after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies & vnder the title of circumcision and the kindred of Abraham, claimed to themselues the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137.7.
b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and saith, Yee see now performed in deed the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.
c Another question, to the which the Lord answereth.
d Shewing that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profite and deliuerance of his Church.
e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuse to do their dutie through negligence and ingratitude, yet he himselfe will deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies, reade Chap. 59.16.
f I will so astonish them and make them so giddy, that they shall not know which way to goe.
g The Prophet speaketh this to mooue the people to remember Gods benefits in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles.
h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holy, and not deceiue mine expectation.
i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had beene his owne.
k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence, and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of Saluation.
l That is, the people of Israel, being afflicted, called to remembrance Gods benefits, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past.
m Meaning, Moses.
n That is, in Moses that he might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the spirit to the people.
o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture.
p Hauing declared Gods benefits shewed to their forefathers, he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward them.
q Thy great affection, which thou barest towards vs.
r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church.
s Though Abraham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our father.
t By taking away thy holy Spirit from vs, by whom wee were gouerned, and so for our ingratitude diddest deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, and diddest punish sinne by sinne according to thy iust iudgements.
u Meaning, for the Couenants sake made to Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob his seruants.

x That is, in respect of the promise, which is perpetuall: wherin they had bow possessed the land of Canaan, a thousand and foure hundreth yeeres: and thus they lament, to moove God rather to remember his Covenant, then to punish their sinnes.

sessed it, but a little x while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue beene as they, ouer whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy name was not called.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthy cloath.

OH, that thou wouldest a breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused b the waters to boile, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thine aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world, they haue not c heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eie seene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meet him, d that reioyced in thee, & did iustly: they remembred thee in thy e waies: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we g shall be saued.

6 But we haue all become as an vncleane thing, and all our h righteousnes is as filthy cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the i clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, k aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: Loe, we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

10 l Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wilderneſſe, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie, and of our glory, m where our fathers praised thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy selfe still n at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles, & the rieection of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect, and the punishments of the wicked.

I Haue beene sought of them that a asked not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I sayd, behold me, behold mee, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue b spread out mine handes all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne c imaginations.

3 A people that prouoked mee euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in d gardens, and burneth incense vpon e bricks.

4 Which remaine among the f graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eate g swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, h Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou; these are a smoake in my wrath, and a fire that i burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is k written before me; I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers, shalbe together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blaspheme me vpon the hilles; therefore will I measure their old worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a m blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seede out of Iaakob, and out of Iudah that shall inherite my mountaine; and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And n Sharon shalbe a sheepefold, and the valley of Achor shall be a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the o multitude, and furnished the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I p number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answere; I q spake, and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shall eat, and ye shalbe hungry; behold, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie; behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and yee shall crie for sorow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my r chosen; for the Lord God shall slay you, and call his seruants by t another name.

16 He that shall blesse in the u earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God; and he that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God; for the former x troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselues from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create y new heauens and a new earth, and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create, for behold, I will create Ierusalem, as a reioycing, and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be

y thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediatly send succour. l Which were dedicated to thy seruice, and to call vpon thy Name. m Wherein wee reioyced and worshipped thee. n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glorie? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mighty power, as he did in mount Sinai. b Meaning, the raire, haile, fire, thunder and lightnings.

c S. Paul vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1. Cor. 2. 9. marueiling at Gods great benefite shewed to his Church, by the preaching of the Gospel.

d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers, when they trusted in thee, and walked after thy Commandements.

e They considered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, which be called the wayes of the Lord.

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs.

h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and abough we would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnes, and best vertues are before thee as vile clouts, or (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman.

i Albeit, O Lord, thou art our potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediatly send succour. l Which were dedicated to thy seruice, and to call vpon thy Name. m Wherein wee reioyced and worshipped thee. n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glorie? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

a Meaning, the Gentiles which knew not God, should seeke after him, when he had snooued their hearts with his holy Spirit, Rom. 10. 20.

b He sheweth the cause of the rieection of the Iewes, because they would not obey him for any admonition of his Prophets, by whom hee called them continually and stretched out his hand to draw them,

c He sheweth that to delight in our owne fantasies, is the declining from God, and the beginning of all superstition and idolatry.

d Which were dedicate to idols.

e Meaning, their altars, which be thus named by contempt.

f To consult with spirits, and to conjure deuils, which was forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

g Which was contrary to Gods commandement, Leuit. 11. 7. deut. 14. 8.

h He sheweth that hypocrisie is euer ioyned with pride and contempt of others.

i Their punishment shall neuer haue end.

k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten.

l Shalbe both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faults, to wit, when the same faults or like are found in them. m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyard, when he destroyeth the rotten flocks, that is, the hypocrites.

n Which was a plentifull place in Iudea to feede sheepe, as Achor was for cattel.

o By the multitude and number he meaneth their innumerable idoles of whom they thought they could neuer haue ynough.

p Seeing you cannot number your gods, I will number you with the sword.

q By my Prophets, whom ye would not obey.

r By these words, Eate and drinke, he meaneth, the blessed life to the faithfull, which haue alwayes consolation and full contentment of all things in their God, though sometimes they lacke these corporall things. t Meaning, that he would call the Gentiles, who should abhorre euen the very name of the Iewes for their infidelities sake. u Thereby the name of the Iewes. x By blessing, and by sweating is meant the praising of God for his benefits, and the true worshipping of him, which shall not be onely in Iudea, but thorow all the world. y I will no more suffer my Church to be desolate as in times past. y I will so alter and change the state of my church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a new world,

z Meaning, in this wonderfull reſtauration of the Church there ſhould be no weakues of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all ſhould be freſh and flouriſhing: and this is accomplihed in the heauenly Ieruſalem, when all ſinnes ſhall ceaſe, and the teares ſhall be wiped away.
a Whereby he ſheweth that the infidels and vnrepentant ſinners haue no part of this benediction.
b He propoſeth to the faithfull the bleſſings which are contained in the Law, and ſo vnder temporall things comprehendeth the ſpirituall promiſes.
c Reade Chap. 12, 6.

no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

21 And they ſhall b build houſes, and inhabite them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and eate the fruit of them.

22 They ſhall not build, and another inhabite: they ſhall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect ſhall enioy in olde age the worke of their hands.

23 They ſhall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the ſeede of the bleſſed of the Lord, and their buds with them.

24 Yea, before they call, I will anſwere, and whiles they ſpeake, I will heare.

25 The c wolfe and the lambe ſhall feede together, and the lion ſhall eate ſtraw like the bullocke: and to the ſerpent duſt ſhalbe his meate. They ſhall no more hurt nor deſtroy in all mine holy Mountaine, ſayth the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in Temples made with hands. 3 He deſpiſeth ſacrifices done without mercy and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his ſake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The puniſhment of the wicked is everlaſting.

THus ſayeth the Lord, * The a heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footeſtoole: where is that houſe that ye will build vnto me? and where is that place of my reſt?

2 For all theſe things hath mine hand made, b and all theſe things haue beene, ſaith the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of c a contrite ſpirit, and trembleth at my words.

3 He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he d ſlew a man: he that ſacrificeth a ſheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered ſwines blood: he that remembreth incenſe, as if he bleſſed an idole: yea, they haue choſen their owne wayes, and their ſoule delighteth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I e chuſe out their deluſions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, becauſe I called and none would anſwere: I ſpake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my ſight, and choſe the things which I would not.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all yee that tremble at his f word, Your brethren that hated you, and caſt you out for my Names ſake, ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified: but hee ſhall appeare to your ioy, and they ſhall be aſhamed.

6 g A voyce ſoundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenſeth his enemies fully.

7 Before h ſhe trauailed, ſhe brought foorth:

* Acts 7, 48, 49.
a My maieſtie is ſo great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therefore cannot be included in a temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which truſted in the Temple and ſacrifices.
b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein, with the ſacrifices, were made and done by his appointment, he ſheweth that he hath no need of them, and that he can be without them, Pſal 50, 10.
c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiueth my doctrine with reuerence and feare.
d Becauſe the Iewes thought themſelues holy by offering of their ſacrifices, and in the meane ſeaſon had neither faith nor repentance. God ſheweth that he doth no leſſe deteſt theſe ceremonies, then hee doeth the ſacrifices of the heathen, who offered men, dogs, and ſwine to their idoles, which things were expreſſly forbidden in the Law.
e I will diſcouer their wickednеſſe and hypocriſie, wherewith they thinke to blind mine eyes, to all the world.
f He encourageth the faithfull by promiſing to deſtroy their enemies, which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites, and hated them that feared God.
g The enemies ſhall ſhortly heare a more terrible voyce, euen fire and ſlaughter, ſeeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets, which called them to repentance.
h Meaning, that the reſtauration of the Church ſhould be ſo ſudden and contrary to all mens opinions, as when a woman is deliuered before ſhe looked for it, and that without paine in trauaile, and before her paine came, ſhe was deliuered of a man childe.

8 Who hath heard ſuch a thing? who hath ſeene ſuch things? ſhall the earth be brought forth in one i day? or ſhall a nation be borne at once? for aſſoone as Zion trauailed, ſhe brought forth her children.

9 Shall I k cauſe to trauell, and not bring foorth? ſhall I cauſe to bring foorth, and ſhallbe barren, ſaith thy God?

10 Reioyce ye with Ieruſalem, and be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her.

11 That ye may ſucke, l and be ſatisfied with the breaſts of her conſolation: that ye may milke out, and be delighted with the brightneſſe of her glory.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will extend m peace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the n Gentiles like a flowing ſtreame: then ſhall ye ſucke, ye ſhall be o borne vpon her ſides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, ſo will I comfort you, and ye ſhall be comforted in Ieruſalem.

14 And when ye ſee this, your hearts ſhall reioyce, and your p bones ſhall flouriſh like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord ſhall be knowen among his ſeruants, and his indignation againſt his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and his chariots like a whirlewinde, that bee may q recompenſe his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his ſword all fleſh, and the ſlaine of the Lord ſhall be many.

17 They that ſanctifie r themſelues, and purifie themſelues in the gardens behinde one tree in the mids eating ſwines fleſh, and ſuch abomination, euen the mouſe, ſhallbe conſumed together, ſayth the Lord.

18 For I will viſit their workes, and their imaginations, for it will come that I ſhall gather all nations, and tongues, and they ſhall come, and ſee my s glory.

19 And I will ſet a t ſigne among them, and will ſend thoſe that x eſcape of them vnto the nations of y Tarſhiſh, z Pul, and a Lud, and to them that draw the b bow, to c Tubal, and d Iauan, yles a farre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue ſeene my glory, and e they ſhall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they ſhall bring all your f brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon g horſes, and in chariots, and in horſelitters, and vpon mules, and ſwift beaſts, to Ieruſalem mine holy Mountaine, ſaith the Lord, as the children of Iſrael offer in a cleane veſſell in the Houſe of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for h Prieſts, and for Leuites, ſaith the Lord.

i This ſhall paſſe the capacitie of man to ſee ſuch a multitude that ſhall come vp at once, meaning vnder the preaching of the Goſpel, whereof they that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure.
k Declaring hereby, that as by his power and prouidence women trauelleth and is deliuered: ſo hath he power to bring foorth his Church at his time appointed.
l That ye may reioyce for all the benefi ts that God beſtoweth vpon his Church.
m I will giue her felicitie and proſperity in great abundance.
n Reade Chap. 60, 5, 6.
o Ye ſhallbe cheriſhed as her dearely beloued children.
p Ye ſhall haue new ſtrength and new beautie.
q This vengeance God began to execute at the deſtruction of Babylon, and hath euer continued it againſt the enemies of his Church, and will doe till the laſt day, which ſhall be the accompliſhment thereof.
r Meaning, the hypocrites.
s Whereby are meant them that did maliciouſly tranſgreſſe the Law, by eating beaſts forbidden, euen to the mouſe, which nature abhorreth.
t The Gentiles ſhallbe partakers of that glory, which before I ſhewed to the Iewes.
u I will make theſe that I chuſe, that they periſh not with the reſt of the infidels: whereby he alludeth to the marking of the poſtes of his people, whom hee preſerued, Exod. 12, 7.
x I will ſcatter the reſt of the Iewes, which eſcaped deſtruction, into diuers nations.
y That is, Cilicia.
z Meaning, Aſrica.
a To wit, Lydia, or Aſia minor.
b Signifying the Parthians.
c Italie.
d Grecia.
e Meaning, the Apoſtles, Diſciples, and others, which hee did firſt chuſe of the Iewes to preach vnto the Gentiles.
f That is, the Gentiles, which by faith ſhall be made the children of Abraham as you are.
g Whereby hee meaneth that no neceſſarie meanes ſhall want, when God ſhall call the Gentiles to the knowledge of the Goſpel.
h To wit, of the Gentiles, as hee did Luke, Timothie, and Titus firſt, and others after to preach his word.

i Hereby he signifieth the kingdome of Christ wherein his Church shalbe renewed, and whereas before there were appointed seasons to sacrifice, in this there shalbe one continuall Sabbath, so that all times and seaons shall be meete.

22 For as the new i heauens, and the new earth, which I will make, shall remaine before me, sayth the Lord, so shall your seede and your name continue.
23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, sayth the Lord.
24 And they shall goe foorth, and looke vpon
the k carkeises of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their l worme shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shallbe an abhorring m vnto all flesh.

k As he that declared the felicitie that shall be within the Church for the comfort of the godly, so doth he shew what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked that are out of the Church. l Meaning, a continuall torment of conscience, which shall euer gnaw them, and neuer suffer them to be at rest, Marke 9,44. m This is the iust recompense for the wicked, which contemning God and his word, shall be by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophecie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he beganne very yong to prophecie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eighteene yeere vnder the sayd King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres, vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourtie yeere, besides the time that he prophecied after the captiuitie. In this booke hee declareth with teares, and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods word, and for the consolation of the Church reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainely of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and Ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophecied. 6 Hee acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

a That is, the sermons and prophecies.
b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder king Iosiah, 2.Kin.22,8.
c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh.21,18.
d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office, forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophecie, but was called thereunto by God.
e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachin that reigned no longer. f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were caried away into Babylon by Nebuchad-nezzar. g The scripture vseth this manner of speech, to declare that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa.49.1, Gal.1.15. h For Ieremiah did not onely prophecie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatning should come vpon the world, hee was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pitie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa.6,11. Exod.3,21. and 4,1.

THe a words of Ieremiah the sonne of b Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at c Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.
2 To whom the d word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:
3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the e sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah vnto the end of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift f moneth.
4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me,
saying,
5 Before I g formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordained thee to be a Prophet vnto the h nations.
6 Then sayd I, i Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe.
7 But the Lord sayd vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I command thee, shalt thou
speake.
8 Be not afraid of their faces; for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.
9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand, and k touched my mouth, and the Lord sayd vnto me,
Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.
10 Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the l nations, and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp,
and to roote out, and to destroy, and throw downe,
to build, and to plant.
11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I sayd, I see a m rod of an almond tree.
12 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.
13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I sayd, I see a seething n pot looking out of the North.
14 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, Out of the o North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.
15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.
16 And I will declare vnto them my p iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.
17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commaund
thee:

k Which declareth that God maketh them meete, and assureth them, whom he calleth to set forth his glory: giuing them all meanes necessary for the same, Exod.4.12. Isa 6.7.
l Hee sheweth what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoeuer lifteth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble, and such as giue themselues to the obedience of Gods word, 2.Cor.10,4. Hebr.4,12. and these are the keyes which Christ hath left to loose, and binde, Mat.18,18.
m He ioyneth the signe with the word, for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the Almond tree, which first buddeth, the hastie comming of the Babylonians against the Iewes.
n Signifying, that the Caldeans, and Assyrians should be as a pot to seethe the Iewes which boiled in their pleasures and lust. o Syria and Assyria were Northward in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion. p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the Idolaters which haue forsaken me for their idoles.

thee: be not afraid of their faces, least I q destroy thee before them.
18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole land, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the Princes thereof, against the Priests thereof, and against the people of the land.
19 For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayth the Lord.

q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their duety faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cause, 1.Cor. 9,16.
r Signifying, on the one part, that the more that Satan and the world rage against Gods Ministers, the more present will he be to helpe them Iosh.1,5. heb.13,5. and on the other part, that they are vtterly vnmeete to serue God in his Church, which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, whatsoeuer danger depend thereon, Isa.50,7. Ezek.3,8.

CHAP. II.

a God rehearseth his benefits done vnto the Iewes. 8 Against the priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed because they forsake God.

Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,
2 Goe and cry in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindnesse of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wil-dernesse b in a land that was not sowen.
3 Israel was as a thing c hallowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they d that eate it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.
4 Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.
5 Thus sayth the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in mee, that they are gone
e farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie,
and are become f vaine?
6 For they sayd not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt, that led vs through the wildernesse, through a desert, and waste land, through a drie land, and by g the shadowe of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?
7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eat the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, yee defiled h my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.
8 The Priests said not, i Where is the Lord?
and they that should minister the k Law, knewe
me not: the l pastours also offended against mee, and the prophets prophecied in m Baal, and went after things that did not profite.
9 Wherefore I will yet n plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens
children.
10 For go ye to the yles of o Chittim, and be-holde, and send vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.
11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glory, for that which doeth not r profite.
12 O yee f heauens, be astonied at this: be afraid and vtterly confounded, sayth the Lord.

a According to that grace and fauour which I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, and maried thee to my selfe, Ezek. 16,8.
b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.
c Chosen aboue all other to serue the Lord onely, and the first offered to the Lord of all other nations.
d Whosoeuer did challenge this people or else did annoy them, was punished.
e That is, fallen to most vile idolatry.
f Altogether giuen to vanitie, and are become blind and insensible as the idoles that they serue.
g Where for lacke of all things necessary for life, ye could looke for nothing euery houre but present death.
h By your idolatry and wicked maners, Psal.78,58. and 106.38.
i They taught not the people to seeke after God.
k As the Scribes, which should haue expounded the Law to the people.
l Meaning, the Princes and Ministers: signifying, that all estates were corrupt.
m That is, spake vaine things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles. n Signifying that hee would not as hee might, straightway condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed and repent. o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians. p Vnto Arabia. q That is God which is their glory, and who maketh them glorious aboue al other people, reproouing the Iewes that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities. r Meaning, the idoles which were their destruction. Psal.106,36. f He sheweth that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.

13 For my people haue committed two euils:
they haue forsaken mee t the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pits, euen broken pits that can holde no water.
14 Is Israel a u seruant, or is hee borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?
15 The x Lions roared vpon him and yelled,
and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without y an inhabitant.
16 Also the children of z Noph and Tahapa-nes haue a broken thine head.
17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe,
because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God,
when he b led thee by the way?
18 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of c Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke
the water of the d Riuer?
19 Thine owne wickednesse shall e correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reproue thee:
know therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hoastes.
20 For of old time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saiddest, f I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hils, and vnder all greene trees.
21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose † plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?
22 Though thou wash thee with g nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.
23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I h followed Baalim? behold thy wayes
in the valley, and know what thou hast done:
thou art like a swift i dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.
24 And as a wilde k asse vsed to the wildernes that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but will finde her in her l moneth.
25 Keepe thou thy feete from m barenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saidst desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.
26 As the n thiefe is ashamed when he is found,
so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings,
their princes and their priests, and their prophets, 27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my o father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me; for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face:
but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise and helpe vs.
28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee

t Signifying, that when men forsake Gods word, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himselfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to themselues destruction, Iona.2,8. zecha. 10,2.
u Haue I ordered them like seruants and not like dearely beloued children? Exod.4,22. therefore it is their fault onely, if the enemy spoile them.
x The Babylonians, Caldeans, and Assyrians.
y Not one shall be left to dwell there.
z That is, the Egyptians: for these were two great cities in Egypt.
a Haue grieuously vexed thee at sundry times.
b Shewing that God would haue still led them aright, if they would haue followed him.
c To seeke helpe of man, as though God were not able enough to defend thee, which is to drinke of the puddles, and to leaue the fountaine, read Isa.31,1.
d To wit, Euphrates.
e Meaning, that the wicked are insensible, till the punishment for their sinne waken them, as verse 26. isa.3,9.
f When I deliuered thee out of Egypt, Exod.19,8. deut.5,27. iosh.24, 16. ezra 10,12. nehe.8,6.
† Ebr. seed was all true.
g Though thou vse all the purifications and ceremonies of the law, thou canst not escape punishment, except thou turne to me by faith and repentance. h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings, Gods seruice. i Hee compareth the idolaters to these beasts, because they neuer cease running to and fro: for both valleys and hils are full of their idolatry. k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she can neuer be tamed nor yet wearied: for as she runneth she can take her wind at euery occasion. l That is, when she is with foale, and therefore the hunters wait their time: so though thou canst not be turned back now from thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shall be at the full, God will meete with thee. m Hereby he warneth them that they should not go into strange countries to seeke helpe: for they should but spend their labour, and hurt themselues, which is here meant by the bare foot and thirst. Isa. 57.10. n As a thiefe will not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deed, and ready to be punished, so they will not confesse their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the same light vpon them. o Meaning, that idolaters spoyle God of his honour: and whereas he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

in the time of thy trouble: for according [p] to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.
29 Wherefore will [q] ye pleade with mee? yee
all haue rebelled against me, saith the Lord.
30 I haue smitten your children in vaine,
they receiued no correction: your [r] owne sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon.
31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I beene as a [s] wildernesse vnto Israel? or a land of darkenesse? Wherefore saith my people then, We are lords, [t] wee will come no more vnto thee?
32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride
her attire? yet my people haue forgotten mee, dayes without number.
33 Why doest thou prepare thy way, to [u] seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednesse.
34 Also in thy [x] wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.
35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me: behold, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.
36 Why runnest thou about so much to change
thy wayes? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, [y] as thou art confounded of Asshur.
37 For thou shalt go foorth from thence, and thine hands vpon [z] thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

p Thou thoughtest that thy gods of blocks and stones could haue holpen thee, because they were many in number and present in euery place: but now let vs see whether either their multitude, or their presence can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap.11,13.
q As though I did you iniurie in punishing you, seeing that your faults are so euident.
r That is, you haue killed your Prophets, that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Isaiah, &c.
s Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things?
t But we trust in our owne power and policie.
u With strangers.
x The Prophets and the faithfull are slaine in euery corner of your countrey.
y For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah euen vnto Ierusalem: and the Egyptians slew Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sorts.
z In signe of lamentation, as 2.Sam.13.19.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiseth the restitution of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

They [a] say, If a man put away his wife, & shee goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe vnto her? shall not this land [b] be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many [c] louers: yet [d] turne againe to me,
saith the Lord.
2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the high places, and behold, where thou hast not played the harlot:
thou hast sit waiting for them in the wayes, as the [e] Arabian in the wildernesse: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy malice.
3 Therefore the showres haue beene restrained,
and the [f] latter raine came not, and thou haddest
a [g] whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.
4 Diddest thou not still cry [h] vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?
5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will hee reserue it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.
6 The Lord said also vnto me, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell
[i] Israel hath done? for shee hath gone vp vpon euery hie mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree,
and there played the harlot.
7 And I sayd, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.
8 When I saw, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast [k] her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afrayd, but shee went also and played the harlot.
9 So that for the [l] lightnes of her whoredome
she hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.
10 Neuerthelesse for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with [m] her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.
11 And the Lord said vnto mee, The rebellious Israel hath [n] iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.
12 Goe and cry these wordes toward [o] the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayth the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.
13 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast [p] scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, sayth the Lord.
14 O yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion, 15 And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.
16 Moreouer, when yee be increased and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The [q] Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, for that shall be no more done.
17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, [r] The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thencefoorth they shall followe no more the hardnesse of their wicked
heart.
18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the [s] North, into the land that I haue giuen for an inheritance
vnto your fathers.
19 But I said, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and say, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?
20 But as a woman rebelleth against her [t] husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayth the Lord.
21 [u] A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping, and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.
22 O ye disobedient children, returne, and I will heale your rebellions. [x] Behold, wee come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.
23 Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine,
nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord
our God is the health of Israel.
24 For confusion hath deuoured our [y] fathers labours, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.
25 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame

a According as it is written, Deut. 24.4.
b If he take such one to wife againe.
c That is, with idoles, and with them whom thou hast put thy confidence in.
d And I will not cast thee off, but receiue thee, according to my mercy.
e Which dwelleth in tents and waiteth for them that passe by to spoyle them.
f As God threatned by his Law, Deut.28,24.
g Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine actes and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not giue off, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted.
h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will cry vnto God and vse outward prayer as the godly doe, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa 58.3.4.
i Meaning, the ten tribes.
k And gaue her into the hands of the Assyrians.
l The Ebrew word may either signifie lightnesse and wantonnesse, or noise and bruit.
m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good kings, but she was neuer truely touched, or wholly reformed, as appeared when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.
n Israel hath not declared herselfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call thee to repentance.
o Whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuity by the Assyrians, to whom hee promiseth mercy, if they will repent.
p There was no way, which thou diddest not haunt to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.
q This is to be vnderstood of the comming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.
r Meaning, the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Matth.28,20.
s Where they are now in captiuity.
t The Ebrew word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vsed also, Hos.3.1.
u Signifying, that God, whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them, who should leade them captiue, and make them to cry and lament.
x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, which stayed so long to turne vnto God.
y For their idolatry Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.

z They iustifie not themselues, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings and desire forgiuenesse of the same, as Ezra.9 7. Psal.106.6. Isa.64 6.

shame couereth vs: z for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed
the voyce of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 Hee exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophecied for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto mee,
saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remooue.
2 And thou shalt b sweare, The Lord liueth
In trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him.
3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem, 4 Breake vp c your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskins of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, least my wrath come foorth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.
5 d Declare in Iudah, and shew forth in Ieru-salem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: cry,
and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues,
and let vs goe into strong cities.
6 Set vp the standart in Zion: e prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.
7 The f lion is come vp from his den, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone foorth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shallbe destroyed without an inhabitant.
8 Wherefore girde you with sackcloath: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord
Is not turned backe from vs.
9 And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priests shall be astonished, and the g Prophets shall wonder.
10 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast h deceiued this people, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword peirceth vn-
to the heart.
11 At that time shall it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry i winde in the hie places of the wildernesse commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither k to fanne nor to cleanse.
12 A mightie wind shall come vnto me from those places, and now will I also giue sentence
vpon them.
13 Behold, hee shall come vp as the l clouds, and his charets shallbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. m Woe vnto vs, for wee are destroyed.
14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?
15 For a voyce declareth from n Dan, and pub-lisheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.

a That is, wholly, and without hypocrisie, Ioel.2.12. not dissembling to turne and serue God as they doe which serue him by halfes, as Hose. 7.16.
b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal.16.4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine oath may aduance Gods glory, and profite others: and here, by swearing hee meaneth the true religion of God.
c He willeth them to plucke vp the impietie and wicked affection and worldly respects out of their heart, that the true seede of Gods word may be sowen therein, Hose. 10.12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut.10.16 Rom. 2.29. col.2.11.
d He warneth them of the great dangers that shall come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent and turne to the Lord.
e He speaketh this to admonish them of the great danger when euery man shall prepare to saue himselfe, but it shall be too late, 2 King 25.4.
f Meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babylon, 2.King.24.1.
g That is, the false prophets, which still prophecied peace and securitie.
h By the false prophets, which promised peace and tranquilitie: and thus thou hast punished their rebellious stubbornnes by causing them to hearken vnto lies which would not beleeue thy trueth. 1 King.22.23. Eze.14 9. 2. Thess.2.11.
i The Northwinde whereby he meaneth Nebuchad-nezzar.
k But to carie away both corne, and chaffe.
l Meaning that Nebuchad nezzar should come as suddenly, as a cloud that is caried with the wind.
m This is spoken in the person of all the people, who in their affliction should crie thus.
n Which was a city in the vtmost border of Israel Northward toward Babylon.
o Which was in the mid way betweene Dan and Ierusalem.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Behold, the scoutes come from a farre countrey, and cry out against the cities of Iudah.
17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the p field, because it hath prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord.
18 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse:
therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall pierce
vnto thine heart.
19 My belly, my q belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me:
I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard ẏ sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.
20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted, suddenly are my r tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.
21 How long shall I see the standart, and heare
the sound of the trumpet?
22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue
none vnderstanding: s they are wise to doe euill,
but to doe well they haue no knowledge.
23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and t voide: and to the hea-uens, and they had no light.
24 I behelde the mountaines: and loe, they trembled, and all the hils shooke.
25 I beheld, and loe there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.
26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wildernesse, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.
27 For thus hath the Lord sayd, The whole land shallbe desolate: yet will I u not make a full ende.
28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.
29 The whole citie shall flee, for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall goe into thickets, and climbe vp vpon the rockes: euery
citie shallbe forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.
30 And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou x cloathest thy selfe with scarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.
31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman
trauailing, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth
and stretcheth out her hands: y woe is me now:
for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

p Which keepe the fruits so straitly, that nothing can come in nor out: so should the Babylonians compasse Iudah.
q He sheweth that the true ministers are liuely touched with the calamities of the Church: so that all the parts of their body feele the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glory they pronounce his iudgements against the people.
r Meaning, the cities, which were as easily cast downe as a tent.
s Their wisedome and policie tend to their owne destruction, and pulled them from God.
t By these maner of speeches hee sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are mooued therewith, as if the order of nature should be changed, Isa. 13.10. and.24.23. Eze.31.7. Ioel. 2.31. and 3.15.
u But for his mercies sake, he will reserue himselfe a residue to be his Church, and to prayse him in earth, Isa.2 9.
x Neither thy ceremonies nor rich gifts shall deliuer thee.
y As the prophets were mooued to pitie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to mooue them to repentance, Isa. 22. 4. Chap.9.2.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man is found, neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

R Vnne to and fro by the streets of Ierusalem, and behold now, and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, if yee can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I will spare a it.
2 For though they say, The b Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsly.

a That is, the citie.
b Though they pretend religion and holinesse, yet all is but hypocrisie: for vnder this kind of swearing is conteined the true religion.

c Doest not thou loue vprightnesse and faithfull dealing?
d Thou hast oftimes punished them, but all is in vaine, Isa.9.13.

e He speaketh this to the reproach of them which should gouerne and teach others, and yet are farther out of the way then the simple people.
f Meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar and his armie.

g He sheweth that to sweare by any thing then by God, is to forsake him.

* Ezek.22.11.

h He commandeth the Babylonians and enemies to destroy them.
i Reade Chap.4.27.

k Because they gaue no credite to the words of his Prophets, as Isa. 28.15.
l Their words shall be of none effect, but vaine.
m They are not sent of the Lord, and therefore that which they threaten to vs, shall come vpon them.
n Meaning, Ieremiah.
o To wit, the Babylonians and Caldeans.

p Who shall kill many with their arrowes.

q Here the Lord declareth his vnspeakeable fauour toward his Church as Chap.4.27.
* Chap 16.10.
r Meaning, the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the [c] trueth?
thou had [d] striken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.
4 Therefore I sayd, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.
5 I will get me vnto the [e] great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst
the bonds.
6 [f] Wherefore a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wildernesse shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many,
and their rebellions are increased.
7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and [g] sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.
8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man* neyed after his neighbours wife.
9 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?
10 [h] Climbe vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full end: [i] take away their batlements, for they are not the Lords.
11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespassed against me, saith
the Lord.
12 They haue [k] denied the Lord, and sayd, It is not hee, neither shall the plague come vpon vs,
neither shall we see sword nor famine.
13 And the Prophets shallbe as [l] wind, and the word is [m] not in them: thus shall it come vnto
them.
14 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God of hoastes, Because yee speake such words, beholde, I will put my words into [n] thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.
15 Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you [o] from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.
16 Whose quiuer is as an [p] open sepulchre:
they are all very strong.
17 And they shall eate thine haruest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.
18 Neuerthelesse, at those dayes, saith the Lord,
I will not make a full end of [q] you.
19 And when * yee shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt [r] thou answere them, Like as yee haue forsaken mee and serued strange gods in your land, so shall yee serue strangers in a land that is not yours 20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying,

21 Heare now this, O foolish people, & † without vnderstanding, which haue * eyes and see not,
which haue eares and heare not.
22 Feare yee not mee, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afraid at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the* bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer
it?
23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.
24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he reserueth vnto vs
the appointed weekes of the haruest.
25 Yet your [s] iniquities haue turned away
these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.
26 For among my people are found wicked
persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares:
they haue made a pit, to catch men.
27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.
28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: * they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they [t] prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.
29 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

CHAP. VI.

a The comming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 Hee exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

O Yee children of [a] Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blow the trumpet in [b] Tekoa: set vp a standart vpon [c] Beth-haccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.
2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to [d] a beautifull and daintie woman.
3 The Pastors with their flockes [e] shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feed in his place.
4 [f] Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out,
5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.
6 For thus hath the Lord of hoastes said, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem:
this citie must be visited; all oppression is in the mids of it.
7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so shee casteth out her malice; [g] crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me, with sorow and strokes.

soule depart from thee, least I make thee desolate

f He speaketh this in the person of the Babylonians, which complaine that the time faileth them before they haue brought their enterprises to passe.
g He sheweth the cause why it should be destroyed, and how it commeth of themselues. h He warneth them to amend by his correction, and to turne to him by repentance, as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel; turne h backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are [k] vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken; behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproach; they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord; I am weary with holding it; I will powre it out vpon the [m] children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men; for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shall be turned vnto strangers, for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnes, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale fallly.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no, neither could they haue any shame; therfore they shall fall among the †slaine; when I shall visite them, they shallbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes and behold, and aske for the [o] olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules; but they sayd, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set [p] watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet; but they said, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore, ye [q] Gentiles, and thou Congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne imaginations; because they haue not taken heed vnto my wordes, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee frankincense from Sheba, and sweet calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the [s] North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bow and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, & they ride vpon horses well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands waxe[t] feeble: sorow is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloath, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set [u] thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily; they are brasse and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The [x] bellowes are burnt; the lead is consumed in the fire; the founder melteth in vaine; for the wicked are not taken away.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ieremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the worde of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The exiles that shall come to the Iewes, for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe wordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house, and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all yee of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, * Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in a lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord; this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amende and redresse your wayes and your workes; if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then [b] will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare fallly, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and stand before mee in this House, wherevpon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though wee haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become [c] a denne of theeues wherevpon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, [d] where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, wher-
vpon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust:
euen vnto the place that I gaue to you, and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.
15 And I will cast g you out of my sight, as I
haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole
seed of Ephraim.
16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither
intreat me, for I will not heare thee.
17 Seest thou not what they do in the cities of
Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?
18 The children gather wood, and the fathers
kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough
to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.
19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their
owne faces?
20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shallbe powred
vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and
vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.
21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices,
and eat the flesh.
22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commaunded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and sacrifices.
23 But this thing commanded I them, saying,
Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee
shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes
which I haue commaunded you, that it may be well vnto you.
24 But they would not obey, nor incline their
eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburnnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward
and not forward.
25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen
sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, m rising vp early euery day, and sending them.
26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor encline
their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse
then their fathers.
27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words
vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not an-swere thee.
28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished,
and is cleane gone out of their mouth.
29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast
it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the
generation of his p wrath.
30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill
in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, wherevpon my Name
is called to pollute it.
31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to
burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire,
which I r commanded them not, neither came it
in mine heart.
32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth
the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth,
nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there
be no place.
33 And the carkeises of this people shall be
meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.
34 * Then I will cause to cease from the cities
of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the
voyce of mirth, and the voyces of gladnesse, the
voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

g I will send you into captiuity as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes.

ned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue

med, neither could they haue any shame: there-

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we onely to reioyce. 26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

Oh, that mine head were full of water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weep day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernes a ᵇ cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all ᶜ adulterers, and an assembly of rebels.

3 And they bende their tongues like their bowes for ᵈ lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth, for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen mee, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour and trust you not in any ᵉ brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully,

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the trueth: for they ᶠ haue taught their tongue to speake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiuers: ᵍ because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that he could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them. Which is a speciall note to discerne the true pastors from the hirelings, reade Chap. 4.19.
b He sheweth that this were more quietnesse and greater safety for him to dwell among the wilde beasts then among this wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge.
c Vtterly turned from God.
d To belye and slander their neighbours.
e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man.
f They haue so practised deceite that they cannot forsake it.
g They had rather forsake God, then leaue their wicked trade.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hoastes, Behold, I will ʰ melt them, and trye them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue * is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the ⁱ mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe thorow them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, & I will make the cities of Iudah waste without an inhabitant.

12 Who is ᵏ wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wildernesse, that none passeth thorow?

13 And the Lord saith, because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which ˡ their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall ᵐ to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Take heed, and call for ⁿ the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye-liddes gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are wee destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings ᵒ haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the wordes of his mouth, and ᵖ teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our ᑫ windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie, euen as the doung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus sayeth the Lord, Let not the ʳ wise man glory in his wisedome, nor the strong man glory in his strength, neither the rich man glory in his riches.

o Although they were weary of vs, because of our iniquities. Leu. 18.28. and 20.22.
p He derideth the superstition of the women which made an arte of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.
q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farre off, then are they soonest taken.
r Forasmuch as none can saue himselfe by his owne labour, or any worldly meanes, he sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who onely can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1.31. 2 Cor. 10.17.
s These three points are necessary to know aright: his mercy wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull.

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, wher-
vpon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust;
euen vnto the place that I gaue to you, and to
your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.
15 And I will cast g you out of my sight, as I
haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole
seed of Ephraim.
16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither
intreat me, for I will not heare thee.
17 Seest thou not what they do in the cities of
Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?
18 The children gather wood, and the fathers
kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough
to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.
19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their
owne faces?
20 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Be-
hold, mine anger and my wrath shallbe powred
vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and
vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of
the ground, and it shall burne and not be quenched.
21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices,
and eat the flesh.
22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commaunded them, when I brought them out of
the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and sacrifices.
23 But this thing commanded I them, saying,
Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee
shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes
which I haue commaunded you, that it may be
well vnto you.
24 But they would not obey, nor incline their
eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburn-
nesse of their wicked heart, and went backward
and not forward.
25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out
of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen
sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, m rising vp early euery day, and sending them.
26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor encline
their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse
then their fathers.
27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words
vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not an-
swere thee.
28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished,
and is cleane gone out of their mouth.
29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast
it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the
generation of his p wrath.
30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill
in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, wherevpon my Name
is called to pollute it.
31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to
burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire,
which I r commanded them not, neither came it
in mine heart.
32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth

g I will send you into captiuity as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes.
h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaile them, whiles they remaine in their obstinacy against God, and will not vse the meane that he vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11.14. and 14.11.
i That is, they sacrifice to the Sunne, Moone and Starres, which they called the queene of heauen, Chap. 44.17. 2.king. 23.5.
k Shewing that it was not his chiefe purpose and intent, that they should offer sacrifices: but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordeined: to wit, to be ioyned to the word as seales and confirmations of remission of sinnes in Christ: for without the word they were vaine and vnprofitable.
l Which was about foureteene hundreth yeeres.
m Reade vers. 13.
n Whereby he sheweth that the pastours ought not to leaue their flockes in their obstinacie: for the Lord will vse the meanes of his seruants to make the wicked more faultie, and to proue his.
o In signe of mourning, as Iob 1.20 Micah. 1.6.
p Against whom he had iust occasion to powre out his wrath.
q Of Topheth, reade 2. King. 23.10.
r But commanded the contrary, as Leuit. 18.21. and 20.3. deut. 18.10.

the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth,
nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there
be no place.
33 And the carkeises of this people shall be
meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the
beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.
34 *Then I will cause to cease from the cities
of Iudah, and from the streetes of Ierusalem the
voyce of mirth, and the voyces of gladnesse, the
voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mooueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the Prophets & Priests.

AT that time, sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their
a graues.
2 And they shall spread them before the sunne, and the moone, and all the hoast of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung vpon the earth.
3 And death shall be desired b rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hoastes.
4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayth the Lord, Shall they c fall, and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?
5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue
themselues to deceit, and would not returne.
6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery d one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.
7 Euen the storke in the ayre knoweth her appoynted times, and the turtle, and the crane and the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the e iudgement of
the Lord.
8 How doe ye say, We are wise, and the Law
f of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainely in vaine made he it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.
9 The g wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue relected the word of the Lord, and what wisedome is in them?
10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto
others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: * for euery one from the least euen vnto
the greatest is giuen to coueteousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsly.
11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying,
h Peace, peace, when there is no peace.
12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, sayeth the Lord.

a The enemie for greedinesse of gaine shall rifle your graues, and lay you before those idoles, which in your life you worshipped, to see if they can helpe you.
b Because of the afflictions that they shall feele through Gods iudgements.
c Is there no hope that they will returne?
d They are full of hypocrisie, and euery one followeth his owne fantasie without any consideration.
e He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements, then these birds are of their appoynted seasons to discerne the cold and heat, as Isai. 1.3
f The Law doeth not profite you, neither needed it to haue beene written for ought that you haue learned by it.
g They that seeme wise, may be ashamed of their ignorance: for all wisedome consisteth in Gods word.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord:
there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.
14 Why doe we stay? i assemble you selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with k gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.
15 * Wee looked for peace, but no good came,
and for a time of health, and behold troubles.
16 The neying of his horses was heard from l Dan, the whole land trembled at the noise of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the city, and those that dwell therein.
17 For behold, I will m send serpents and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed,
and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.
18 I would haue n comforted my selfe against sorow, but mine heart is heauy in me.
19 Behold, the voyce of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her: Why o haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities
of a strange god?
20 The p haruest is past, the Summer is ended,
and we are not holpen.
21 I am q sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people, I am heauy, and astonishment hath taken me.
22 Is there no balme r at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

i He speaketh in the person of the people, who when the enemie commeth, will runne about to hide themselues, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand.

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 14 In the knowledge of God ought we onely to reioyce. 26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

OH, that mine head were full of water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weep day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.
2 Oh, that I had in the wildernes a b cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all c adulterers, and an assembly of rebels.
3 And they bende their tongues like their bowes for d lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth, for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen mee,
saith the Lord.
4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour and trust you not in any e brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale
deceitfully,
5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the trueth: for they f haue taught their tongue to speake lies, and take great paines
to do wickedly.
6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiuers:
g because of their deceit they refuse to know me,
saith the Lord.

a The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that he could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them. Which is a speciall note to discerne the true pastors from the hirelings, reade Chap. 4.19.
b He sheweth that this were more quietnesse and greater safety for him to dwell among the wilde beasts then among this wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge
c Vtterly turned from God
d To belye and slander their neighbours.
e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man. f They haue so practised deceite that they cannot forsake it. g They had rather forsake God, then leaue their wicked trade.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hoastes, Behold, I will a melt them, and trye them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?
8 Their tongue * is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he lay-eth wait for him.
9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?
10 Vpon the i mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe thorow them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke:
both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.
11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, & I will make the cities of Iudah waste without an inhabitant.
12 Who is k wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wildernesse, that none passeth thorow?
13 And the Lord saith, because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter, 14 But haue walked after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which l their fathers taught them,
15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall m to drinke:
16 I will scatter them also among the heathen,
whom neither they nor their fathers haue know-en, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.
17 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Take heed, and call for n the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.
18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye-liddes gush out of water.
19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are wee destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings o haue cast vs out.
20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the wordes of his mouth, and p teach your daughters to mourne,
and euery one her neighbour to lament.
21 For death is come vp into our q windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.
22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie, euen as the doung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none
shall gather them.
23 Thus sayeth the Lord, Let not the r wise man glory in his wisedome, nor the strong man glory in his strength, neither the rich man glory
in his riches.
24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this,
that he vnderstandeth and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which s shew mercy, iudgement, and

h With the fire of affliction.

m Read Chap. 8.14.

the vncircumcised:

dren of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wildernes: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

2 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weakenesse of idols. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their Pastours are become bruit beastes.

HEare yee the word of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.
2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the [a] signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.
3 For the [b] customes of the people are vaine:
for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe.
4 And another decketh it [c] with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes and hammers, that it fall not.
5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.
6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: [d] thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.
7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.
8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish:
for the stocke is a [e] doctrine of vanitie.
9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold [f] from Vphaz, for the worke of the worke-man, and the hands of the founder: the blew silke
and the purple is their cloathing: all these things are made by cunning men.
10 But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.
11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods
[g] that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens.)
12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.
13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the cloudes
to ascend from the ends of the earth: hee turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

t Meaning, both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, read Chap. 4. 4.

a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the constellations and coniunctions of starres and planets, which haue no power of themselues, but are gouerned by him, and their secret motions and influences are not knowen to man, and therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof, Deut. 18. 9.

b Meaning, not onely in the obseruation of the starres, but their lawes and ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatry, which is forbidden, Deut. 12. 30.

c The Prophets vse thus plainely and simply to set forth the vile absurdity of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44. 12.

d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew: but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15. 4.

e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errours, verse 15. and Habak. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lyes: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people. f Whereas they found the best gold: shewing, that they thought nothing too deare for their idoles: some read Ophir, as 1. King. 9. 28. g This declareth that all that hath bene in this chapter spoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence hee instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, and how to answere them to their shame which would exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebrewe.

14 Euery man is a [h] beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image; for his melting is but falshood, and there is no breath therein.
15 They are vanitie, and the worke of errors:
in the time of their visitation they shall perish.
16 The [i] portion of Iakob is not like them:
for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his Inheritance: the Lord of hoastes is his Name.
17 ¶ [k] Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O
thou that dwellest in the strong place.
18 For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall find it so.
19 Wo is me for my destruction, and my grie-uous plague: but I thought, Yet it [l] is my sorow, and I will beare it.
20 [m] My Tabernacle is destroyed, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone from me,
and are not: there is none to spread out my tent
any more, and to set vp my curtaines.
21 For the Pastours [n] are become beastes, and haue not sought the Lord, therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.
22 Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the [o] North countrey, to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne
of dragons.
23 O Lord, I know that [p] the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.
24 O Lord, correct mee, but with [q] iudgement,
not in thine anger, least thou bring me to nothing.
25 Powre out [r] thy wrath vpon the heathen that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaa-kob, and deuoured him, and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wisedome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he prooue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words Portion and Rod, he signifieth their inheritance, meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them: and that their felicity consisted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helps and succours as of idols, &c. Deut. 32. 9. Psal. 16. 5.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare themselues to this captiuity, shewing that it was now at hand that they should feele the things whereof he had told them.

l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselues toward God.

m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament.

n The gouernours and ministers.

o Reade Chap. 4. 15.

p He speaketh this because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to go against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21. 21. therefore the Prophet sayth, that this was the Lords direction. q Considering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7. 16. he onely praieth, that he would punish them with mercy, which Isaiah calleth in measure, Chap. 27. 8. measuring his rods by their infirmity, 1. Cor. 10. 13. for here by iudgement is meant not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30. 11. r Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knowen and glorified by his mercy, that hee vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, hee praieth that this glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79. 6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant. 10 the people of Iudah, following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Heare yee the words of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,
3 And say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, [a] Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this couenant, 4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers,
when I brought them out of the land of Egypt,
from the yron fornace, saying, Obey my voyce,
and doe according to all these things which I commaund you: so shall ye be my people, and I

a He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods mercies, who freely chose them, made a couenant of eternall felicity with them, and how he euer performed it on his behalfe, and how they euer shewed themselues rebellious and ingrate toward him, and brake it on their part, and so are subiect to the curse of the Law, Deut. 27. 26.

will be your God,

5 That I may confirme the oathe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered [b] I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto me, Crie all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the words of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, [c] rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuerthelesse they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubburnnesse of his [d] wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the [e] words of this couenant which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A [f] conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, [g] I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem go, and crie vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 [h] For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not [i] pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my [k] beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruit: but with [m] noyse and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hoastes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, euen then thou shewedst me [n] their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs [o] destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

b Thus he speaketh in the person of the people, which agreed to the couenant.

20 But O Lord of hoasts, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy [p] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of [q] Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, [r] Prophecie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hoasts, Behold, I will visit them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

b Thus he spake, not for hatred, but being mooued with the Spirit of God, he desireth the aduancement of Gods glory, and the verifying of his word, which is by the destruction of his enemies.

1 The Prophet marueileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors & preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threateneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, If I dispute with thee, thou art [a] righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked [b] prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruit, thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their [c] reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and [d] prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed, and the birds, because they sayd, [e] He will not see our last ende.

5 If thou hast runne with the [f] footmen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee: but beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.

b This question hath beene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob. 21. 7. psalme 37. 1. and 73. 3. Habac. 1. 3.

c They professe God in mouth, but deny him in heart, which is here meant by the reines, Isa 29. 13. matth. 15. 8.

d The Ebrewe word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, they flattered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubburne rebellion against God. f Some thinke that God reprooueth Ieremiah, in that that hee would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footemen, meane them of Anathoth: and by the horsemen, them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne contreymen did. g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries, labour to put him to silence. h Euer ramping and raging against me and my Prophets.

The deſtruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Iſrael was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forſaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus ſaith the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, & put it vpon thy loynes,
and put it not in water.
2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.
3 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee
the ſecond time, ſaying,
4 Take the girdle that thou haſt bought,
which is vpon thy loynes, and ariſe, goe toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.
5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord
had commanded me.
6 And after many dayes the Lord ſayd vnto
mee, Ariſe, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide
there.
7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.
8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me,
ſaying,
9 Thus ſaith the Lord, After this maner will I deſtroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ieruſalem.
10 This wicked people haue refuſed to heare my word, and walke after the ſtubburnneſſe of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to ſerue them, and to worſhip them: therefore they ſhall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.
11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, ſo haue I tied to me the whole houſe of Iſ-rael, and the whole houſe of Iudah, ſaith the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name, and praiſe, and glory, but they would not heare.

word, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Euery

CHAP. XIV.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a ‖ dearth.

2 Iudah bath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue beene b brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the crye of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the walles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and c couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsooke d it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, & drew in their wind like e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 f O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O thou hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a g stranger in the land, as one that passeth by, to tary for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as h a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feet, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto mee, i Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the k prophets say vnto them, Yee shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophecie lies in my name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanity, and deceitfulnesse of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shal those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets do prophecie shalbe cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sword, and there shall be none to bury them: both they and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop down l teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a fore grieuous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: & if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer, the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring m into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected n Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that wee cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We o acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres. Is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 but threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

THen said the Lord vnto me, a Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the b dogs to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will c scatter them also in all kingdoms of the earth, d because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sory for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, sayeth the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I e am wearie with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the sanne f in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes g are increased by me aboue the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the ‖ assembly of the yong men, a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly and ‖ speedily.

10 ¶ k Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me a contentious man, and a man that striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither l lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsury, yet euery one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, m Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemie to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the o yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoiled without ‖ gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou know'st, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my p persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found by me, and I did q eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hoastes.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sat alone r because of thy plague; for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauineſſe continuall? and my plague desperate and can not be healed? why art thou vnto me ſ as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou t returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the t precious from the vile, thou shalt be u according to my word: let them returne x vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not y preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee, and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord:

21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

k These are the Prophets words, complaining of the obstinacie of the people, and that he was reserued to so wicked a time: wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue noue occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted me, and said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enemy he meaneth here, Nebuzzardan the captaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choise either to tarie in his countrey, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which should afterward know Ieremiah's fidelity, and therefore fauour him.

n As for the people, though they seemed strong as yron, yet should they not be able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should be led captiues.

o He speaketh not this for desire of reuengeance, but willing that God would deliuer his Church of them whom he knew to be hardened, and incorrigible.

p I receiued them with as great ioy, as he that is affamished, eateth meat. q I had nothing a doe with the wicked contemners of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithfull should do when they see tokens of Gods anger. r And hast not assisted me according to the promise wherein appeareth that in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatiencie is oft times assailed, as Chap. 20. 7. s If thou forget these carnall considerations, and faithfully execute thy charge. t That is, seeke to win the good from the bad. u To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced. Chap. 1. 18 and as here followeth, verse 20. x Conforme not thy selfe to their wickednes, but let them follow thy godly example. y I will arme thee with an inuincible strength and constancie, so that all the powers of the world shall not ouercome thee.

CHAP. XVI.

a The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to marrie, sheweth him what should be the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto mee saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus sayth the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters, that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shalbe as dung vpon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall be meat for the soules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, b Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be mooued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, c nor cut themselues, nor make themselues bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the d cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting, to sit with them to eat and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes, the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people all these words, and they shall say vnto thee, * Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is e our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (* And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for behold, you walke euery one after the stubburnnes of his wicked heart, & will not heare me)

13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there ye shall serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 * Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be said, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the land of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many f fishers, and they shall fish them, and after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine, and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie h carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my i force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the endes of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited k lies, and vanitie, wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold,

a Meaning, that the affliction should be so horrible in Ierusalem, that wife and children should but increase his sorow.

b Signifying, that the affliction should be so great, that one should not haue leasure to comfort another.

c That is, should not rent their cloathes in signe of mourning.

d For in these great extremities all consolation and comfort shall be in vaine.

e Because the wicked are alwayes rebellious, and dissemble their owne sinnes, and murmure against Gods iudgements, as though he had no iust cause to punish them, he sheweth him what to answere.

* Chap. 5, 19.

* Chap. 7, 26.

* Chap. 23. 7.

f Signifying the benefit of their deliuerance out of Babylon should be so great, that it should abolish the remembrance of their deliuerance from Egypt: but he hath here chiefly respect to the spirituall deliuerance vnder Christ.

g By the fishers and hunters are meant the Babylonians and Caldeans, who should destroy them in such sort, that if they escaped the one, the other should take them.

h That is, their sonnes and daughters, which they offered to Molech.

i He wondereth at the great mercy of God in this deliuerance, which shall not onely extend to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles.

k Our fathers were most vile idolaters, therefore it commeth onely of Gods mercy, that he performeth his promise, and hath not vtterly cast vs off.

21 Beholde, therefore I will this once [l] teach them: I will fhewe them mine hand and my power, and they fhall know that my Name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The frowardneffe of the Iewes. 5 Curfed be thofe that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the fearcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forfaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath is commanded.

THe finne of [a] Iudah is written with a pen of yron, and with the point of a diamond, and grauen vpon the [b] table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your [c] altars.

2 [d] They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the high hils.

3 [e] O my mountaine in the field, I will giue thy fubftance, and all thy treafures to be fpoyled, for the finne of thy high places throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou fhalt reft, [f] and in thee fhall be a reft from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will caufe thee to ferue thine enemies in the land, which thou knoweft not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which fhall burne for euer.

5 ¶ Thus faith the Lord, [g] Curfed be the man that trufteth in man, and maketh flefh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For he fhall be like the heath in the wilderneffe, and fhall not fee when any good commeth, but fhall inhabite the parched places in the wilderneffe, in a falt land, and not inhabited.

7 Bleffed be the man that trufteth in the Lord, and whofe hope the Lord is.

8 [h] For he fhall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which fpreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and fhall not feele when the heat commeth, but her leafe fhall be greene, and fhall not care for the yeere of drought, neither fhall ceafe from yeelding fruit.

9 [i] The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can know it?

10 I the Lord fearch the heart, and trie the reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his works.

11 [k] As the Partrich gathereth the young, which fhee hath not brought foorth: fo he that getteth riches, and not by right, fhall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end fhall be a foole.

12 As a glorious throne [l] exalted from the beginning, fo is the place of our Sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Ifrael, all that forfake thee, fhall be confounded: they that depart from thee, fhalbe written [m] in the earth, becaufe they haue forfaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale mee, O Lord, and I fhall be whole: [n] faue mee, and I fhall be faued: for thou art my prayfe.

15 Behold, [o] they fay vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But [p] I haue not thruft in my felfe for a paftour after thee, neither haue I defired the day of miferie, thou knoweft that which came out of my lips was right before thee.

17 Be not [q] terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduerfitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that perfecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduerfitie, [r] and deftroy them with double deftruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord faid vnto me, Goe and ftand in the [f] gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierufalem,

20 And fay vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, yee kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierufalem, that enter in by thefe gates.

21 Thus faith the Lord, Take heede to your foules, and beare no burden in the [t] Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierufalem, 22 Neither carie forth burdens out of your houfes in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but fanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes ftiffe, and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheleffe, if ye will heare me, faith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but fanctifie the Sabbath day, fo that ye do no worke therein,

25 Then fhall the Kings and the Princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and fhall fit * vpon the throne of Dauid, and fhall ride vpon charets and vpon horfes, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierufalem: and this citie fhall remaine for euer.

26 And they fhall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierufalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which fhall bring burnt offerings, and facrifices, and meat offerings, and incenfe, and fhall bring facrifice of praife into the houfe of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to fanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to go through the gates of Ierufalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it fhall deuoure the palaces of Ierufalem, and it fhall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God fheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to deftroy the defpifers of his word. 18 The confpiracie of the Iewes againft Ieremiah. 19 His prayer againft his aduerfaries.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, faying,

2 Arife and go downe into the potters houfe, and there fhall I fhew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters houfe, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the veffel that he made of [a] clay, was broken in the hand of the potter, fo he returned, and made it another veffel, as feemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, faying,

 6 O houfe

l They fhall once againe feele my power, and mercie for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worfhip me.

a The remembrance of their contempt of God cannot paffe, albeit for a time he deferre the punifhment, for it fhall be manifeft to men and Angels.

b In ftead of the Law of God, they haue written idolatrie and all abominations in their heart.

c Your finnes appeare in all the altars that you haue erected to idoles.

d Some reade, So that their children remember their altars, that is, follow their fathers wickedneffe.

e Zion that was my mountaine, fhall now be left as a wafte field.

f Becaufe thou wouldeft not giue the land reft, at fuch times, dayes, and yeeres as I appointed, thou fhalt hereafter be caried away, and it fhall reft for lacke of labourers.

g The Iewes were giuen to worldly policies and thought to make themfelues ftrong by the friendfhip of the Egyptians, Ifa.31.3 and ftrangers, and in the meane feafon did not depend on God, and therefore he denounceth Gods plagues againft them, fhewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, which is immortall, Ifa.2 22. Chap. 48.6.7.

i Becaufe the wicked haue euer fome excufe to defend their doings, he fheweth that their owne lewde imaginations deceiue them, and bring them to thefe inconueniences: but God will examine their deeds by the malice of their hearts, 1. l Shewing that the godly ought to glory in nothing, but in God, who doeth exalt his, and hath left a figne of his fauour in this Temple.

m Their names fhall not be regiftred in the booke of life.

n He defireth God to preferue him that hee fall not into tentation, confidering the great contempt of Gods word, and the multitude that fall from God.

o The wicked fay that my prophecie fhall not come to paffe, becaufe thou deferreft the time of thy vengeance.

p I am affured of my vocation, and therefore know that the thing which thou fpeakeft by me, fhall come to paffe, and that I fpeake not of any worldly affection.

q Howfoeuer the wicked deale rigoroufly with me, yet let me finde comfort in thee.

r Reade Chap. 11. 20.

t By naming the Sabbath day, he comprehendeth the thing that is thereby fignified: for if they tranfgreffed in the ceremony, they muft needs be culpable of the reft, reade Exod. 20.8 and by the breaking of this one commandement, he maketh them tranfgreffours of the whole lawe, forafmuch as the firft and fecond table are conteined herein.

* Chap. 22.4,

a As the potter hath power ouer the clay to make what pot he will, or to breake them, when he hath made them: fo haue I power ouer you to doe with you as feemeth good to me, Ifa. 45 9. Wifd. 15,7. Rom.9,20.21.

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.
7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote
it out, and to destroy it.
8 But if this nation against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will [b] repent of the plague that I thought to bring
vpon them.
9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.
10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.
11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you:
returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes
good.
12 But they said [c] desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe eue-ry man after the stubburnnesse of his wicked
heart.
13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now
among the heathen, who hath heard such things?
the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.
14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? [d] or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?
15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the [e] ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and
way that is not troden, 16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby shall be astonished and wagge his head, 17 I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemie: I will shew them the backe, and [f] not the face in the day of their destruction.
18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Law [g] shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the [h] tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his words.
19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.
20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them,
and to turne away thy wrath from them.
21 Therefore, [i] deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sword, & let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slaine by the sword in the battell.
22 Let the crye be heard from their houses,
when thou shalt bring an hoaste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to that which he hath ordeined in his secret counsell: but when hee threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning (which euer conteineth a condition in it) taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne selfe will.

d As no man that hath thirst refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to goe and seeke waters abroad to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seeke for helpe and succour at strangers and leaue God which was present with them.

e That is, the way of trueth which God had taught by his law. reade Chap. 6. 16.

f I will shew mine anger and not my fauour toward them.

g This argument the wicked haue euer vsed against the seruants of God. The Church cannot erre: we are the Church, and therefore whosoeuer speaketh against vs, they ought to die, 1 King. 22. 24. Chap. 7. 4. and 10. 2. Malac. 2. 4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is knowen by the graces of the holy Ghost.

h Let vs slander him, and accuse him: for we shall be beleeued.

i Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grew dayly more and more, the Prophet being mooued with Gods Spirit, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knewe that it should tend to Gods glory, and profit of his Church.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee:
deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

Hee prophecieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

Thus said the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests, 2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hin-nom, which is by the entry of the ‖ Eastgate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell
thee,
3 And shalt say, Heare yee the word of the Lord, O [a] Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ie-rusalem, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shall [b] tingle.
4 Because they haue forsaken me, and propha-ned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto
other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,
5 And they haue built the hie places of Baal,
to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I [c] commanded not, nor spake
it, neither came it into my mind)
6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called [d] Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.
7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies,
and by the hand of them that seeke their liues;
and their carkeises will I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the field.
8 * And I will make this citie desolate, and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shal be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues
thereof.
9 * And I will feed them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait.
10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee, 11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a [e] potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall burie them in Topheth till there be no place to burie.
12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.
13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the [f] houses vpon whose [g] roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the hoast of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings
vnto other gods.
14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophecie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

CHAP. XX.

a Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophecieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

WHen Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the [a] stockes that were in the hie gate of Beniamin, which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morrow, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but ‖ Magor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy selfe, and to all thy friendes, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall carry them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy [b] friendes, to whom thou hast prophecied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued mee, and I am [c] deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast d preuailed: I am in derision dayly: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed [e] desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproach vnto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I sayd, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on euery side. [f] Declare, sayd they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 ¶ But the Lord is with mee like a mighty gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vowisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 * But, O Lord of hoastes, that tryest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ [b] Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the [i] cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide,

17 Because he hath not slaine mee, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue beene my graue, or her wombe a perpetuall [k] conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He prophecieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the city burned.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 [a] Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will [b] turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this city.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mighty arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I set before you the [c] way of life, and the way of [d] death.

9 * He that abideth in this city, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a [e] pray.

CHAP. XXII.

a He exhorteth the King to iudgement and righteousnes. 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is propheced.

THus sayd the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus saith the Lord, * Execute yee iudgement and a righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shedde innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this House, * and ride vpon charets and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people.

5 But if yee will not heare these wordes, I b sweare by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that this House shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wildernesse, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will d prepare destroyers against thee euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe e cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 f And many nations shall passe by this city, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not mooued for them: but weepe for him g that goeth out: for hee shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither,

12 But he shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Who vnto him that buildeth his house by i vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: nee vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He sayth, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make himselfe large windowes, and seeling with cedar, and paint them with vermillion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in Cedar? did not thy k father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, hee prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnesse, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament l him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glory.

19 He shall be buried, as an asse m is buried, euen drawen and cast foorth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Goe vp to n Lebanon, and cry: shewte in o Bashan, and cry by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperity: but thou saydest, I will not heare, this hath beene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shall feede all thy pastors, p and thy louers shall goe into captiuity: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the q cedars, how beautifull shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou feareſt, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee into another countrey, where yee were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, hee and his seede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O f earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this t man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for these shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Against false pastors. 5 A propheeie of the great Pastour Iesus Christ.

WOe be vnto [a] the pastours that destroy and scatter the [b] sheepe of my pasture, sayth the Lord.

2 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastours that [c] feede my people, Yee haue scattered my flocke, and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visite vpon you the wickednesse of your workes, sayth the Lord.

3 And I will gather the [d] remnant of my sheepe out of all countries, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall grow and increase:

4 And I will set vp shepheards ouer them, which shall feed them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous [e] branch, and a King shall reigne and prosper, and shall execute iudgement and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, and * Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The [f] Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreyes where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the [g] prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath † ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of oathes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernesse are dried vp, and their [h] course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest ‖ doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine [i] House, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shall be vnto them as slippery places in the darkenesse: they shallbe driuen foorth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem [k] filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked, that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all [l] vnto mee as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hoastes concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feede them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednesse gone foorth into all the land.

16 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophecie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their [n] owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath said, Yee [o] shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For [p] who hath stood in the counsell of the Lord that he hath perceiued, and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes yee [q] shall vnderstand it plainely.

21 * I haue not sent these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and [r] had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, sayth the Lord, and not a God [s] farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets sayd, that prophecied lyes in my Name, saying, I [t] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophets delight to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause [u] my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The prophet that hath a dreame, let him [x] tell a dreame, and he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: y what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that [z] steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue [a] sweet tongues, and say, * He sayth.

32 Behold, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, sayeth the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lyes, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, sayth the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the [b] burden of the Lord; thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, sayth the Lord.

34 And the prophet, or the priest, or the people that shall say, The [c] burden of the Lord, I

CHAP. XXIV.

1 The vision of the baskets of figges, 5 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe out of captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

THe Lord shewed mee, and beholde, two a baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and the cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.
2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe, and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten,
they were so euill.
3 Then said the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: the good figges very good, and the naughtie very naughtie,
which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.
4 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,
5 Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are caried away captiue of Iudah to be good, whom I haue sent out of this b place, into the land of the Caldeans.
6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.
7 And I will giue them c an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe * my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.
8 * And as the naughty figges which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord)
so will I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell d in the land of Egypt:
9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague
to all the kingdoms of the earth, and for a reproch and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them.

a The good figges signified them that were gone into captiuitie, and so saued their life, as Chap. 21,8 and the naughty figges them that remained, which were yet subiect to the sword, famine and pestilence.

b Whereby he approoueth the yeelding of Ieconiah and his company, because they obeyed the Prophet, who exhorted them therevnto.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Hee prophecieth that they shall be in captiuitie seuenty yeeres, 12 And that after the seuenty yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophecied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the people of Iudah, in the a fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar
king of Babel:
2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, 3 From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto b this day (that is the three & twentieth yeere) ẏ word of the Lord hath come vnto mee, and I haue spoken vnto you c rising earely and speaking, but ye would not heare.
4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his ser-uants the Prophets, rising early, and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares, to obey.
5 They d sayd, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wikednesse of your inuentions, and yee shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.
6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will not punish you.
7 Neuerthelesse, yee would not heare mee, sayeth the Lord, but haue prouoked mee to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.
8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Because ye haue not heard my words, 9 Behold, I will send and take to me all the e families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my f seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations
g round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and * continuall desolation.

an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the king of Babel seuenty yeeres.
12 And when the i seuenty yeeres are accomplished, I will visit k the king of Babel and that nation, sayth the Lord, for their iniquities, euen
the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation.
13 And I will bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen

hath prophecied against all nations.

2 Ieremiah moueth the people to repentance. 7 Hee is taken of the falſe prophets & prieſts, and brought to iudgement. 13 Vrijah the Prophet is ſlaine of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Stand in the a court of the Lords Houſe, and ſpeake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worſhip in the Lords Houſe, all the words that I commaund thee to ſpeake vnto them: keepe not b a word backe,

3 If ſo be they will hearken, and turne euery man from his euill way, that I may c repent mee of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, becauſe of the wickednes of their workes.

4 And thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue ſet before you,

5 And to heare the words of my ſeruants the Prophets, whom I ſent vnto you, both riſing vp early, and ſending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this Houſe like d Shiloh, and will make this citie e a curſe to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Prieſts, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah ſpeaking theſe words in the Houſe of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an end of ſpeaking all that the Lord had commanded him to ſpeake vnto all the people, then the Prieſts, and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and ſaid, Thou ſhalt die the death.

9 Why haſt thou prophecied in the Name of the Lord, ſaying, f This Houſe ſhalbe like Shiloh, and this citie ſhall be deſolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered againſt Ieremiah in the houſe of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of theſe things, they came vp from the kings houſe into the Houſe of the Lord, and ſate downe in the entrie of the g new gate of the Lords Houſe.

16 Then said the Princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite * prophecied in the dayes of Hezekiah, king of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Zion shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house shalbe as the hie places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the [k] plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lord, one Vrijah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophecied against this city, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his words, the king sought to slay him. But when Vrijah heard it, he was afraid and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the king [l] sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Vrijah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and [m] cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam [n] the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah at the commaundement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudah and to the other Kings that were neere, whereby they are monished to be subiect vnto Nebuchadnezzar. 9 He warneth the people, and the Kings & rulers that they beleeue not false prophets.

IN the beginning of the reigne of [a] Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying.

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee [b] bonds and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my ourstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my [c] seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his [d] sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall [e] serue themselues of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the king of Babel.

10 ¶ For they prophecy a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their necks vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupy it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these words, saying, Put your necks vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets that speake vnto you, saying, Yee shall not serue the king of Babel: for they prophecy a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not * sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophecy a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, & that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophecy vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your prophets that prophecy vnto you, saying, Behold, * the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be [f] brought againe from Babel: for they prophecy a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the king of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this city be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them [g] intreate the Lord of hosts, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, concerning the * pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this city,

l Here is declared the fury of tyrants, who cannot abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the end they preuaile nothing but prouoke Gods iudgements so much the more.

m As in the first Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household.

n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their fury, if God had not mooued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

a As touching the disposition of these prophecies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which should be after, and contrariwise; which if the reader marke well, it shall auoide many doubts, and make the reading much more easie. b By such signes the Prophets vsed sometimes to confirme their prophecies, which notwithstanding they could not doe of themselues, but in as much as they had a reuelation for the same, Ha. 20,2. and therefore the false prophets to get the more credit, did vse also such visible signes, but they had no reuelation, 1 Kin.22,12.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophecie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproueth Hananiah, and propheciith.

AND that same yeere in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, in the [b] fourth yeere, and in the fift moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azzur the prophet, which was of [c] Gibeon, spake to me in the house of the Lord in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people, and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 † Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, sayeth the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah sayd vnto the [d] prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lord,

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah said, So be it: the [e] Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophecied, to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel, into this place.

7 But heare thou now this word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue beene before mee, and before thee in time past, [f] prophecied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowen that the Lord hath truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and [g] brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying,

13 Goe and tell Hananiah, saying Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, I haue put a [h] yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the [i] beasts of the field also.

15 Then sayd the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye.

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the Prophet [k] died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuity in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after seuentie yeeres. 16 Hee prophesieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is prophecied.

NOw these are the words of the ‖ booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto [a] the residue of the Elders, which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people, whom Nebuchadnezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel:

3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Iudah [c] sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue [d] caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruits of them

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yee may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperity of the city, whither I haue caused you to be caried away captiues, and [e] pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saieth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your southsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, that after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and [f] performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt [m] in 23 Because they haue committed [n] villeny in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their

in my Name, which I haue not commaunded

them.
29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.
30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,
31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying,
Thus sayeth the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehela-mite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lye,
32 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed:
he shall not haue a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither shall he behold the good, that I will do for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord,

o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada, to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the word of God, of the which hee would haue made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet,

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 Hee menaceth the enemies, 18 and comforteth the Church.

THe word, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words that I haue spoken
vnto thee, in [a] a booke.
3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, sayth the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.
4 Againe, these are the words that the Lord
spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.
5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.
6 Demaund now and behold, if man trauell with childe: wherefore doe I behold euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauell, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?
7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath beene
like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.
8 For in that [d] day, saith the Lord of hoastes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.
9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vnto
them.
10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob,
saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe,
I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shall be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.
11 For I am with thee, sayth the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations
where I haue scattered thee, yet I will not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudge-ment, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.
12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous, 13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for
thee.
14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastise-ment for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.
15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine ini-quities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.
16 [l] Therefore a Because they should be assured and their posterity confirmed in the hope of his deliuerance promised.

b He sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Chaldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and that they should be in such perplexitie and sorow, as a woman in her trauell, as Isa 13.8.
c Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie should be grieuous.
d When I shall visit Babylon.
e Of the King of Babylon.
f To wit, of Iaakob.
g That is, Messiah which should come of the stocke of Dauid according to the flesh, and should be the true Pastour as Ezek. 34 23 who is set foorth, and his kingdome that should be euerlasting, in the person of Dauid Hos 3.5.
h Read Chap. 46. 28.
i Meaning that no man is able to finde out a meane to deliuer them, but that it must be the worke of God.
k The Assyrians and Egyptians whom thou diddest enterteine with gifts who left thee in thine affliction.

16 [l] Therefore all they that deuoure thee,shall be deuoured,and all thine enemies euery one shall go into captiuity : and they that spoile thee, shall be spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I giue
to be robbed.
17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, sayth the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying,This is Zion whom no man seeketh after.
18 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places : and the citie
shalbe builded vpon her owne heape,[m] and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.
19 And out of them shall proceed [n] thankes-giuing,and the voyce of them that are ioyous,and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few :
I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished.
20 Their children also shall be as afore time,
and their congregation shalbe established before me : and I will visit all that vexe them.
21 And their [o] noble ruler shall be of themselues, and their gouernour shall proceed from the mids of them, and I will cause him to draw neere and approach vnto mee : for who is this that directeth his [p] heart to come vnto me,saith the Lord?
22 And ye shallbe my people, and I will be your God.
23 Behold, [q] the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath : the whirlewind that hangeth ouer,shall light vpon the head of the wicked.
24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart : in the [r] latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearseth Gods benefits after their returne from Babylon. 23 And the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the [a] same time, saith the Lord,will I be the God of all the families of Israel,and they shall be my people.
2 Thus saith the Lord,The people which [b] escaped the sword, found grace in the wildernesse :
[c] he walketh before Israel to cause him to rest.
3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me [d] of old,
say they : [e] Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercy I haue drawen
thee.
4 Againe I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgin Israel : thou shalt still [f] be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.
5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the moun-taines of [g] Samaria, and the planters that plant them, [h] shall make them common.
6 For the dayes shall come, that the [i] watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall crie, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto [k] Zion to the Lord our God.
7 For thus sayth the Lord, Reioyce with glad-nesse for Iaakob, and shoute for ioy among the chiefe of the [l] Gentiles : publish praise and say, O
Lord, saue thy people,the remnant of Israel.
8 Behold, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coasts of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with child,and her that is deliue-
red also : a great company shall returne hither.
9 They shall come [m] weeping, and with mercy will I bring them againe : I will leade them by the riuers of [n] water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble : for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is [o] my first borne.
10 ¶ Heare the word of the Lord,O yee Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, will gather him, and will keepe him, as a shepheard doeth his flocke.
11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hand [p] of him, that was stronger then hee.
12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the boun-tifullnesse of the Lord, euen for the [q] wheate and for the wine,and for the oyle,and for the increase of sheepe and bullocks : and their soule shallbe as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow.
13 Then shall the virgin reioyce in the [r] dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for
I will turne their mourning into ioy, & will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.
14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with [f] fatnes, and my people shallbe satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.
15 Thus saith the Lord,A voyce was heard on hie,a mourning, and bitter weeping,[t] Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.
16 Thus sayth the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping,and thine eyes from teares:for thy worke shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy:
17 And there is hope in thine ende, sayth the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.
18 I haue heard [u] Ephraim lamenting thus,
Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an [x] vntamed calfe : [y] conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted : for thou art the Lord my God.
19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented, and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my [z] thigh : I was ashamed,yea,euen confounded,because I did beare the reproach of my youth.
20 Is Ephraim [a] my deare sonne or pleasant child? yet since I spake vnto him, I still [b] remem-bred him : therefore my bowels are troubled for him. I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith
the Lord.
21 Set thee vp [c] signes : make thee heaps : set thine heart toward the path & way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel : turne againe to these thy cities.
22 How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created [d] a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man.
23 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of

l Herein is commended Gods great mercy toward his, who doth not destroy them for their sinnes, but correct and chastise them till he haue purged, and pardoned them and so burneth the rods by the which hee did punish them, Isa.33.1.
m Meaning, that the citie and the Temple should be restored to their former estate.
n Hee sheweth how the people shall with praise and thankesgiuing acknowledge this benefit.
o Meaning, Zerubbabel, who was the figure of Christ, in whom this was accomplished.
p Signifying, that Christ doth willingly submit himselfe to the obedience of God his father.
q Least the wicked hypocrites should flatter themselues with these promises, the Prophet sheweth what shall be their portion.

c To wit, God.
d The people thus reason as though hee were not so beneficiall to them now, as hee had beene of old.
e Thus the Lord answereth that his loue is not changeable.
f Thou shalt haue still occasion to reioyce: which is meant by tabrets and dancing, as their custome was after notable victories, Exod.5,20. Iudg.5,2. and chap.11,34.
g Because the Israelites, which were the ten tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstood vnder the kingdome of Christ, which was the restauration of the true Israel. h That is, shall eate the fruit thereof, as Leuit.20.23. deut.20.6. i The Ministers of the word. k They shall exhort all to the embracing of the Gospel, as Isai.2,3. l Hee sheweth what shall be the concord and loue of all vnder the Gospel, when none shall be refused for their infirmities : and euery one shall exhort one another to embrace it.

m That is, lamenting their sinnes, which had not giuen eare to the Prophets, and therefore it followeth that God receiued them to mercy, Chap. 50,4. Some take it that they should weepe for ioy.

r In the company of the faithfull, which euer praise God for his benefits.
s Meaning, the spirit of wisedome, knowledge, and zeale.
t To declare the greatnes of Gods mercy in deliuering the Iewes, hee sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or Israelites, that is, vtterly destroyed and caried away, in so much, that if Rahel, the mother of Beniamin could haue risen againe to seeke for her children, she should haue found none remaining.
u That is, the people that were led captiue.
x Which was wanton, and could not be subiect to the yoke.
y He sheweth how the faithfull vse to pray : that is, desire God to turne them forasmuch as they cannot turne of themselues.
z In signe of repentance and detestation of my sinne.
a As though hee would say : No, for by his iniquity hee did what lay in him to cast me off. b To wit, in pitying him for my promise sake. c Marke by what way thou diddest go into captiuity, & thou shalt turne againe by the same. d Because their deliuerance from Babylon, was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth how this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceiue and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because hee should be borne of a virgin without man, or hee meaneth that Ierusalem, which was like a barren woman in her captiuity, should be fruitfull as shee, that is, ioyned in mariage, and whom God blesseth with children, ſu lah, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhall bring againe their captiuity, The Lord bleſſe thee, O habitation of iuſtice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah ſhall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue ſatiate the weary ſoule, and I haue replenished euery ſorowfull ſoule.

26 Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my ſleepe [e] was ſweet vnto me.

27 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſow the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Iudah [f] with the ſeede of man, and with the ſeede of beaſt.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to deſtroy, and to plague them, ſo will I watch ouer them, to builde and to plant them, ſaith the Lord.

29 In thoſe dayes ſhall they ſay no more, The fathers haue [g] eaten a ſowre grape, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge.

30 But euery one ſhall die for his owne iniquity, euery man that eateth the ſowre grape, his teeth ſhalbe ſet on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will make a [h] new couenant with the houſe of Iſrael, and with the houſe of Iudah,

32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand, to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they [i] brake, although I was [‖] an husband vnto them, ſaith the Lord.

33 But this ſhall be the couenant that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael, After [k] thoſe dayes, ſaith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they ſhalbe my people.

34 And they ſhall [l] teach no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, ſaying, Know the Lord: for they ſhall all know me from the leaſt of them vnto the greateſt of them, ſayth the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquity, and will remember their ſinnes no more.

35 Thus ſayth the Lord, which giueth [m] the ſunne for a light to the day, and the courſes of the moone and of the ſtarres for a light to the night, which breaketh the ſea, when the waues there of roare: his Name is the Lord of hoſts.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord, If the heauens can be meaſured, [n] or the foundations of [o] earth be ſearched out beneath, then will I caſt off all the ſeed of Iſrael, for all that they haue done, ſaith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that the [p] city ſhalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is caſt into priſon becauſe hee prophecied that the citie ſhould be taken of the king of Babylon. 7 Hee ſheweth that the people ſhould come againe to their owne poſſeſſion. 38 The people of God are his ſeruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the [a] tenth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoaſte beſieged Ieruſalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was ſhut vp in the court of the priſon, which was in the King of Iudahs houſe.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had ſhut him vp, ſaying, Wherefore doeſt thou prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, * Behold, I will giue this city into the hands of the King of Babel, and hee ſhall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but ſhall ſurely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and ſhall ſpeake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall behold his face.

5 And he ſhall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there ſhall he be, vntill [b] I viſit him, ſaith the Lord: though yee fight with the Caldeans, ye ſhall not proſper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah ſaid, The word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the ſonne of Shallum thine vncle, ſhall come vnto thee & ſay, [c] Buy vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth for the ‖ title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee [d] to buy it.

8 So Hanameel, mine vncles ſonne, came vnto mee in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the Lord, & ſaid vnto me, Buy my [e] field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the poſſeſſion is thine, and the purchaſe belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles ſonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the ſiluer, euen ſeuen [f] ſhekels, and ten pieces of ſiluer.

10 And I writ it in the booke and ſigned it, and tooke witneſſes, and weighed him the ſiluer in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed according to the Law, and cuſtome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the poſſeſſion vnto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine vncles ſonne, and in the preſence of the witneſſes, written in the booke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Iewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,
